TESTIMONIALS FROM READERS OF "THE OPEN COURT"

"I regard 'The Open Court' and 'The Monist' as the two best American philosophical magazines that we have." —Dr. Lester F. Ward, Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D. C.

"To my mind, 'The Open Court' and 'The Monist' are a shining instance of the higher philanthropy. Love of man, and of ideas as the deepest need of man, lie back of the enterprise. I am under obligation to many of the articles in these magazines; they have given me stimulus and suggestion, and in various ways, partly by opposition and partly by agreement, have helped me shape my view of life and the world."—William M. Salter, Lecturer of the Society for Ethical Culture of Chicago.

"The statement of the principles of 'The Open Court' (in No. 524) as the organ of the Religious Parliament idea is so admirable, that, speaking from the point of view of an Orthodox Christian, I wish the statement might somehow be put into the hands of every clergyman and religious leader."—Elias Compton, Dean of the University of Wooster, Wooster, Ohio.

"In my judgment your magazine is an extremely original and interesting institution, conducted with uncommon skill, and always offering to its readers a great deal of interesting material. The union of discussions of religious, philosophical, and scientific questions appears to me to be felicitous."—August Weismann, Professor in the University of Freiburg, Germany.

"I follow the work of your magazine with the liveliest sympathy. May its endeavors be crowned with further success."—Prof. Rudolf Eucken, Professor of Philosophy in the University of Jena, Germany.

"It is always a pleasure to me to receive 'The Open Court.' It is in my opinion a magazine of great value. In its brief but solid papers it throws light upon many interesting questions."—Harald Hoeffding, Professor in the University of Copenhagen.

" 'The Open Court' is one of the most interesting and instructive publications of the kind that I receive and read. It is an exponent of modern science and philosophy, and has a mission of culture and education peculiarly its own."—Dr. Edward Brooks, Superintendent of Public Schools, Philadelphia, Penn.

" 'The Open Court' and 'The Monist' are among our most valued magazines. In the wide range of topics and the able and candid treatment they stand almost alone."—The Rev. H. W. Thomas, People's Church, Chicago.

Librarians, book collectors, and students desiring to secure the back numbers of "The Open Court" can obtain exceptionally favorable terms by addressing the publishers at once, as a limited number of sets in excess of requirements are to be disposed of for want of storage facilities. TESTIMONIALS FROM THE READERS OF "THE MONIST"

"I do not believe any periodical in the world is doing more service to civilisation and to this country that no other precisely renders than 'The Monist'."—Charles S. Peirce, Milford, Penn.

"Its great breadth and liberality, its high class of writers, and its able and scholarly reviews, are among its noteworthy features."—Lester F. Ward, Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D. C.

"I read 'The Monist' because it stands for something, because it gives me the thoughts of contemporary leaders, and because it is always on the side of sound scholarship."—David Eugene Smith, Ph. D., Professor of Mathematics in Teachers' College, Columbia University, New York City.

"Among the periodicals of a higher class, which I have been receiving for some years past, there is none that I read more regularly than 'The Monist'; and there is not a number in which I have not found some articles of fruitful suggestiveness. I have been so impressed with the value of the periodical that I recommended last year the purchase of a complete set for the library of our university."—J. Clark Murray, LL. D., Professor of Philosophy in McGill University, Montreal, Canada.

"I do not think that any journal in the world can rival 'The Monist,' and scarcely any other country but America can ever produce a journal like this, scientific and still all-comprising, free-thinking and still never vague, but exact."—Dr. Huebbe Schleiden, Hanover, Germany.

"I am in possession of the entire series of these repositories of select lore. Without intermission these many years they arrived at my 'Wild West' home, expanding my thought and deepening my sympathies with the great scientific movement."—Dr. Edmund Montgomery, Hempstead, Texas.

"'The Monist' is certainly performing an important service. I always read the journal with interest and profit. It would be difficult to exaggerate the value of your journals and other publications for the advancement and diffusion of philosophy and science."—Prof. J. McKeen Cattell, Professor of Psychology in Columbia University, New York.

"I desire to state that there are found compiled in this journal three qualities which render it superior to most other American and European reviews, namely: (1) The unlimited liberty of discussion and of thought in every branch of science pervading its pages; (2) The varied character of the articles which are published in every single number of it; and (3) The names of its illustrious contributors and collaborators from every part of the world."—G. Sergi, Professor of Anthropology in the University of Rome, Italy.

Librarians, book collectors, and students desiring to secure the back numbers of "The Monist" can obtain exceptionally favorable terms by addressing the publishers at once, as a limited number of sets in excess of requirements are to be disposed of for want of storage facilities. A RARE FRAMING PORTRAIT

Copyrighted by Wm. Sartain.

Special Offer to Subscribers of "The Open Court"

The publishers of "The Open Court" (see page 36) have arranged with Mr. Sartain for a limited edition of this beautiful portrait which they offer at a merely nominal price, in order to reach a wider field and increase the circulation of "The Open Court" among thinking people.

This cut is a reproduction of the well-known portrait of Sir Walter Scott, painted by Sir Henry Raeburn and lately published by Mr. William Sartain, in a very handsome, retouched, copper-plate photogravure, printed on India paper, size 13x18 inches. It is sold in art stores at $3.00 per copy. The portrait will be a rare addition to the drawing-room, library or school-room.

$1.25—Special Offer to Subscribers—$1.25

Subscribers to "The Open Court" wishing to secure the Scott portrait can do so by remitting 25 cts. in addition to the subscription price of $1.00—total $1.25. Orders to be sent direct to publishers.

"The portrait of Scott was received to-day. It is a beauty, more than worth the price asked."—Prof. W. H. Carruth, University of Kansas.

"I regard your engraving of Sir Walter Scott as one of the most satisfactory pieces of work of this kind that I have ever seen. It is artistic and gratifying from every standpoint; and I certainly hope that this kindly face may look down upon thousands of the school children of this country."—James H. Canfield, Librarian Columbia University Library, New York City.

"I was very much pleased with the portrait of Sir Walter Scott. I think the offer you make is a very commendable one, and I am quite sure that all those who receive the portrait of the great novelist and poet, will be much pleased with it."—A. F. Nightingale, Superintendent High Schools, Chicago.

PORTRAITS OF DARWIN, HAECKEL, AND GEN. M. M. TRUMBULL

In addition to their regular series (see page 38), the publishers have also excellent photogravure portraits of Darwin (see page 1 for reduced half-tone), of Haeckel (see page 5 for reduced half-tone), and of Gen. M. M. Trumbull, the author of "Wheelbarrow," etc., (see pages 31–32). These portraits are 11x14 inches, and are suitable for framing. Price, 50 cents each.

PHILOSOPHICAL AND PSYCHOLOGICAL PORTRAIT SERIES

Suitable for framing and hanging in public and private libraries, laboratories, seminaries, recitation and lecture rooms

The portraits, which are 11 x 14 in., have been taken from the best sources, and are high-grade photogravures. The series is now complete.

A Portfolio of Portraits of Eminent Mathematicians

Edited by PROFESSOR DAVID EUGENE SMITH, Ph. D.
Professor of Mathematics in Teachers College
Columbia University, N. Y. City

IN response to a wide-spread demand from those interested in mathematics and the history of education, Professor Smith has edited a series of portraits of some of the most eminent of the world's contributors to the mathematical sciences.

Accompanying each portrait is a brief biographical sketch, with occasional notes of interest concerning the artists represented.

The pictures are of a size that allows for framing, it being the hope that a new interest in mathematics may be aroused through the decoration of class-rooms by the portraits of those who helped to create the science.

It is the purpose of the editor and the publishers to follow this Portfolio by others, in case the demand is sufficient to warrant the expense. In this way there can be placed before students of mathematics, for a moderate sum, the results of many years of collecting and of a large expenditure of time and money.

The first installment consists of twelve great mathematicians down to 1700 A. D. and includes Thales, Pythagoras, Euclid, Archimedes, Leonardo of Pisa, Cardan, Vieta, Fermat, Descartes, Leibnitz, Newton, Napier.

Twelve Portraits on Imperial Japanese Vellum, 11x14, $5.00
Twelve Portraits on the best American Plate Paper, 11x14, $3.00

"I think that portraits of famous mathematicians when hung in a Common Room or Lecture Room are not only in themselves an ornament, but often excite the interest of students. No doubt, also, the presence of such portraits promotes the introduction in the teaching of the subject of historical notes on its development, which I believe to be a valuable feature in recent teaching. I hope the response of the public will justify you in continuing the series."—W. W. ROUSE BALL, Cambridge, England.

"The issue of this fine collection is equally creditable to the expert knowledge and discriminating taste of the Editor, Professor David Eugene Smith, and to the liberality and artistic resources of The Open Court Publishing Co."—F. N. COLE, Editor American Mathematical Bulletin, New York.

"The selection is well made, the reproduction is handsomely executed, and the brief account which accompanies each portrait is of interest. Prof. Smith has rendered a valuable service to all who have interest in mathematics, by editing this collection. Wherever mathematics is taught, these portraits should adorn the walls."—WILLIAM F. OSGOOD, Cambridge, Mass.

37 Who can number the clouds in wisdom? or who can stay the bottles of heaven.
15 And forgetteth that the foot may crush them, or that the wild beast may break them.
16 She is hardened against her young ones, as though they were not her's: her labour is in vain without fear;
17 Because God hath deprived her of wisdom, neither hath he imparted to her understanding.
18 What time she lifteth up herself on high, she scorneth the horse and his rider.
19 Hast thou given the horse strength? hast thou clothed his neck with thunder?
20 Canst thou make him afraid as a grasshopper? the glory of his nostrils is terrible.
21 He paweth in the valley, and rejoiceth in his strength: he goeth on to meet the armed men.

Christ's sermon ST. MATTHEW 5. on the mount.

Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men.
20 And they straightway left their nets, and followed him.
21 And going on from thence, he saw other two brethren, James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother, in a ship with Zebedee their father, mending their nets; and he called them.
22 And they immediately left the ship and their father, and followed him.
23 ¶ And Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of sickness and all manner of disease among the people.
24 And his fame went throughout all Syria: and they brought unto him all sick people that were taken with divers diseases and torments, and those which were possessed with devils, and those which were lunatick, and those that had the palsy; and he healed them.
25 And there followed him great multitudes of people from Galilee, and from Decapolis, and from Jerusalem, and from Judæa, and from beyond Jordan.

CHAPTER 5.

1 Christ beginneth his sermon in the mount: 3 declaring who are blessed, 13 who are the salt of the earth, 14 the light of the world, the city on an hill, 15 the candle. 21 What it is to kill, 27 to commit adultery, 33 to swear: 38 exhorteth to suffer wrong, 44 to love even our enemies, 48 and to labour after perfectness.

AND seeing the multitudes, he went up into a mountain: and when he was set, his disciples came unto him:
2 And he opened his mouth, and taught them, saying,
3 Blessed are the poor in spirit: for their's is the kingdom of heaven.
4 Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted.
5 Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth.
6 Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled.
7 Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy.
8 Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God.
9 Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God.
10 Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness' sake: for their's is the kingdom of heaven.
11 Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake.
12 Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you.
13 ¶ Ye are the salt of the earth: but if the salt have lost his savour, wherewith shall it be salted? it is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be trodden under foot of men.
14 Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on an hill cannot be hid.
15 Neither do men light a candle, and put it under a bushel, but on a candlestick; and it giveth light unto all that are in the house.
16 Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven.

The only Scholars' Bible with the Helps arranged under One Alphabet

Just Published!

THE

OXFORD SUNDAY SCHOOL SCHOLARS' BIBLE

ILLUSTRATED

CONTAINING

PRACTICAL, HELPFUL AND INTERESTING INFORMATION

To promote among members of the Sunday School, the Christian Endeavor Society and the home a deeper interest, a clearer understanding, a more profitable use, a more intelligent study of the word of God.

An illustrated, alphabetical arrangement of things every reader of the Bible should know.

WITH COLORED MAPS

All the HELPS are arranged UNDER ONE ALPHABET, making it the most practical Bible for the Sunday School Scholar ever published.

shame, and let them cover themselves with their own confusion, as with a mantle.
30 I will greatly praise the LORD with my mouth; yea, I will praise him among the multitude.
31 For he shall stand at the right hand of the poor, to save him from those that condemn his soul.

PRAISE ye the LORD. Blessed is the man that feareth the LORD, that delighteth greatly in his commandments.
2 His seed shall be mighty upon earth: the generation of the upright shall be blessed.
3 Wealth and riches shall be in his house: and his righteousness endureth for ever.

A MARVELLOUS IMPROVEMENT IN TEACHERS' BIBLES

AN ENTIRELY NEW SERIES OF

Oxford Teachers' Bibles

WITH NEW AND UP-TO-DATE HELPS

ARRANGED UNDER ONE ALPHABET

The Only Teachers' Bible made with 20th Century Helps

BEING A PRACTICAL BIBLE DICTIONARY, INCLUDING INDEX, CONCORDANCE, GLOSSARY, WEIGHTS, MEASURES, COINS, BOTANY, ETC., ETC.

ARRANGED UNDER ONE ALPHABET

WITH NEW ILLUSTRATIONS

Oxford Teachers' Bibles

NOTE

THE HELPS in this new Series of Teachers' Bibles have been thoroughly revised by English and American scholars, so as to embody the results of the most recent researches. For the greater convenience of teacher and student the information given in the forty-seven alphabetical lists of the Helps has been rearranged in a single alphabetical order, so that any subject about which information is required may be instantly found in its proper alphabetical place, without the necessity of reference to an index, or of search in a table of contents.

But though the arrangement is that of a Dictionary, the CYCLOPEDIC HELPS are much more than a word-book, for many of the cyclopedic articles of the Helps are included, each in its alphabetical place, and wherever it is necessary cross references to these are given under the more special entries. For instance, each weight, measure, and coin is entered in its own place in the general alphabetical order, and under each entry a reference is given to the general articles, such as Weights, Measures, or Coins, in which further information will be found. Of the illustrations, some have been taken from the 'Bible Illustrations' which have appeared in recent issues of the Oxford Helps, and nothing has been included that is not authentic beyond all possibility of doubt. The pictures of scences in Bible Lands are from photographs recently taken by M. Bonfils, and are reproduced with his permission. A new series of maps, fifteen in all, is included in the volume.

These new Helps doubly strengthen the position which the OXFORD TEACHERS' BIBLE has always held as

"The Bible par excellence of the World"

1904 Reviews of the New Oxford Editions

"The Oxford University Press is always in the front line of improvement. It gradually added to the helps published in connection with their Bibles, till there were forty-seven alphabetical lists. These have been rearranged under one alphabetical arrangement, with changes bringing it up to date, and entitled The Cyclopedic Concordance. . . . They are the most complete and best arranged of all the helps in various bibles."—The Intermediate Sunday School Quarterly, April, '04.

"What the Oxford Teachers' Bible always has been, it still is, the Teachers' Bible par excellence of the world—a fact admitted by the most competent judges."—The Christian Nation.

"The new Bible just published by the Oxford Press is, without doubt, the finest product of the kind ever given to the public."—The Christian Advocate, Feb. 11, '04.

"As nearly a perfect Teachers' Bible as could well be made."—The Southern Christian Advocate Feb. 25, '04.

THE "OXFORD INDIA PAPER"

IS UNIVERSALLY ADMITTED TO BE WITHOUT A RIVAL

THIS wonderful paper is a specialty of the Oxford Press, and is manufactured at their own paper mills. It was first produced in the year 1875, and has steadily grown in popular favor.

No other paper has yet been made that can approach it for its wonderful opacity, great toughness and softness, and its agreeable tone. The secret of its manufacture is known to only three living persons.

THE MARKED NEW TESTAMENT.

Philip's question, "Understandest thou what thou readest?" and the reply he received, "How can I, except some man should guide me?" probably occur more frequently to-day than ever; the advantage, therefore, of such markings as shown in these specimen pages is undoubted, in order to serve as finger-posts to those who are but little acquainted with the Bible.

The verses marked, will, under the Holy Spirit's teaching, help to make plain God's way of salvation through Christ. They deal exclusively with this subject in its various phases—the divinity and death of Jesus Christ, repentance, faith, obedience, etc.—and are not spread out over a variety of topics.

The Selection of Texts has been examined and approved by leading Bible students of different denominations, including Episcopalians, Methodists, Baptists, Congregationalists, Presbyterians, Friends, who reported as follows:

"We are of opinion that the Marked Testament will be very helpful in mission work, and to mission workers. Having examined the texts selected for marking, we consider that they are judiciously chosen for the purpose, and are not likely to give rise to controversy."

No flesh justified by ROMANS, 3. the deeds of the law.

God unrighteous who taketh vengeance? (I speak as a man)
6 God forbid: for then how shall God judge the world?
7 For if the truth of God hath more abounded through my lie unto his glory; why yet am I also judged as a sinner?
8 And not rather, (as we be slanderously reported, and as some affirm that we say,) Let us do evil, that good may come? whose damnation is just.
9 What then? are we better than they? No, in no wise: for we have better proved both Jews and Gentiles, that they are all under sin;
10 As it is written, There is none righteous, no, not one:
11 There is none that understandeth, there is none that seeketh after God.
12 They are all gone out of the way, they are together become unprofitable: there is none that doeth good, no, not one.
13 Their throat is an open sepulchre; with their tongues they have used deceit; the poison of asps is under their lips:
14 Whose mouth is full of cursing and bitterness:
15 Their feet are swift to shed blood:
16 Destruction and misery are in their ways:
17 And the way of peace have they not known:
18 There is no fear of God before their eyes.
19 Now we know that what things soever the law saith, it saith to them who are under the law: that every mouth may be stopped, and all the world may become guilty before God.
20 Therefore by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin.
21 But now the righteousness of God without the law is manifested, being witnessed by the law and the prophets:
22 Even the righteousness of God which is by faith of Jesus Christ unto all and upon all them that believe: for there is no difference:
23 For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God.
24 Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus:
25 Whom God hath set forth to be a propitiation through faith in his blood, to declare his righteousness for the remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God;
26 To declare, I say, at this time his righteousness: that he might be just, and the justifier of him which believeth in Jesus.
27 Where is boasting then? It is excluded. By what law? of works? Nay: but by the law of faith.
28 Therefore we conclude that a man is justified by faith without the deeds of the law.
29 Is he the God of the Jews only? is he not also of the Gentiles? Yes, of the Gentiles also:
30 Seeing it is one God, which shall justify the circumcision by faith, and uncircumcision through faith.
31 Do we then make void the law through faith? God forbid: yea, we establish the law.

and they said unto them, Why have ye not brought him? Never man spake like this man.
47 Then answered them the Pharisees, Are ye also deceived?
48 Have any of the rulers or of the Pharisees believed on him?
49 But this people who knoweth not the law are cursed.
50 Nicodemus saith unto them, (he that came to Jesus by night, being one of them,)
51 Doth our law judge any man, before it hear him, and know what he doeth?
52 They answered and said unto him, Art thou also of Galilee? Search, and look: for out of Galilee ariseth no prophet.
53 And every man went unto his own house.

CHAPTER 8.

JESUS went unto the mount of Olives.
2 And early in the morning he came again into the temple, and all the people came unto him; and he sat down, and taught them.
3 And the scribes and Pharisees brought unto him a woman taken in adultery; and when they had set her in the midst,
4 They say unto him, Master, this woman was taken in adultery, in the very act.
5 Now Moses in the law commanded us, that such should be stoned: but what sayest thou?
6 This they said, tempting him, that they might have to accuse him. But Jesus stooped down, and with his finger wrote on the ground, as though he heard them not.
7 So when they continued asking him, he lifted up himself, and said unto them, He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone at her.
8 And again he stooped down, and wrote on the ground.
9 And they which heard it, being convicted by their conscience, went out one by one, beginning at the eldest, even unto the last: and Jesus was left alone, and the woman standing in the midst.
10 When Jesus had lifted up himself, and saw none but the woman, he said unto her, Woman, 223

LORD said unto Moses, g How long refuse ye to keep my commandments and my laws? 29 See, for that the LORD hath given you the sabbath, therefore he giveth you on the sixth day the bread of two days; abide ye every man in his place, let no man go out of his place on the seventh day. 30 So the people h rested on the seventh day. 31 And the house of Israel called the name thereof [1] i Manna:
and it was j like coriander seed, white; and the taste of it was like wafers made with honey. 32 And Moses said, This is the thing which thee of the elders of Israel; and thy rod, u wherewith thou smotest the river, take in thine hand, and go. 6 v Behold, I will stand before thee there upon the rock in Horeb; and thou shalt smite the rock, and there shall come water out of it, that the people may drink. And Moses did so in the sight of the elders of Israel. 7 And he called the name of the place [3] w Massah, and [4] x Meribah, because of the striving of the children of Israel, and because they tempted the LORD, saying, Is the LORD among us, or not?

THE REVISED BIBLE,

WITH REVISED MARGINAL REFERENCES.

Copyright Edition.

IN 1895, the University presses undertook to meet the increasing demand, both in England and America, for an edition of the complete revised version, with marginal references. A committee was appointed to superintend the work, consisting of the Rev. Dr. Price, Master of Pembroke College, Oxford; the Ven. Dr. Palmer, Archdeacon of Oxford; Dr. W. Aldis Wright, Vice-Master of Trinity College, Cambridge; and the Rev. Dr. Kirkpatrick, Regius Professor of Hebrew in the University of Cambridge. On Archdeacon Palmer's death, in October, 1895, the Rev. Dr. Ince, Regius Professor of Divinity in the University of Oxford, succeeded to his place on the committee.

The general editorship was entrusted to the Rev. Dr. Stokoe, of Lincoln College, Oxford, and the following scholars were appointed to assist him in preparing the references for the Old Testament and Apocrypha: the Rev. Dr. Barnes, Fellow of Peterhouse, Cambridge; the Rev. A. W. Greenup, St. John's College, Cambridge; the Rev. E. R. Massey, Exeter College, Oxford; and the Rev. J. W. Nutt, late Fellow of All Souls' College, Oxford. In regard to the New Testament references, Dr. Stokoe was instructed to consult with Dr. Moulton, who undertook to adapt for this edition the fuller body of references upon which he had been engaged. Since Dr. Moulton's death, this part of the work has been completed, under the editor's supervision, by the Rev. J. H. Moulton, late Fellow of King's College, Cambridge.

The marginal references given in the original edition of the Authorized Version of 1611 have been retained as far as possible, and the contributors have availed themselves largely of the references in Dr. Scrivener's Paragraph Bible, which they were instructed to make the basis of their work.

REVISED REFERENCE BIBLES—Continued.

The references given may be arranged under the following heads:

1. Quotations, or exact verbal parallels.
2. Passages referred to for similarity of idea or of expression.
3. Passages referred to by way of explanation or illustration.
4. Historical and geographical references—names of persons, places, etc., which recur.
5. Passages referred to as illustrating differences of rendering between the authorized and revised versions.

The revisers' marginal renderings are transferred in this edition to the foot of the page, together with all other notes in the margin of the revised version, except:

(a) When simple references given by the revisers have been incorporated in the new body of references.

(b) When a marginal note refers to some different division or order in the original.

In previous editions of the Revised Version, the numbers of the verses were placed on the inner margin of each page.

THE "OXFORD INDIA PAPER."

This wonderful paper is a specialty of the Oxford Press, and is manufactured at their own paper mills. It was first produced in the year 1875, and has steadily grown in popular favor.

No other paper has yet been made that can approach it for its wonderful opacity, great toughness and softness, and its agreeable tone.

Oxford Two-Version Bible

WITH REFERENCES

Being the Authorized Version with the differences of the Revised Bible printed in the margins, so that both texts can be read from the same page, and every difference between the two versions, including even punctuation, can be recognized with readiness and certitude.

Although printed in clear type, the volume is of very moderate size. It is likely to be welcomed by all students, especially by all teachers of the Bible, and a large sale is confidently expected.

Special attention invited to the superbly printed "Oxford India Paper" Editions of Prayer Books and Hymnals.

The Oxford India Paper is a specialty of the Oxford Press, and is manufactured at the paper-mills of the Oxford University Press.

A distinguishing characteristic of the Oxford India Paper as compared with all so-called India Paper is that the impression on one side does not show through when the other side is being read.

A strip of this paper, only three inches in breadth, has been tested and found able to support a quarter of a hundredweight without yielding; a decisive proof of its exceeding toughness and durability.

The wonderful lightness of these books, the exceedingly clear type, the strength and excellence of binding, combine to place them far in advance of any book hitherto issued.

MORNING PRAYER. 9

Through the tender mercy of our God : whereby the day-spring from on high hath visited us;
To give light to them that sit in darkness, and in the shadow of death : and to guide our feet into the way of peace.

Jubilate Deo. Psalm c.

O BE joyful in the LORD, all ye lands : serve the LORD with gladness, and come before his presence with a song.
Be ye sure that the LORD he is God ; it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves : we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture.
O go your way into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise : be thankful unto him, and speak good of his Name.
For the LORD is gracious, his mercy is everlasting : and his truth endureth from generation to generation.

THE CHURCH—MISSIONS. 221

4 Soon shall end the time of weeping,
Soon the reaping time will come;
Heaven and earth together keeping God's eternal Harvest Home.
Saints and angels
Shout the world's great Harvest Home.

251 L. M.

LOOK from Thy sphere of endless day,
O God of mercy and of might!
In pity look on those who stray,
Benighted in this land of light.

2 In peopled vale, in lonely glen,
In crowded mart, by stream or sea,
How many of the sons of men
Hear not the message sent from Thee!

3 Send forth Thy heralds, Lord, to call
The thoughtless young, the hardened old,
A scattered, homeless flock, till all
Be gathered to Thy peaceful fold.

4 Send them Thy mighty word to speak,
Till faith shall dawn and doubt depart,
To awe the bold, to stay the weak,
And bind and heal the broken heart.

5 Then all these wastes, a dreary scene
That makes us sadden as we gaze,
Shall grow with living waters green,
And lift to heaven the voice of praise.

THE morning light is breaking;
The darkness disappears;
The sons of earth are waking
To penitential tears;

SING, with all the sons of glory
Sing the resurrection-song!
Death and sorrow, earth's dark story,
To the "former days" belong.
Even now the dawn is breaking,
Soon the night of time shall cease,
And, in God's own likeness waking,
Man shall know eternal peace.

SING, oh, sing, this blessèd morn;
Unto us a Child is born,
Unto us a Son is given,
God Himself comes down from heaven;
Sing, oh, sing, this blessèd morn,
Jesus Christ to-day is born.

2 God of God, and Light of Light,
Comes with mercies infinite,
Joining in a wondrous plan
Heaven to earth, and God to man.
Sing, oh, sing, etc.

3 God with us, Emmanuel,
Deigns forever now to dwell;
He on Adam's fallen race
Sheds the fullness of His grace.
Sing, oh, sing, etc.

THE LORD'S DAY. 23

29 C. M.

WITH joy we hail the sacred day,
Which God hath called His own;
With joy the summons we obey
To worship at His throne.

2 Thy chosen temple, Lord, how fair!
As here Thy servants throng
To breathe the humble, fervent prayer,
And pour the grateful song.

OXFORD TEACHERS' BIBLES

Paper, Printing, Helps, Illustrations

IN ADVANCE OF ALL OTHERS

"Since 1880, the Oxford Teachers' Bible has been acknowledged the greatest book marvel of modern times. The publishers have just brought out an edition with revised Helps which again puts this work clearly in advance of all others."

—Sunday-school Magazine.

The Paper

"The India paper, in which we believe this company leads the world, has made a revolution in the art of printing."—The Living Church.

No other paper has yet been made that can approach it for its wonderful opacity, great toughness and softness, and its agreeable tone, nor for the ease with which

The Pages Can be Turned

A distinguishing characteristic of the Oxford India paper, as compared with all so-called India paper, is that the impression on one side does not show through when the other side is being read.

The Printing

"Its letterpress is remarkably clear and distinct. This is appreciated the more because it is uncommon in Bibles. Long and close attention to the print of ordinary Bibles strains the strongest eyes, but the Oxford is not an ordinary Bible in this or in any other respect."—The Christian Nation.

The Helps

Rev. F. N. Peloubet, D.D., Author of "Peloubet's Notes on the International Lessons" says, January 14, 1899:

"I have been comparing the two editions of the Oxford Helps, your new one with mine dated 1893. Your appendix, and especially the new plates, and more especially the descriptions of them, which are a wholly new feature, add greatly to the value of these Helps. I shall refer to them as often as I can in my 'Notes on the Lessons.'"

The Christian Advocate, Nashville, Tenn.

"The Helps are real helps. Unlike those in many of the cheap Bibles, they are not simply thrown together in hodge-podge fashion, but represent the freshest and ablest work of the foremost modern scholars."

The Interior, Chicago, Ill.

"Helps prepared for this work by the most eminent Biblical scholars of the day, and revised up to the latest possible date, to keep in touch with the last discoveries of science, the last lights of interpretation. This edition has reached, in former issues, a sale of over two million copies, and it is safe to say that nothing offers even fair competition with it in general favor."

The Illustrations

The Sunday-school Times, September 17, 1898

Referring to the illustrations:—"In this department this Bible is probably far superior to any other of those commonly called Teachers' Bibles. Probably there does not exist another equally compact collection of the kind."

THE POEMS OF SHAKESPEARE AND PERICLES

A reproduction in facsimile of the earliest editions of all that portion of Shakespeare's work which found no place in the First Folio, viz. the play of Pericles and the four volumes of poems—Venus and Adonis, Lucrece, the Sonnets, and the Passionate Pilgrim.

Each volume will be reproduced by the collotype process from the finest accessible copy of the original issue, and, except in point of size, will be similar to the collotype reproduction of the Shakespeare First Folio published in 1902.

This series of reproductions is being executed under the superintendence of Mr. Sidney Lee, who will embody in full introductions the latest results of his researches regarding the bibliographical history.

The five reproductions will be printed on O. W. paper, the size being 10 in. by 8 in. They will be issued in two forms, viz. in five separate volumes, as they were originally published (in two styles of binding, at different prices); and in a single volume, similar to the facsimile of the First Folio (also in two styles of binding at different prices).

The four styles of binding, with the prices, are as follows:

(a) In five separate volumes, in real vellum with kid leather ties (the precise form of the original binding), at $50.00 the set. The volumes are not sold separately.

(b) In five separate volumes, in paper boards imitating vellum, with ties, after the original manner of binding, at $30.00 net the set. The volumes are not sold separately.

(c) In a single volume, in rough calf, as used for the First Folio facsimile, at $35.00.

The number of copies printed will be limited to 1250, of which 250 are for America. All copies will be numbered, and Venus and Adonis, the first volume of each set, will be signed by Mr. Lee.

Subscriptions can now be received by Mr. Frowde.

THE LETTERS OF HORACE WALPOLE.

Edited by Mrs. Paget Toynbee. Containing 400 Letters not included in the Latest Edition of the Collected Letters, 100 of which have never before been printed. With Additional Notes and full Analytical Index. With 50 Photogravure Illustrations and 3 Facsimiles of Original Letters.

Subscription Prices.—Limited Edition (260 copies) in Sixteen volumes, demy 8vo, on hand-made paper, $125.00 in boards, and $175.00 in full morocco. In Eight double vols, crown 8vo, on Oxford India paper, $35.00. In Sixteen vols, crown 8vo, on ordinary paper $27.00. After publication these prices will be substantially increased.

Vols. I–XII are now published.

THE COMPLETE POETICAL WORKS, LIFE AND LETTERS OF GEORGE GORDON, LORD BYRON.

Cabinet Edition

Edited and with an introduction by RICHARD HENRY STODDARD. Illustrated with many photogravures from drawings by Edmund H. Garrett, Frank T. Merrill, and other artists of note. Sixteen volumes, sold in complete sets only.

Cloth	$24.00
Half calf, or morocco	48.00

George Gordon, Lord Byron

The popularity of the poems of Lord Byron is unquestioned. Since his death, seventy-five years ago, edition after edition in various forms, with and without illustrations, and in all civilized languages, has been published. These various editions are so well known that it would be presumptuous to issue one in any way inferior to its predecessors.

With this in mind the publishers have endeavored to improve on past efforts, especially as regards beauty and taste in manufacture.

New illustrations, consisting of drawings and etchings, about sixty-five in number, by Adrian Marcel, Frank T. Merrill, Edmund H. Garrett, R. Wesly Rand, and many others, have been made expressly for this set, and have never been issued before. The text is set from new type.

The set is complete in sixteen volumes, consisting of the complete poems, notes, letters, and journals, and his Life by Thomas Moore.

HISTORICAL MEMOIRS OF JOHN HENEAGE JESSE

THE original editions of these fascinating historical memoirs are rare and out of print. The only edition existing is a high-priced one, published by subscription, so that we are confident in offering this new and handsome edition to the public that we have a set of books of value and importance. We are especially encouraged in this belief, owing to the success of our previous editions of similar memoirs.

In appearance, the Jesse Memoirs are very attractive. The books are printed in type delightfully easy to read, on deckle edge paper, and have decorated title-pages. The illustrations are numerous and attractive, there being an average of seven etchings or photogravures in each volume. The striking cover design is by Amy M. Sacker.

Travel Lovers' Library

A series of great value and interest, both to travellers and to the general public. Not only are the works accurate guides and histories in their chosen fields, but at the same time the beauty of the volumes, the abundance of illustrations, and the style of the text make them of the utmost interest to those who have never seen with their own eyes the marvels and beauties of the "Old World."

List of Titles

The same, three-quarters morocco 7.00

A delightful and valuable introduction to "the walled burghs of Flanders" — Bruges, Ghent, Antwerp, and Brussels.

"In the two volumes devoted to Belgium, Mr. Allen has done some of his best work." — Louisville Courier-Journal.

"Blessed is the art lover who owns and reads and masters these two volumes." — Boston Herald.

GARDENS OF THE CARIBBEES. By IDA M. H. STARR.

Two volumes, large 16mo, cloth decorative, profusely illustrated with full-page photogravure and half-tone plates, deckle edge, flat back, gilt top, per set, boxed $3.00
The same, three-quarters morocco 7.00

An interesting and instructive account of a comparatively unknown spot to the tourist — the Isles of the Caribbees.

"There is not a dull spot in either volume." — Chicago Inter-Ocean.

"If you want a charming picture of the West Indies drawn in the most delightful of styles read these two small volumes, and you will never regret it." — Brooklyn Eagle.

VENICE. By GRANT ALLEN.

THE TRAVEL LOVERS' LIBRARY — Continued

Blarney Castle

ROMANTIC IRELAND.

By M. F. and B. McM. Mansfield.

Two volumes, large 16mo, cloth decorative, with over eighty full-page plates, deckle edge, flat back, gilt top, boxed $3.00

The Same, three-quarters morocco 7.00

This book will appeal to many, — to the readers of romance and legends, to the lovers of the picturesque and beautiful in nature, and to the loyal sons and daughters of Erin. The first will revel in the tales of bygone days, the second will enjoy the word-pictures of Ireland's famous castles, lakes, and rock-bound shores, while the hearts of the third will be stirred and thrilled by the sympathetic account of the lives of her great men and women.

"It contains much enthusiastic description and historical detail. As a handbook of travel through a picturesque land it has many excellencies."— Boston Transcript.

"The authors seem to have covered all the ground that could be covered in a work of this kind. It is full of tradition and romance to liven up the descriptive matter, and good use has been made of the great mass of legendary lore that enriches the history of the little green isle. There is no doubt that the object aimed at, the creating of a desire in the reader to see Ireland for himself, will be obtained." — Chicago Evening Post.

"Much of fact and fancy, of ancient story and modern conditions, is woven into this entertaining narrative, which reconstructs one's ideas of the country, as obtained from pseudo-realistic novels and more casual traveller's narratives. Mrs. Mansfield's drawings of Irish scenery are of quite another order from the usual photographic reproductions." — Detroit Free Press.

"When one has finished it, he will sigh to visit the spots which are so pleasantly described." — Cleveland Leader.

ROME. By Walter Taylor Field.

Two volumes, large 16mo, cloth decorative, with over eighty full-page plates, deckle edge, gilt top, flat back, boxed $3.00

The Same, three-quarters morocco 7.00

Mr. Field knows all phases of his subject well, — pagan Rome, mediæval Rome, the Rome of the Renaissance, and the modern city; so that for the tourist who goes sightseeing against time, for him who has leisure, and for that greater company who may never see its glories, there will be found much entertainment and instruction in these pages.

History and legend, description and comment, give delightful variety to the text; and the illustrations are particularly excellent.

"Ably discussed from the point of view of the intending visitor in two exquisitely made little volumes by Walter Taylor Field. In their format, these are two of the most attractive books of the season." — Cyrus Townsend Brady, in The Lamp.

"Those who are not able to visit the interesting city will find here a well-written account of its charms which are set forth by a sympathetic hand, and finely and profusely illustrated from photographs secured by the author." — Boston Herald.

"They are, in a way, glorified guide-books, with considerably greater literary pretensions." — Public Opinion.

"Somehow the author has succeeded in presenting fresh views from a pretty well gleaned field." — New York Sun.

PARIS. By GRANT ALLEN.

With eighty full-page plates, deckle edge, gilt top, flat backs.

Two vols., crown 16mo, cloth decorative, boxed $3.00

Three-quarters levant morocco . . 7.00

"One of the most versatile geniuses that ever adorned literature was Grant Allen, and this is one of the most distinctly satisfying of his books that we know." — Philadelphia Press.

"Those who wish to learn the truth about the real beauties of the city will find it in this book." — Boston Herald.

"A perfect guide to the æsthetic side of the French capital." — N. Y. Times.

La Joconde

ROMANCE AND TEUTONIC SWITZERLAND. By WILLIAM D. MCCRACKAN, M. A., author of "The Rise of the Swiss Republic."

Two vols., 16mo, cloth decorative, flat backs, gilt top, with twelve photogravure plates in each volume, boxed $3.00

Three-quarters levant morocco 6.00

The Same. Two vols., 16mo, cloth, gilt top, unillustrated . . . 1.50

"Real Switzerland and its people as they are, divested of the glamour of romance, are perfectly portrayed in this book." — Chicago Inter-Ocean.

"Mr. McCrackan's long residence in this country, of which he writes so charmingly, enables him to cover not only the salient points of attraction, but many places of interest out of the beaten track." — N. Y. Tribune.

THE UNCHANGING EAST; OR, TRAVELS AND TROUBLES IN THE ORIENT. By ROBERT BARR. Author of "Princess Tekla," etc.

With eighty full-page plates, deckle edge, gilt top, flat backs.

Two vols., crown 16mo, cloth decorative, boxed $3.00

Three-quarters levant morocco 7.00

"Whoever reads this charming book will learn more about these places than he could acquire by a journey to them." — Philadelphia Press.

"One of the best manuals for surveying the field from the ordinary standpoint." St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

"Abounds in historical and antiquarian information." — Chicago Inter-Ocean.

FEUDAL AND MODERN JAPAN. By ARTHUR MAY KNAPP.

Two vols., 16mo, cloth decorative, flat backs, gilt top, with twelve photogravure plates in each volume, boxed $3.00

Three-quarters levant morocco 6.00

The Same. Two vols., 16mo, cloth, gilt top, unillustrated . . . 1.50

"A comprehensive study of the history, religions, language, art, life, and habits of a people ever surprising, ever interesting, presented with rare charm." — Philadelphia Press.

FLORENCE. By GRANT ALLEN.

With eighty full-page plates, deckle edge, gilt top, flat backs.

Two vols., crown 16mo, cloth decorative, boxed $3.00

Three-quarters levant morocco 7.00

"One of the most interesting books ever published on the great art capital of the Arno." — Boston Transcript.

"No guide-book has ever approached this edition in intimate knowledge of history and love of art, the local color, or in the skilled yet popular criticism of its treasures." — Brooklyn Eagle.

The Art Lovers' Series

The Judgment of Paris

The Art Lovers' Series, written by authors who are recognized authorities on art subjects, is a set of books which, taken as a whole, is a history of the world's art. The books are well-conceived and well-executed. The text is concise, accurate, instructive, and entertaining, and each book is beautifully illustrated by over thirty full-page plates.

CLASSIC MYTHS IN ART.

By JULIA DE W. ADDISON, author of "The Art of the Pitti Palace."

One volume, cloth, profusely illustrated $2.00 net, postpaid, $2.14

The Same, three-quarters morocco $4.00 net, postpaid, $4.14

The myths of Greece and Rome have ever been welcome subjects for the artist and sculptor. In all the great art galleries of the world they are found, either pictured on canvas, or immortalized in marble or bronze. This volume gives not only the principal myths themselves, but the history of the paintings and sculpture depicting them, and of the painter or sculptor as well.

"The volume is lavishly and beautifully illustrated with reproductions of the most famous pictures in the world dealing with mythological subjects, and thus becomes invaluable as a reference book for the student, while retaining all its interest for the casual reader." — Dorothy Dix in New Orleans Picayune.

The Art Galleries of Europe

This series is an unparalleled opportunity for the study of the great art galleries of Europe. It will not only interest artists, lovers of art, and those who have themselves seen the works of art, but also the beginner and layman in art matters. It is an interesting and important contribution to art literature. Each gallery will be represented by a volume written by an art critic of taste and reputation. While the text will be authoritative and scholarly, care will be taken to make it also interesting and enjoyable. Each volume contains at least forty duogravures from originals selected with care and judgment.

Bohemian Girl. — Frans Hals.

THE ART OF THE LOUVRE.

By MARY KNIGHT POTTER, author of "The Art of the Vatican," etc.

The Cathedral Series

The Old Cathedral, Marseilles

Although much has been already said and written concerning those glorious "Monumentes Historiques," the grand and the lesser Cathedrals, the fact remains that no single volume has yet been given that covers the field in a concise and complete manner. To this end Miss Blanche McManus and Francis Miltoun have given this attractive and pleasing presentation of a subject in which all well-informed persons may be supposed to be interested.

The text, authoritative and scholarly, is of the nature of appreciative estimate. The illustrations have been done from studies and sketches made on the spot during the past two years, by Miss McManus, who is recognized as one of the foremost artists in black and white in the United States.

THE CATHEDRALS OF NORTHERN FRANCE.

By FRANCIS MILTOUN, with eighty illustrations from original drawings, and many minor decorations by Blanche McManus.

One volume, octavo, decorative cover $2.50
The Same, three-quarters morocco 5.00

"All art students and lovers of architecture will find it of great value." — Brooklyn Eagle.

"A happy mixture of architectural description, historical association, and that information which gives human life to cathedrals." — Outlook.

"The cathedrals are described with a clearness of detail which shows an intimate acquaintance with architectural matters." — New Orleans Picayune.

THE CATHEDRALS OF SOUTHERN FRANCE.

By FRANCIS MILTOUN, with eighty illustrations from original drawings, and many minor decorations by Blanche McManus.

One volume, octavo, decorative cover $2.50
The Same, three-quarters morocco 5.00

"Mr. Miltoun is endowed with a genius for appropriate omission, together with a gift of critical statement and ample descriptive powers." — Philadelphia No. American.

"Taken with its predecessor, 'The Cathedrals of Northern France,' the two volumes afford an intelligent and concise aid to architectural and historical study of church architecture in France." — Brooklyn Eagle.

THE CATHEDRALS OF ENGLAND.

An account of some of their distinguishing characteristics, together with anecdotes of their most noted bishops. By MARY J. TABER.

One volume, illustrated, decorative cover $2.50
The Same, three-quarters morocco 5.00

"Mrs. Taber has given a delightfully personal touch to her work by making the famous noted personages who have been connected with these cathedrals in one way or another, come out of the misty past in quite a definite way." — Cleveland Leader.

"Though the English Cathedrals have been written up from every niche and corner, Miss Taber has given them a new interest in the personal anecdotes of their half-forgotten bishops." — Chicago Tribune.

"Contains a wealth of information which would be inaccessible to any one without exceptional opportunities for research." — Kansas City Star.

The Epoch Series

Alexandre Dumas

A series of books dealing with great cities or countries of which the famous writers of the world have made a special study.

DUMAS' PARIS. By FRANCIS MILTOUN, author of "Dickens' London," etc.

12mo, cloth, illustrated $2.00
The Same, three-quarters morocco . . 5.00

A book similar in scope and purpose to "Milton's England." The author's search into history for the local facts, his study of the city itself, its art and its architecture, and his assimilation of the atmosphere of the period, combined with his thorough sympathy with his subject, make him particularly fitted for the work.

"Much terse and reliable information concerning Paris, old and new, may be gleaned from a perusal of this book. The chapter on Dumas' contemporaries should interest nearly all the world." — Chicago Record-Herald.

"This book will prove a treasure house of delight." — Brooklyn Times.

"Friends of D'Artagnan and Monte Cristo will enjoy this gossipy narrative, full of anecdote and out-of-the-way information, bespeaking careful gleaning from books often themselves but little known." — Churchman.

"Throws many a side-light upon the historic Paris of which Dumas delighted to write." — The Interior.

"All of us who love the works of the great 'Alexandre' will be delighted with this book. Mr. Miltoun has a special aptitude for this sort of work. He scents out all the spots made dear to us through people or incident, and from his descriptions and the many illustrations we get admirable understanding of the scenes which have interested so much in book form." — Cleveland Leader.

DICKENS' LONDON. By FRANCIS MILTOUN, author of "Cathedrals of Northern France."

One volume, 12mo, cloth, illustrated . $2.00
The Same, three-quarters morocco . . 5.00

This attractive book, uniform with "Milton's England," deals with the London of fifty years ago, as seen by Dickens through his works. The myriad haunts and abodes of Dickens' creations are described both as the author saw them and as they actually were at that time.

"Much interesting information which the lover of Dickens will be glad to have in permanent shape." — Boston Transcript.

A WOMAN OF THE WORLD: HER COUNSEL TO OTHER PEOPLE'S SONS AND DAUGHTERS.

Mrs. Wilcox

By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX, author of "Every-Day Talks," "Poems of Passion," "Maurine," etc.

12mo, cloth decorative, with a photogravure frontispiece $1.50

A volume of brilliant and powerful essays dealing with the every-day life about us, and with topics ever in the minds and hearts of the people, by an author who needs no introduction to the reading public.

"This wise counsel to other people's sons and daughters is anecdotal as well as aphoristic, and reads racially throughout, like a chapter from the great book of human life instinct with vital emotion."—Philadelphia North American.

"They are the opinions, tersely, bluntly expressed, of a woman versed in the ways of the world, and rarely gifted with common sense and unusual ability of expression, so that the meaning and intent of the book may not be misunderstood. The book is well worth perusal and careful study."—Boston Transcript.

THE COLLEGE GIRL OF AMERICA: AND THE INSTITUTIONS WHICH MAKE HER WHAT SHE IS.

By MARY CAROLINE CRAWFORD, author of "The Romance of New England Roof-Trees," etc.

8vo, cloth decorative, illustrated with sixty full-page plates . . . $2.00
The Same, three-quarters morocco 5.00

A book concerning college life, its aims, work and pleasures, its advantages, and its influence on girls, with descriptions of and comments on most of the important institutions in the country.

"All that can be said about the life at women's colleges in this country is here represented with a clearness, comprehensiveness, and freedom from verbosity that shows the author understands just what the reading public wants to learn about these institutions."—Boston Herald.

OUR NOBLEST FRIEND THE HORSE.

LORNA DOONE. By R. D. Blackmore.

New edition, two volumes, crown 8vo, cloth, with decorative cover design, illustrated with twenty handsome photogravures . . . $3.50
The Same, half levant morocco . . 7.00

In response to a popular demand, we are issuing this new and elegant edition of a charming classic at a more popular price than the first editions, which have been exhausted. The charm of this delightful book is greatly increased by the reproductions of the veritable scenes of the story. John Ridd and the beautiful Lorna, lively Tom Faggus, Jeremy Stickles, and the outlaw Doones, all seem more real as we look at the Bagworthy and Lynn streams, at Porlock and Brendon and Lynmouth. Legend and fact are so intermingled it is not easy to separate them, and as we linger and look and read, the whole seems real. We have been fortunate in securing for a frontispiece an exquisite ideal head of Lorna Doone, from an original painting.

Lorna Doone

THE ÆNEID OF VIRGIL. New Illustrated Edition. Translated into English by John D. Long. With thirteen photogravure illustrations.

One vol., 8vo, cloth, gilt top, boxed $2.50
Half levant morocco, gilt top 5.00

Mr. Long has been very successful in maintaining the spirit of his original, rendering the forcible Latin into forcible English, and this with a vigor and purity that are somewhat rare in these days when ear-tickling rhythm and sweet concourse of sounds are in fashion. Irrespective of their other merits, there is a vigorous, manly ring in his lines, suggesting an echo of the days when men wrote with perfect faith in the power and beauty of their mother tongue.

AMONG ENGLISH INNS. By Josephine Tozier.

8vo, cloth decorative, with illustrations . . $2.00
The Same, three-quarters levant morocco . 5.00

This is the record of a pilgrimage taken by four women who wished to see something of English life in a country inn during the limited time their vacation allowed. The trip is cast in many pleasant places, leading to inns well known and unknown, and through some of the most characteristic bits of rural England.

"Americans who have gone over the same or a similar route will be glad to have their minds refreshed with delightful memories by reading Miss Tozier's account. The value of the book is greatly enhanced by the many photographs which bring us face to face with the old inns, the streets, the churches, and, not the least interesting, some curious old monuments and epitaphs."—N. Y. Evening Post.

"The author has the faculty for crisp and animated description, and her story of travel is always entertaining, for she sees things with a tolerant vision, and is quick to discern the humor of a situation. The book merits hearty approval. Her account of some of the quaint old inns is decidedly alluring."—Brooklyn Daily Eagle.

WORKS OF BLISS CARMAN

Mr. Bliss Carman

THE FRIENDSHIP OF ART.

By BLISS CARMAN.

Uniform with "The Kinship of Nature."

12mo, cloth decorative $1.50
The Same, three-quarters morocco . 3.50

Mr. Carman's first book of prose, "The Kinship of Nature," was the most widely read volume of essays of the publishing season of 1903-4. This new volume, tending to show the real relationship of Life to Nature and Art, offers this brilliant writer an even greater opportunity to impress upon his readers the truth of his idea.

"As remarkable for their sane and wholesome character as for the clearness and beauty of the style of the author." From an editorial in the Washington Post by George M. Payne.

"They will appeal to young men and young women as Emerson's essays did." — Chicago Tribune.

"They combine to form a gospel of right thinking and right living in both the artistic and the material sense." — Philadelphia Public Ledger.

"The reader gets from Mr. Carman's work a distinct flavor of individuality. His essays have a suggestion of wide horizons and the large sweep of landscape, and there are many sound and discriminating bits of criticism in them." — Outlook.

"Wholesome and optimistic, with poise and measure and temperate flow." — N. Y. Sun.

"Their substance is extremely sound and sweet and their form is remarkable for its directness and simplicity." — N. Y. Times Saturday Review of Books.

THE KINSHIP OF NATURE.

A Volume of Essays, by BLISS CARMAN, author of "Pipes of Pan," "Low Tide on Grand Pré," etc. One volume, library 12mo, cloth decorative, gilt top, with a photogravure portrait of Mr. Carman $1.50
The Same, three-quarters levant morocco 3.50

In these essays Mr. Carman discusses the relation of man to nature, the secret of happiness, the true philosophy, and topics of like trend, handling them with brilliancy and rare sympathy.

"There is safe and sure teaching throughout these essays, inspiration, and instruction. The meditative essayist, the optimistic social prophet, the poet of nature and man, combine in the rendering and the interpretation of these very old but new words of wisdom in as clear and beautiful a way as the Greek soothsayers could do." — Boston Transcript.

"It is all very good, — thought equal to expression; expression equal to thought; and all so sweet and sane, so kindly and serene, that it must be a very terrible Philistine who is not tempted to say, 'Here also is somewhat, and I will stay with it awhile.'" — New York Times.

"It is a work to open here and there, and enjoy at random, for it is unified by atmosphere. Indeed, wherever we turn a page there is something worth reading and remembering." — The Reader.

DREAMTHORP. By ALEXANDER SMITH. New edition. A book of essays written in the country. Handsomely illustrated with ten photogravure plates, and daintily bound.

One volume, 12mo, cloth, gilt top $1.50
One volume, 12mo, three-quarters morocco 3.00

The continued and insistent demands for these delightful essays have led to the publication of this new edition, which should be received with added favor due to the worth of the book and the attractive appearance of its new dress.

SAPPHO: ONE HUNDRED LYRICS.

Sappho

500 Numbered Copies on Cheltenham D. E. Paper, bound in cloth with paper sides . $6.00 net Postpaid, 6.13

200 Numbered Copies on English Hand-made Paper, bound in three-quarters Levant Morocco, $10.00 net. Postpaid, $10.20

50 Signed and Numbered Copies on Imperial Japanese Vellum Paper, bound in Full Genuine Vellum . . $15.00 net. Postpaid, $15.18

"Perhaps the most perilous and the most alluring venture in the whole field of poetry is that which Mr. Carman has undertaken, in attempting to give us, in English verse, those lost poems of Sappho of which fragments have survived. The task is obviously one of imaginative and interpretive construction. Mr. Carman's method, apparently, has been to imagine each lost lyric as discovered, and then to translate it; for the indefinable flavor of the translation is maintained throughout." — Extract from Mr. Roberts's Introduction.

"The heart of the Greek lyric is here, the speech of the emotions, close to the beauty of earth, full of the joy of living, yet touched with a hint of sadness, — the pagan fear of death. The phrasing is simply fine." — Louisville Post.

"Mr. Carman, of all living writers of verse, was the man for this task. His temperament, his point of view, his love of life, his form of expression, are all pure Greek, and his splendid lyrical gift exhausts all the imaginable requirements." — Philadelphia Press.

"The book contains scarcely a line which, read by itself, will not delight the imagination. Mr. Carman's half-quantitative, unrhymed versification, with its subtle suggestion of Sapphic metre, is a technical triumph; the atmosphere and mood suffer no lapse, and the phrase is always suave and limpid. Sweetness of phrase and tune is everywhere in the book." — Atlantic Monthly.

FITZGERALD'S RUBAIYAT OF OMAR KHAYYAM. Trinity Edition.

One vol., 16mo, cloth ornamental . $0.75
One vol., 16mo, full flexible morocco 1.25
One vol., 16mo, three-quarters levant 2.25

This edition of the "Rubáiyát" is as valuable and scholarly as more expensive editions, but will appeal especially to the popular demand, as it is offered at such a reasonable price. It contains the five versions complete, with notes and tables, together with an introduction by Nathan Haskell Dole, and FitzGerald's Life of Omar Khayyám.

FITZGERALD'S SALAMAN AND ABSAL. An Allegory from the Persian of Jami, together with

THE BIRD'S PARLIAMENT from the Persian of Attar. Trinity Edition. Reprinted from the first London edition. Edited by Nathan Haskell Dole.

One vol., 16mo, cloth ornamental $0.75
One vol., 16mo, full flexible morocco 1.25
One vol., 16mo, three-quarters levant 2.25

The ever increasing popularity of FitzGerald's translation of the "Rubáiyát" makes it particularly appropriate to bring out an edition of FitzGerald's other Persian translations.

THE GOLDEN TREASURY OF AMERICAN SONGS AND LYRICS.

Edited by FREDERIC LAWRENCE KNOWLES.

New Portrait Holiday Edition, with photogravure frontispiece, and thirty-two other portraits of famous poets, reproduced in duogravure.

Small, 12mo, cloth $1.50
The Same, three-quarters morocco 3.50

In response to a popular demand, we are issuing this new and elegant edition of a valuable anthology, of which the early editions have been exhausted. "The Golden Treasury of American Songs and Lyrics" is to American poetry what Palgrave's "Golden Treasury" is to British poetry.

"No collection that can be called to mind contains, in so small a space, an equal number of the finest verses produced on this side of the Atlantic." — St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

"This is a book which may confidently be selected, since its quality is beyond question, and its form appropriately ornate." — Christian Register.

POEMS. By EUGENE BARRY.

Tall 16mo, cloth . . . . . $1.00 net, postpaid, $1.05

This is the first published collection of Mr. Barry's poems, many of which have already appeared in the magazines. The majority of them are descriptive of nature and open-air life in the West, with which Mr. Barry is thoroughly familiar.

"Mr. Barry is a poet of sentiment, and his appeal has a winning quality." — Newark News.

"One feels that here is a singer who sings from the heart. From first to last there is not a line of manufactured sentiment. In all his poems he finds the hidden chord of sympathy whose touch makes the whole world kin." — Boston Transcript.

OUT OF THE HEART. POEMS FOR LOVERS, YOUNG AND OLD. New illustrated edition. Selected and arranged by JOHN WHITE CHADWICK and ANNIE HATHAWAY CHADWICK.

One vol., large 12mo, cloth, with colored frontispiece and fifteen full-page illustrations reproduced from famous paintings of love themes $1.25
Three-quarters morocco 3.00

This charming little anthology has been called one of the most successful books of its kind ever published. The publishers are gratified to be able to announce this new and greatly embellished edition.

THE POETRY OF AMERICAN WIT AND HUMOUR.

Edited by R. L. PAGET.

With a photogravure frontispiece from a drawing by Frank T. Merrill.

One vol., large 16mo, cloth, flat back, gilt top, decorative cover design . $1.25
One vol., three-quarters levant morocco 2.50

Although American poets take the foremost rank in the field of humor, no adequate collection of poems has previously been published on this subject, so that this volume, containing representative selections from the humorous writings of Lowell, Holmes, Field, Saxe, Riley, Bret Harte, and a host of others, has become a household favorite.

POEMS OF AMERICAN PATRIOTISM FROM 1776 TO 1898.

Being patriotic and stirring verse by great poets and writers of to-day and yesterday on the American wars and kindred subjects.

Edited by R. L. PAGET. With a photogravure portrait of Admiral Dewey.

One vol., large 16mo, cloth, flat back, gilt top, decorative cover design . $1.25
One vol., three-quarters morocco 2.50

Not only a valuable anthology, but a history in verse of a great nation, and a monument of the glorious deeds of the heroes and martyrs who have fallen in defence of liberty.

The Secret History of the Court of England

FROM THE ACCESSION OF GEORGE III. TO THE DEATH OF GEORGE IV. Including, among other Important Matters, Full Particulars of the Mysterious Death of the Princess Charlotte and the Murder of the Duke of Cumberland's valet, Sellis.

By

The Right Honorable Lady Anne Hamilton

A reprint in full of the original edition, published in London in 1832.

Two vols., octavo, illustrated with sixteen rare portraits in photogravure, cloth . . . . . $ 6.00

The Same, three-quarters levant morocco 12.00

Lady Hamilton's Memoirs first appeared in 1832, two years after the death of George IV. They were immediately suppressed, presumably by the orders of the English Government, who probably feared the effect they would have on the public. In her work Lady Hamilton passionately declares that there had been a conspiracy against her mistress, the unfortunate Princess Charlotte, and produces evidence that she was poisoned, with the knowledge, if not by the direct connivance, of certain of the royal family. The rest of the Memoirs is a scathing arraignment of the morality of the Court and an intimate history of its intrigues, political and social.

The present edition is a reprint in full of the original edition, with the addition of elaborate indexes. The type used is from an entirely new font, full-faced, set in a small page, easy to read and with ample margins. The paper is an antique laid, deckle edge, specially made for this edition at the celebrated Cumberland Mills.

The work is illustrated with sixteen beautiful photogravure portraits of the leading personages who figure in its pages. These illustrations are reproductions of rare old prints, collected at great expense from many sources. In their selection care was taken to use only authentic portraits from life, and as far as was possible only those signed by the great portrait painters of that day.

MILITARISM; OR, PEACE AND WAR AT THE BEGINNING OF THE TWENTIETH CENTURY. By G. FERRERO. Price . . $3.50 net, postpaid, $3.68

The agitation for the disarmament of Europe, and the movements toward general peace, as exemplified by The Hague Tribunal, have called forth a number of works on the military systems of Europe, and the terrible burden which they bring in taxes and personal service, on the people. Mr. Ferrero has had an excellent opportunity for the study of the question, and, consequently, his work, a scholarly and exhaustive discussion, should contain many new ideas which it is hoped will assist in a clearer insight into this much discussed subject. A few of the leading topics that he takes up are as follows: The Origin of War, Militarism in the Ancient World, The Death-Throes of a Nation, Napoleon and Militarism in France, Germany, and England, The United States as a Military Power, etc.

Nature

THE WATCHERS OF THE TRAILS. A companion volume to The "Kindred of the Wild." With forty-eight full-page plates and many decorations from drawings by Charles Livingston Bull.

Square octavo, decorative cover . $2.00

"Mr. Roberts has written a most interesting series of tales free from the vices of the stories regarding animals of many other writers, accurate in their facts and admirably and dramatically told." — Chicago News.

"These stories are exquisite in their refinement, and yet robust in their appreciation of some of the rougher phases of woodcraft. Among the many writers about animals, Mr. Roberts occupies an enviable place." — The Outlook.

"This is a book full of delight. An additional charm lies in Mr. Bull's faithful and graphic illustrations, which in fashion all their own tell the story of the wild life, illuminating and supplementing the pen pictures of the author." — Literary Digest.

"The stories are full of action, the brute heroes have a vivid personality, and the style is graceful and convincing." — The Nation.

"Professor Roberts is the most literary as well as the most imaginative and vivid of all the nature writers." — F. Dana Reed in Brooklyn Eagle.

The wondrous appreciation of nature, the sensibility to the poetry in common things, the virile, exalted passion, the playfulness, the perspective, the splendid workmanship of this poet, are apparent in all of them.

History

A HISTORY OF CANADA.

Large 8vo, cloth, gilt top . . . . . $2.00 net. Postpaid, $2.18

No other living writer is so equipped for an ideal history of Canada as Professor Roberts, who unites profound scholarship, balanced judgment, rich and graceful style, and a patriotic love for the land of his birth.

Noble is the word to characterize this new and obviously just history of the British Dominion in North America. A stimulating breeze of freshness seems to blow through it. We find the influence of Parkman, which is as it should be, but the point of view is distinct and modern.

This book is of particular interest to Americans for its independent treatment of the many questions in dispute between the two countries, from the Revolution to the present. With its maps, charts, appendices, giving the British and Imperial acts in full, and with its compactness of presentation and its fine perspective, it is of equal value for the citizen's library or a university text.

WORKS OF MARSHALL SAUNDERS.

Marshall Saunders.

DEFICIENT SAINTS:

A TALE OF MAINE. By MARSHALL SAUNDERS, author of "Rose à Charlitte," "Beautiful Joe," "'Tilda Jane," etc. Illustrated by Frank T. Merrill.

One vol., library 12mo, cloth, decorative cover, $1.50

In this charming story Marshall Saunders follows closely the fortunes of a French family whose history is bound up with that of the old Pine-tree State. These French people become less and less French until, at last, they are Americans, intensely loyal to their State and their country. Although "Deficient Saints" is by no means a historical novel, frequent references are made to the early romantic history of Maine.

Blended with the story are skilful allusions to the religious struggles of the characters in the book, — orthodoxy and the higher criticism. French or Puritan, which shall prevail? One interest must triumph — one does. Next in importance to the religious element in this book is the sentiment of passionate loyalty. These sons and daughters of Maine are faithful to their native State. Her proud motto, "Dirigo," is stamped on their hearts.

HER SAILOR. A NOVEL. By MARSHALL SAUNDERS. With a frontispiece by H. C. Ireland.

One vol., library 12mo, cloth, decorative cover $1.25

A story of modern life of great charm and pathos, dealing with the love-affairs of an American girl and an officer of the merchant marine.

"'Her Sailor' is a charming story of the love-affair of an American girl and a sailor . . . a story of absorbing interest." — Grand Rapids Herald.

"A real love-story, refreshing and sweet, as every reader will find it." — Utica Herald.

"It is clean and wholesome, with the smell of the salt sea." — Omaha Bee.

". . . A fine character sketch and an entertaining story." — Chicago Bookseller.

ROSE A CHARLITTE: AN ACADIEN ROMANCE. By MARSHALL SAUNDERS, author of "Beautiful Joe," etc. Illustrated by H. De M. Young.

One vol., library 12mo, cloth, decorative cover $1.50

In this novel, the scene of which is laid principally in the land of Evangeline, Marshall Saunders has made a departure from the style of her earlier successes. The historical and descriptive setting of the novel is accurate, the plot is well conceived and executed, and the characters are drawn with a firm and delightful touch. The idyllic life of this people, their strong sympathies, unique traditions, and peculiar customs, their fine characters and racial traits, are brought into view as the story unfolds itself.

"A very fine novel. We unhesitatingly pronounce it . . . one of the books that stamp themselves at once upon the imagination, and remain imbedded in the memory long after the covers are closed." — Literary World, Boston.

"A delicious, absorbingly interesting romance of Acadia is 'Rose à Charlitte.'" — Minneapolis Journal.

"Unusually beautiful in treatment; and the simple lives of the Acadien peasants, especially of Rose à Charlitte and her cousin, Agapit le Noir, are exquisite in honesty and primitive beauty." — Chicago Times-Herald.

WORKS OF LILIAN BELL

MISS BELL

AT HOME WITH THE JARDINES. A companion volume to "Abroad with the Jimmies."

Library 12mo, cloth decorative . . . $1.50

"Bits of gay humor, sunny, whimsical philosophy, and keen indubitable insight into the less evident aspects and workings of pure human nature, with a slender thread of a cleverly extraneous love-story keep the interest of the reader fresh, and the charmingly old-fashioned happy ending is to be generously commended. Typical, characteristic, Lilian Bell sketches, bright, breezy, amusing, and philosophic." — Chicago Record-Herald.

HOPE LORING. With five illustrations by Frank T. Merrill.

Library 12mo, cloth, decorative cover . $1.50

"Lilian Bell's new novel, 'Hope Loring,' does for the American girl in fiction what Gibson has done for her in art. It gives her the place she is entitled to occupy among the creations of literature.

"'Hope Loring,' is, by long odds, the subtlest study that has yet been made of the American girl." — Dorothy Dix, in the New York American.

ABROAD WITH THE JIMMIES. With a portrait, in duogravure, of the author.

Library 12mo, cloth, decorative cover $1.50

"A deliciously fresh, graphic book. The writer is so original and unspoiled that her point of view has value." —Mary Hartwell Catherwood.

"Is one of her best and cleverest novels and is filled to the brim with amusing incidents and experiences. This vivacious narrative needs no commendation to the readers of Miss Bell's well-known earlier books. They will all read it — and they will enjoy it, and that is one of the safest prophecies we have made for some time." — N. Y. Press.

THE INTERFERENCE OF PATRICIA. With a frontispiece from drawing by Frank T. Merrill.

Small 12mo, cloth, decorative cover $1.00

"There is life and action and brilliancy and dash and cleverness and a keen appreciation of business ways in this story." — Grand Rapids Herald.

"A story full of keen and flashing satire." — Chicago Record-Herald.

Small 12mo, cloth, decorative cover $1.00

"The stories are all eventful and have effective humor." — New York Sun.

"Lilian Bell surely understands girls; for she depicts all the variations of girl nature so charmingly." — Chicago Journal.

The above two volumes boxed in special holiday dress, per set, $2.50

THE LILIAN BELL BIRTHDAY BOOK. Edited by A. H. BOGUE.

Library 12mo, cloth decorative, gilt top $1.50

The same, three-quarters morocco 3.50

The many admirers of one of the cleverest literary women in America have demanded a volume which should contain specimens of her most characteristic work. Mr. Bogue has prepared this interesting volume in response to this appeal.

WORKS OF GABRIELE D'ANNUNZIO

Signor d'Annunzio is known throughout the world as a poet and a dramatist, but above all as a novelist, for it is in his novels that he is at his best. In poetic thought and graceful expression he has few equals among the writers of the day.

He is engaged on a most ambitious work — nothing less than the writing of nine novels which cover the whole field of human sentiment. This work he has divided into three trilogies, and five of the nine books have been published. It is to be regretted that other labors have interrupted the completion of the series.

"This book is realistic. Some say that it is brutally so. But the realism is that of Flaubert, and not of Zola. There is no plain speaking for the sake of plain speaking. Every detail is justified in the fact that it illuminates either the motives or the actions of the man and woman who here stand revealed. It is deadly true. The author holds the mirror up to nature, and the reader, as he sees his own experiences duplicated in passage after passage, has something of the same sensation as all of us know on the first reading of George Meredith's 'Egoist.' Reading these pages is like being out in the country on a dark night in a storm. Suddenly a flash of lightning comes and every detail of your surroundings is revealed." — Review of "The Triumph of Death" in the New York Evening Sun.

The volumes published are as follows. Each 1 vol., library 12mo, cloth . $1.50

THE ROMANCES OF THE ROSE

THE CHILD OF PLEASURE (Il Piacere).
THE INTRUDER (L'Innocente).
THE TRIUMPH OF DEATH (Il Trionfo della Morte).

WORKS OF PAULINE BRADFORD MACKIE

THE WASHINGTONIANS. By PAULINE BRADFORD MACKIE. Author of "Ye Lyttle Salem Maide," "A Georgian Actress," etc., etc., with a frontispiece by Philip R. Goodwin.

Library 12mo, cloth $1.50

Pauline Bradford Mackie's new novel deals with Washington official society in the early sixties. The plot is based upon the career (not long since ended) of a brilliant and well-known woman, who was at that time a power in official circles.

MADEMOISELLE DE BERNY: A STORY OF VALLEY FORGE. By PAULINE BRADFORD MACKIE. With five full-page photogravures from drawings by Frank T. Merrill.

Library 12mo, cloth $1.50

"The charm of 'Mademoiselle de Berny' lies in its singular sweetness." — Boston Herald.

"One of the very few choice American historical stories." — Boston Transcript.

"Of the many romances in which Washington is made to figure, this is one of the most fascinating, one of the best." — Boston Courier.

Pauline Bradford Mackie (Hopkins)

A GEORGIAN ACTRESS. By PAULINE BRADFORD MACKIE (HOPKINS), author of "Mademoiselle de Berny," "Ye Lyttle Salem Maide," etc. Illustrated by E. W. D. Hamilton.

Library 12mo, cloth $1.50

A historical novel dealing with the life of the early settlers in the Mohawk Valley, just before the Revolution. The heroine is a daughter of Sir William Johnson, Superintendent of Indian Affairs in the Mohawk Valley. From the strange life in the wilderness the ambitious girl is transplanted to the gay life of the court of George III. and becomes famous as an actress in Garrick's company.

YE LYTTLE SALEM MAIDE: A STORY OF WITCHCRAFT. By PAULINE BRADFORD MACKIE. New Illustrated Edition.

Large 12mo, cloth $1.50

A tale of the days of the reign of superstition in New England, and of a brave "lyttle maide" of Salem Town, whose faith and hope and unyielding adherence to her word of honor form the basis of a most attractive story. A very convincing picture is drawn of Puritan life during the latter part of the seventeenth century.

"The beauty of the story lies in its simplicity and pathos mingled with the lighter vein of humor." — Toledo Blade.

"No one can read the story without being profoundly stirred." — Baltimore Herald.

THE STORY OF KATE. A TALE OF CALIFORNIA LIFE FOR GIRLS. By PAULINE BRADFORD MACKIE. Illustrations by L. J. Bridgman.

Library 12mo, cloth $1.50

Kate is a California girl, whose university course has been interrupted, owing to her father's financial losses. The energetic Kate, not to be daunted by such difficulties, takes a district school in the mountains. The story of her experiences among the quaint mountaineers is full of color and interest.

"One of the most charming books of the season for girls, is this, with its lovable characters and entertaining adventures." — Albany Times-Union.

"Pauline Bradford Mackie's new story is one of genuine delight, and scarcely a better volume could be purchased for girls." — Boston Journal.

WORKS OF MORLEY ROBERTS

Mr. Roberts

RACHEL MARR. By MORLEY ROBERTS, author of "The Promotion of the Admiral," etc.

Library 12mo, cloth decorative $1.50

"Rachel Marr" is a romance full of that atmosphere and spirit which have made Thomas Hardy famous. The book has met with not only popular success in England, but also with artistic success. The Daily Telegraph, London's most conservative literary sheet, says that "This novel is one of the most significant productions of the times; it is finely conceived."

"A story of exceptional strength and one to be measured by Continental rather than by Anglo-Saxon standards, because of its fearlessly frank treatment of life as it really is. — Robert Taber Cooper in N. Y. Globe and Commercial Advertiser.

"A novel of tremendous force, with a style that is sure, luxuriant, compelling, full of color and vital force." — Elia W. Peattie in Chicago Tribune.

"In atmosphere, if nothing else, the story is absolutely perfect." — Boston Transcript.

"One of the most vitally splendid of books, possessing a grandeur of conception, a power of execution, and an intellectual breadth and seriousness that mark it as one of the really significant novels of the season." — St. Paul Despatch.

"Will be widely read and shrewdly and acutely commented upon through many years yet to come." — Philadelphia North American.

"A splendidly wrought book, strong as the winds and waves are strong, and as unregardful as they of mean barriers." — Chicago Record-Herald.

THE PROMOTION OF THE ADMIRAL. By MORLEY ROBERTS, author of "The Colossus," "The Fugitives," "Sons of Empire," etc.

Library 12mo, cloth decorative, illustrated $1.50

This volume contains half a dozen stories of sea life, — fresh, racy, and bracing, — all laid in America, — stories full of rollicking, jolly, sea-dog humor, tempered to the keen edge of wit.

"If any one writes better sea stories than Mr. Roberts, we don't know who it is; and if there is a better sea story of its kind than this it would be a joy to have the pleasure of reading it." — New York Sun.

WORKS OF ARTHUR MORRISON

THE GREEN DIAMOND. By ARTHUR MORRISON, author of "The Red Triangle," etc.

WORKS OF ELLIOTT FLOWER

DELIGHTFUL DODD.

Illustrated by Frank T. Merrill.

Library 12mo, cloth decorative $1.50

From the strenuous whirl of politics to the calm of the backwoods is indeed a far cry; but Mr. Flower has shown himself as clever in depicting country life in the State of Michigan as in his trenchant portrayal of the doings of the Chicago wards.

"'Delightful Dodd' is a new character in fiction who is filled to the brim with sound philosophy and who gives it quaint expression. In all comments concerning every-day life, there is something which appeals to the human heart and which is soundly philosophical and philosophically sound. The story is one of quiet naturalness." — Boston Herald.

"The candor and simplicity of Mr. Flower's narrative in general give the work an oddity similar to that which characterized the stories of the late Frank Stockton." — Chicago News.

Elliott Flower

THE SPOILSMEN.

Library 12mo, cloth $1.50

This is a story of municipal politics, depicting conditions common to practically all large cities. The political methods employed, however, are in most instances taken from the actual experiences of men who have served the public in some capacity or other, and the stories told of some of the characters are literally true.

"The best one may hear of 'The Spoilsmen' will be none too good. As a wide-awake, snappy, brilliant political story it has few equals, its title-page being stamped with that elusive mark, 'success.' One should not miss a word of a book like this at a time like this and in a world of politics like this." — Boston Transcript.

WORKS OF RIDGWELL CULLUM

THE HOUND FROM THE NORTH.

Cover design and frontispiece by Charles Livingston Bull.

Library 12mo, cloth decorative $1.50

This is a story of adventure and mystery, starting in the famous Klondike region, then shifting to the "great northwest" of Canada. Gold escorts, government detectives, ranchmen, and smugglers all play their part, centring around "The Hound from the North," an original and thrilling, if sinister, sketch of animal life.

"Mr. Cullum has put into his story some good character drawing and an excellent portrayal of the simple, homely, enjoyable life which went on among the prosperous ranchmen of Manitoba in the transition period when the old régime under the Hudson Bay Company was passing away, and the new one of law and order was not quite firmly established." — N. Y. Times Saturday Review of Books.

THE STORY OF THE FOSS RIVER RANCH.

Library 12mo, cloth, decorative cover $1.50

The scene of this story is laid in that undeveloped section of great Northwest Canada, where to-day scenes are being enacted similar to those enacted fifty years ago during the settlement of the great American West.

"The body of the story is rounded with plenty of incident and strong character drawing." — New York World.

WORKS OF W. CLARK RUSSELL

Mr. Russell

THE CAPTAIN'S WIFE. By W. CLARK RUSSELL, author of "The Wreck of the Grosvenor." With a frontispiece by C. H. Dunton.

Library 12mo, cloth decorative $1.50

"Mr. Russell's descriptions of the sea are vivid and full of color, and he brings home to the reader the feeling that he is looking upon the real thing drawn by one who has seen the scenes and writes from knowledge." — Brooklyn Eagle.

"There are suggestions of Marryat in it, and reminders of Charles Reade, but mostly it is Clark Russell, with his delightful descriptions and irresistible sea yarns." — Phila. North American.

THE MATE OF THE GOOD SHIP YORK. By W. CLARK RUSSELL, author of "The Wreck of the Grosvenor," etc. With a frontispiece by C. H. Dunton.

Library 12mo, cloth decorative $1.50

"One of the breeziest, most absorbing books that has come to our table is W. Clark Russell's 'The Mate of the Good Ship York.'" — Buffalo Commercial.

WORKS OF MARK ASHTON

AZALIM: A ROMANCE OF OLD JUDEA. Illustrated with colored frontispiece and eight reproductions from rare old plates.

12mo $1.50

This is the second of the author's series of novels founded on Biblical history, and has Judea for its background, the infamous Jezebel for its central figure, and her intrigues and ambitions for its motif. It is full of interesting and exciting incidents, with vivid descriptions of the life of the times.

Frontispiece (reduced) of Azalim

"The story is clear-cut and straightforward, and we feel we are breathing the atmosphere of the period. It is brilliant with descriptions, has a wealth of interesting incidents, unique situations and swift action." — Boston Herald.

"There is plenty of action which frequently becomes exciting, and the author wisely avoids the archaic style frequently attempted by those who write of this period." — Boston Transcript.

"A straightforward story with a plot that has been invented and put together with considerable ingenuity." — N. Y. Evening Mail.

"The book is not only an interesting novel, but it has the added virtue of unusual faithfulness to the times and events which it portrays." — Newark Evening News.

SHE STANDS ALONE. Being the Story of Pilate's Wife.

Library 12mo, cloth decorative, gilt top, with twelve full-page plates . $1.50

Few novels of the present day can stand comparison with this remarkable book, which must be ranked in modern literature dealing with the early Christian era as only second to "Ben Hur." The reader will be charmed by its dignity and power, as well as by its dramatic incidents and vivid portrayals of those wonderful early Christians.

WORKS OF ANNA FARQUHAR

AN EVANS OF SUFFOLK.

By ANNA FARQUHAR, author of "Her Boston Experiences," "Her Washington Experiences," etc.

Library 12mo, cloth decorative . $1.50

This is a powerful story of modern life. The principal character is a young woman who marries into a conservative Boston family without explaining her antecedents, and is obliged to exercise all her woman's ingenuity to keep unknown the existence of her father, who is the "black sheep" of a distinguished English family.

"Among the cleverest novels of American life."—The Independent.

"Miss Farquhar's metier is surely character drawing, and the novel is remarkable for the admirable picture it furnishes of contemporary Boston society. It is told in a style brilliantly epigrammatic."—Dorothy Dix in New Orleans Picayune.

Anna Farquhar

THE DEVIL'S PLOUGH.

By ANNA FARQUHAR, author of "Her Boston Experiences," etc.

Library 12mo, cloth, gilt top, with colored frontispiece by Frank T. Merrill $1.50

"The Devil's Plough" is an old-world tale of struggle between the good and evil in a human heart. The scene is laid in France during the regency of Anne of Austria, and the chief incidents occur at the French court.

THE SECOND MRS. JIM.

By STEPHEN CONRAD. With a frontispiece by Ernest Fosbery.

Large 16mo, cloth decorative $1.00

Here is a character as original and witty as "Mr. Dooley" or "the self-made merchant." The realm of humorous fiction is now invaded by the stepmother.

"It is an exceptionally clever piece of work."—Boston Transcript.

"'The Second Mrs. Jim' is worth as many Mrs. Wiggses as could be crowded into the Cabbage Patch. The racy humour and cheerfulness and wisdom of the book make it wholly delightful."—Philadelphia Press.

THE MOTOR PIRATE.

By G. SIDNEY PATERNOSTER.

Library 12mo, cloth decorative, with frontispiece $1.50

"It is a story of adventure in a strictly up-to-date method, and is as ingenious in construction as it is fervid in telling."—Pittsburgh Times.

"Its originality, exciting adventures, into which is woven a charming love theme, and its undercurrent of fun furnishes a dashing detective story which a motor-mad world will thoroughly enjoy reading."—Boston Herald.

"It has triple interest,—crime, detection, romance. The story makes ingenious use of the latest means of rapid locomotion."—New York Evening Mail.

Sheppard Stevens

THE SIGN OF TRIUMPH.

A Romance of the Children's Crusade. By SHEPPARD STEVENS, author of "I Am the King." Illustrated by H. C. Edwards.

Library 12mo, cloth decorative $1.50

This is a romantic story, dealing with the incidents of the Children's Crusade, and depicts the pathetic experiences of that army of infant martyrs to the cause of religion. Interwoven with this account is a delightful romance.

"The author has utilized to unusual effect the picturesqueness and fanaticism of the Crusading children in a story filled with eager charm and stamped with stern truth." —Boston Transcript.

"Mrs. Stevens has thoroughly caught the spirit of the age, and has written a charmingly tender story. As a picture of the times which it represents it is entitled to comparison with 'The Cloister and the Hearth.'" — Chicago Chronicle.

HEMMING, THE ADVENTURER. By THEODORE ROBERTS.

With six illustrations by A. G. LEARNED.

Library 12mo, cloth decorative $1.50

The author of this novel is a brother of Professor Charles G. D. Roberts, the well-known nature writer and romanticist, and his story is deliciously racy and unconventional. Written of a man of the world by a man of the world.

"A remarkable interpretation of the nomadic war correspondent's life." — N. Y. Evening Post.

"Its ease of style, its rapidity, its interest from page to page, are admirable; and it shows that inimitable power, — the story-teller's gift of verisimilitude. Its sureness and clearness are excellent, and its portraiture clear and pleasing. It shows much strength and much mature power. We should expect such a writer to be full of capital short stories." — The Reader.

A DAUGHTER OF THESPIS. By JOHN D. BARRY, author of "The Intriguers," "Mademoiselle Blanche," etc.

Library 12mo, cloth decorative $1.50

The author's experience as a dramatic critic has enabled him to write with authority on the ever fascinating theme of stage life. From the "front," in the wings, and on the boards is told this story of player folk — an absorbing tale.

"I should say that 'A Daughter of Thespis' seemed so honest about actors and acting that it made you feel as if the stage had never been truly written about before." — W. D. Howells in Harper's Weekly.

"This story of the experiences of Evelyn Johnson, actress, may be praised just because it is so true and so wholly free from melodrama and the claptrap which we have come to think inseparable from any narrative which has to do with theatrical experiences." — Professor Harry Thurston Peck, of Columbia University.

PRINCE HAGEN. By UPTON SINCLAIR, author of "King Midas," etc.

Library 12mo, cloth decorative $1.50

In this book Mr. Sinclair has written a satire of the first order — one worthy to be compared with Swift's biting tirades against the follies and abuses of mankind.

"A telling satire on politics and society in modern New York." — Philadelphia Public Ledger.

THE GOLDEN DOG: A ROMANCE OF QUEBEC. By WILLIAM KIRBY.

New authorized edition, printed from new plates. Illustrated by J. W. Kennedy.

One vol., library 12mo, cloth . $1.25

"A powerful romance of love, intrigue, and adventure in the times of Louis XV. and Madame de Pompadour. Mr. Kirby has shown how false prides and ambitions stalked abroad at this time, how they entered the heart of man to work his destruction, and particularly how they influenced a beautiful demon in female form to continued vengeances." — Boston Herald.

THE SILENT MAID. By FREDERIC W. PANGBORN.

Large 16mo, cloth decorative, with a frontispiece by Frank T. Merrill . $1.00

A dainty and delicate legend of the brave days of old, of sprites and pixies, of trolls and gnomes, of ruthless barons and noble knights. "The Silent Maid" herself, with her strange bewitchment and wondrous song, is equalled only by Undine in charm and mystery.

"Seldom does one find a short tale so idyllic in tone and so fanciful in motive. The book shows great delicacy of imagination." — The Criterion.

THE GOLDEN KINGDOM. By ANDREW BALFOUR, author of "Vengeance Is Mine," "To Arms!" etc.

Library 12mo, cloth decorative $1.50

This is a story of adventure on land and sea, beginning in England, and ending in South Africa, in the last days of the seventeenth century. The scheme of the tale at once puts the reader in mind of Stevenson's "Treasure Island."

"Every one imbued with the spirit of adventure and with a broad imaginative faculty will want to read this tale." — Boston Transcript.

MEMORY STREET. By MARTHA BAKER DUNN, author of "Sleeping Beauty," etc., with a frontispiece by Frank T. Merrill.

"CARRINGTON WEST"

THE LAST WORD.

By ALICE MACGOWAN. Illustrated with seven portraits of the heroine

Library 12mo, cloth, gilt top . . . $1.50

"When one receives full measure to overflowing of delight in a tender, charming, and wholly fascinating new piece of fiction, the enthusiasm is apt to come uppermost. Miss MacGowan has been known before, but her best gift has here declared itself." — Louisville Post.

"The story begins and ends in Western Texas. Between chapters, there is the ostensible autobiography of a girl who makes her way in New York journalism. Out of it all comes a book, vivid, bright, original — one of a kind and the kind most welcome to readers of the hitherto conventional." — New York World.

"Carrington West has a genius for conversation. She actually says things as they are said — and were there no romance and plot in 'The Last Word' the conversations alone would sell the book. . . . There is much power and pathos and humanity in this story. There is no doubt of its success." — Louisville Courier-Journal.

THE SCHEMERS: A TALE OF MODERN LIFE.

By EDWARD F. HARKINS, author of "Little Pilgrimages Among the Men Who Have Written Famous Books," etc. With a frontispiece by Ernest Fosbery.

Library 12mo, cloth $1.50

A story of a new and real phase of social life in Boston, skilfully and daringly handled. There is plenty of life and color abounding, and a diversity of characters — shop girls, society belles, men about town, city politicians, and others. The various schemers and their schemes will be followed with interest, and there will be some discerning readers who may claim to recognize in certain points of the story certain happenings in the shopping and the society circles of the Hub.

"A faithful delineation of real shop-girl life." — Milwaukee Sentinel.

"This comes nearer to the actual life of a modern American city, with all its complexities, than any other work of American fiction. The book shows an unusual power of observation and a still more unusual power to concentrate and interpret what is observed." — St. Louis Star.

"The author displays a quiet and sly humor, and his descriptions are admirable by reason of a realism that is not merely photographic, but is intensified by reserve." — Boston Herald.

MY STRANGEST CASE.

By GUY BOOTHBY, author of "Doctor Niccola," "That Beautiful White Devil," etc. With eight full-page illustrations.

Library 12mo, cloth, gilt top $1.50

As the title indicates, "My Strangest Case" is a detective story. It has to do with buried treasures stolen by three adventurers from the ruined palace of a forgotten city in China. From the East the scene shifts to London, Paris, and Italy. The hero proves himself to be a second Sherlock Holmes in acumen and sang-froid; and the story holds one's interest to the last.

STEPHEN HOLTON.

BY CHARLES FELTON PIDGIN, author of "Quincy Adams Sawyer," "Blennerhassett," etc. The frontispiece is a portrait of the hero by Frank T. Merrill.

One vol., library 12mo, cloth, gilt top $1.50

"In the delineation of rural life, the author shows that intimate sympathy which distinguished his first success, 'Quincy Adams Sawyer.'" — Boston Daily Advertiser.

"New England's common life seems a favorite material for this sterling author, who in this particular instance mixes his colors with masterly skill." — Boston Globe.

LAURIEL. THE LOVE LETTERS OF AN AMERICAN GIRL. By HERBERT D. WARD.

With a portrait frontispiece in photogravure.

Library 12mo, cloth, gilt top . . . $1.50

The author has herein given a strong and beautiful love story in the form of the correspondence of an American girl. We follow her through her courtship, with its varying stages of doubt and uncertainty; and the book ends with an after-marriage love letter, which is perhaps the most charming of the collection.

"The sincere and unaffected charm of these letters from the pen of a genuine American girl can not fail to give them an influence which mere love letters could never exert." — From a Letter to the Publishers.

Lauriel

Copyright, 1901, by Carle J. Blenner. From a Copley Print, copyright, 1901, by Curtis & Cameron.

"These are jolly, tender, unselfish, honest, and loyal messages, and the story they tell is a fascinating one. The personal, intimate touch they give to one's thoughts, the revelation of mental processes and tendencies, is charming." — Boston Transcript.

JARVIS OF HARVARD. By REGINALD WRIGHT KAUFFMAN. Illustrated by Robert Edwards.

Library 12mo, cloth decorative $1.50

A strong and well-written novel, dealing with the life of a young man in a modern college. Studies, athletics, social life and the outside influences surrounding the youth of a college town are clearly depicted. The local color appeals not only to Harvard men, but to their rivals, the loyal sons of Yale, Pennsylvania, and Princeton.

"Mr. Kauffman's treatment of his subject is dignified, restrained, sincere, and in admirable good taste throughout." — New York Mail and Express.

"A strong and well-written novel true to a certain side of the college atmosphere, not only in the details of athletic life, but in the spirit of college social and society circles." — San Francisco Bulletin.

"The story is a pitiless analysis of a young man who unfortunately is typical of certain conditions of college life, despite some enthusiastic defenders whose attack is wholly from a suppositious standpoint." — Philadelphia Press.

IN KINGS' HOUSES: A TALE OF THE DAYS OF QUEEN ANNE. By JULIA C. R. DORR. New Illustrated Edition.

Large 12mo, cloth $1.50

The story deals with one of the most romantic episodes in English history. Queen Anne, the last of the reigning Stuarts, is described with a strong yet sympathetic touch, and the young Duke of Gloucester, the "little lady," and the hero of the tale, Robin Sandys, are delightful characterizations.

"We close the book with a wish that the author may write more of the history of England, which she knows so well." — Bookman, New York.

"A story with a charm that will hardly be withstood." — Kansas City Times.

"A fine strong story which it is a relief to come upon. Related with charming simple art." — Public Ledger, Philadelphia.

CYRANO DE BERGERAC: A HEROIC COMEDY FROM THE FRENCH OF EDWARD ROSTAND, as accepted and played by Richard Mansfield. Translated by Howard Thayer Kingsbury.

One vol., paper boards $0.50
One vol., cloth decorative, with a photogravure frontispiece 1.00

Mr. Kingsbury's translation has preserved much of the original flavor and also proved itself in many passages a work of poetic talent on its own account.

Books for Young People

WORKS OF ANNIE FELLOWS JOHNSTON

THE LITTLE COLONEL SERIES (Trade Mark)

Since the time of "Little Women" no juvenile heroine has been so popular and well-beloved as the "Little Colonel" whom Mrs. Johnston has made the central figure of the "Little Colonel" stories. Though some of the books are now several years old, there is a continually increasing demand for them. Their tone is especially high and pure, and the strength of their influence may be gauged from the fact that both author and publishers are frequently in receipt of letters telling of the charitable undertakings which the books have instigated. Dozens of clubs formed by boys and girls all over the country for the purpose of helping less fortunate children are directly traceable to the "Little Colonel" stories, and the examples set forth therein.

THE LITTLE COLONEL (Trade Mark) STORIES.

Being three "Little Colonel" stories in the Cosy Corner Series, "The Little Colonel," "Two Little Knights of Kentucky," and "The Gate of the Giant Scissors," put into a single volume, owing to the popular demand for a uniform series of the stories dealing with one of the most popular of juvenile heroines.
One vol., large 12mo, cloth decorative $1.50

THE LITTLE COLONEL'S HOUSE PARTY. (Trade Mark) Illustrated

by Louis Meynell.
One vol., large 12mo, cloth decorative $1.50

THE LITTLE COLONEL'S HOLIDAYS. (Trade Mark) Illustrated by L. J. Bridgman.

One vol., large 12mo, cloth, decorative cover $1.50

THE LITTLE COLONEL'S HERO. (Trade Mark) Illustrated by E. B. Barry

One vol., large 12mo, cloth decorative $1.50

In these three stories Mrs. Johnston once more introduces us to the "Little Colonel," the dainty maiden who has already figured as the heroine of two previous stories, "The Little Colonel" and "Two Little Knights of Kentucky," and who has won her way into the hearts of old and young alike. She is more winsome and lovable than ever.

THE LITTLE COLONEL AT BOARDING-SCHOOL.
(Trade Mark)

Large 12mo, cloth, illustrated . . . $1.50

Another of the delightful, child-beloved "Little Colonel" books! This time, that winsome little maiden appears as the central figure at a girls' boarding-school, where she wins the hearts of her fellow pupils, as well as those of her young readers. Her companions also are charming girls to read about, and the doings of the Shadow Club, with its motto, —

"Our shadow-selves — our influence — may fall Where we can never be," — show a thoughtfulness and care for others well worth following by other schoolgirls.

"The book is particularly interesting, and even fine in its delicate treatment of many puzzling problems of early womanhood. The thanks of all mothers and guardians of young girls should be extended to Mrs. Johnston for her careful and beautiful story which holds the solution to many questions." — Louisville Courier-Journal.

Annie Fellows Johnston

THE LITTLE COLONEL IN ARIZONA.
(Trade Mark)

Large 12mo, cloth decorative, illustrated $1.50

In this volume the dear little Kentucky lass experiences the camp and outdoor life of the Arizona plains. Her chief companions in this new field are Joyce, the heroine of the "Giant Scissors," who is nearly as beloved by all child readers as is the "Little Colonel;" and the Tremont children, who, in years gone by, were the owners of the pet monkey, "Dago," whose story is told in an earlier book.

"'The Little Colonel' is older, but otherwise the same dainty little maiden, striving to grow up into a true and beautiful womanhood, and learning lessons from the experience of each passing day." — Newark Evening News.

"Whatever she does, or wherever she goes, the chronicle of her adventures is sure to be entertaining, pure and wholesome in spirit, and free from mawkish sentimentality. She is not yet fourteen, which signifies more stories, it is devoutly to be hoped, — for the 'Little Colonel' is a thoroughbred." — New York Sun.

THE LITTLE COLONEL.

A Special Holiday Edition of Mrs. Johnston's most famous book.

Cloth decorative, small quarto $1.25

New plates, handsomely illustrated, with eight full-page drawings in color, by Harold Matthews Brett.

"One of the most fascinating characters in juvenile literature." — Chicago Evening Post.

"One of the most lovable and natural characters in contemporary fiction for girls. The humor of the book is unforced and the pathos is simple." — Christian Register.

"A children's classic. A perfect story of Southern life, and reflects the intense pride of the Southerner in his family." — San Francisco Chronicle.

ASA HOLMES; OR, AT THE CROSS-ROADS. A Sketch of Country Life and Country Humor. With a frontispiece by Ernest Fosbery.

Large 16mo, cloth, gilt top, $1.00

"Asa Holmes; or, At the Cross-Roads" is the most delightful, most sympathetic and wholesome book that has been published in a long while. The lovable, cheerful, touching incidents, the descriptions of persons and things, are wonderfully true to nature." — Boston Times.

"It is a sweet little story winding leisurely along like a meadow brook; and the character of the old miller, with his unvarying optimism, is one whose acquaintance is well worth making. No one need hesitate to recommend this admirable little book." — Memphis Commercial-Appeal.

JOEL: A BOY OF GALILEE. New illustrated edition.

Cloth, 12mo, with handsome decorative cover $1.50

This is a book worthy of the widest recognition. It is an interesting tale for children, telling the story of a little boy who lived in Galilee during the life of Christ. This boy, Joel, born a cripple, but restored to health by one of Jesus' miracles, is a manly and natural little fellow, winning the sympathy of all by his courageous spirits and sturdy faith. The life of Jesus, from its simple beginning to its glorious ending, is indirectly presented in a way to greatly interest and appeal to every boy and girl.

This book, of which this new illustrated edition has been issued in response to a wide demand, is an already established favorite in this country, and also in Italy, having been recently translated into that language. "Joel" should find a place in every home, both for the charming story it tells and for the noble lessons it teaches.

"Fills for young readers the place which 'Ben Hur' fills for their elders." — Brooklyn Eagle.

"Reverently written, it possesses much attraction for the piously inclined, and this seems to have increased rather than decreased in the nine years the work has been before the public." — Chicago Daily News.

"Reverence and conscientious attention to historic correctness mark the story of Joel." — Los Angeles Express.

THE WOODRANGER TALES

By G. WALDO BROWNE

THE WOODRANGER.
THE YOUNG GUNBEARER.
THE HERO OF THE HILLS.

Each 1 vol., large 12mo, cloth, decorative cover, illustrated, per volume . $1.00
Three vols., boxed, per set . . 3.00

The Woodranger Tales, like the "Pathfinder Tales" of J. Fenimore Cooper, combine historical information relating to early pioneer days in America with interesting adventures in the backwoods. Although the same characters are continued throughout the series, each book is complete in itself, and, while based strictly on historical facts, is an interesting and exciting tale of adventure which will delight all boys and be by no means unwelcome to their elders.

Specimen illustration (reduced). From "The Woodranger."

LARRY HUDSON'S AMBITION.

By JAMES OTIS, author of "Toby Tyler," etc. Illustrated by Eliot Keen.

One vol., library 12mo, cloth, decorative cover $1.25

James Otis, who has delighted the juvenile public with so many popular stories, has written the story of the rise of the bootblack Larry. Larry is not only capable of holding his own and coming out with flying colors in the amusing adventures wherein he befriends the family of good Deacon Doak; he also has the signal ability to know what he wants and to understand that hard work is necessary to win.

A PURITAN KNIGHT ERRANT.

By EDITH ROBINSON, author of "A Little Puritan Pioneer," "A Little Puritan's First Christmas," "A Little Puritan Rebel," etc. Illustrated by L. J. Bridgman.

One vol., large 12mo, cloth, decorative cover . . $1.50

The charm of style and historical value of Miss Robinson's previous stories of child life in Puritan days have brought them wide popularity. Her latest and most important book appeals to a large juvenile public. The "knight errant" of this story is a little Don Quixote, whose trials and their ultimate outcome will prove deeply interesting to their reader.

"A good story of Colonial times and lives. The hero is a boy, daring and brave, and his adventures, his honor, and his virtues are those a child will delight in." — Public Opinion.

"An excellent book for boys and girls." — Boston Journal.

PRINCE HAROLD, A FAIRY STORY.

By L. F. BROWN. With 60 full-page illustrations by Vitry.

BEAUTIFUL JOE'S PARADISE;

OR, THE ISLAND OF BROTHERLY LOVE. A sequel to "Beautiful Joe." With fifteen full-page plates and many decorations from drawings by Charles Livingston Bull.

One vol., library 12mo, cloth decorative . $1.50

"Will be immensely enjoyed by the boys and girls who read it." — Pittsburg Gazette.

"Miss Saunders has put life, humor, action, and tenderness into her story. The book deserves to be a favorite." — Chicago Record-Herald.

"This book revives the spirit of 'Beautiful Joe' capitally. It is fairly riotous with fun, and as a whole is about as unusual as anything in the animal book line that has seen the light. It is a book for juveniles — old and young." — Philadelphia Item.

'TILDA JANE.

One vol., 12mo, fully illustrated, cloth decorative $1.50

"No more amusing and attractive child's story has appeared for a long time than this quaint and curious recital of the adventures of that pitiful and charming little runaway.

"It is one of those exquisitely simple and truthful books that win and charm the reader, and I did not put it down until I had finished it — honest! And I am sure that every one, young or old, who reads will be proud and happy to make the acquaintance of the delicious waif.

"I cannot think of any better book for children than this. I commend it unreservedly." — Cyrus Townsend Brady.

THE STORY OF THE GRAVELYS.

One vol., library 12mo, cloth decorative, illustrated $1.50

Here we have the haps and mishaps, the trials and triumphs, of a delightful New England family, of whose devotion and sturdiness it will do the reader good to hear. From the kindly, serene-souled grandmother to the buoyant mad-cap, Berty, these Gravelys are folk of fibre and blood-genuine human beings.

"The story is full of that refinement which appeals to the best taste. It takes for its motto Cardinal Gibbons's expression that 'A child's needless tear is a blood-blot on this earth,' and works out a beautiful and moving story." — St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

LITTLE LADY MARJORIE.

By FRANCES MARGARET FOX, author of "Farmer Brown and the Birds," etc.

One vol., 12mo, cloth decorative, illustrated . $1.50

A charming story for children between the ages of ten and fifteen years with both heart and nature interest.

SONGS AND RHYMES FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

Compiled by Mary Whitney Morrison (Jenny Wallis).

New edition, with an introduction by Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney and eight illustrations.

Large 12mo, cloth decorative $1.00

No better description of this admirable book can be given than Mrs. Whitney's happy introduction:

"One might almost as well offer June roses with the assurance of their sweetness, as to present this lovely little gathering of verse, which announces itself, like them, by its deliciousness. Yet, as Mrs. Morrison's charming volume has long been a delight to me, I am only too happy to declare that it is to me the most bewitching book of songs for little people that I have ever known."

THE ROSAMOND TALES. By Cuyler Reynolds. With 30 full-page illustrations from original photographs, and with a frontispiece from a drawing by Maud Humphreys.

Large 12mo, cloth decorative $1.50

These are just the bedtime stories that children always ask for, but do not always get. The happy listeners to them will unconsciously absorb a vast amount of interesting knowledge of birds, animals, and flowers. The book will be a boon to tired mothers, and a delight to wide-awake children.

BLACK BEAUTY: The Autobiography of a Horse. By Anna Sewell.

New Illustrated Edition. With nineteen full-page drawings by Winifred Austin.

One vol., large 12mo, cloth decorative, gilt top $1.25

There have been many editions of this classic, but we confidently offer this one as the most appropriate and handsome yet produced. The illustrations are of special value and beauty. Miss Austin is a lover of horses, and has delighted in tracing with her pen the beauty and grace of the noble animal.

"YOURS WITH ALL MY HEART:" The Autobiography of a Real Dog. By Esther M. Baxendale. Very full illustrated with upwards of a hundred drawings by Etheldred B. Barry.

Large 12mo, cloth decorative $1.50

Mrs. Baxendale's charming story, though written primarily for children, will find a warm welcome from all those who love animals. It is a true story of a deeply loved pet and companion of the author's for thirteen years; and it cannot fail to inspire in the hearts of all the young people fortunate enough to hear it that affection and sympathy for domestic animals so essential in the moulding of character.

Per set, 5 vols. . . . 5.00

1. INSECT STORIES.
2. FLOWER STORIES.
3. BIRD STORIES.
4. STORIES OF LITTLE ANIMALS.
5. TREE STORIES.

In this series of five little Nature books, it is the author's intention so to present to the child reader the facts about each particular flower, insect, bird, or animal, in story form, as to make delightful reading of the facts of science, which the child is to verify through his field lessons and experiences.

Classical legends, myths, poems, and songs are so presented as to correlate fully with these lessons, to which the excellent illustrations are no little help.

"Here is a pretty and original idea, cleverly carried out. The author has collected a great variety of material, stories and verses, from the pens of prominent writers, and has classified them under the headings indicated by the titles. She has also prepared additional material in the form of stories, or little natural history talks. The volumes will afford the best kind of entertainment, and no intelligent child will read them without unconsciously benefiting from them. None of the juveniles of the season are to be commended more heartily." — St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

THE LITTLE COUSIN SERIES

Price per volume $0.60

The books are the most interesting and delightful accounts possible of the children in other countries. The daily home life of each little cousin is described, his mode of dress, his work and his play, the quaint customs of his people and some of the adventures he is sure to have. The information contained is absolutely accurate, and the stories are so charmingly written that the readers do not realize how much information they are really obtaining.

"It is a very clever idea to gather a good deal of information about child-life in various countries, and present it in the interesting form of stories of children. We hope the author will extend the series to embrace other of our little cousins, for certainly children everywhere will welcome such books." — The Living Church.

L. C. Page & Company's Announcement of New Publications for 1905

We take pleasure in announcing the following publications for the season of 1905, and in calling attention to the number of well-known authors whose names will be found on the list, which includes new books by Robert Neilson Stephens, Charles G. D. Roberts, Richard LeGallienne, Alice MacGowan, Grace MacGowan Cooke, Bliss Carman, Morley Roberts, Elliott Flower, Capt. T. Jenkins Hains, Stephen Conrad, Estelle M. Hurll, and Annie Fellows Johnston.

Selected Novels of Lord Beaconsfield

Cabinet edition of the "Young England" novels. Edited by Mr. Bernard N. Langdon-Davies, M. A., and illustrated by Mr. Byam Shaw, R. I. Each volume has also a foreword and a critical essay.

Per set, library cloth, boxed . . . . . $ 6.00
The same, one-half morocco, boxed . . . 12.00

VIVIAN GREY SYBIL
CONINGSBY TANCRED

The name of Benjamin Disraeli, Lord Beaconsfield, is world-wide, not only as a political genius, the organizer and leader of the "Young England" and Conservative parties, but also as a writer of incision and skill. If politics were his vocation, and literature his avocation, he is certainly one of the few men who have reaped as much glory from the latter as the former. The four volumes in this new edition present clearly the "Young England" movement, the judgments and ideals of the Young Tory party, as Disraeli conceived them. Giving, as they do, a clear insight into the contemporary political situation of the author's day, they are of interest to the reader of political fiction and to the student of politics, both ancient and modern. In connection with the recent "literary sensation" afforded the critics by the appearance of a hitherto unpublished novel by Lord Beaconsfield, this set of his four best books should excite unusual attention and demand.

*The Travel Lovers' Library

Uniform with the previous volumes in the series, "Old World Memories," "Paris," "Venice," etc.

CHINA. By Col. Charles Denby.

Two volumes, fully illustrated in duogravure from original photographs, cloth . . . . . $2.40 net
The same, three-quarters morocco . . . . 5.00 net

The Travel Lovers' Library has for its new issue this year a book which is especially opportune, in view of the important situation in the East.

The late Colonel Denby was American Minister to China from 1885 until 1898, and there could hardly be found a clearer, more comprehensive account of China, or one written with more insight and sympathetic understanding, than this book, the result of more than a decade's study and preparation for the work. From his position at court, the author was able to gain an unusual and intimate personal knowledge of the character and customs of this interesting people, their form of government, their commercial and business relations, their religious and social conditions. His son, Mr. Charles Denby, now a resident of China, has contributed additional chapters, noting and explaining the more immediate events which have led up to the pending crisis, and describing graphically and authoritatively the present conditions of the empire.

Other Books for Travel Lovers

THE FAIR LAND TYROL. By W. D. McCrackan, author of "Romance and Teutonic Switzerland," etc.

One volume, with especially selected illustrations, cloth, $1.60 net

The same, three-quarters levant morocco . 4.00 net

Postage extra.

Mr. McCrackan's extensive and prolonged travels through Switzerland and the Tyrol, and his appreciation of and love for this romantic district and its people, render him a most fitting medium to present its history, its scenic charms, the quaintness of its customs, and the personality of the Tyrolese to the reading public. His former work, "Romance and Teutonic Switzerland," has become a standard handbook of travel, and the recent editions of Baedeker's "Switzerland" pay it the unusual compliment of referring to it as a valuable book for the visitor to Switzerland.

This will be a companion volume in format to Miss Tozier's successful book of last season, "Among English Inns."

RAMBLES IN NORMANDY.
RAMBLES IN BRITTANY. By Francis Miltoun, author of "Cathedrals of Northern France," "Cathedrals of Southern France," etc.

With many illustrations from sketches and drawings made on the ground by Blanche McManus. Each one volume, octavo, cloth, per volume . . . . $2.00 net

The same, three-quarters levant morocco, per volume, $4.00 net

Boxed upright as a two volume set if desired.

Nothing more delightful in book form can be imagined than a sympathetic and authoritative description of countries rich in natural beauty, crowded with historic associations, scattered over with ruins famed in legend, and, best of all, out of the tourist rut. The author and the illustrator have thus described the charms of Normandy and Brittany, their churches and their châteaux, their architectural and natural beauties, not overlooking the quaint and picturesque characteristics of town and village life, and the manners and customs of their habitants. The books are a rare combination of fascinating information and unusually artistic illustrations.

*Art Galleries of Europe Series

Uniform with "The Art of the Vatican," "The Art of the Pitti Palace," and "The Art of the Louvre."

Each one volume, large 12mo, cloth decorative, printed on a special featherweight paper, profusely illustrated with full-page plates in duogravure, boxed . . $2.00 net
The same, three-quarters morocco . . . 4.00 net
Postage extra.

THE ART OF THE NATIONAL GALLERY (London). By Julia DeW. Addison, author of "The Art of the Pitti Palace," etc.

This series, of which the former volumes have already established themselves in popular favor, is an unparalleled opportunity for the study of the great art galleries of Europe. It will not only interest artists, lovers of art, and those who have themselves seen the works of art, but also the beginner and layman in art matters. It is an interesting and important contribution to art literature.

As in Paris the Louvre is the Mecca for all artists and sightseers, so strangers in London gravitate naturally to the National Gallery. Mrs. Addison has a highly cultivated artistic sense, and an accurate knowledge of her subject, so that her descriptions of this famous gallery and its contents should be welcomed by all possessing either knowledge of or liking for the treasures of art.

THE ART OF THE VENICE ACADEMY. By Mary Knight Potter, author of "The Art of the Vatican," "The Art of the Louvre," etc.

Miss Potter's reputation as a writer, artist, and critic is sufficient endorsement of the value of her forthcoming book. Thoroughly equipped for her work, and with an independence of judgment rarely met, her book is more than the passing impressions of a sightseer. The illustrations of the volume are left to her selection, so that a rare harmony is thus obtained between the text and the pictures.

Some opinions of the series:

"Acceptable guides, adding much to the appreciation of art treasures."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

* For previous volumes in this series see page 9 of the General Catalogue.

* The Cathedral Series

Uniform with "The Cathedrals of Northern France," "The Cathedrals of Southern France," and "The Cathedrals of England."

THE CATHEDRALS AND CHURCHES OF THE RHINE.

By Francis Miltoun, with eighty illustrations from original drawings, and many minor decorations by Blanche McManus.

One volume, octavo, decorative cover . . $2.00 net
The same, three-quarters morocco . . . 4.00 net
Postage extra.

This series affords a splendid chance for the devotee of art and architecture to study those glorious "Monumentes Historiques," the grand and the lesser cathedrals of Europe. Blanche McManus and Francis Miltoun have given an attractive and pleasing presentation of picturesque facts concerning a subject in which all well-informed persons may be supposed to be interested.

The wealth of legend and story surrounding these cathedrals, their picturesque environment, and the romantic part they have played in history, make them peculiarly interesting and a most desirable addition to "The Cathedral Series."

The text, authoritative and scholarly, is of the nature of appreciative estimate rather than of comparative criticism of architectural styles. The illustrations have been done from studies and sketches made on the spot during the past two years. As Miss McManus is recognized as one of the foremost artists and decorators, a book illustrated and designed throughout by her is sure to be one of the most beautiful publications of the year. Both as a gift-book and as a work of permanent value, the volume should find a large audience in the lover of architecture or of art, the traveller, and the general reader.

THE CATHEDRALS OF SPAIN. By Charles Rudy.

One volume, illustrated, decorative cover . $2.00 net
The same, three-quarters morocco . . . 4.00 net
Postage extra.

The cathedrals of Spain have a different character from those of the other countries, and the author of the present volume is well fitted to describe them. Mr. Rudy is an American by birth, but was educated in Europe, and has resided for the last six years in Madrid, where as correspondent for "The Studio" in America, "The Daily Chronicle" and "The Daily Mirror" of London, and "Le Petit Parisien" and "Le Matin" of Paris, and as the author of miscellaneous articles on art, his name has become widely known. He is also an art reviewer on one of the leading dailies in Spain, so that his forthcoming book on Spanish cathedrals is the outgrowth of wide knowledge and study.

Concerning the Series

"The traveller in France or in England will find these books especially desirable additions to his stock of guide-books, since they furnish in popular and convenient form abundant information not always accessible."—Christian Register.

"As guide-books supplemented with interesting historical association, they commend themselves to the traveller; as pictures of places worth seeing and knowing about, they are a boon to stay-at-homes."—Book News.

"There is liberal judgment evinced and a nice balance kept between dry fact and juicy comment."—Chicago Evening Post.

"Excellent volumes for the traveller who desires to look into this subject somewhat more closely than usual. They afford an intelligent and concise aid to architectural or historical study of church architecture."—Brooklyn Daily Eagle.

* Little Pilgrimages Series

AMONG FRENCH INNS. By Charles Gibson. A companion volume to "Among English Inns," by Josephine Tozier.

One volume, 8vo, cloth decorative, with many illustrations, $1.60 net
The same, three-quarters morocco . . . 4.00 net
Postage extra.

Miss Tozier's delightful volume of travel was one of the most popular books of last season, running through several editions, and being still in active demand.

The new "Little Pilgrimages" volume will be a record of a tour through rural France similar to that taken by the four friends of whom Miss Tozier wrote. If "English Inns" proved alluring, the present volume should prove even more so, and we confidently expect that the critics will speak as highly of it as they did of the other.

"Choosing a score of homelike inns, Miss Tozier graces the pages of her book with an abundance of bright, attractive sketches of local scenery and social life, that add greatly to whatever has been published along these lines."—Boston Transcript.

* The Art Lovers' Series

THE BIBLE BEAUTIFUL: The Story of Bible Illustration. By Estelle M. Hurll, author of "The Madonna in Art," "Child Life in Art," "The Life of Our Lord in Art," etc.

One volume, cloth, profusely illustrated, boxed, $2.00 net
The same, three-quarters morocco, boxed . . 4.00 net
Postage extra.

Since time immemorial, the Bible has furnished themes for the painter, the sculptor, the dramatist, the writer of fiction; and even the musical world has drawn inspiration from this source. In the present volume, Miss Hurll takes under discussion the various art treasures, both paintings and sculpture, which have the Bible for their inspiration.

Her authoritative text, combined with the well-selected illustrations, make the volume an art book par excellence of wide value and interest.

CELEBRATED CRIMES OF THE RUSSIAN COURT.

Translated from the French of Alexandre Dumas by Mikael Gortshakov.

One volume, cloth decorative, profusely illustrated $3.00
The same, three-quarters morocco 6.00

"Celebrated Crimes of the Russian Court" gives an absorbing account and a scathing arraignment of the social and political corruption of the Russian court that has existed for many centuries. Such historical crimes and atrocities as those of the rule of Ivan the Terrible, the massacre of the Strelitz Guard by Peter the Great, the seizure of the throne by Catherine II., and the sanguinary Revolution of 1825, are related with vividness and force by the great Dumas. His analysis of character and motives equals his descriptions of events; his pen-portraits of the two famous Czarinas, Elizabeth I. and Catherine II., heroines of many intrigues, both amatory and political, are veritable etchings.

The reader will gain from this book many powerful impressions of the secrets of court life, of the evils of an absolute autocracy and its inevitable degeneration. This work is now translated into English for the first time.

*Music Lovers' Series

The three new books which are added to the "Music Lovers' Series" this year are of distinct importance. Every one is interested in opera, and of late years the works of Wagner have become the most essential ones in the entire repertoire of grand opera.

In these three books an attempt has been made to render as closely as possible into English narrative prose the librettos of the Wagner operas, and it is believed that even to those familiar with the great music dramas these prose narratives will reveal even more clearly the greatness of the author's master-mind, while their aid to those who do not thoroughly understand the operas will be most helpful. In addition to their value for music lovers, the books will make a wide appeal to the general public as absorbing works of fiction.

Mrs. Jameson's Series on Sacred and Legendary Art

Mrs. Jameson's works, especially those on art, are of such rare literary merit, and written with such deep and comprehensive insight, that they are included among the classics of the nineteenth century. Among the most valuable are the three books comprising the series on "Sacred and Legendary Art," which deal not so much with religion as with art. These new editions are reprinted from the best ones existent, revised and enlarged by the author during her lifetime, reproducing all the illustrations, and being carefully edited by competent authorities.

Each one volume, square octavo, beautifully illustrated with photogravures and a large number of text plates. Bound in half vellum, with blue leather label, per volume $3.00

LEGENDS OF THE MADONNA. Dealing with pictures of the Virgin Mary. First published in 1852.

LEGENDS OF THE MONASTIC ORDERS. Dealing with pictures relating to members of those orders. First published in 1850. New edition edited by Mr. Harold Child, Secretary of the Royal Society of Painter-Etchers.

NOTE.— Mrs. Jameson's third work, "Sacred and Legendary Art," is in preparation for 1906.

MEMOIRS OF BENVENUTO CELLINI. By Himself.

The autobiographical memoirs of this splendidly gifted and barbarically untamable artist of the Italian Renaissance set forth one of the most singular careers in all the annals of art. The directness and racy animation with which Cellini recounts his varying and romantic exploits make it one of the most fascinating books in existence.

This edition, though not included in the preceding series, is very similar to it in general format. The size is square octavo, the illustrations comprise four photogravures, from photographs by Alinari of Florence, and the binding is limp brown leather.

THE POETRY OF LIFE. By Bliss Carman.
12mo, cloth decorative, with photogravure frontispiece, $1.50
The same, three-quarters morocco . . . 3.50
Postage extra.

With these essays, Mr. Carman is in his element. Poet that he is, what could be more to his taste than to write of the poetry of life. To him life is all poetry, and it has no prose. An eager optimist, seeking ever beauty, saturated with the mere joy of living, his ideas find expression in English as beautiful as the thoughts it clothes. One cannot but be impressed with the truth of his ideals and the sincerity of his teachings.

Of his last book, "The Friendship of Art," the critics said:

"They combine to form a gospel of right thinking and right living in both the artistic and the material sense."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

"Their substance is extremely sound and sweet, and their form is remarkable for its directness and simplicity."—New York Times Saturday Review of Books.

"What most impresses in these essays is their healthfulness and their sunny views of life. That is where the poet seeps into them, for of all the men making verse out of their own feelings and not manufactured and simulated emotions, Mr. Carman is the most sincere."—Cleveland Leader.

"Through it all runs a keen sympathy with nature, a strong attraction for the spiritual element in life and literature."—San Francisco Chronicle.

ODES FROM THE DIVAN OF HAFIZ. By Richard LeGallienne, author of "The Quest of the Golden Girl," etc.

The same, ooze leather decorative . . . 2.50 net

Mr. Richard LeGallienne's rendering of "The Odes of Hafiz," as in the case of his paraphrase of Omar Khayyam, has been made from literal prose versions of the poet, supplemented by his own fancy. While he has kept as closely as he deems necessary to his original, his aim, as before, has been to make English poetry, rather than a joyless shadow of a great classic. He offers this rendering in the first place as poetry, in the second as translation; but at the same time his aim has been, as faithfully as in him lies, truly to interpret the great Persian poet to English readers, so that the total result of his endeavor is really—if not literally—Hafiz.

Below we give an extract from Mr. LeGallienne's preface:

"Compared with his infinite variety, Omar Khayyam seems doctrinaire, for Hafiz, while he shares Omar's contempt for religious hypocrisy, and likewise sings the philosophy of pleasure, is not so seriously concerned in such criticism of life as Omar is, but is occupied rather with living itself. Omar, perhaps, was primarily a philosopher, expressing himself as a poet, whereas the philosophy of Hafiz is a matter of daily wisdom to act on rather than to preach,—the tacit philosophy of a man of the world who was a poet as well. The poetry of Hafiz is animated with vivid pictures of that old Persian world. Human breadth, wild passion, pervasive humor, high spirits, and an intense love of nature are the qualities by which these odes will make their strongest appeal to an English reader."

"This is the quintessence of lyric poetry. It is a work of consummate art, and is certainly one of the very best volumes of English love poetry I have read."—Wilfred Scawen Blunt in "London Spectator."

This edition of Bliss Carman's poems is the first collected edition of the work of a living poet who ranks high among our sympathetic interpreters of nature and life.

The volumes are compiled from Mr. Carman's various published volumes, supplemented by a large number of poems which have already appeared in periodicals, but which are now included in a book for the first time. The contents of his former volumes, "Low Tide on Grand Pré," "Behind the Arras," "Ballads of Lost Haven," "By the Aurelian Wall," "A Winter Holiday," "Ode on the Coronation," and "The Pipes of Pan Series" are here reproduced without any omissions, almost without alterations, but with some rearrangement of poems from one volume to another. Many poems, first contributed to the three books, "Songs from Vagabondia," "More Songs from Vagabondia," and "Last Songs from Vagabondia," originally published in conjunction with the late Richard Hovey, are also included here, being distributed under various divisions of the present work where they most properly belong. The title of "By the Aurelian Wall" has been changed to "Memorabilia."

The volumes have been printed by the Chiswick Press, London, England, on a hand-made paper, prepared by Messrs. Arnold and Foster especially for this work. Every care has been taken to make the volumes beautiful from a typographical standpoint, and there will be no further edition, as the type has been distributed.

As a portion of the edition has already been subscribed for, the publishers recommend an early application for copies. Subscribers will receive their copies, numbered, in the order of date of application.

New Copyright Fiction

RETURN: A Story of the Sea Islands in 1739. By Alice MacGowan and Grace MacGowan Cooke, authors of "The Last Word," etc. With six illustrations by C. D. Williams. Library 12mo, cloth . . . $1.50

A new romance, undoubtedly the best work yet done by Miss MacGowan and Mrs. Cooke. The heroine of "Return," Diana Chaters, is the belle of the Colonial city of Charles Town, S. C., in the early eighteenth century, and the hero is a young Virginian of the historical family of Marshall. The youth, beauty, and wealth of the fashionable world, which first form the environment of the romance, are pictured in sharp contrast to the rude and exciting life of the frontier settlements in the Georgia Colony, and the authors have missed no opportunities for telling characterizations. But "Return" is, above all, a love-story.

We quote the opinion of Prof. Charles G. D. Roberts: "It seems to me a story of quite unusual strength and interest, full of vitality and crowded with telling characters. I greatly like the authors' firm, bold handling of their subject."

Press Notices of "Return":

"Fascinating in atmosphere, crowded with dramatic situations, and sparkling in dialogue. It is difficult to conceive of a story in which the element of picturesqueness enters more effectively. 'Return,' with its short, unusual title of Anglo-Saxon strength and terseness, gives promise of a story out of the ordinary, a promise which is abundantly fulfilled."—The Reader.

"So rich in color is this story, so crowded with figures, it seems like a bit of old Italian wall painting, a piece of modern tapestry, rather than a modern fabric woven deftly from the threads of fact and fancy gathered up in this new and essentially practical country, and therein lies its distinctive value and excellence."—N. Y. Sun.

"At once tender, thrilling, picturesque, philosophical, and dramatic. One of the most delightful romances we have had in many a day."—Chicago Record-Herald.

"It is a great, moving picture of life in Oglethorpe's and Whitefield's day, interesting and well written."—Pittsburg Gazette.

THE WINGED HELMET. By Harold Steele MacKaye, author of "The Panchronicon," etc.
With six illustrations by H. C. Edwards.
Library 12mo, cloth $1.50

When an author has an original theme on which to build his story, ability in construction of unusual situations, skill in novel characterization, and a good literary style, there can be no doubt but that his work is worth reading. "The Winged Helmet" is of this description.

The author gives in this novel a convincing picture of life in the early sixteenth century, and the reader will be delighted with its originality of treatment, freshness of plot, and unexpected climaxes.

THE BLACK BARQUE. By T. Jenkins Hains, author of "The Wind Jammers," "The Strife of the Sea," etc.
With five illustrations by W. Herbert Dunton.
Library 12mo, cloth $1.50

According to a high naval authority, whose name must be withheld, this is one of the best sea stories ever offered to the public. "The Black Barque" is a story of slavery and piracy upon the high seas about 1815, and is written with a thorough knowledge of deep-water sailing. This, Captain Hains's first long sea story, realistically pictures a series of stirring scenes at the period of the destruction of the exciting but nefarious traffic in slaves, in the form of a narrative by a young American lieutenant, who, by force of circumstances, finds himself in the gunner's berth of "The Black Barque." The clear-cut characterizations of the picturesque types of the various nationalities found among the officers and crew of a slaver of the day is not one of the least interesting features of the story. The descriptions of life aboard ship are remarkable for their strength, clearness, and realism.

SLAVES OF SUCCESS. By Elliott Flower, author of "The Spoilsmen," etc.
With twenty illustrations by Jay Hambidge.
Library 12mo, cloth $1.50

Another striking book by Mr. Flower, whose work is already so well known, both through his long stories and his contributions to "Collier's," the "Saturday Evening Post," etc. Like his first success, "The Spoilsmen," it deals with politics, but in the broader field of state and national instead of municipal. The book has recently appeared in condensed form as a serial in "Collier's Magazine," where it attracted widespread attention, and the announcement of its appearance in book form will be welcomed by Mr. Flower's rapidly increasing audience. The successful delineation of characters like John Wade, Ben Carroll, Azro Craig, and Allen Sidway throws new strong lights on the inside workings of American business and political "graft."

SILVER BELLS. By Col. Andrew C. P. Haggard, author of "Hannibal's Daughter," "Louis XIV. in Court and Camp," etc.
With cover design and frontispiece by Charles Livingston Bull. Library 12mo, cloth $1.50

Under the thin veneer of conventionality and custom lurks in many hearts the primeval instinct to throw civilization to the winds and hark back to the ways of the savages in the wilderness, and it often requires but a mental crisis or an emotional upheaval to break through the coating. Geoffrey Digby was such an one, who left home and kindred to seek happiness among the Indians of Canada, in the vast woods which always hold an undefinable mystery and fascination. He gained renown as a mighty hunter, and the tale of his life there, and the romance which awaited him, will be heartily enjoyed by all who like a good love-story with plenty of action not of the "stock" order. "Silver Bells," the Indian girl, is a perfect "child of nature."

A CAPTAIN OF MEN. By E. Anson More.

Library 12mo, cloth, illustrated with frontispiece in colors by Henry W. Moore $1.50

A tale of Tyre and those merchant princes whose discovery of the value of tin brought untold riches into the country and afforded adventures without number to those daring seekers for the mines. Merodach, the Assyrian, Tanith, the daughter of the richest merchant of Tyre, Miriam, her Hebrew slave, and the dwarf Hiram, who was the greatest artist of his day, are a quartette of characters hard to surpass in individuality. It has been said that the powerful order of Free Masons first had its origin in the meetings which were held at Hiram's studio in Tyre, where gathered together the greatest spirits of that age and place. Mr. More's local coloring is as absolutely accurate as it is possible for any student to obtain, and the hero of the story, Merodach, the Assyrian, is indeed "A Captain of Men."

MRS. JIM AND MRS. JIMMIE. By Stephen Conrad, author of "The Second Mrs. Jim."

Library 12mo, cloth decorative, illustrated with frontispiece in colors by Arthur W. Brown . . . $1.50

This new book is in a sense a sequel to "The Second Mrs. Jim," since it gives further glimpses of that delightful stepmother and her philosophy. This time, however, she divides the field with "Mrs. Jimmie," who is quite as attractive in her different way. The book has more plot than the former volume, a little less philosophy perhaps, but just as much wholesome fun. In many ways it is a stronger book, and will therefore take an even firmer hold on the public.

Reviews of "The Second Mrs. Jim":

"There isn't a dull line in the book, nor a page that hasn't on it some bit of wisdom that is worthy to pass into a proverb."—Dorothy Dix in New Orleans Picayune.

"The author combines humor and sweet wholesomeness with the telling of his story. It is worth the buying and reading, and mothers who think boys difficult to manage, and prospective brides, are especially urged to read the book."—Buffalo Express.

"Worth as many Mrs. Wiggses as can be crowded into the cabbage patch."—Philadelphia Press.

THE FLIGHT OF GEORGIANA: A Romance of the Days of the Young Pretender. By Robert Neilson Stephens, author of "The Bright Face of Danger," "An Enemy to the King," "The Mystery of Murray Davenport," etc. Library 12mo, cloth decorative, illustrated . . $1.50

Mr. Stephens's novels all bear the hall-mark of success, for his men are always live, his women are always worthy of their cavaliers, and his adventures are of the sort to stir the most sluggish blood without overstepping the bounds of good taste.

"The Flight of Georgiana" is a story of love and peril in England in 1746, just after the Battle of Culloden. The hero is a young Jacobite officer, escaping for his life, but his first glimpse of Georgiana puts everything else from his mind. In the exciting adventures which attend this reckless lover, the utmost courage, audacity, and wit are called into play. The old Elizabethan mansion in and about which a good deal of the action occurs provides an atmosphere which most readers of fiction find charming. The whole story, in matter and style, represents the author's endeavor to tell a romantic tale that shall be free from all sentimentality and affectation, and to depict humanity, not only as it displayed itself in the eighteenth century, but as it manifests itself at all times.

Of the author's last work, "The Bright Face of Danger," the "Boston Transcript" said:

"Mr. Stephens has fairly outdone himself. We thank him heartily. He has chosen with rare wisdom to write a story whose incidents cover but a few hours, and has proved his mettle as a romantic novelist. The rapid movement of the story carries everything before it. It is nothing if not spirited and entertaining, rational and convincing. If there were more stories like 'The Bright Face of Danger,' the historical novel would be in no danger of falling into disrepute."

High praise this, but merited, for Mr. Stephens is surely master of the historical novel among present-day writers.

BROTHERS OF PERIL. By Theodore Roberts, author of "Hemming the Adventurer."

Library 12mo, cloth decorative, with four illustrations in color by H. C. Edwards $1.50

When "Hemming" appeared last year, its readers passed it on to their friends with the recommendation that it was "a rattling good story." "Hemming" was good, but "Brothers of Peril" is better. It has an unusual plot, dealing with a now extinct race, the Beothic Indians of the sixteenth century, who were the original inhabitants of Newfoundland when that island was merely a fishing-station for the cod-seeking fleets of the old world.

The story tells of the adventures of a young English cavalier, who, left behind by the fleet, finds another Englishman, with his daughter and servants, who is hiding from the law. A French adventurer and pirate, who is an unwelcome suitor for the daughter, plays an important part. Encounters between the Indians and the small colony of white men on shore, and perilous adventures at sea with a shipload of pirates led by the French buccaneer, make a story of breathless interest, but all ends well when the fishing fleet returns, and the lovers sail for home. All in all, "Brothers of Peril" is a story of swing and action, with good descriptions and charming love passages.

Reviews of "Brothers of Peril":

"An original and absorbing story. A dashing story with a historical turn. There is no lack of excitement or action in it, all being described in vigorous, striking style. To be sure, the ending is just what is expected, but its strength lies in its naturalness, and this applies to the whole story, which is never overdone, and this is somewhat remarkable, for there are many scenes that could be easily spoiled by a less skilful writer. A story of unusual interest, which will strengthen the standing of an author who has made a successful start as a writer of fiction."—Boston Transcript.

"A brave tale, well told and worth reading."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

"An historical romance that has the merit of absolute novelty both in background and in the theme of the story. Mr. Roberts has full mastery of the art of the romance writer, and has made skilful use of the material at his command."—Brooklyn Eagle.

RED FOX: The History of His Life and Adventures. Told by Charles G. D. Roberts, author of "The Watchers of the Trails," "The Kindred of the Wild," "Barbara Ladd," etc.

Library 12mo, cloth decorative, with fifty illustrations, including frontispiece in color and cover design by Charles Livingston Bull $2.00

Mr. Roberts's reputation as a scientifically accurate writer, whose literary skill transforms his animal stories into masterpieces, stands unrivalled in his particular field.

This is his first long animal story, and his romance of Red Fox, from babyhood to patriarchal old age, makes reading more fascinating than any work of fiction. In his hands Red Fox becomes a personality so strong that one entirely forgets he is an animal, and his haps and mishaps grip you as do those of a person.

Mr. Bull, as usual, fits his pictures to the text as hand to glove, and the ensemble becomes a book as near perfection as it is possible to attain.

Following is a list of the chapter heads:

The Price of His Life.
The Lessons of the Wild.
Black Marks and Birchings.
Alone in the World.
Mating and Mastery.
Burning Spur and Blinding Claw.
The Foiling of the Traps.
Some Little People of the Snow.
The Fooling of the Mongrels.
The Presumption of Black Mink.
A Royal Marauder.
A Winged Invasion.
The Yellow Thirst.
The Red Scourge of the Forest.
The Worrying of Red Buck.
In the Hands of the Enemy.
Under Alien Skies.
The Bell-Mouthed Pack.

CAMERON OF LOCHIEL. Translated from the French of Philippe Aubert de Gaspé by Prof. Charles G. D. Roberts.

Library 12mo, cloth decorative, with frontispiece in color by H. C. Edwards $1.50

The publishers are gratified to announce a new edition of a book by this famous author, who may be called the Sir Walter Scott of Canada. This interesting and valuable romance is fortunate in having for its translator Professor Roberts, who has caught perfectly the spirit of the original. The French edition first appeared under the title of "Les Anciens Canadiens" in 1862, and was later translated and appeared in an American edition now out of print.

Patriotism, devotion to the spirit of Canadian nationality, a just pride of race, and a loving memory for his people's romantic and heroic past, are the dominant chords struck by the author throughout the story, which begins during the old régime, and whose characters are active participants in the struggle which ended in the possession of Canada by the English.

THE PARADISE OF THE WILD APPLE. By Richard LeGallienne, author of "Old Love Stories Retold," "The Quest of the Golden Girl," etc.

Library 12mo, cloth decorative $1.50

The theme of Mr. LeGallienne's new romance deals with the instinct of wildness in human nature,—the wander spirit and impatience of tame domesticity, the preference for wild flowers and fruits, and the glee in summer storms and elemental frolics. A wild apple-tree, high up in a rocky meadow, is symbolic of all this, and Mr. LeGallienne works out in a fashion at once imaginative and serious the romance of a young man well placed from the view of worldly goods and estate, who suddenly hungers for the "wild apples" of his youth. The theme has limitless possibilities, and Mr. LeGallienne is artist enough to make adequate use of them, so that the new romance shows an advance in interest and value over his previous one, "The Quest of the Golden Girl."

THE GRAPPLE. By Grace MacGowan Cooke, author of "Return," "The Last Word," etc.

Library 12mo, cloth decorative $1.50

The American public is most eager perhaps for novels dealing with specific problems of the day, none of which is more vital than the question of labor vs. capital.

This story of a strike in the coal mines of Illinois gives both sides of the question,—the Union and its methods, and the non-Union workers and their loyal adherents, with a final typical clash at the end. The question is an absorbing one, and it is handled fearlessly.

Although the "strike" question is the chief motif of the book, it does not lack interest in other directions. There is a fascinating love-story running through the pages, and more than one side issue finds appropriate setting. Human nature, its baseness and its heroism, is strongly depicted.

IN THE BROODING WILD. By Ridgwell Cullum, author of "The Story of Foss River Ranch," "The Hound from the North," etc.

Library 12mo, cloth decorative, with frontispiece in color and cover design by Charles Livingston Bull . $1.50

This is another novel laid in the territory which Mr. Cullum has made peculiarly his own,—Northwest Canada.

"Foss River Ranch" and "The Hound from the North" both deal with this region, and show Mr. Cullum's ability to write tales of strength and intensity. Whether it be a love-story or a story of adventure, the people and the country are characterized in bold and telling strokes. The breath of all outdoors and the heights and depths of life lie between the covers of Mr. Cullum's books.

Press Notices of "In the Brooding Wild":

"'In the Brooding Wild' throbs and vibrates with tumultuous brute force, the wild, tameless energy of self-contained, independent men who are a law unto themselves."—Philadelphia North American.

"Realistic to a degree, and written with much strength and originality. It is unusual both in conception and in the quality of its execution. Mr. Cullum has preserved with much skill the atmosphere of the setting of the tale."—Brooklyn Daily Eagle.

CASTEL DEL MONTE. By Nathan Gallizier.
With six illustrations by H. C. Edwards.
Library 12mo, cloth $1.50

A powerful romance of the fall of the Hohenstaufen dynasty in Italy, and the overthrow of Manfred by Charles of Anjou, the champion of Pope Clement IV. The Middle Ages are noted for the weird mysticism and the deep fatalism characteristic of a people believing in signs and portents and the firm hand of fate. Mr. Gallizier has brought out these characteristics in marked degree by his strong descriptions of the thrilling incidents which began with the arrival of the Ghibelline envoys at Palermo, and only ended with the complete defeat and death of Manfred at the hands of Charles of Anjou and his supporters.

The causes and results of the Ghibelline wars are clearly set forth in the tale, which possesses a love-story of sympathy and charm.

LADY PENELOPE. By Morley Roberts, author of "Rachel Marr," "The Promotion of the Admiral," etc.
With nine illustrations by Arthur W. Brown.
Library 12mo, cloth $1.50

Mr. Roberts certainly has versatility, since this book has not a single point of similarity with either "Rachel Marr" or his well-known sea stories. Its setting is the English so-called "upper crust" of the present day. Lady Penelope is quite the most up-to-date young lady imaginable and equally charming. As might be expected from such a heroine, her automobiling plays an important part in the development of the plot. Lady Penelope has a large number of suitors, and her method of choosing her husband is original and provocative of delightful situations and mirthful incidents. The new book should rival in popularity even Mr. Roberts's successful book of last season, "Rachel Marr."

Press Notices of "Lady Penelope":

"An amazingly clever satire." — N. Y. Times Saturday Review of Books.

"For celerity of movement, originality of plot, and fertility of invention, not to speak of a decided audacity in situation, 'Lady Penelope' is easily ahead of anything in the spring output of fiction."—Chicago News.

By Annie Fellows Johnston.
Large 12mo, cloth decorative, illustrated . . $1.50

Another Little Colonel book, and the title indicates that there is fun in plenty and that the Little Colonel and her readers will both enjoy it. Mrs. Johnston's books stand at the head of juvenile publications, for they are both healthy in tone and delightful in sentiment, while she possesses to a remarkable degree the ability to write for young people without overdrawn situations and characters, and with an entire lack of mawkish sentimentality.

"There is no brighter or better story for growing girls than this."—Chicago Record-Herald.

"The series is as satisfactory to the small girls, who find them adorable, as for the mothers and librarians, who delight in their influence."—Christian Register.

IN THE DESERT OF WAITING: The Legend of Camelback Mountain.
THE THREE WEAVERS: A Fairy Tale for Fathers and Mothers as Well as for Their Daughters. By Annie Fellows Johnston.
Each one volume, tall 16mo, cloth or boards decorative, $0.50

There has been a constant demand for publication in separate form of these two stories, which were originally included in two of the "Little Colonel" books, and the present editions, which are very charmingly gotten up, will be delightful and valued gift books for both old and young.

"'The Three Weavers' is the daintiest fairy-story I ever read," wrote one critic, and the "Louisville Post" calls "In the Desert of Waiting" a "gem, an exquisite bit of work. Mrs. Johnston is at her best in this web of delicate fancy, woven about the deep centre truth." Those who have read the stories as they originally appeared will be glad to find them published individually.

* For previous volumes in the Little Colonel Series see pages 42 and 43 of the General Catalogue.

TWO LITTLE KNIGHTS OF KENTUCKY. By Annie Fellows Johnston.

A special holiday edition, which will be a companion volume to the holiday edition of "The Little Colonel," issued last year.

Cloth decorative, size small quarto . . . $1.25

New plates, handsomely illustrated, with new drawings in color by Harold Matthews Brett.

The two little knights are almost as great favorites with readers as "The Little Colonel," and their eager attempts to carry out the principles of King Arthur and his Round Table form a fascinating series of happenings.

THE ROSES OF SAINT ELIZABETH. By Jane Scott Woodruff, author of "The Little Christmas Shoe."

Small quarto, cloth decorative, illustrated and decorated in color by Adelaide Everhart $1.00

This is a charming little story of a child whose father was caretaker of the great castle of the Wartburg, where Saint Elizabeth once had her home, with a fairy-tale interwoven, in which the roses and the ivy in the castle yard tell to the child and her playmate quaint old legends of the saint and the castle. This is just the sort of a story that girls love, with its sweetness and its fragrance and its faint echo of days long gone, with a suspicion of present-day romance at the end.

THE RIVAL CAMPERS; or, The Adventures of Henry Burns. By Ruel P. Smith.

Square 12mo, cloth decorative, illustrated by A. B. Shute, $1.50

Here is a book which will grip and enthuse every boy who is lucky enough to secure it. It is the story of a party of typical American lads, courageous, alert, and athletic, who spend a summer camping on an island off the Maine coast. Every boy reader will envy them their adventures,—yacht-racing, canoeing, and camping,—which culminate in their discovery and capture of a gang of daring robbers; but the influence of wholesome, outdoor life in the development of manly character is well brought out. Henry Burns, the leader of the boys, is a character in juvenile fiction of whom we are likely to hear again.

THE YOUNG SECTION-HAND; or, The Adventures of Allan West. By Burton E. Stevenson, author of "The Marathon Mystery," etc.
12mo, cloth, illustrated by L. J. Bridgman . . $1.50

Every branch of railroading fascinates the average American boy. The shops, the telegraph and signal systems, the yard and track work, the daily life of danger which confronts every employee, whether he be the ordinary workman or the engineer of a limited express train, and the mysterious "office" which controls every branch of the work,—each holds out its allurements to him.

In this story Mr. Stevenson's hero is just the right sort, a manly lad of sixteen who is given a chance as a section-hand on a big Western railroad, and whose experiences are as real as they are thrilling. He is persecuted by the discharged employee whose place he took, and becomes involved in complications which nearly cause his undoing; but his manliness and courage are finally proven, and the reward is his for duty done at any cost.

* The Little Cousin Series for 1905

Five new volumes, cloth decorative, each with six full-page illustrations, printed in colors. Per volume $0.60

OUR LITTLE ARMENIAN COUSIN. By Mary H. Wade.
OUR LITTLE ENGLISH COUSIN. By Blanche McManus.
OUR LITTLE FRENCH COUSIN. By Blanche McManus.
OUR LITTLE KOREAN COUSIN. By H. Lee M. Pike.
OUR LITTLE MEXICAN COUSIN. By Edward C. Butler.

The great success and prompt appreciation which this charming little series has met during the last four years has led to its continuation this year with a fifth set of child characters from other lands, each as original and delightful as the little foreign cousins with whom the little cousins at home became acquainted in the previous seasons' series.

"It is a very clever idea to gather a deal of information about child-life in various countries, and to present it in the interesting form of stories of children. This is very well done in this series of attractively made books, and we hope the author will extend the series to embrace other of our little cousins."—The Living Church.

* For previous volumes in this series see page 49 of the General Catalogue.

* Animal Tales

By Charles G. D. Roberts

Each one volume, small 12mo, cloth decorated, with full-page plates from drawings by Charles Livingston Bull. Per volume $0.50

THE LITTLE PEOPLE OF THE SYCAMORE (The Raccoon).
THE RETURN TO THE TRAILS (The Bear).

The separate issue of four of Professor Roberts's animal tales last year was much appreciated by the public, and the publishers have decided to issue two more this season.

"It is pleasant to think of the hours of enjoyment these little books must bring to many readers, with their wonderful descriptions of the mystery and beauty of the wild forest, and the minute and accurate knowledge of the habits and several characters of the animals concerned."—Chicago Chronicle.

* For previous volumes of these "Animal Tales" see page 25 of the General Catalogue.

* Phyllis' Field Friends Series

VOL. VI. STORIES OF LITTLE FISHES. By Lenore E. Mulets.
With illustrations by Sophie Schneider . . $1.00

The Phyllis' Field Friend Series is already widely known, but to those who are unacquainted with the series we would say that in each book the ordinary scientific data regarding the particular subject is presented in connection with legends, myths, poems, and songs in such a manner as to make each book a delight to the child reader.

The new volume this year, "Stories of Little Fishes," tells all the important facts about fishes and their habits, and contains in addition many tales and legends which will certainly please the children.

"Here is a pretty and original idea, cleverly carried out. The author has tastefully culled a great variety of material—stories and verses—from the pens of the most prominent writers, and in addition has prepared additional material in the form of stories or little natural history lessons on the particular subject in hand. The volumes will afford the best kind of entertainment, and no intelligent child will read them without unconsciously benefiting from them. None of the juveniles are to be commended more heartily."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

"The six volumes comprising the series, 'Phyllis' Field Friends,' are among the best and most attractive nature-stories ever published for children, and no juvenile library is complete without them."—Mrs. Bernie Babcock, in the Arkansas Democrat.

"We do not hesitate to call the illustrations the finest we have ever seen in a child's book."—St. Paul Despatch.

* For previous volumes in this series see page 48 of the General Catalogue.

*The Cosy Corner Series for 1905

Each one volume, cloth decorative, fully illustrated, $0.50

FLIP'S ISLANDS OF PROVIDENCE. By Annie Fellows Johnston. A new edition.

A story of a boy's life battle, his early defeat, and his final triumph, well worth the reading.

THE GREAT SCOOP. By Molly Elliott Seawell. A new edition.

A capital tale of newspaper life in a big city, and of a bright, enterprising, likable youngster employed thereon.

DOWN IN DIXIE. By Will Allen Dromgoole. A new edition.

A fascinating story for boys and girls, of a family of Alabama children who move to Florida and grow up in the South.

A LITTLE PURITAN CAVALIER. By Edith Robinson, author of "A Loyal Little Maid," "A Little Puritan's First Christmas," etc.

The story of a "Little Puritan Cavalier" who tried with all his boyish enthusiasm to emulate the spirit and ideals of the dead Crusaders. This account of his efforts makes an interesting story.

THEODORE AND THEODORA. By Marian W. Wildman, author of "Loyalty Island," etc.

This is a story of the exploits and mishaps of two mischievous twins, and continues the adventures of the interesting group of children in "Loyalty Island," Miss Wildman's successful book of last year.

THE ADVENTURES OF JOHN WHOPPER.

A new edition of the late Bishop Clark's popular story of the boy who fell through the earth and came out in China, with a new introduction by Bishop Potter.

HOW CHRISTMAS CAME TO THE MULVANEYS. By Frances Margaret Fox, author of "Farmer Brown and the Birds," etc.

A bright, lifelike little story of a family of poor children, with an unlimited capacity for fun and mischief. The wonderful, never-to-be-forgotten Christmas that came to them is the climax of a series of exciting incidents.

* For previous volumes in this series see pages 50 to 52 of the General Catalogue.

The Goldenrod Library

The great popularity which has been accorded our established series of books for young people, THE COSY CORNER SERIES, together with our appreciation of the fact that there is a large demand for the best juvenile literature at even less than the cost of that series, has induced us to inaugurate THE GOLDENROD LIBRARY, beginning with twenty volumes for 1905-6. Other volumes will be added each year.

Like its prototype, the Cosy Corner Series, the Goldenrod Library will contain only the highest and purest literature,—stories which appeal alike both to children and to their parents and guardians. They will be principally new copyrighted fiction, with an occasional exception in favor of a new edition of some child classic, and are offered at a price to bring them within the reach of all.

Each volume is well illustrated from drawings by competent artists, which, together with their handsomely decorated uniform binding, showing the Goldenrod, usually considered the emblem of America, is a feature of their manufacture.

Each one volume, small 12mo, illustrated, decorated cover, paper wrapper $0.35

Read much; the Mind, which never can be still,
If not intent on Good, is prone to Ill.
And where bright Thoughts, or Reas'nings just you find,
Repose them careful in your inmost Mind.

—Benjamin Franklin

Keystone Series for Boys and Girls

For young people from 12 to 17 years

Of books for young people these are the best. They are readable; there's a story, a good one, in each of them, and any boy or girl must enjoy it. The books have also the hearty approval of parents. There is in each story something useful for young people, something to learn and remember, some certain aid to mental or moral development. They are moreover the latest and best works of the most popular writers for boys and girls, and are well printed on good paper, cleverly illustrated, attractively bound—the best to look at, to read, to keep, to give away, to sell. There can be nothing better than these volumes for the private book shelf, the Public Library, or the Sunday school.

Stories for Girls

Cloth binding. Illustrated. Each, $1.25

BETTY WALES, FRESHMAN. By Margaret Warde. Illustrated by Eva M. Nagel. Betty and the rest of the girls get all the good and all the fun possible out of their freshman year at college. The graduate will wish she were back among them, and the one who is going to college will find herself eager to be with such as Betty and her friends.

BETTY WALES, SOPHOMORE. By Margaret Warde. Illustrated by Eva M. Nagel. Those who knew Betty Wales as a Freshman will follow her into her second year at college with keen pleasure. She and her friends are the same jolly, high-spirited creatures they were, and more lovable and interesting than ever.

EARNING HER WAY. By Mrs. Clarke Johnson. Illustrated by Ida Waugh. A charming story of an ambitious girl who overcomes many obstacles that stand in the way of a college course. While many of her experiences are of a practical nature, some of her adventures are most exciting, and, surrounding the whole is an atmosphere of refinement and inspiration.

HER COLLEGE DAYS. By Mrs. Clarke Johnson. Illustrated by Ida Waugh. A faithful picture of a girl's life at college, which has about it just enough incident, with a suggestion of romance, to make it a most charming and delightful story.

TWO WYOMING GIRLS. By Mrs. Carrie L. Marshall. Illustrated by Ida Waugh. Two girls, thrown upon their own resources, are obliged to "prove up" their homestead claim. They have many difficulties and some exciting adventures, but finally secure their claim.

THE GIRL RANCHERS. By Mrs. Carrie L. Marshall. Illustrated by Ida Waugh. A story of life on a sheep ranch in Montana. The dangers and difficulties of such a life are vividly pictured, and the interest is enhanced by the fact that the ranch is managed almost entirely by two young girls.

IN DOUBLET AND HOSE. By Lucy Foster Madison. Illustrated by Clyde O. Deland. The heroine and her family favor the claims of Mary of Scotland to England's throne. Queen Elizabeth suspects disloyalty, and as a punishment orders the girl to attend her at court. Her adventures there form a most interesting narrative.

A DAUGHTER OF THE UNION. By Lucy Foster Madison. Illustrated by Clyde O. Deland. A thrilling story of the Civil War. A brave young girl is sent from New York to New Orleans as a bearer of important messages. Aided by Admiral Farragut she delivers these, but is finally captured and held at Vicksburg until its surrender to General Grant.

A COLONIAL MAID OF OLD VIRGINIA. By Lucy Foster Madison. Illustrated by Clyde O. Deland. The heroine, an adopted niece of a Tory planter of Virginia, evinces a strong love for the cause of the colonies. Her many deeds of heroism carry her to Philadelphia during its occupancy by the British, thence to Valley Forge, the Wyoming massacre, and finally to the surrender at Yorktown.

A MAID AT KING ALFRED'S COURT. By Lucy Foster Madison. Illustrated by Ida Waugh. A charming tale of the 9th century. The experiences through which the heroine passes, until she becomes one of the great Alfred's family, are most entertainingly set forth.

A MAID OF THE FIRST CENTURY. By Lucy Foster Madison. Illustrated by Ida Waugh. A little maid of Palestine seeks her father, who has been made a slave at Rome. After passing through many trying ordeals, she and her father are united and his liberty is restored to him. It is an accurate and graphic portrayal of the times.

POLLY, THE GRINGO. By Evelyn Raymond. Illustrated by Alice S. Saylor. Polly was a New England girl of two generations ago, who ran away from home, followed her father across two oceans to California, and finally saved her father's life. A story of unusual charm in character, incident, and setting.

THE WHIRLIGIG. By Evelyn Raymond. Illustrated by Ruth Rollins. The heroine is called "The Whirligig," because she is so apt to be blown about by her emotions. It is not until she goes to live with an old aunt and uncle and is thrown upon her own resources that she develops a steadier and stronger character.

A YANKEE GIRL IN OLD CALIFORNIA. By Evelyn Raymond. Illustrated by Ida Waugh. A delightful story of ranch life in southern California. In addition to the many adventures in which the heroine figures, she is also the means of restoring the fortunes of the relatives with whom she makes her home.

A QUAKER MAIDEN. By Evelyn Raymond. Illustrated by Ida Waugh. A young girl reared in all the simplicity of a Quaker family is suddenly transported to the home of a wealthy cousin. She is ridiculed at first, but her unfailing gentleness and sterling character win respect, and at a time of financial disaster she becomes the reliance of the entire family.

A DAUGHTER OF THE FOREST. By Evelyn Raymond. Illustrated by Ida Waugh. The heroine resides with her uncle on an island in the backwoods of Maine, and her exciting adventures, her unique pets, and her rescue of her father from unlawful imprisonment, form a story of exceptional interest and merit.

MY LADY BAREFOOT. By Evelyn Raymond. Illustrated by Ida Waugh. The privations of a little backwoods girl, who lives with her uncle until his death, form a delightful narrative of a heroine whose rugged and simple character must enlist the admiration of all.

AN AMERICAN GIRL IN KOREA. By Annie M. Barnes. Illustrated by Carl A. Strehlau. This timely book offers a fascinating glimpse of the strange "Hermit Country" of Korea. The heroine has many thrilling adventures and is imprisoned in a Buddhist monastery, but escapes and frees a young artist also.

THE LITTLE LADY OF THE FORT. By Annie M. Barnes. Illustrated by Helène Wood. A story of the early French and Spanish settlers in the Carolinas. The heroine is the daughter of the French commandant, and is captured and held by the Spaniards. Her release is finally effected, but not until after she has endured many severe trials.

THE FERRY MAID OF THE CHATTAHOOCHEE. By Annie M. Barnes. Illustrated by Ida Waugh. An heroic little Georgia girl, owing to her father's illness, takes charge of his ferry and through many vicissitudes and discouragements succeeds in carrying out her purpose in supporting her invalid parent and his family.

DOROTHY DAY. By Julie M. Lippmann. Illustrated by Ida Waugh. The heroine is an exceptionally clever girl; generous, free, full of spirit, intensely fond of frolic, and a leader in her set. The things she does are worth reading about.

MISS WILDFIRE. By Julie M. Lippmann. Illustrated by Ida Waugh. A fine portrayal of character development on the part of a young girl who is possessed of a wilful disposition, but who has sufficient strength to eventually overcome it.

HER WILFUL WAY. By Helen Sherman Griffith. Illustrated by Ida Waugh. Lucile, a girl of strong will and quick temper, but generous and truthful, is confronted with a stepmother. She rebels, and is sent away to school, where she becomes a leader in many pranks. Suffering an attack of fever, she is nursed by her stepmother, and the two become fast friends.

HER FATHER'S LEGACY. By Helen Sherman Griffith. Illustrated by Ida Waugh. A narrative of the experiences of a young girl in her efforts to retain possession of some property, out of which an unscrupulous lawyer tries to defraud her. She attains her object, and is rewarded by finding that her land contains a rich vein of petroleum.

AN ODD LITTLE LASS. By Jessie E. Wright. Illustrated by Ida Waugh. This is a story of a little street waif. She is exceptionally bright and winning, but her mischief-making tendencies lead her into difficulties, some of which threaten to be serious.

HER SECRET. By Mary A. Denison. Illustrated by Isabel Lyndall. Her secret is a curious one that yields the heroine both pleasure and pain, yet in spite of great difficulties, she keeps it well and honorably and is at last richly rewarded. The story moves through quiet scenes, but with a sure charm and grace and untiring interest.

AN EVERY-DAY HEROINE. By Mary A. Denison. Illustrated by Ida Waugh. The story of a brave girl who is bereft of all that love and wealth can furnish. The fine character developed by her trials and her efforts to make the world better and more beautiful form a varied and pleasing picture.

Historical Stories for Boys and Girls

Cloth binding. Illustrated. Each, $1.25

FIGHTING KING GEORGE. By John T. McIntyre. Illustrated by J. A. Graeber. Even boys were sturdy patriots in '76. Tom Deering was one of "Marion's Men," those fleet and daring riders who so baffled Tarleton and Clinton in the Carolinas. Tom sees lots of fighting and has the good fortune to be at Yorktown when Cornwallis gives up his sword.

THE EVE OF WAR. By W. Bert Foster. Illustrated by F. A. Carter. A story of the days just before the Civil War, when every hour made history. The hero learns of the plan to assassinate Lincoln on the way to his inauguration, and is sent to warn the president elect. His mission is accomplished, and largely as a result of his services the plot comes to naught.

WITH ETHAN ALLEN AT TICONDEROGA. By W. Bert Foster. Illustrated by F. A. Carter. A vivid picture of the struggles of those heroic New Englanders, the Green Mountain Boys, against the Tory residents. Ethan Allen is the central figure of the narrative and in the thrilling incidents which lead up to the capture of Fort Ticonderoga.

WITH WASHINGTON AT VALLEY FORGE. By W. Bert Foster. Illustrated by F. A. Carter. The hero, an enthusiastic patriot, performs many heroic deeds at the battle of Brandywine and elsewhere. He renders great service to our forces at Valley Forge, and shares the hardships which the American army suffers during that memorable winter.

UNCROWNING A KING. By Edward S. Ellis, A. M. Illustrated by J. Steeple Davis. A tale of the Indian war waged by King Philip in 1675. A most absorbing and instructive story of the early days of the colonies.

AT THE SIEGE OF QUEBEC. By James Otis. Illustrated by F. A. Carter. A story of the American Revolution. A graphic portrayal of Benedict Arnold's forced march through the Maine wilderness to join Montgomery's attack upon Quebec.

WITH PURITAN AND PEQUOT. By William Murray Graydon. Illustrated by Clyde O. Deland. There is a swing of martial spirit and a spice of bold enterprise in this stirring story of Colonial times that must appeal to every healthy mind. It is the hero's rare fortune to have for his friends Roger Williams and Captain Miles Standish.

IN THE DAYS OF WASHINGTON. By William Murray Graydon. Illustrated by J. C. Claghorn. A story of the American Revolution, opening at Valley Forge. The hero participates in the battle of Monmouth, is at the Wyoming Massacre, on several occasions renders distinguished service, and has the personal approval of General Washington.

THE BOER BOY OF THE TRANSVAAL. By Kate Milner Rabb. Illustrated by F. A. Carter. While taking an active part in the late Boer war, the hero comes into contact with all the leading officials. Much information pertaining to this remote country is introduced, thus enabling the reader to understand the hatred of the Boers toward the British.

ON WOODCOVE ISLAND. By Elbridge S. Brooks. Illustrated by F. J. Boston. A number of bright New England children are given the exclusive use of an island for their summer vacation. They are fortunate in having as a visitor to their summer home the poet Longfellow, whose acquaintance adds greatly to their delight and profit.

UNDER THE TAMARACKS. By Elbridge S. Brooks. The scene of this charming story is laid at the beautiful Thousand Islands. General Grant was a visitor there at the time, and his presence furnishes occasion for much that is semi-historic in the story.

Adventure Stories for Boys

Cloth binding. Illustrated. Each, $1.25

WINNING HIS WAY TO WEST POINT. By Capt. Paul B. Malone, U. S. Army. Illustrated by F. A. Carter. A thrilling story of a young recruit in the Philippines. The scenes are those of camp and jungle, skirmish and battle. As a result of his bravery and service the hero wins an appointment to West Point.

A PLEBE AT WEST POINT. By Captain Paul B. Malone, U. S. Army. Illustrated by F. A. Carter. Douglas Atwell won his cadetship by his bravery in the Philippines, and now appears in his first year at West Point. Captain Malone knows the cadet life at first hand, and has made of it a story that will stir the blood of every reader.

THE WRECK OF THE SEA LION. By W. O. Stoddard. Illustrated by John H. Betts. A narrative of the thrilling escapades of two 'longshore boys, supplemented by the tales of an old sea captain, and enlivened by the ludicrous experiments of a would-be scientist.

THE YOUNG FINANCIER. By W. O. Stoddard. Illustrated by John H. Betts. The scene of this unique story is laid in the money centre of New York. The hero begins life as a broker's messenger, and the exciting experiences incident to the eventual success in his business career all combine to form a most interesting tale.

TRUE TO HIS TRUST. By Edward S. Ellis, A. M. Illustrated by J. Steeple Davis. The hero of this story is sure to win the sympathy and interest of every reader, and no person who follows his adventures and experiences can fail to be inspired by his true manliness and sturdy integrity.

COMRADES TRUE. By Edward S. Ellis, A. M. A fascinating narrative of the exciting experiences and abiding friendship of two estimable boys. It is a study in character, and besides teaches a lesson that will prove valuable to all young people.

AMONG THE ESQUIMAUX. By Edward S. Ellis, A. M. The exciting incidents of this narrative occur among the snows and icebergs of the arctic regions. Apart from the absorbing interest attached to the story there is woven into it much valuable information pertaining to this unexplored country.

THE CAMPERS OUT. By Edward S. Ellis, A. M. This story is bright, breezy, and full of adventure of just the right sort to hold the attention of any young mind. It is clean, pure, and elevating, and the stirring incidents convey a forcible lesson.

THE YOUNG GOLD SEEKERS. By Edward S. Ellis, A. M. Illustrated by F. A. Carter. An interesting account of the experiences of two boys during a trip to the gold fields of Alaska. They suffer many hardships and disappointments, but eventually their undertaking meets with success.

ANDY'S WARD. By James Otis. A story of the lives and experiences of "Museum Marvels." There are introduced several dwarfs and giants, a sword swallower, fat woman, snake charmer, etc., and the account of their novel experiences and checkered careers makes a story of peculiar interest to young readers.

CHASING A YACHT. By James Otis. A thrilling story of how two bright, manly fellows rebuild a small steam yacht, and how she is stolen from them. The difficulties attending their search for, and their ultimate recovery of the boat, constitute a tale full of interesting and exciting incident.

THE BRAGANZA DIAMOND. By James Otis. A record of the daring adventures of two boys who spend their holidays at Old Point Comfort. Their bravery and courage in the face of danger, their varied experiences and noble conduct furnish a narrative that holds the undivided attention from beginning to end.

THE LOST EXPEDITION. By W. Bert Foster. Illustrated by Clare Victor Dwiggins. A story of the real Alaska seldom pictured from life. Even if read for the stirring plot alone, much information will also be absorbed regarding Alaska, and its animals and men.

IN ALASKAN WATERS. By W. Bert Foster. Illustrated by W. S. Lukens. A San Francisco lad is forced aboard a vessel bound on the unlawful errand of seal poaching. A large sum of money disappears from his guardian's safe and suspicion is attached to the boy. The proving of the hero's innocence and his adventures at sea form a fascinating story.

THE LOST GALLEON. By W. Bert Foster. Illustrated by J. Steeple Davis. A lost treasure ship and her eventual recovery form the basis of this dramatic story. Incidentally, an insight is given into the ship-chandlery business, in which the young hero earns a livelihood.

EXILED TO SIBERIA. By William Murray Graydon. Illustrated by F. A. Carter. Nearly all the action occurs in the mines and prisons of Siberia, and the interest is most intense. The plot is absorbing, the adventure exciting, the movement rapid, and the style unsurpassed.

IN THE CAMP OF THE CREEKS. By Louis Pendleton. Illustrated by F. A. Carter. A stirring tale of the last stand made by the Creek Indians in Georgia. Two young men and a girl fall into their hands, and finally succeed in making their escape. There is much valuable information about the Indians.

THE LOST GOLD MINE. By Frank H. Converse. Two boys find themselves in possession of information pertaining to a gold mine and start out in search of it. Their efforts are eventually crowned with success, but not until they have suffered privations and danger such as characterized the early days of the gold fever.

THE YOUNG SHIPBUILDER. By Sophie Swett. Illustrated by John H. Betts. This is a delightful and interesting tale of some New England young people who are left to fight the battle of life alone. Through many hardships and discouragements they continue the old shipyard, and by dint of great perseverance finally attain great success.

A CAPE COD BOY. By Sophie Swett. Illustrated by P. L. Hoyt. A realistic story of the New England coast. The endeavors of a little Portuguese castaway to secure a living by means of a small schooner, of which he is the owner, are told in a most pleasing manner.

A MOONSHINER'S SON. By Will Allen Dromgoole. Illustrated by F. A. Carter. The scene of this dramatic story is laid among the Tennessee mountains in the haunts of the illicit distillers. The narrative is full of the most thrilling incidents, but the tone is wholesome and elevating and the moral strong.

THE MONCASKET MYSTERY. By Sidney Marlow. This pleasing story is full of baseball, fishing, and other outdoor experiences, with just sufficient "mystery" to add zest to the tale. The principal character is possessed of energy and pluck, and proves faithful to the confidence reposed in him.

HARRY AMBLER. By Sidney Marlow. A charming story full of exciting incidents and told in a pleasing style. Its interest never flags, and incidentally it shows that courage and honesty are the sure roads to success.

FINDING A FORTUNE. By Horatio Alger, Jr. Illustrated by W. S. Lukens. Most boys would consider themselves very lucky to find a box of bonds and bring to justice the rascals who had stolen them, even though at one time it looked as if they would escape. In the end, however, everything turns out well for the manly, upright boy, and he receives his just reward.

FORGING AHEAD. By Horatio Alger, Jr. Illustrated by W. S. Lukens. An earnest, energetic, and ambitious boy supports his widowed mother, and by persistent efforts against great odds succeeds in rising in the world. The story is one that will encourage any young reader to an effort to make the best of himself.

THE WORLD BEFORE HIM. By Horatio Alger, Jr. Illustrated by Robert L. Mason. Through the scheming villainy of his stepfather, the hero is suddenly thrown upon his own resources. He is confronted with many difficulties, but by good, hard common sense, works his way upward.

MAKING HIS MARK. By Horatio Alger, Jr. Illustrated by Robert L. Mason. A manly, resourceful lad, left to the care of a tyrannical stepmother, finds his home unbearable, and starts out in the world determined to make a place for himself, in which effort he scores a decided success.

THE YOUNG BOATMAN. By Horatio Alger, Jr. A story of a manly boy whose fine character is brought in contact with a coarse, cruel one in the person of his stepfather. Perseverance and honesty always win, as is shown in this interesting tale.

THE ODDS AGAINST HIM. By Horatio Alger, Jr. The story is full of bright, amusing incidents, showing that a boy of good, industrious habits can always secure friends and succeed in earning an honest living.

Classic Stories for Boys and Girls

Cloth binding. Illustrated. Each, $1.25

These stories, by Dr. Edward Brooks, A. M., Superintendent of Philadelphia Public Schools, are everywhere recognized as the best literature for either entertainment or education that can be put into the hands of young people.

While carefully retaining all the elements of romance and adventure, and omitting whatever might prove unwholesome, or divert the purpose of the story, the author has, in a surprising degree, preserved the unity, completeness, and spirit of the original. He has furnished such an account as will afford the youth of our day an intimate acquaintance with the heroic characters of history.

THE STORY OF SIEGFRIED. By Dr. Edward Brooks, A. M. Illustrations from the German. Probably the most interesting of all the legends is the Nibelungenlied, or the Story of Siegfried. The author tells, in simple style, the wonderful story of Siegfried's life and death, and the events which finally rent asunder the kingdoms of the Burgundians and Huns.

THE STORY OF KING ARTHUR. By Dr. Edward Brooks, A. M. Illustrations by Aubrey Beardsley. The principal events of King Arthur's reign and the conquests of the Knights of the Round Table are set forth in a charming and instructive way.

THE STORY OF TRISTRAM. By Dr. Edward Brooks, A. M. Illustrated by Aubrey Beardsley. This interesting tale of the days of chivalry is the subject of frequent allusion by poets and romancers. The story possesses a peculiar fascination for those who delight in the deeds of knightly courtesy, courage, and valor.

THE STORY OF THE FAERIE QUEENE. Edited by Dr. Edward Brooks, A. M. With numerous illustrations. The Faerie Queene is one of the greatest poems of English literature. The archaic style of Spenser is here converted into the purest of modern English prose, yet preserving the rich imagery and fertility of conception of the original.

THE STORY OF THE ILIAD. By Dr. Edward Brooks, A. M. Illustrated by Flaxman's drawings. Homer's Iliad is said to be the world's greatest poem. The chief episodes of the tale of Helen and the dire results of her misdoing are here told in words admirable for their simplicity and directness.

THE STORY OF THE ODYSSEY. By Dr. Edward Brooks, A. M. Illustrated by Flaxman's drawings. The wanderings of Ulysses are narrated in a charming way. It is not merely attractive and absorbing, but it is a classic with which all young people should be familiar.

THE STORY OF THE ÆNEID. By Dr. Edward Brooks, A. M. Illustrated by Pinelli's drawings. Virgil's classic poem was probably never before rendered into such choice and simple English. The story of the erratic journeyings of Æneas and his companions flows smoothly along with much of the spirit of the original.

Sunbeam Series for Young People

For children from 7 to 12 years

Cloth binding. Illustrated. Each, $1.00

A series of delightful books for children in which the characters are healthy, free-hearted boys and girls. Their experiences are often amusing, and their adventures are sometimes thrilling, but their lives are characterized by beautiful and childish simplicity, sweetness of disposition, and at times by a moral heroism.

THE BOYNTON PLUCK. By Helen Ward Banks. Illustrated by Clyde O. Deland. Bob and Billy, sent away for the summer, by mistake get into the hands of a mean old screw of a farmer, who overworks them and half starves them. It takes real pluck to stand it without whimpering, but they pull through it, and are all the better in the end for their experience.

MISTRESS MOPPET. By Annie M. Barnes. Illustrated by Margaret F. Winner. The charming little heroine of this story lived two hundred years ago in Charles Town, South Carolina. The adventures of this little maid of Colonial times, by land and sea, make a very pleasing and wholesome story.

A ROSE OF HOLLY COURT. By Elizabeth Lincoln Gould. Illustrated by Ida Waugh. Little Rosie, a great favorite at a "college settlement," suddenly finds herself bread winner for a large family. She surmounts every obstacle, and works with a cheerfulness that wins the admiration of everyone.

LITTLE POLLY PRENTISS. By Elizabeth Lincoln Gould. Illustrated by Ida Waugh. A pleasing story of the happy influence of a little girl upon elderly people, showing the harm which may be done by trying to bind a bright, cheerful, young nature to a faulty ideal. It is charming in style and intensely interesting.

UNCLE TOM, THE BURGLAR. By Mabel E. Wotton. Illustrated by Ida Waugh and H. M. Brock. A story of six happy children whose irrepressible fondness for doing things quite unconventional leads them into many perplexing situations.

DEARIE, DOT, AND THE DOG. By Julie M. Lippmann. Illustrated by Margaret F. Winner. When her mother sails for Europe Dot is left in the care of an aunt, whom she calls Dearie. A small white dog soon becomes her inseparable companion. The three have many happy days and some trying ones, and their experiences make a delightful and charming story.

SWEET P'S. By Julie M. Lippmann. Illustrated by Ida Waugh. Priscilla, who has all the gifts wealth can bestow, takes no interest in her playthings. Polly, a little girl of her own age, comes to share her home. The intense interest of the latter is contagious, and soon Priscilla becomes cheerful, healthy, and happy.

DREAMLAND. By Julie M. Lippmann. Illustrated by Anna Whelan Betts. The stories, which are graphically and beautifully told, have about them all the charm of fairy tales, and each embodies some healthful lesson that will be firmly impressed upon the child's mind.

ANDY. By Lucile Lovell. Illustrated by Eva M. Nagel. There is something about the downright fearless and trusting little Andy that no one can resist. How he wins people to him and how he learns to be just the right sort of a boy is told with a delicate pathos and rare humor. Altogether it is a very unusual story of a very unusual boy.

THE WALCOTT TWINS. By Lucile Lovell. Illustrated by Ida Waugh. A boy and his twin sister indulge themselves in the amusement of exchanging their dress. They are sent off to the country, the girl by mistake going to the house of a bachelor uncle and the boy to that of a maiden aunt, and many excruciatingly funny experiences result.

MARJORIE'S WAY. By Alice Turner Curtis. Illustrated by Eva M. Nagel. Marjorie had two aims—to be like her Aunt, and to help Luke Sanders, who was worth it. Luke turned out well and Marjorie did become like her Aunt in a surprising way. There are some real people in the book, and this bit of their lives makes a wholesome and charming story.

THE GREEN DOOR. By Margaret Compton. Illustrated by John H. Betts. A natural and simple narrative of the experiences of a number of school-boys whose favorite place of meeting is at a house distinguished by a large green door outside of which they conceive many interesting adventures.

BOCKERS. By Margaret Compton. Illustrated by John H. Betts. Two bright boys and a yellow dog are the chief characters in this amusing and highly original tale. The many pranks and escapades of the boys, in school and out, constitute a thoroughly natural and wholesome story.

HIS LORDSHIP'S PUPPY. By Theodora C. Elmslie. Illustrated by Ida Waugh. A story of a little boy and his dog. Missing his mother one day the little child thinks she has gone to heaven, and he and his pet start out in search of her. A wonderfully interesting and touching story.

YOUTH. Volumes 1, 2, 3, and 4. These four volumes contain upward of 1500 pages of the choicest reading for boys and girls. There are a dozen completed long stories and a large number of shorter ones, together with a great number of special features, such as places of historic interest, games, puzzles, and sports, all written by the most prominent writers and illustrated by the best artists. Cloth binding, each, $1.50.

Popular Hand-Books

Cloth, each, 50 cents

Some books are designed for entertainment, others for information. This series combines both features. The information is not only complete and reliable, it is compact and readable. These are the latest as well as the best books on the subjects of which they treat. No one wishing to have a fund of general information, or who is inspired with the spirit of self-improvement, can afford to be without them. They average 200 pages, are 6 x 4½ inches in size, well printed on good paper, handsomely bound in green cloth, with a heavy paper wrapper to match.

ETIQUETTE. By Agnes H. Morton. Success in life is often marred by bad manners. A perusal of this work will prevent such blunders. It is a book for everybody, for the select sets as well as for the less ambitious. The subject is presented in a bright and interesting manner and represents the latest vogue.

LETTER WRITING. By Agnes H. Morton. Most persons dislike letter writing because they fear they cannot say just the right thing. This admirable book not only shows by numerous examples just what kind of letters to write for all occasions, but it teaches the reader to become an accomplished original letter writer.

QUOTATIONS. By Agnes H. Morton. A clever compilation of pithy quotations, selected from a great variety of sources, and alphabetically arranged according to the sentiment. It contains the popular quotations in current use, together with many rare bits of prose and verse not usually found.

EPITAPHS. By Frederic W. Unger. Even death has its humorous side. There are said to be "sermons in stones," but when they are tombstones there is many a smile mixed with the moral. This volume is full of quaint pieces of obituary fancy, with a touch of the gruesome here and there for a relish. It is the most carefully made collection of the kind.

PROVERBS. By John H. Bechtel. The genius, wit, and spirit of a nation are discovered in its proverbs, and the condensed wisdom of all ages and all nations is embodied in them. This volume contains a representative collection of proverbs, old and new, and the indexes, topical and alphabetical, enable one to find readily just what he requires.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING. By John H. Bechtel. It is an easy task to fill a book with a mass of uninteresting statistical matter. It is quite another thing to get together a vast accumulation of valuable material on all conceivable subjects. Here is information for everybody, whether it pertains to health, household, business, affairs of state, foreign countries, or the planets, all conveniently indexed.

A DICTIONARY OF MYTHOLOGY. By John H. Bechtel. The average person dislikes to look up mythological subjects on account of the time occupied. This book remedies that difficulty because in it can be found at a glance just what is wanted. It is comprehensive, convenient, condensed, and interesting.

SLIPS OF SPEECH. By John H. Bechtel. Who does not make them? The best of us do. Why not avoid them? Any one with the desire for self-improvement can. No necessity for studying rules of rhetoric or grammar, when this book can be had. It teaches both without the study of either.

PRONUNCIATION. By John H. Bechtel. What is more disagreeable than a faulty pronunciation? No defect so clearly shows a lack of culture. This book contains over 5000 words on which most of us are apt to trip. They are here pronounced in the clearest and simplest manner, and according to the best authority.

PRACTICAL SYNONYMS. By John H. Bechtel. Any one with the least desire to add to his vocabulary should have a copy of this book. It is designed mainly to meet the wants of the busy merchant or lawyer, the thoughtful clergyman or teacher, the wide-awake school boy or girl.

AFTER-DINNER STORIES. By John Harrison. The dinner itself may be ever so good and yet prove a failure if there is no mirth to enliven the company. Nothing adds so much zest to an occasion of this kind as a good story well told. Here are hundreds of them, short and pithy, and easy to remember.

TOASTS. By William Pittenger. What would you not give for the ability to respond to them? No need to give much when you can learn the art from this little book. It will tell you how to do it: not only that, but by example, it will show you the way.

THE DEBATER'S TREASURY. By William Pittenger. There is no greater ability than the power of skillful debate. Here are directions for organizing debating societies, and suggestions for all who desire to discuss questions in public. Also a list of over 200 questions for debate, with arguments both affirmative and negative.

PUNCTUATION. By Paul Allardyce. Few persons can punctuate properly; to avoid mistakes many do not punctuate at all. A perusal of this book will remove all difficulties and make all points clear. It is practical, concise, and comprehensive.

ORATORY. By Henry Ward Beecher. Our country has produced few, if any, greater orators than Mr. Beecher. This volume contains a famous address of his in which he gives a unique and masterly exposition of the fundamental principles of true oratory.

CONVERSATION. By J. P. Mahaffy. Some people are accused of talking too much. But no one is ever taken to task for talking too well. Of all the accomplishments of modern society, that of being an agreeable conversationalist holds first place. What to say, just how and when to say it, is the general aim of this work.

READING AS A FINE ART. By Ernest Legouvé. The ability to read aloud well, whether at the fireside or on the public platform, is certainly a fine art. The directions and suggestions contained in this work will go far toward the attainment of this delightful and valuable accomplishment.

CONUNDRUMS. By Dean Rivers. Conundrums are intellectual exercises which sharpen our wits and lead us to think quickly. They are also a source of infinite amusement and pleasure to an evening company. This book contains an excellent collection of over a thousand of the latest, brightest, and most up-to-date conundrums, to which are added many Biblical, poetical, and French conundrums.

MAGIC. By Ellis Stanyon. This complete volume contains full and intelligible descriptions of all the well known tricks with coins, handkerchiefs, hats, cards, flowers, etc., together with a number of novelties not previously produced. The tricks are all easily performed, and but few require apparatus. Illustrated.

HYPNOTISM. By Edward H. Eldridge, A. M. There is no more popular form of entertainment than hypnotic exhibitions, and everyone would like to know how to hypnotize. By following the simple and concise instructions in this complete manual anyone can, with a little practice, readily learn how to exercise this unique and strange power.

WHIST. By Cavendish. Twenty-third edition. "According to Cavendish" is now almost as familiar an expression as "according to Hoyle." No Whist player, whether a novice or an expert, can afford to be without the aid and support of Cavendish.

PARLOR GAMES. By Helen E. Hollister. "What shall we do to amuse ourselves and our friends?" is a question frequently propounded. This complete volume most happily answers this puzzling question, as it contains an excellent collection of all kinds of games for amusement, entertainment, and instruction.

ASTRONOMY: THE SUN AND HIS FAMILY. By Julia MacNair Wright. Can you tell what causes day and night, seasons and years, tides and eclipses? Why is the sky blue and Mars red? What are meteors and shooting stars? These, and a thousand other questions, are here answered in a most fascinating way. Illustrated.

BOTANY: THE STORY OF PLANT LIFE. By Julia MacNair Wright. The scientific subject of Botany is here made as interesting as a fairy tale. Not only is the subject treated with botanical accuracy, but there is given much practical information pertaining to the care and treatment of plants and flowers. Illustrated.

FLOWERS: HOW TO GROW THEM. By Eben E. Rexford. Every woman loves flowers, but few succeed in growing them. With the help so clearly given in this volume no one need fail. It treats mainly of indoor plants and flowers, those for window gardening, all about their selection, care, light, air, warmth, etc.

DANCING. By Marguerite Wilson. A complete instructor beginning with the first positions and leading up to the square and round dances. A full list of calls for square dances, the etiquette of the dances, and 100 figures for the german. Illustrated.

ASTROLOGY. By M. M. Macgregor. If you wish to know in what business or profession you will succeed, what friends you should make, whom you should marry, the kind of a business partner to choose, you will find these and many other vital questions solved in this book by the science of astrology.

PHYSIOGNOMY. By Leila Lomax. How can we judge whether a man may be trusted? How can a woman analyze a man who would marry her? Mostly by his looks—the shape of the head, the set of the jaw, the line of the mouth. Physiognomy as explained in this book shows how to read character, with every point explained by illustrations and photographs.

GRAPHOLOGY. How to read character from handwriting. By Clifford Howard. Do you know that every time you write five or six lines you furnish a complete record of your character? Anyone who understands graphology can tell by simply examining your handwriting just what kind of person you are. This book will enable you to become a master of this most fascinating art.

CURIOUS FACTS. By Clifford Howard. Why do you raise your hat to a lady? Why do you always offer the right hand? Is there a good reason for the buttons on the sleeve of your coat? Is it true that it takes nine tailors to make a man, and if so, why? These questions find answers here. Open it at any page and you will see something you have wanted to know all your life.

PRACTICAL PALMISTRY. By Henry Frith. Palmistry is one of the most popular subjects of the day. Many people would be interested in it if they properly understood it. This volume furnishes full and trustworthy information on the subject, and by means of it any one will be able to read character fully and accurately. Illustrated.

CIVICS: WHAT EVERY CITIZEN SHOULD KNOW. By George Lewis. Contains concise and complete information on such topics as the Monroe Doctrine, Behring Sea Controversy, Extradition Treaties, and fully explains the meaning of Habeas Corpus, Civil Service, Australian Ballot, and hundreds of other equally interesting subjects.

LAW, AND HOW TO KEEP OUT OF IT. By Paschal H. Coggins, Esq. Most legal difficulties arise from ignorance of the minor points of law. This book furnishes to the busy man and woman information on just such points as are likely to arise in every-day affairs, and thus arms them against mental worry and financial loss.

CLASSICAL DICTIONARY. By Edward S. Ellis, A. M. All literature, even the daily papers, abound in classical allusions, but only a few persons understand their meaning. Any one might know them if he had at hand a unique dictionary such as this. It contains all the classical illusions worth knowing, and they are so ready of access as to require little or no time in looking up.

PLUTARCH'S LIVES. By Edward S. Ellis, A. M. The lives of the leading Greeks and Romans of ancient times in concise and condensed form. Only such personages as are most likely to be inquired about are mentioned, and the information pertaining to these is of just such a nature as will be of the greatest interest.

THE DOG. By John Maxtee. Every dog owner should know how to choose a dog, how to house and feed him, how to exercise and train him. All the essentials of dog keeping are here, from kennel to show-bench, and from biscuits to flea-bane. For the one who wants a cheap but expert dog encyclopedia in little space this is the only book.

GOLF. By Horace Hutchinson. No one desiring to keep up with outdoor athletics can afford to be without a knowledge of Golf. This book gives a complete history of the game, together with instructions for the selection of implements, and full directions for playing. A convenient glossary, together with the rules and etiquette of the game, is appended.

HEALTH: HOW TO GET AND KEEP IT. By Walter V. Woods, M. D. Why use dumb bells every morning when there is an open drain in the cellar? Why shield the baby from drafts and feed him on infected milk? Do you know the essentials for Health?—exercise, rest, bathing, eating,—these are only a few of them. This book tells what Health is, what makes it, what hurts it, and how to get it.

FIRST AID TO THE INJURED. By F. J. Warwick. Lives can be saved and much suffering prevented by the perusal of the contents of this work. What to do in all kinds of accidents as well as in the first stages of illness, with a brief and simple statement of the human anatomy, constitute the chief features.

NURSING. By S. Virginia Levis. No household is exempt from sickness, and it generally appears when no provision has been made for it. Not everyone can have a professional nurse, but no one need be without this valuable work. The fullest particulars are given for the care of the sick, not only in the simple, but also in the more serious ailments of life.

ELECTRICITY. By George L. Fowler. An interesting and thoroughly reliable presentation of the subject for the amateur or skilled electrician. If you wish to install an electric door-bell, construct a telephone, wire a house, or understand the workings of a dynamo, this volume will furnish the required information. A practical book of inestimable value to everyone.

Speakers and Dialogues

This line of Speakers and Dialogues has long been recognized as one of the leading lines of the kind. THE AMERICAN SYSTEM OF SHORTHAND.

CATALOG OF

Phonographic Works

BY

BENN PITMAN AND JEROME B. HOWARD.

PUBLISHT BY

THE PHONOGRAPHIC INSTITUTE COMPANY,

CINCINNATI, O.

There is no question whatever of the truth of the statement that the Benn Pitman System is more generally used than any other in this country; at least this would appear to be true, from the reports made to this Bureau of various institutions teaching shorthand.—Hon. W. T. Harris, Commissioner of Education (Washington, D. C.), November 19, 1898.

The Benn Pitman System received the HIGHEST SHORTHAND AWARD of the UNIVERSAL EXPOSITION, St. Louis, 1904.

Instruction Books.

The Manual of Phonography. By BENN PITMAN and JEROME B. HOWARD. Designed for instruction in Schools, Academies, etc., as well as for self-instruction, in the art of Shorthand Writing. It contains a complete exposition of the system, from its simplest principles to the Amanuensis Style, arranged in alternate and opposite pages of explanation and phonographic exercises. Every principle is copiously illustrated with engraved examples for reading, and exercises in the ordinary type for writing and dictation practise. A mastery of this book fits the student to act efficiently as a business amanuensis and lays the indispensable foundation for reporting skill as developed in the Reporter's Companion. Revised, enlarged and improved. Cloth. 200 pp., 12mo $1 00

The Phonographic Reader. By BENN PITMAN and JEROME B. HOWARD. Designed to accompany the Manual. It affords the necessary reading practise in the Corresponding Style. The selections are taken (by permission) from "McGuffey's Revised Fifth Eclectic Reader," which may be used as a key. Paper, 52 pp., 12mo. 25

The Second Phonographic Reader. By BENN PITMAN and JEROME B. HOWARD. Designed to accompany the Manual. Contains reading exercises engraved in Amanuensis Style, and is keyed by "McGuffey's Revised Sixth Eclectic Reader." Paper, 52 pp., 12mo. 25

The Phonographic Amanuensis. A Presentation of Pitman Phonography, More Especially Adapted to the Use of Business and other Schools Devoted to the Instruction and Training of Shorthand Amanuenses. By JEROME B. HOWARD. With a Prefatory Note by BENN PITMAN. In this book position-writing and the principles of abbreviation are taught concurrently with the elements of the system. It consists of fifty-nine carefully-graded lessons, each designed to constitute the work of a single school-day. Outlines of words are given in the first lesson; sentences are given in the eighth lesson; phrases appear in the fifteenth lesson; business letters are written in the twenty-second and subsequent lessons. Cloth, 216 pp., 12mo 1 00

The Amanuensis is also issued in a special "correspondence edition" for the use of teachers who give instruction by mail. This edition is identical with the regular edition, except in the matter of physical make-up. Each lesson is printed in a separate part, and the parts are placed in a convenient box, from which the teacher can remove any desired part without disturbing the others. The price of the correspondence edition is the same as the regular edition. In ordering, always mention expressly the "correspondence edition."

Business Letters. No. 1.—Miscellaneous Correspondence. Written in the Amanuensis Style of Phonography. By BENN PITMAN and JEROME B. HOWARD. The letters have been selected from actual correspondence in various branches of business, and, being free from difficult technicalities, are such as will furnish the best practise for young students of shorthand who are ready to begin fitting themselves for the duties of the shorthand correspondent or business amanuensis. With key printed in facsimile typewriting, furnishing correct models for the transcription of the student's notes on the typewriter. Paper, 52 pp., 12mo 25

Business Letters. No. 2.—Railroad Correspondence. Written in the Amanuensis Style of Phonography. Consists of letters actually used in various departments of railroad work. Key in facsimile typewriting. Paper, 52 pp., 12mo..... 25

Business Letters. No. 3.—Classified Correspondence. Written in the Amanuensis Style of Phonography. Consists of letters used in the following lines of business: Hardware, Railroad, Grain and Milling, Real Estate, Banking, Explosives, Glass. Key in facsimile typewriting. Paper, 52 pp., 12mo..... 25

The Reporter's Companion. By BENN PITMAN and JEROME B. HOWARD. A Guide to Verbatim Reporting; for professional reporters and those who desire to become such. In this work, which should be studied only by those who have first mastered the Manual of Phonography, the principles of abbreviation used in the Reporting Style of Phonography are clearly explained and amply illustrated. Thousands of reporters have acquired their ability to write verbatim with no other instruction than that afforded by this and the Manual. Cloth, 187 pp., 12mo 1 00

The Phonographic Dictionary and Phrase Book. By BENN PITMAN and JEROME B. HOWARD. Contains a vocabulary of 120,000 words, including every useful word in the language and a large number of proper and geographic names, legal, scientific, and technical terms, engraved in phonography with a parallel key in ordinary type. Concerning each word information is given on the following points: 1. Spelling; 2. Accentuation; 3. Pronunciation; 4. Capitalization; 5. Fully-vocalized (Corresponding Style) phonographic form; 6. Reporting Style outline; 7. Compounding; 8. Principal phrases which it begins. The phonographic outlines are clearly and beautifully engraved, no roundabout, complicated "nomenclature" being employed. [Specimen pages will be sent on request.] Cloth, 552 pp., 8vo..... 3 00

Instructions in Practical Court Reporting. By H. W. THORNE. The standard work on this important subject. Exemplifies, explains and instructs as to all the details of trials, teaching the shorthand writer how to use his skill in making a legal record. Contains valuable suggestions to lawyers and law students found in no other work.

Has received emphatic testimonials from official court reporters, judges, lawyers, law lecturers, teachers of shorthand and the press. Cloth, 237 pp., 12mo 1 00

Expositor's Bible Commentary, The. Formerly in forty-nine volumes at a list price of $73.50; now in twenty-five volumes from the same plates, $15.00 net; $16.00 on instalments, $2.00 down, $2.00 per month.

A very valuable commentary, covering the entire Bible, and discussing its subject matter in the light of modern scholarship.

It differs widely from the old-fashioned commentary, the treatment being broader and less technical, and with the leading thought or practical teaching prominently brought out, relatively little space being devoted to minute textual criticism.

A glance at the names of the writers in this series is evidence of the scholarship and literary value of this great work. The list includes ALEXANDER MACLAREN, MAR-CUS DODS, W. G. BLAIKIE, GEORGE ADAM SMITH, R. F. HORTON, JAMES DENNEY, W. F. ADENEY, Archdeacon F. W. FARRAR, W. MILLIGAN, and others equally well known for their devout scholarship, the entire series being edited by Dr. W. R. NICOLL.

The edition we now offer is well printed, on good paper, from the same plates as the original edition, bound in wine-colored cloth, with gilt title, and the set boxed for safe shipment. The set can be sent either from Boston, New York, or Chicago, as may be most expeditious and economical. Volumes of the old edition taken in exchange.

The Expositor's Bible is controlled by us for the Congregational trade.

Similar in style to "General Peg Stories," by the same author.

One Little Maid. By ELIZABETH PRESTON ALLAN. pp. 367. $1.50.

Tells how America and an American boarding school looked to a missionary's daughter and her companion Narika, a Japanese girl. They learn many lessons themselves, and their idealized views of what happened in a Christian nation teach some valuable truths to their companions.

Orations and Addresses. By RICHARD S. STORRS, D.D. pp. 593. $3.00 net.

The orations and addresses in this volume have been carefully selected as examples of Dr. Storrs' work under the best and most inspiring conditions. They cover a wide range of political, social and religious topics, and are worthy of reading for themselves, as examples of Dr. Storrs' oratory and as contributions to history and to human thought.

Organized Sunday School, The. By J. W. AXTELL. pp. 128. 50 cts. net.

Full of helpful suggestions about organization and methods of work as carried on in progressive schools to-day.

Our Life among the Iroquois Indians. By Mrs. HARRIET S. CASWELL. pp. 323. $1.50.

The customs of the six Iroquois tribes, their traditions and their folklore, are set before the reader, often in the words of some Indian convert or interpreter. Touching stories of heroic devotion to Christ and of gratitude for salvation find large place in the book.

Patchwork Quilt Society, The. By HELEN P. BARNARD. $1.25.

Patriotic Addresses in England and America, 1850–1885. By HENRY WARD BEECHER. Formerly $2.00; now $1.50 net.

Probably no man did so much as Mr. Beecher during the seething times of the Civil War to get the true situation of American affairs before the minds and hearts of Englishmen. This volume contains his memorable anti-slavery addresses; his wonderful speech in Manchester, England, by which he compelled a howling mob to listen to him and in part to agree with him in spite of themselves; orations on the death of Lincoln and of Grant, etc. It is a glowing picture of the times as well as a vivid revelation of the orator's own personality. It contains also a portrait and a sketch of Mr. Beecher's life by John R. Howard.

Patty's Granduncle. By HELEN PEARSON BARNARD. pp. 425. $1.50.

Patty not only becomes the favorite of a rich uncle, but also develops a fine character by her regard for him while ignorant of his wealth.

Pen's Venture. By ELVIRTON WRIGHT. pp. 278. Reduced to 60 cts.

Something Pen saw in the condition of the cash girls in a certain store gave her a thought; the thought became a plan; the plan became a venture, — Pen's venture.

Rose and Thorn. By KATHARINE LEE BATES. pp. 361. $1.50. [Prize Series. This story took the first prize.]

This is a story at once dainty, strong and touching. Its hero is a hunchback, and the heroine is his twin sister.

Round Top and Square Top; or, The Gates Twins. By JOSEPHINE R. BAKER. pp. 343. $1.25.

A rollicking sort of a narrative for the children, not without its sober passages and even its spiritual teachings, but breezy and hearty to the last.

Royal Hunt, A. By Mrs. E. C. WILSON. pp. 394. $1.50.

A story of the Huguenots, of thrilling interest, with a peculiarly attractive picture of the child-life among these much-persecuted people.

Royal Service, The; or, The King's Seal. By KATE W. HAMILTON. pp. 192. $1.00.

The story of a young boy who, while having a good time himself, endeavors to help others and stamp upon his actions the spirit of Christ, or the King's Seal.

Rufe and Ruth: A Partnership. By FRANK E. SWEET. pp. 234. $1.00.

A boy and his sister living on an island off the Maine coast form a partnership in which they achieve business success, and by study and experience in a neighboring city broaden their lives and develop noble characters.

Ruth Prentice. By MARION THORNE. pp. 292. $1.25.

The story of what a young girl found to do at home and in the town where she lived. She was called to great sacrifices and had many trials of patience, but they all helped her and others, instead of hindering them.

Service in the King's Guards. By TWO OF THEM. pp. 344. $1.50.

A narrative of the personal experiences of two frontier missionaries, showing both the hardships and the joys of the work, from its beginnings in a sod house to the fully developed church life of a well-built town.

Seven Laws of Teaching, The. By JOHN M. GREGORY, LL.D., ex-President of the State University of Illinois. Reduced to 50 cts. net.

In a careful study of these Seven Laws, the discussion reaches every valuable principle in education and every practical rule which can be of use in the teacher's work.

Silver Rags. By WILLIS BOYD ALLEN. pp. 224. $1.00.

A companion volume to "Pine Cones."

Sim Galloway's Daughter-in-Law. By W. E. BARTON, D.D. Fully illustrated. pp. 112. 50 cts.

A Southern dialect story of great interest and power. Sim's pretty adopted daughter is saved from a foolish elopement, his farm redeemed from a rapacious mortgagee and his wandering son brought back home, all by the well-directed efforts and practical wisdom of his hitherto unknown daughter-in-law, who thus seeks to atone in some measure for her former wayward life.

Snowed In. By WILLIS BOYD ALLEN. pp. 192. $1.00.

Ten Years of Missionary Work among the Indians at Skokomish. By Rev. M. EELLS. pp. 271. $1.25.

A well-told narrative of an admirably conducted mission work; also of special ethnological interest.

Testing of Sidney Dean, The. By Mrs. IDA T. THURSTON. pp. 450. $1.50.

Tells of the various experiences, both good and bad, of a young fellow in making a start in life. His loyalty, when business prospects look dark, to the man with whom he has taken only a temporary position, his devotion to "Gran" to whom he is not related, but who is badly treated by those who are under obligations to care for her, his straightforward manly integrity in all the trials which beset him, and the success which finally crowns his efforts, — all make interesting reading which will be helpful to other lads.

Three Colonial Maids. By JULIA MCNAIR WRIGHT. pp. 293. $1.25.

The heroines of this story are New England girls, and the author has presented a lively picture of the Revolutionary War from the standpoint of the women who stay at home. The reading will stir anew our admiration for our patriotic foremothers, the women who were behind "the men behind the guns" that won our independence. Deborah Sampson, the woman soldier, Benedict Arnold and other historic characters figure in the story.

Titled Maiden, A. Mrs. CAROLINE ATWATER MASON. pp. 447. $1.50. [Prize series. This story took the second prize.]

The heroine becomes a "Titled Maiden" by receiving the degree of M.D. In the victories that she attains in her struggle to a degree, and, later to establish a practise, she not only becomes more noble and refined in character, but, in the best of ways, teaches the beauty of self-denial for others.

Church Supplies

Collection Plates

Aluminum, plush lined, each	$1.75
Quadruple silver plate, plush lined, each	3.75
Polished oak, walnut or mahogany, plush lined, each	3.00

Communion Wine. We make a specialty of pure grape juice for communion uses, and constantly carry it in stock. It is absolutely non-alcoholic and has a rich fruity flavor. It keeps perfectly until opened, and may be heated and resealed if desired, though this necessity may be avoided by using the smaller-sized bottles.

The best of the grape juices commonly found in the market is Welch's, which gives general satisfaction. We sell it at the following prices:

Pints, 30 cts. each	$3.50 per dozen net.
Quarts, 50 cts. each	5.00 per dozen net.

For those who desire the very best, we recommend "Tirosh." This is made specially for us, and the entire product of the vineyard is purchased by us each year. The supply is limited, and we are not always able to furnish as much as is wanted.

Many churches near Boston have used it exclusively for years. It is unusually rich in color and flavor, and when diluted with almost an equal quantity of water, is equal to most other juices of similar character.

We sell "Tirosh" as long as it lasts, as follows:

Pints, 40 cts. each	$4.50 per dozen net.
Quarts, 65 cts. each	7.50 per dozen net.

Express on wine is paid by the purchaser.

Communion Services with Individual Cups

In aluminum or silver-plate. The aluminum sets are equal in appearance to silver; are very light, easily kept clean, and have no plating to wear off. Aluminum was formerly as expensive as gold. Its reduction in price in recent years makes its use possible, and its fitness is at once apparent. The following prices are for aluminum sets with glass cups, either plain or with gold-banded rims:

ALUMINUM WARE	PLAIN GLASSES	GOLD-BAND GLASSES
Tray with 30 glasses	$4.70	$5.40
" " 35 "	5.00	5.80
" " 40 "	5.30	6.20
Filler, silver lined		3.00
Base		2.25
Cover		2.25
Plates, each		1.50

The following prices are for services in quadruple silver plate with glass cups:

SILVER PLATED WARE	PLAIN GLASSES	GOLD-BAND GLASSES
Tray with 30 or 35 glasses	$15.50	$16.50
Filler		4.25
Base		6.75
Cover		6.75
Plates, each		3.25
Silver-plated cups to use in place of glass, each		.45
Additional glasses, plain, per dozen		.72
Additional glasses, gold band, per dozen,		.96

Cupholders to be attached to pews are a necessary part of the equipment where individual cups are used. We supply the following:

Aluminum holders, 3 glasses each (removable), per 100	$12.75
Oak, polished, 2 or 3 glasses each, per 100	8.75
Cherry or walnut, 2 or 3 glasses, per 100	10.00

"Congregationalist" Services

These Orders of Service for the use of churches have proved very popular, hundreds of thousands of each in the aggregate having been sold. Many pastors testify to the help of The Congregationalist Services in solving the problem of the second service. Typewriting Works.

A PRACTICAL COURSE IN TOUCH TYPEWRITING. 50c.; cloth, 75c.
Second Edition, Revised and Enlarged. A Scientific Method of Mastering the Keyboard by the Sense of Touch. By Charles E. Smith. The design of this work is to teach touch typewriting in such a way that the student will operate by touch—will have an absolute command of every key on the keyboard, and be able to strike any key more readily without looking than would be the case with the aid of sight. A separate Chart containing Keyboard and Diagrams, printed in five colors, on a heavy double-calendered card-board accompanies each copy.

"'A Practical Course in Touch Typewriting' has come to stay. It has made touch typewriting in our school one of the attractive features, and we have found it to be the most systematic and complete course in touch typewriting that has yet been published. It is a step in advance, and we predict a large sale for the work. It is thoroughly appreciated by our instructors, our students, and the management of our institution."—S. I. Wood, President, Wood's College, Newark, N.J.

ILLUSTRATED HOLIDAY BOOKS AND BOOKS OF TRAVEL.

OUR WEST INDIAN NEIGHBORS, The Islands of the Caribbean Sea, "America's Mediterranean": Their picturesque features, fascinating history, and attractions for the traveller, nature-lover, and pleasure-seeker. By Frederick A. Ober. 50 full-page Illustrations. $2.50 net. (Postage 21 cents.) Three-quarter crushed levant, $5.00 net.

Spanish-America becomes a familiar country to the readers of this book. Mr. Ober is an authority on the West Indies, and also he has the gift for interesting narration.

THE RUINED ABBEYS OF GREAT BRITAIN. By Ralph Adams Cram. With Illustrations from photographs by the Author. Cloth, $2.50 net. Three-quarter crushed levant, $5.00 net. (Postage 20 cents.)

A complete and thoroughly fascinating story of the ghosts of England's former greatness in churches. Mr. Cram's intimate knowledge of the ruined abbeys, his skill as a writer, coupled with the excellence of his illustrations, must make this book one of the most important of the year. Among the ruins described are Glastonbury, Whitby, Melrose, Tintern, Netley, Beaulieu, Bolton, and Malmsbury.

THE MEDITERRANEAN: Its Storied Cities and Venerable Ruins. By J. T. Bonney and others. Photogravure Illustrations and Map. 8vo, cloth, $3.00. Three-quarter crushed levant, $6.00.

The points of interest covered in this volume include Gibraltar, Algiers, Malaga, Nice and the Riviera, Naples, Venice, Sicily, Malta, and Alexandria.

A most delightful description of these old cities, and the itinerary is a rarely attractive one. It ought certainly to be read by anyone who intends to cover the journey and will prove a pleasure to those who cannot. The photogravures are exceptionally beautiful.

UNKNOWN SWITZERLAND. Picturesque and descriptive. By Victor Tissot. Photogravure Illustrations and Map. 8vo, cloth, $3.00. Three-quarter crushed levant, $6.00.

This valuable book of travel gets away from the beaten track. The Switzerland presented is the Switzerland of the scholarly traveller who knows its least frequented and most beautiful parts. A map and excellent illustrations add to the book's value.

AN INDIAN GARDEN. By H. C. Eggar. With colored Frontispiece and Illustrations. Cloth, $2.00 net.

A most picturesque and unusual study of life in India. While the book is based on the description of gardening in the far East, it unintentionally goes far beyond its initial purpose and becomes a vivid picture of life in the Englishman's Indian home.

TO-DAY ON THE NILE. By H. W. Dunning. Photogravure Illustrations and Maps. 8vo, cloth, $2.50 net. (Postage 20 cents.) Three-quarter crushed levant, $5.00 net.

Dr. Dunning, only recently returned from his sixth trip up the Nile, has given us a book rich in personal detail with the somewhat rare combination, accurate and vivid historical description. No better picture of life as it actually is "To-day on the Nile" could possibly be written. From reading the book one learns all the history needed of Egypt and Pyramid and Sphinx for an understanding of modern Egypt. The information is concisely put, and with a lightness of touch that makes its perusal recreation.

OLD TOURAINE. History of the famous Chateaux of France. By Theodore Andrea Cook. 30 photogravures. 2 vols., crown 8vo, cloth, $5.00. Three-quarter crushed levant, $10.00.

The Chateaux of France are perhaps as full of romantic interest as any buildings in the world. Mr. Cook's intimate acquaintance with French country life and castles of the French aristocracy have fitted him to write one of the most delightful of books. It has value both to the traveller and to the reader.

CATHEDRALS OF ENGLAND AND WALES. By T. Francis Bumpus. 2 vols., illustrated, cloth, $4.00 net. (Postage 20 cents.) Three-quarter crushed levant, $8.00 net.

These books are valuable literature. They are more than merely delightful reading. They are the most comprehensive descriptions yet written of what is probably the most popular "tour" in the entire British Isles. Americans especially grow fonder and fonder of visiting the cathedral towns of England and Wales. The complete nature of this interesting study is obvious from the list of churches described: Durham, Ely, Lincoln, Salisbury, Worcester, Hereford, Chichester, Chester, Bristol, Canterbury, York, St. Paul's, Winchester, Exeter, Wells, Lichfield, Norwich, Peterborough, Gloucester, Oxford, Rochester, Carlisle, St. David's, Bangor, Llandaff, St. Asaph, Ripon, Southwell.

THE BASTILLE. By Capt. (Hon.) D. Bingham. With a preface by James Breck Perkins. 35 photogravures. 2 vols., crown 8vo, cloth, $5.00. Three-quarter crushed levant, $10.00.

This work about the Bastille is graphic literature as well as accurate history. It bids fair to become a standard reference book on that most interesting of the many interesting buildings associated with the French Revolution, and the volumes are exceedingly rich in historical portraits and rare scenes

OLD TIME TRAVEL. By A. Innes Shand. With colored frontispiece and 40 full-page Illustrations by A. H. Hallam Murray. 8vo, cloth, 438 pages, $3.50 net. (Postage 16 cents.)

This exceedingly handsome book, well illustrated and well written, will appeal to a large class of readers. Mr. Shand has the knack of writing entertaining narratives. His stories of continental travel forty years ago are happily told and full of interesting contrast between yesterday and to-day.

CITIES. By Arthur Symons. With 8 photogravures from old pictures. 8vo, cloth, $3.00.
Three-quarter crushed levant, $6.00.

Contents: Rome, Venice, Naples, Seville, Prague, Moscow, Budapest, Belgrade, Constantinople.

Mr. Symons has a keen power of analysis and, as one should expect, a fine feeling for words. His essays are brilliant impressionist pictures, full of color and movement, very subjective, yet real and convincing.

BUDAPEST, THE CITY OF THE MAGYARS. By F. Berkeley Smith. With an introduction by F. Hopkinson Smith. Copiously Illustrated. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

How intensely interesting the story of the Magyars! Hospitable, full of veneration for their great past, they have gone through serious struggles and met with losses and reverses, but still hopeful and now happy in their own country, though differently ruled. The illustrations are fine and add much of value to the work. It is a thoroughly enjoyable book.

BY THE WATERS OF SICILY. By Norma Lorimer. A new and large illustrated edition of this book of travel. 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

It contains a vivid picture of life in Sicily, telling about the people and all sorts of Italian things, and finally a delightful romance. The larger part of the book is made up of fascinating and unusually intimate pictures of Sicilian life. It certainly inspires one with a desire to go to Sicily.

RUSSIA UNDER THE GREAT SHADOW. By Luigi Villari. 8vo, cloth, 85 illustrations, $3.50 net. (Postage 18 cents.)

This book is considered the strongest piece of work that Villari has yet given us. Its treatment of Nihilism in its relation to the future of the Czar's people is intimate and thrilling.

SEVEN ANGELS OF THE RENASCENCE. By Wyke Bayliss, author of "Five Great Painters." 8vo, cloth, with 40 illustrations, $3.50 net. (Postage 15 cents.)

This interesting art book by Mr. Bayliss is beautifully illustrated with photogravures of the pictures described. The best painters of the Renascence period are represented and their work sympathetically described.

BIOGRAPHICAL AND HISTORICAL.

MAKERS OF MODERN HISTORY. Napoleon III., Cavour, Bismarck. By the Hon. Edward Cadogan. 8vo, cloth, $2.25 net. (Postage 12 cents.)

Mr. Cadogan chooses the three because their illustrious names are more than any associated with the great struggle between conservative principles and the revolutionary forces of constitutional or national liberty in which lies the chief interest of European history in the Nineteenth Century.

WOMEN OF WIT AND BEAUTY OF THE TIME OF GEORGE IV. By John Fyvie. 8vo, cloth, $3.00 net. (Postage 12 cents.)

Mr. Fyvie has written frankly, though circumspectly, of such women as Nelson's "Lady Hamilton," the unacknowledged wife of George IV., and the "Hon. Mrs. Norton." Reliable information about these women, whose lives are more like romance than truth, has never before been printed.

ASPECTS OF BALZAC. By W. H. Helm. 12mo, cloth, $1.00 net. (Postage 10 cents.)

Mr. Helm's comprehensive review of the work of the great Frenchman should do more than anything hitherto published to make appreciation of Balzac universal. There is a simplicity of treatment that commends the book. And the list of "Aspects" include such subjects as Balzac's method, his men, his women, his humor.

HISTORICAL WORKS OF JULIA PARDOE. With prefaces by Adolphé Cohn. In 9 volumes, including Index. Photogravure Frontispieces. 9 vols., cloth, $13.50. Three-quarter crushed levant, $27.00.

LOUIS XIV. AND THE COURT OF FRANCE IN THE SEVENTEENTH CENTURY. Photogravure Frontispieces. 3 vols., cloth, small 12mo, $4.50. Three-quarter crushed levant, $9.00.

THE LIFE OF MARIE DE MEDICIS, QUEEN OF FRANCE. (Consort of Henry IV. and Regent of the Kingdom under Louis XIII.) Photogravure Frontispieces. 3 vols., cloth, small 12mo, $4.50. Three-quarter crushed levant, $9.00.

THE COURT AND REIGN OF FRANCIS I., KING OF FRANCE. Photogravure Frontispieces. 3 vols., cloth, small 12mo, $4.50. Three-quarter crushed levant, $9.00.

These books (all prefaced by Adolphé Cohn, of Columbia University) are "Lives," not "Memoirs." Of Louis XIV., Miss Pardoe gives the clearest possible portrait. The story of Marie De Medicis is romantic both in substance and in the telling. In writing of Francis I., Miss Pardoe shows that the popular idea of Francis gives him more credit for chivalry and triumph than he deserved.

MEMOIRS OF THE DUKE OF SAINT-SIMON. On the Reign of Louis XIV. and the Regency. Translated from the French by Bayle St. John. With a Preface by James Breck Perkins. Illustrated with photogravures. 4 vols., cloth, 12mo, with index, $6.00.
Three-quarter crushed levant, $12.00.

They are living history, a complete record of events, court scenes, marriages, deaths, intrigues, and in fact the daily life of the Court of Louis XIV., at Versailles and Marly. "The Student's History of France," in giving the authorities for the Reign of Louis XIV., says: "The principal source of contemporary history for this period is the Memoirs of the Duc de Saint-Simon. This work will always preserve its reputation and authority, from the high position of its author, his general fidelity and accuracy, and his remarkable power of delineating individual character."

THE ANCIENT CAPITAL OF SCOTLAND, from the Invasion of Agricola to the Passing of the Reform Bill, 1832. By Samuel Cowan, J.P., author of "Mary Queen of Scots," "The Gowrie Conspiracy," etc., with numerous full-page Illustrations. 2 vols., cloth, 8vo, 832 pages, $7.50 net. (Postage 40 cents.)

The history of Perth never having been fully written until Mr. Cowan took upon himself the gigantic task, this work is in every sense notable. It is in reality a history of Scotland, and full of the romance that seems inseparable from the annals of the Scot, ancient and mediæval.

THE GOWRIE CONSPIRACY AND ITS OFFICIAL NARRATIVE. By Samuel Cowan, J.P., author of "Mary Queen of Scots." With Index. 8vo, $2.50 net. (Postage 16 cents.)

"The Gowrie Conspiracy" endeavors to throw some additional light on it, derived from careful research among State papers and other collections.

MEN AND MANNERS OF THE THIRD REPUBLIC. By Albert D. Vandam, author of "An Englishman in Paris," etc. 8vo, cloth, $3.00 net. (Postage 15 cents.)

A book of picturesque comment and observations on the prominent men of the Third Republic, such as Napoleon III., Adolphe Thiers, Adolphe Cremieux, Jules Grevy, Jules Simon, and Emile de Girardin, portraits of whom are included in the volume.
Certainly no foreigner ever knew Paris better than did Vandam, and his portraits of prominent men in the time of the Third Republic are intimate and vigorous.

FIFTY YEARS OF AN ACTOR'S LIFE. By John Coleman, author of "Charles Reade as I Knew Him," with sixteen plates containing 26 portraits. 2 vols., 8vo, $6.00 net. (Postage 38 cents.)

Mr. Coleman had exceptional opportunities for acquiring an intimate knowledge of the stage in England, Europe and even America during the last century. His dream was for the establishment of a national theatre in London. He writes of this in his comprehensive and fascinating autobiography. His descriptions of the great people, on and off the stage, with whom he became acquainted in the course of his long life, are delightfully personal and illuminating.

CHESTER. By B. C. A. Windle, D.Sc., F.R.S. Illustrated by E. H. New. $1.50 net. (Postage 11 cents.)

No one who has taken a day off on his way down from Liverpool to London in order to visit that ancient English city, Chester, can fail to be interested in this book by Mr. Windle. Nor are travellers the only people likely to be interested in it. Indeed, so vivid are its descriptions that it provides the next best thing to a visit itself. The book has also the advantage of admirable historical arrangement, objects and places of interest being treated by period.

MILTON AND THE CAVALIERS. By F. S. Boas, author of "In Shakespeare's England." Cloth, 12mo, $1.50 net. (Postage 13 cents.)

This history of the time of the Cavaliers and Roundheads is unique in treatment. Mrs. Boas has written rather around Charles than about him, yet with her valuable summing-up of Milton, the lesser poets, Clarendon, Sir Thomas Browne and others, she has told the most effective story of the King himself and of Cromwell.

IN SHAKESPEARE'S ENGLAND. An account of life and literature in Elizabethan England. By F. S. Boas. With Portraits and Illustrations. Cloth, 12mo, $1.50 net. (Postage 12 cents.)

Mrs. Boas, always thorough and scholarly in her work, has given us in this volume a suggestive book about such people as Bacon, Sidney, Raleigh, Elizabeth, Spenser, Marlowe. It is a history of the time of Shakespeare, brief but inclusive. As a critic, Mrs. Boas has much to say on purely literary matters. Although she touches lightly on the work of Shakespeare himself, what she says is strictly to the point.

BYGONE LONDON LIFE. Pictures from a vanished past. By G. L. Apperson, I.S.O. With many Illustrations from old prints and engravings. $1.50 net. (Postage 11 cents.)

Leaving the common places of history alone, he delves into forgotten corners and brings out odd treasures of information—for example, anecdotes of the habitués of the famous old coffee-houses.

RECOLLECTIONS OF DANTE GABRIEL ROSSETTI AND HIS CIRCLE. By the late Henry T. Dunn, with a prefatory note by William Michael Rossetti. Illustrated with photogravures. 12mo, $1.00 net. (Postage 6 cents.)

These recollections describe the personality and the thoughts and actions of the great poet-painter as they appeared to one long privileged to enjoy familiar association with him.

NAPOLEON'S BRITISH VISITORS AND CAPTIVES, 1801-1815. By John G. Alger, author of "New Paris Sketch Book," "Englishmen in the French Revolution," etc. Demy 8vo, $2.50 net. (Postage 15 cents.)

French archives have rarely given up more entertaining information than is to be found in Mr. Alger's book. Napoleon's visitors so often became his captives that unwary foreigners, Englishmen particularly, lived to rue the day they ventured on French shores. France was still in too great ferment to make her a peaceful place of residence. Mr. Alger has brought to light a great deal of what may be called true gossip, gossip here meaning racy stories of the gay happenings of the time. For there was much gayety, despite considerable captivity.

STUDIES OF A BOOK-LOVER. By Prof. Thomas Marc Parrott, Professor of English in Princeton University. Small 12mo, illustrated, cloth, gilt top, $1.25 net. (Postage 8 cents.)

Prof. Parrott, in this critical and biographical volume, contributes one of the most readable books of the year. His chapter on Matthew Arnold, who stands in his particularly high regard, on Tennyson, Browning, Gray, Johnson, Goldsmith, Scott—to select at random—each of these can scarcely fail to attract the attention of people appreciative of the really valuable in criticism.

PARIS IN '48. By Baroness Bonde. Edited by Constance E. Warr. 8vo, cloth, $2.00 net. (Postage 12 cents.)

These letters, which the Duke of Wellington and Lord Palmerston, among others, read with the deepest interest, have remained private for more than fifty years. In 1900 the Baroness felt that the time had come when they could be given to the world without hurting any susceptibilities, and entrusted them for that purpose to her friend, Mrs. Warr, who has taken care to preserve their peculiar verve and freshness.

CHARLES JAMES FOX. A Political Study by J. L. Le B. Hammond. 8vo, cloth, $2.00 net. (Postage 13 cents.)

A political study of Fox and of the situation and problems of his day. It examines his part in the great transformation in English parties, and much attention is devoted to his attitude on the social and international questions which came up for settlement during his career, to his long struggle with the king, to his views on parliamentary reform, religious toleration, and Pitt's régime of coercion, to the Irish problem of that time, and particularly to the influence of Fox on the modern development of nationalism and democracy.

THE BUILDERS OF THE REPUBLIC. By Margherita A. Hamm, author of "Famous Families of New York." Illustrated profusely. 12mo, cloth, $1.50 net. (Postage 19 cents.)

The demand for a condensed, precise, and interesting volume upon the immortal figures who are identified with the birth of the American nation has been very happily met by Margherita Arlina Hamm in this singularly handsome work.

A HISTORY OF RUSSIA, from Peter the Great to Nicholas II. By W. R. Morfill. 12mo, cloth, $1.75 net. (Postage 13 cents.)

Above the flood of literature about Russia recently put upon the market, this book rises prominently. No more vivid and detailed study of the Czar's country has as yet been written, the information having been obtained from original documents. The book includes, outside its primary historical motif several chapters on the social and literary development of Russia.

LIFE AND TIMES OF GALILEO. By J. J. Fahie. With Portraits and Illustrations. 8vo, $5.00.

Whoever has paced the cool quadrangles of Padua will find this magnificent piece of biography more fascinating than any romance and more profound than any other utterances of religious philosophy. Mr. Fahie has endeavored to speak the truth. His narrative is lucid and ingenuous. He neither eulogizes nor disparages Galileo.

A SOUTHERN PLANTER: Social Life in the Old South. By Susan Dabney Smedes. Illustrated with photogravures, decorative cover. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

Containing autograph letter from the Hon. W. E. Gladstone to the author in commendation of the book. This is one of the most delightful books depicting Southern life in Ante-Bellum Days, the Old South that has passed away.

THE INNER AND MIDDLE TEMPLE OF LONDON: Legal, Literary, and Historic Associations. By Hugh Hale Leigh Bellot, M.A., B.C.L., of Trinity College, Oxford, and of the Inner Temple. With Illustrations and Bibliography. 12mo, cloth, $2.00 net. (Postage 12 cents.)

What traveller in England fails to visit the Temple? Stepping out of the Strand and London's busy throng, this ancient landmark attracts probably more visitors, unless it be the Abbey, than any "sight" in London. Approached either from the Strand or from the Thames Embankment, it is beautifully picturesque, buildings and surroundings as well. Mr. Bellot has graphically described it all.

ENGLISH VILLAGES. By P. H. Ditchfield, M.A. With 100 Illustrations. 12mo, cloth, $1.50 net. (Postage 11 cents.)

Beautiful as are many of the great English cities, the true lover of England is the person familiar with the quaint little hamlets dotting the country by the score. This book should be of importance to the constantly increasing number of people who take walking and driving tours through English country districts.

THE BOOKMAN BIOGRAPHIES. A series of popular, illustrated monographs on great writers. Profusely illustrated with forty or more Illustrations and Special Portrait in tint. Quarto, cloth, each, 75 cents.

1. ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON. By G. K. Chesterton.
2. THOMAS CARLYLE. By G. K. Chesterton and J. D. Hodder Williams.
3. CHARLES DICKENS. By G. K. Chesterton and F. G. Kitton.
4. LEO TOLSTOI. By G. K. Chesterton and G. H. Perris.
5. SIR WALTER SCOTT. By W. S. Crockett and James L. Caw.
6. ROBERT BROWNING. By James Douglas.
7. ALFRED TENNYSON. By G. K. Chesterton and Richard Garnett.
8. WILLIAM M. THACKERAY. By G. K. Chesterton and Lewis Melville.

The Bookman Biographies, exceedingly suggestive work throughout, were undertaken because a need was felt for thorough and concrete "lives" of these great men. The names of the biographers sufficiently indicate the character of these books.

CAGLIOSTRO & COMPANY. By Frantz Funck-Brentano. Translated by George Maidment. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

Mr. Funck-Brentano is the author of the "Diamond Necklace," and the book traces the further history of the characters in that drama down to the death of Marie Antoinette. This book cannot but have a strange interest for all those who have read in history, poetry, and drama the other side of the question.

ON THE DISTAFF SIDE. By Gabriel Festing. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

Here are given pen portraits of some great ladies who lived in the Sixteenth, Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries. They are women made famous through their tremendous social influence in England, ever the land where social influence is indeed a power. Much of the biographical material here used has been obtained from letters not hitherto published and is consequently fresh.

THE OUTBREAK IN CHINA: ITS CAUSES. By Rev. F. L. Hawks Pott, D.D., President of St. John's College, Shanghai, and President of the American Association of China. 12mo, cloth, 75 cents.

AMERICAN AUTHORS AND THEIR HOMES. Edited with Introduction by Francis Whiting Halsey. Small 12mo, with index, cloth, $1.25 net. (Postage 11 cents.) Three-quarter crushed levant, $2.50 net.

AUTHORS OF OUR DAY IN THEIR HOMES. Edited with additions by Francis Whiting Halsey. Illustrations. Small 12mo, with index, cloth, $1.25 net. (Postage 11 cents.) Three-quarter crushed levant, $2.50 net.

WOMEN AUTHORS OF OUR DAY IN THEIR HOMES. Edited with additions by Francis Whiting Halsey. Cloth, small 12mo, with index, $1.25 net. (Postage 11 cents.) Three-quarter crushed levant, $2.50 net.

Interesting interviews and visits to the homes of our best known American authors.

Contemporary literature has afforded Francis Whiting Halsey sixty-five names for subjects in his several volume story of authors. These books are valuable in reference work because of their excellent index and the tabular list of each author's writings, with the dates of original publication.

EMINENT ACTORS IN THEIR HOMES. Personal descriptions and interviews by Margherita Arlina Hamm. Illustrated. Small 12mo, cloth, $1.25 net. (Postage 11 cents.) Three-quarter crushed levant, $2.50 net.

LITERATURE.

* THE REIGN OF GILT. By David Graham Phillips, author of "The Cost," "The Plum Tree." 12mo, cloth, $1.00 net. (Postage 12 cents.)

A book of fact, not fiction, in which Mr. Phillips states for the first time, as coming from him rather than from the lips of his created characters, his strongest beliefs and controlling purposes. The book is an arraignment of the American idolatry of wealth. It is a stirring denunciation of "the worship of the golden calf," but also an inspiring piling-up of argument to show that in spite of money influences wholly antagonistic to the democratic ideals of simplicity and equality on which the republic was founded, our final adherence to those ideals is inevitable.

David Graham Phillips.

* THE SPIRIT OF THE MOUNTAINS. By Emma B. Miles. 12mo, cloth, illustrated, $1.20 net. (Postage 12 cents.)

Mrs. Miles, who has spent her entire life in the heart of the Tennessee mountains, presents in her artistic development one of those rare instances of apparently inspired literary utterance. "The Spirit of the Mountains," with phenomenal simplicity of style, describes the actual every-day life of the Tennessee mountaineer—his traditions, his literature, his music—and predicts his future.

THE WOMAN OF TO-MORROW. By Helen M. Winslow. 12mo, cloth, $1.00 net. (Postage 8 cents.)

A readable, sensible, serious, humorous bit of writing. Its optimism is infectious and holds the attention both of men and women. "The Woman of To-morrow!" What will she be like? Miss Winslow gives various answers to her own query and in so doing produces a book that bids fair to wield a considerable influence in the actual making of "The Woman of To-morrow." The author has a wide reputation as an editor and writer. She is in every way competent to talk about "the woman question," and she has done so in a thoroughly sane and conservative fashion.

* THE ESSENTIALS OF SPIRITUALITY. By Felix Adler. 12mo, cloth, $1.00 net. (Postage 8 cents.)

This book crystallizes Dr. Adler's teaching throughout his long service as an apostle of Ethical Culture. Dr. Adler has produced comparatively few books, and none of recent years to which he has given such minute preparation. "The Essentials of Spirituality" treats so broadly, so tolerantly, of the Twentieth Century need for more direct cultivation of the spiritual life, that it is sure to appeal strongly to orthodox and unorthodox alike.

 I'VE BEEN THINKING. By Charles Battell Loomis. Frontispiece and decorative cover by Robert A. Graef. Cloth, square 12mo, $1.00. Lambskin, in box, $1.50.

Mr. Loomis here sustains his growing reputation as one of the wittiest men in the United States. The thousands of people who laughed over his "Cheerful Americans," will laugh yet longer over the gratuitous advice herein contained. Mr. Loomis has a word for those about to marry, for those repenting of having married, for those blessed with children, for those cursed with (and by) the same. Father, mother, husband, wife, children and the stranger within the gates, all are addressed by Mr. Loomis.

 THE JAPANESE SPIRIT. By Okakura-Yoshisaburo. With an Introduction by George Meredith. 12mo, cloth, $1.00 net. (Postage 8 cents.)

These lectures by a son of the land, delivered at the University of London, are compendious and explicit in a degree that enables us to form a summary of much that has been otherwise partially obscure, so that we get nearer to the secret of this singular race than we have had the chance of doing before.

Mr. Okakura tells in brief résumé what he considers the essentials to an understanding of modern Japan, its political, religious and social qualities of basic importance.

THE KNYGHT OF THE TOWRE. By Geoffroy De La Tour Landry. A beautiful edition of this classic. Six woodcut illustrations. Text printed in red and black. 8vo, cloth, $1.50 net. (Postage 14 cents.)

THE SOCIAL PROBLEM. Life and Work. By J. A. Hobson, author of the "Evolution of Modern Capitalism," "John Ruskin, Social Reformer." Crown 8vo, with Index, $2.00 net. (Postage 13 cents.)

The book contains an elaborate criticism upon the old political economy of John Stuart Mill and others of his school. The writer outlines what he considers will be the true basis of social science.

IMPERIALISM; A STUDY. By J. A. Hobson, author of "The Social Problem." 8vo, cloth, $2.75 net. (Postage 13 cents.)

The general principles which underlie imperialist policy are discussed in this volume; the illustrations of that policy are mainly derived from the progress of British Imperialism during the last generation, and proceed rather by diagnosis than by historical description.

Of the greatest value to all students of this subject.

THE MOON. A new and popular edition. The moon considered as a planet, a world, and a satellite. By James Nasmith, C.E., and James Carpenter, F.R.A.S., late of the Royal Observatory, Greenwich. With numerous illustrations. $2.00.

Popular rather than scientific, setting forth the more interesting aspects of the subject with great particularity, but not aiming to develop features that would interest only the professional scientific investigator. The work is remarkable in the way of illustrations.

THE GEM CLASSICS. The best of the world-famous classics in uniform binding. Photogravure Frontispiece. Small 12mo, Venetian morocco, limp, $1.00.

Particular care has been taken in the manufacture to obtain the best results as to type, paper, presswork and binding.

1. RASSELAS. By Samuel Johnson, LL.D.
2. RELIGIO MEDICI, ETC. By Sir Thomas Browne.
3. THE STORY OF THE CHEVALIER BAYARD. By Edith Walford.
4. VATHEK: AN EASTERN ROMANCE. By William Beckford.
5. ABDALLAH AND THE FOUR-LEAVED SHAMROCK.
6. PARABLES FROM NATURE. By Mrs. Gatty. 2 vols.
7. FRANKENSTEIN; OR, THE MODERN PROMETHEUS. By Mrs. Shelley.
8. REFLECTIONS OF ROCHEFOUCAULD.

"For purity of text, elegance of typography, and beauty of external form, they cannot be equalled."

NAVARRE CLASSICS. Rasselas, Bayard, Frankenstein, Love Letters, ———Religio, Vathek, Abdallah, Rochefoucauld.
4 vols., small 12mo, Venetian morocco in leather box to match, each set, $5.00.

THE WILL POWER. By J. Milner Fothergill, M.D. 12mo, cloth, 75 cents.

"It is full of illustrations drawn from the widest reading, and showing how far the will has inherited qualities, its relation to self-culture, its behavior under unexpected circumstances, its operation in fight, and its manifestations under the influence of disease."

THE NEGRO PROBLEM. By Booker T. Washington, Principal of Tuskegee; W. E. Burghardt Du Bois, Paul Laurence Dunbar, Charles W. Chestnutt, and others. 12mo, cloth, $1.25 net. (Postage 8 cents.)

It is an epoch-making work, showing the race's strength and weakness. No more interesting or important book has ever appeared upon this absorbing public question of the day. The contributions are original and include articles upon every phase of negro life and character, every principle involved in the race problem and every influence that can possibly hasten or delay the onward and upward struggle of the Freedmen.

FICTION.

MRS. VAN TWILLER'S SALON. By Lillie Hamilton French. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

This latest book of Miss French's is bound to strengthen her unique popularity as a writer. It will undoubtedly have an even wider sale than her previous successful books, "My Old Maid's Corner" and "Hezekiah's Wives." "Mrs. Van Twiller's Salon" is a love story primarily and introduces the reader to many interesting types of New York's fashionable and artistic society, with Mrs. Wooter Van Twiller, grande dame, as the character round which the story centres.

* FROM THE HEART OF ISRAEL. By Bernard Drachman. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

Some tragic—some comic—stories of the life and faith of certain Jewish people, true to their ancient religion.

THE WISDOM OF FOLLY, being three exciting days in the otherwise peaceful life of a fluffy-minded lady. By Cosmo Hamilton. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

* TWO OF THE GUESTS. A Romance in Letters. By Kate Gertrude Prindiville. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

"'Oh, wad some power the giftie gie us,' etc., sang the bard of the plowshare, and in her little book Kate Gertrude Prindiville has come as near the 'giftie' as is possible for human eyes."—New York Times, April 15th.

* DOLLY WINTER. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

This story, romantic and keen with wit, introduces the reader to a bit of country life combined with the doings of an experienced man of the world temporarily seeking simplicity of life.

DALRYMPLE. A romance of the British Prison-ship "The Jersey." By Mary C. Francis, author of "A Son of Destiny." 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

The background of Revolutionary days throws into bold relief the motif of Miss Mary C. Francis' story.

The fascinating chapters devoted to the horrors of life on board the British prison-ship, "The Jersey," excel anything in modern fiction. The pages devoted to this theme, in vivid and realistic description, will live long in the memories of those who read them.

"It makes your blood boil. By all means get it and read it and be in touch with its historic facts and settings."—Worcester Gazette.

FLOWER OF THE FORT. By Charles Hemstreet, author of "Nooks and Corners of Old New York," "Literary Landmarks of New York." 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

Charles Hemstreet is widely known as a writer who has thrown the charm of romance over out-of-the-way city byways. In "Flower of the Fort," he plunges into the field of pure romance, producing a book that will appeal to admirers of his earlier work, as well as to those who delight in a love-story picturesquely told.

NURSE NORAH. By Elliott Flower, author of "Policeman Flynn." Illustrated by Fanny Y. Cory and Robert A. Graef. 12mo, cloth, 75 cents.

Interested and amused readers of Mr. Elliott Flower's earlier work, "Policeman Flynn," will welcome this new volume, which will amply justify their estimation of his abilities as a humorist. In this book, the central figure of which is an irresistible Irish nurse, the reminiscence of "Policeman Flynn" is striking enough to suggest the possibility of the characters being at least first cousins.

COUNT FALCON OF THE EYRIE. By Clinton Scollard. With Frontispiece. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

It is a romance pure and simple, a stirring tale of Italy in the days of passion and feud. The story opens in Venice, in the heyday of her splendor, the scene shifting, after a few chapters, to Rome—the mediæval Rome of treachery and intrigue—and thence to an imaginary Dukedom in the mountainous region northeast of the Campagna.

NATURE BOOKS.

ALONG FOUR-FOOTED TRAILS. Wild Animals of the Plains as I Know Them. By Ruth A. Cook. With numerous illustrations by Mabel Williamson. 12mo, cloth, 75 cents net. (Postage 14 cents.)

John Burroughs has heartily commended this western nature book which Miss Cook's personal acquaintance with animals has well fitted her to write. Although accurate scientifically, the volume is characterized by an absence of scientific discussion and terms that so often spoil an otherwise readable book.

QUIET HOURS WITH NATURE. By Eliza Brightwen, F.Z.S., F.E.S., Vice-President of the Selborne Society. Illustrated by Theodore Carreras. 12mo, cloth, $1.50 net. (Postage 14 cents.)

THE GARDEN DIARY AND CALENDAR OF NATURE. With gardening directions by Rose Kingsley and preface by G. A. B. Dewar. With colored Frontispiece. Leather, $1.25 net. (Postage 6 cents.)

Here is a first hand record of what actually goes on among growing things in a garden. It has the real breath of summer about it, combined with a vast amount of useful information for the benefit of those who love gardening, and wish to undertake it, and yet have no desire to be weighed down by useless details of information.

MINIATURE AND WINDOW GARDENING. By Phoebe Allen and Dr. Godfrey. 12mo, cloth, 50 cents net. (Postage 8 cents.)

More and more every year Americans see the delightful fashion so much the vogue abroad—the fashion of the window garden—adopted in the United States. With its adoption comes the need for knowledge on the subject and our authors have given just the simple, easily adopted rules necessary to the cultivation of window plants and other small garden effects.

PARABLES FROM NATURE. By Mrs. Alfred Gatty. Small 12mo, cloth, photogravure Frontispiece, $1.50.

There is a geniality and a naturalness in Mrs. Gatty's Parables that we look for in vain in the attempts of other writers.

The cheerfulness of the cricket, the honest toil of the bee, the faith of the caterpillar in its future existence, the joy of the lark in its being, the belief of the robin in a Providence, the silent trustfulness of the oak and the beech—all these and many other lessons do these parables bring with them as we listen to the voices with which Mrs. Gatty has clothed the thoughts of tree and insect, flower and bird.

POETRY.

THE COMPLETE WORKS OF WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE. Also index and glossary and portraits of eminent American and English artists. 12mo, cloth, $1.50. Roan morocco, dark maroon or green, red under gold edges, $2.50. Three-quarter crushed levant, $3.50.

This is acknowledged to be the best one-volume edition of Shakespeare published, the type being large and clear, the paper thin and opaque, and the volume not cumbersome or heavy. It has been adopted by many schools and colleges and the book trade, as by far the best.

THE COMPLETE WORKS OF WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE. With a biographical introduction by Henry Glassford Bell; also index and glossary and sixty-five portraits of eminent American and English artists. 12mo, cloth, 3 vols., $3.50. Three-quarter crushed levant, $5.00.

THE SAVOY EDITION. Bound in polished Armur levant (maroon and dark green). Handsomely designed title, side and back, gold edges. 12mo, $2.00, in box, gold label.

The publishers have spared neither pains nor expense to render the volumes in this series the most beautiful editions in existence of the works selected for publication.

Each is a beautiful 12mo volume, illustrated very fully by half-tone engravings after original designs made especially for the work. Many of the illustrations are full page, and the remainder are of various sizes and odd shapes, and are set in the text in the French style with wide margin. Our superior facilities for manufacturing leather bindings enable us to offer the best line of leather editions that can be had.

BOOKS FOR YOUNG PEOPLE.

STORIES FROM DREAMLAND. Illustrated in color, by George W. Bardwell. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

A collection of children's stories of exceptional merit. These stories are simply told; they show inventiveness and are the outgrowth of a genuine interest in children and an acquaintance with them.

THE FLIGHT OF THE "SWALLOW." By Emily Malbone Morgan, author of a "Poppy Garden." Illustrated. 12mo, cloth, 50 cents.

A very just and dainty piece of composition, carrying with it the distinct element of charm.

EARLY DAYS IN THE MAPLE LAND. Stories, for Children, of Stirring Deeds under Three Flags. By Katherine A. Young. Illustrated by Arthur Heming. 125 pages. 12mo, cloth, 50 cents.

It is a tale of exceptional merit, and tells of the pioneer days of Canada. As fascinating as any book of fictitious tales could be, yet all true, most delightful and entertaining. It is handsomely illustrated with half-tone illustrations by the Canadian artist, Arthur W. Heming, whose work is so well known in Canada and the United States.

SOAP-BUBBLE STORIES. For children, by Fannie Barry. Illustrated by Palmer Cox and Irving Montague. Large 12mo, decorated cover, cloth, $1.00.

These tales are full of variety and interest, and are published in consequence of the striking success of Miss Barry's animal and other stories contributed to "Please Tell Me Another Tale," "Stories Jolly," etc. It is cordially recommended as a singularly handsome and attractive gift book for boys and girls.

BIBLE STORIES FOR THE LITTLE ONES. By Mrs. Edward Ashley Walker. Written for little children in words of one syllable, the language of the Bible has been adhered to as closely as possible. Printed from extra large, clear type and handsomely illustrated with half-tone pictures, 50 cents.

FROM THE CRIB TO THE CROSS.
FROM THE CREATION TO MOSES.
FROM JOSHUA TO DANIEL.

PILGRIM'S PROGRESS FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

"The books are illustrated with half-tone pictures, and the Bible volumes taken together will be regarded by many mothers as a welcome helper for the Sunday hours indoors." —Sunday-school Times Review.

"This is beautifully bound, richly illustrated. We have seen nothing better adapted to fasten Bible truths in the minds of the young, and as a gift book it is unexcelled."—The Baptist Standard.

of doing honour to Mordecai. ESTHER, 7, 8. Haman is hanged.

vered to the hand of one of the king's most noble princes, that they may array the man withal whom the king delighteth to honour, and bring him on horseback through the street of the city, and proclaim before him, Thus shall it be done to the man whom the king delighteth to honour.

10 Then the king said to Haman, Make haste, and take the apparel and the horse, as thou hast said, and do even so to Mordecai the Jew, that sitteth at the king's gate: let nothing fail of all that thou hast spoken.

11 Then took Haman the apparel and the horse, and arrayed Mordecai, and brought him on horseback through the street of the city, and proclaimed before him, Thus shall it be done unto the man whom the king delighteth to honour.

12 ¶ And Mordecai came again to the king's quest for his life to Esther the queen; for he saw that there was evil determined against him by the king.

8 Then the king returned out of the palace garden into the place of the banquet of wine; and Haman was fallen upon the bed whereon Esther was. Then said the king, Will he force the queen also before me in the house? As the word went out of the king's mouth, they covered Haman's face.

9 And Harbonah, one of the chamberlains, said before the king, Behold also, the gallows fifty cubits high, which Haman had made for Mordecai, who had spoken good for the king, standeth in the house of Haman. Then the king said, Hang him thereon.

10 So they hanged Haman on the gallows that he had prepared for Mordecai. Then was the king's wrath pacified.

with all the captives of Judah, that went into Babylon, saith the LORD: for I will break the yoke of the king of Babylon.

5 ¶ Then the prophet Jeremiah said unto the prophet Hananiah in the presence of the priests, and in the presence of all the people that stood in the house of the LORD,

6 Even the prophet Jeremiah said, Amen: the LORD do so: the LORD perform thy words which thou hast prophesied, to bring again the vessels of the LORD's house, and all that is carried away captive, from Babylon into this place.

7 Nevertheless hear thou now this word that I speak in thine ears, and in the ears of all the people:

8 The prophets that have been before me and before thee of old prophesied both against many countries, and against great kingdoms, of war, and of evil, and of pestilence.

Judah and Jerusalem, and the carpenters, and the smiths, were departed from Jerusalem;)

3 By the hand of Elasah the son of Shaphan, and Gemariah the son of Hilkiah, (whom Zedekiah king of Judah sent unto Babylon to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon) saying,

4 Thus saith the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, unto all that are carried away captives, whom I have caused to be carried away from Jerusalem unto Babylon;

5 Build ye houses, and dwell in them; and plant gardens, and eat the fruit of them;

6 Take ye wives, and beget sons and daughters; and take wives for your sons, and give your daughters to husbands, that they may bear sons and daughters; that ye may be increased there, and not diminished.

The people murmur. EXODUS, XVII. Amalek is overcome.

33 And Moses said unto Aaron, Take a pot, and put an omer full of manna therein, and lay it up before the LORD, to be kept for your generations.

34 As the LORD commanded Moses, so Aaron laid it up before the Testimony, to be kept.

35 And the children of Israel did eat manna forty years, until they came to a land inhabited: they did cause of the chiding of the children of Israel, and because they tempted the LORD, saying, Is the LORD among us, or not?

8 ¶ Then came Amalek, and fought with Israel in Rephidim.

9 And Moses said unto Joshua, Choose us out men, and go out, fight with Amalek: to morrow I will stand on the top of the hill with the rod of God in mine hand.

CHAPTER 1.

IN the beginning[a] God created[b] the heaven and the earth.
2 And the earth was without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep. And the Spirit[c] of God moved upon the face of the waters.
3 And God said,[d] Let there be light: and there was light.
4 And God saw the light, that[f] it was good: and God divided [e]the light from the darkness.
5 And God called the light Day, and the darkness he called Night. And the evening and the morning were [g]the first day.
6 And God said,[h] Let there be a [i]firmament in the midst of the waters, and let it divide the waters from the waters.
7 And God made the firmament, and divided the waters which were under the firmament from the waters which were above [k]the firmament: and it was so.
8 And God called the firmament Heaven. And the evening and the morning were the second day.
9 And God said, [l]Let the waters under the heaven be gathered together unto one place, and let the dry land appear: and it was so.
10 And God called the dry land Earth; and the gathering together of the waters called he Seas: and God saw that it was good.[l]
11 And God said, Let the earth[m] bring forth [n]grass, the herb yielding seed, and the fruit tree yielding fruit after his kind, whose seed is in itself, upon the earth: and it was so.
12 And the earth brought forth grass, and herb yielding seed after his kind, and the tree yielding fruit, whose seed was in itself, after his kind: and God saw that it was good.
13 And the evening and the morning were the third day.
14 And God said, Let there be[p] lights in the firmament of the heaven, to divide the day [r]from the night; and let them be for signs, and for seasons, and for days, and years:
15 And let them be for lights in the firmament of the heaven, to give light upon the earth: and it was so.

21 And God created great whales, and every living creature that moveth, which the waters brought forth abundantly, after their kind, and every winged fowl after his kind: and God saw that it was good.
22 And God blessed them, saying, Be fruitful, and multiply, and fill the waters in the seas; and let fowl multiply in the earth.
23 And the evening and the morning were the fifth day.
24 And God said, Let the earth bring forth the living creature after his kind, cattle, and creeping thing, and beast of the earth after his kind: and it was so.
25 And God made the beast of the earth after his kind, and cattle after their kind, and every thing that creepeth upon the earth after his kind: and God saw that it was good.
26 And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness; and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth.
27 So God created man in his own image,[k] in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them.
28 And God blessed them, and God said unto them, Be fruitful,[η] and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it; and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that[ι] moveth upon the earth.
29 And God said, Behold, I have given you every herb [κ]bearing seed, which is upon the face of all the earth, and every tree, in the which is the fruit of a tree yielding seed;[o] to you it shall be for meat.
30 And to every beast of the earth, and to every fowl of the air, and to every thing that creepeth upon the earth, wherein there is [σ]life, I have given every green herb for meat: and it was so.
31 And God saw every thing that he had made, and, behold,[q] it was very good. And the evening and the morning were the sixth day.

Caution against false teachers. I. JOHN, 3. The singular love of God.

9 He that saith he is in the light, and hateth his brother, is in darkness even until now.
10 He that loveth his brother abideth in the light, and [l] there is none [1] occasion of stumbling in him.
11 But he that hateth his brother is in darkness, [m] and walketh in darkness, and knoweth not whither he goeth, because that darkness hath blinded his eyes.
12 I write unto you, little children, because [n] your sins are forgiven you for his name's sake.
13 I write unto you, fathers, because ye have known him [o] that is from the beginning. I write unto you, young men, because ye have overcome the wicked one. I write unto you, little children, because ye have known the Father.
14 I have written unto you, fathers, because ye have known him [o] that is from the beginning. I write unto you, young men, because ye are strong, and the word of God abideth in you, and ye have overcome the wicked one.
15 Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him.
16 For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world.
17 And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that doeth the will of God abideth for ever.
18 Little children, it is the last time: and as ye have heard that antichrist shall come, even now are there many antichrists; whereby we know that it is the last time.
19 They went out from us, but they were not of us; for if they had been of us, they would no doubt have continued with us: but they went out, that they might be made manifest that they were not all of us.
20 But ye have an unction from the Holy One, and ye know all things.
21 I have not written unto you because ye know not the truth, but because ye know it, and that no lie is of the truth.
22 Who is a liar but he that denieth that Jesus is the Christ? He is antichrist, that denieth the Father and the Son.
23 Whosoever denieth the Son, the same hath not the Father: (but he that acknowledgeth the Son hath the Father also.)
24 Let that abide in you, which ye have heard from the beginning. If that which ye have heard from the beginning shall abide in you, ye shall also abide in [2] him and in the Father.
25 And this is the promise that he hath promised us, even eternal life.
26 These things have I written unto you concerning them that seduce you.
27 But the anointing which ye have received of him abideth in you, and ye need not that any man teach you: but as the same anointing [h] teacheth you of all things, and is truth, and is no lie, and even as it hath taught you, ye shall abide in [2] him.
28 And now, little children, abide in him; that, when he shall appear, we may have confidence, and not be ashamed before him at his coming.
29 If [i] ye know that he is righteous, [3] ye know that every one that doeth righteousness is born of him.

the kings of Ĭs'ra-el, as did the house of Ā'hăb; for the[1] daughter of Ā'hăb was his wife: and he did evil in the sight of the LORD.
19 Yet[2] the LORD would not destroy Jū'dah, for Dā'vid his servant's sake, as he promised[3] him to give him alway a light,[a] and to his children.
20 In his days Ē'dom [4]revolted from under the hand of Jū'dah, and made a king[5] over themselves.
21 So Jō'ram went over to Zā'ir, and all the chariots with him: and he rose by night, and smote the Ē'domītes which compassed him about, and the captains of the chariots: and the people fled into their tents.
22 Yet Ē'dom revolted from under the hand of Jū'dah unto this day. Then Lĭb'nah[6] revolted at the same time.
23 And the rest of the acts of Jō'ram, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Jū'dah?
24 And Jō'ram slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of Dā'vid: and Ā-ha-zī'ah[b] his[7] son reigned in his stead.
25 In the twelfth year of Jō'ram, the son of Ā'hăb king of Ĭs'ra-el, did Ā-ha-zī'ah, the son of Je-hō'ram king of Jū'dah, begin to reign.

2 And when thou comest thither, look out there Jē'hu, the son of Je-hŏsh'a-phăt, the son of Nĭm'shī, and go in, and make him arise up from among[12] his brethren, and carry him to an [g]inner chamber:
3 Then[13] take the box of oil,[14] and pour it on his head, and say, Thus saith the LORD, I have anointed thee king over Ĭs'ra-el. Then open the door, and flee, and tarry not.
4 So the young man, even the young man the prophet, went to Rā'moth-gĭl'e-ad.
5 And when he came, behold, the captains of the host were sitting: and he said, I have an errand to thee, O captain. And Jē'hu said, Unto which of all us? And he said, To thee, O captain.
6 And he arose, and went into the house; and he poured the oil on his head, and said unto him, Thus[15] saith the LORD God of Ĭs'ra-el, I[16]

THE LATEST SELF-PRONOUNCING TEACHERS' BIBLES.

Bagster's New Comprehensive Self-Pronouncing Teachers' Bibles.

Without doubt the system adopted for the BAGSTER SELF-PRONOUNCING BIBLES is the simplest form of diacritical marks yet devised. The Helps on these Bibles have been entirely rewritten and revised to date. They contain features not to be found in other editions.

The largest type in the smallest compass together with the most flexible binding of any corresponding Books in the market are some of the many reasons why the new BAGSTER'S SELF-PRONOUNCING BIBLES are

GENESIS, 42

B. C. 1707.

12 And he said unto them, Nay, but to see the nakedness of the land ye are come.
13 And they said, Thy servants are twelve brethren, the sons of one man in the land of Canaan; and, behold, the youngest is this day with our father, and one [i] is not.
14 And Joseph said unto them, That is it that I spake unto you, saying, Ye are spies:
15 Hereby ye shall be proved: [k] By the life of Pharaoh ye shall not go forth hence, except your youngest brother come hither.
16 Send one of you, and let him fetch your brother, and ye shall be [l] kept in prison, that your words may be proved, whether there be any truth in you: or else by the life of Pharaoh surely ye are spies.
17 And he [l] put them all together into ward three days.

from [h] Havilah until thou comest to [i] Shur, that is over against Egypt.
8 And [k] he took Agag the king of the Amalekites alive, and [l] utterly destroyed all the people with the edge of the sword.
9 But Saul and the people [m] spared Agag, and the best of the sheep, and of the oxen, and ‖ of the fatlings, and the lambs, and all that was good, and would not utterly destroy them: but every thing that was vile and refuse, that they destroyed utterly.

Woe unto the hypocrites. ST. MATTHEW 23 Signs of Christ's coming.

19 Ye fools and blind: for whether is greater, the gift, or [a] the altar that sanctifieth the gift?
20 Whoso therefore shall swear by the altar, sweareth by it, and by all things thereon.
21 And whoso shall swear by the temple, sweareth by it, and by [c] him that dwelleth therein.
22 And he that shall swear by heaven, sweareth by the throne of God, and by him that sitteth thereon.
23 Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye pay tithe of mint and [1] anise and cummin, and [f] have omitted the weightier matters of the law, judgment, mercy, and faith: these ought ye to have done, and not to leave the other gether, even as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings, and ye would not!
38 Behold, your house is left unto you desolate.
39 For I say unto you, Ye shall not see me henceforth, till ye shall say, [b] Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord.

he gave three hundred pieces of silver, and five changes of raiment.
23 And to his father he sent after this manner; ten asses [1] laden with the good things of Egypt, and ten she asses [1] laden with corn and bread and [2] meat for his father by the way.
24 So he sent his brethren away, and they departed: and he said unto them, See that ye fall not out by the way.
25 ¶ And they went up out of Egypt, and came into the land of Canaan unto Jacob their father,
26 And told him, saying, Joseph is yet alive, and he is governor over all the land of Egypt. And [6] Jacob's heart fainted, for he believed them not.
27 And they told him all the words of Joseph, which he had said unto them:

Zarah: but [a] Er and Onan died in the land of Canaan. And the sons of Pharez were Hezron and Hamul.
13 ¶ [b] And the sons of Issachar; Tola, and [2] Phuvah, and Job, and Shimron.
14 ¶ And the sons of Zebulun; Sered, and Elon, and Jahleel.
15 These be the sons of Leah, [d] which she bare unto Jacob in Padan-aram, with his daughter Dinah: all the souls of his sons and his daughters were thirty and three.

THE CAMBRIDGE BIBLES.

There are two great schools of learning to which have been entrusted by the British Crown the exclusive right to publish upon co-ordinate terms the King James and Revised Editions of the Holy Bible. These schools are the Universities of Cambridge and Oxford. Under their license to publish each University is held to the same high standard and quality of text, so that absolute accuracy is guaranteed. There but remains the mechanical features to be considered in the purchase of a Bible. "Cambridge" is a synonym for completely authorized, accurate text, equally a synonym for all that is richest and best in Bible manufacture. When buying a Bible, insist upon a "Cambridge." Then you are assured of the best.

Cambridge Reference Bibles.

In the new Cambridge Bibles the References have been Re-edited and Revised throughout, and in this Revision full use has been made of the Late Prebendary Scrivener's invaluable work on the References, which was first published in the Cambridge Paragraph Bible.

TEACHERS' BIBLES.

"Teachers' Helps that are Real Aids."

CAMBRIDGE EXPLANATORY DICTIONARY.

All Cambridge Teachers' Bibles contain the new EXPLANATORY BIBLE DICTIONARY, based on the Cambridge Companion to the Bible, the work of the most eminent scholars at the Cambridge University, the object of which is to provide Sunday-school teachers and other students with a concise book of reference to the Bible.

In the Cambridge Explanatory Bible Dictionary much useful matter has been compressed into a small space and the arrangement of helps in alphabetical form will be found most convenient for the purpose of ready reference.

THE REFERENCES IN THE CAMBRIDGE BIBLES

Have been re-edited and revised throughout and in this revision full use has been made of the late Prebendary Scrivener's invaluable work on the References which was first published in the Cambridge Paragraph Bible.

CAMBRIDGE INDIA PAPER.

For whiteness, opaqueness, thinness and toughness, the new Cambridge India Paper is generally declared by experts to be the equal of, if not superior to, any thin paper now used in Bibles.

Special attention is called to the beautiful series of Maps which have been specially drawn for the Cambridge Bibles and which give all that is required in convenient form.

food with him involved uncleanness, Jn. 18. 28; Ac. 10. 28; 11. 23. So long as a person was unclean he was cut off from the congregation. In ordinary cases of uncleanness it was sufficient to remain in seclusion till the evening and then to wash the body. In certain cases a sin offering was necessary. One of the results of the coming of Jesus Christ was the gradual abolition within the kingdom of God of all ceremonial uncleanness; Mk. 7. 15—23; Ac. 10. 9—16, 28; 15. 29; Ro. 14. 14, 17, 20; 1 Cor. 10. 25; 1 Tim. 4. 4; of the dead, have ye not read that which was spoken unto you by God, saying,

Christ confuteth the Sadducees. MATTHEW, 23. Scribes and Pharisees reproved.

32 I am the God of A′bra-ham, and the God of Ī′ṣaac, and the God of Jā′cob? God is not the God of the dead, but of the living.
33 And when the multitude heard this, they were astonished at his doctrine.
34 But when the Phăr′i-seeṣ had heard that he had put the Săd′du-çeeṣ to silence, they were gathered together.
35 Then one of them, which was a lawyer, asked him a question, tempting him, and saying,
36 Master, which is the great commandment in the law?
37 Jē′ṣus said unto him, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind.
38 This is the first and great commandment.
39 And the second is like unto it,[1]
Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself.
40 On these two commandments
hang all the law and the prophets.
41 While the Phăr′i-seeṣ were gathered together, Jē′ṣus asked them, 42 Saying, What think ye of Chrīst? whose son is he? They say unto him, The son of Dā′vid.
43 He saith unto them, How then doth Dā′vid in spirit call [2]him Lord,
saying,
44 The LORD said unto my Lord, Sit thou on my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footstool?
45 If Dā′vid then call him Lord,
how is he his son?
46 And no man was able to answer him a word; neither durst any man, from that day forth, ask him any more questions.

BAGSTER'S RED LETTER NARROW TESTAMENT

Specimen Page

LUKE, VIII.

12 Those by the way side are they that hear; then cometh the devil, and taketh away the word out of their hearts, lest they should believe and be saved.

13 They on the rock are they, which, when they hear, receive the word with joy; and these have no root, which for a while believe, and in time of temptation fall away.

14 And that which fell among thorns are they, which, when they have heard, go forth, and are choked with cares and riches and pleasures of this life, and bring no fruit to perfection.

15 But that on the good ground are they, which, in an honest and good heart, having heard the word, keep it, and bring forth fruit with patience.

16 No man, when he hath lighted a candle, covereth it with a vessel, or putteth it under a bed; but setteth it on a candlestick, that they which enter in may see the light.

17 For nothing is secret that shall not be made manifest; neither any thing hid that shall not be known and come abroad.

18 Take heed therefore how ye hear: for whosoever hath, to him shall be given; and whosoever hath not, from him shall be taken even that which he seemeth to have.

19 Then came to him his mother and his brethren, and could not come at him for the press.

20 And it was told him by certain, which said, Thy mother and thy brethren stand without, desiring to see thee.

21 And he answered and said unto them, My mother and my brethren are these which hear the word of God, and do it.

22 Now it came to pass on a certain day, that he went into a ship with his disciples: and he said unto them, Let us go over unto the other side of the lake. And they launched forth.

23 But as they sailed, he fell asleep: and there came down a storm of wind on the lake; and they were filled with water, and were in jeopardy.

24 And they came to him, and awoke him, saying, Master, master, we perish. Then he arose, and rebuked the wind and the raging of the water; and they ceased, and there was a calm.

ILLUSTRATED TESTAMENT

MAGNIFICENTLY illustrated with pictures produced in colors. These illustrations interpret and make clear the grand teachings of the Scriptures.

For description of bindings and prices see pages 6 and 40 of this catalogue.

BAGSTER'S RED LETTER NARROW TESTAMENT

The Words of Our Lord Printed in Red

ALL the New Testament story, its wonderful teachings centre around the words of Christ. These words printed in red are easily seen, and in this way favorite passages can readily be referred to. The alignment of the Red and Black is absolutely perfect, a feature very important in a Red Letter Testament.

In point of compactness combined with clear type this book is par-excellence.

For description of bindings and prices see page 40 of this catalogue.

BAGSTER'S LONG PRIMER SELF-PRONOUNCING RED LETTER ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

For Specimen of Type see other side

THE Bagster's Red Letter Bible is the best for Bible Students and Teachers, owing to the emphasis it gives to Christ's own words, the facility it affords to find favorite passages and the Helps to Bible Study. The Bible Helps are the Helps and Concordance and illustrations used in all Teachers' editions of the Bagster Bible.

For description of bindings and prices see page 19 of this catalogue.

MORNING PRAYER. 7

¶ Then likewise he shall say,

O Lord, open thou our lips.

Answer. And our mouth shall show forth thy praise.

¶ Here, all standing up, the Minister shall say,

Glory be to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Ghost;

Answer. As it was in the beginning, is now, nd ever shall be, world without end. Amen.

Minister. Praise ye the Lord.

Answer. The Lord's Name be praised.

¶ Then shall be said or sung the following Anthem; except on those days for which other Anthems are appointed; and except also, when it is used in the course of the Psalms, on the nineteenth day of the month.

Venite, exultemus Domino.

O COME, let us sing unto the LORD : let us heartily rejoice in the strength of our salvation.

Let us come before his presence with thanksgiving : and show ourselves glad in him with psalms.

For the LORD is a great God : and a great King above all gods.

In his hand are all the corners of the earth : and the strength of the hills is his also.

The sea is his, and he made it : and his hands prepared the dry land.

O come, let us worship and fall down : and kneel before the LORD our Maker.

For he is the Lord our God : and we are the people of his pasture, and the sheep of his hand.

O worship the LORD in the beauty of holiness : let the whole earth stand in awe of him.

The Collect.

O GOD, who hast prepared for those who love thee such good things as pass man's understanding; Pour into our hearts such love toward thee, that we, loving thee above all things, may obtain thy promises, which exceed all that we can desire; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

The Epistle. Rom. vi. 3.

16 DAILY PRAYER—EVENING.

19 8.4.8.4.8.8.4.

GOD, that madest earth and heaven,
Darkness and light;
Who the day for toil hast given,
For rest the night:
May Thine angel-guards defend us,
Slumber sweet Thy mercy send us,
Holy dreams and hopes attend us,
This livelong night.

2 Guard us waking, guard us sleeping,
And, when we die,
May we in Thy mighty keeping,
All peaceful lie:
When the last dread call shall wake us,
Do not Thou, our God, forsake us,
But to reign in glory take us
With Thee on high.

20 C. M.

NOW from the altar of our hearts
Let flames of love arise;
Assist us, Lord, to offer up
Our evening sacrifice.

Imperial 32mo Hymnal. Size of page 3¼ x 5⅝.

102 THE CHRISTIAN YEAR—EASTERTIDE.

124 8.7.

SING, with all the sons of glory,
Sing the resurrection-song!
Death and sorrow, earth's dark story,
To the "former days" belong.
Even now the dawn is breaking,
Soon the night of time shall cease,
And, in God's own likeness waking,
Man shall know eternal peace.

2 Oh, what glory, far exceeding
All that eye has yet perceived:
Holiest hearts, for ages pleading,

DAILY PRAYER—EVENING. 15

5 When in the night I sleepless lie,
My soul with heavenly thoughts supply;
Let no ill dreams disturb my rest,
No powers of darkness me molest.

6 Oh, when shall I, in endless day,
Forever chase dark sleep away,
And hymns divine with angels sing,
All praise to Thee, eternal King?

7 Praise God, from Whom all blessings flow;
Praise Him, all creatures here below;
Praise Him above, angelic host:
Praise Father, Son, and Holy Ghost.

Pica 12mo Hymnal. Size of page 7¾ x 4¾.

ARNOLD, SAMUEL GREENE

History of the State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, 1636-1790. New edition, 2 vols., octavo, 574 and 600 pp. Price, $7.50 net.

Governor Arnold's History of Rhode Island, based upon a careful study of documents in the British State Paper Office and in the Rhode Island State Archives, supplemented by investigations at Paris and the Hague, has from its publication been the authoritive history of the State.

Genealogical students will find in these volumes the names of fifteen hundred persons prominent in Rhode Island affairs. This work is of much more than local interest, as the experiment of religious liberty here tried, gives to this history an importance far beyond the narrow limits of the State.

"One of the best State histories ever written is S. G. Arnold's History of the State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations." JOHN FISKE.

"The best history of Rhode Island is that of Arnold."
PROF. GEORGE P. FISHER, Yale University.

"A work prepared after long and careful research. Probably no student has ever made himself more familiar with the history of Rhode Island than did Arnold. This work abounds, therefore, in valuable information."
PRES. CHARLES KENDALL ADAMS, Cornell University.

BAILEY, W. WHITMAN
(Professor of Botany, Brown University)

Among Rhode Island Wild Flowers. Cloth, 16 mo. three plates, 75c. net.

The favorite collecting grounds are fully described, thus forming a botanical guide to Rhode Island.

In writing this volume Professor Bailey has had in mind the needs of the nature lover, and has discarded technical terms as far as possible, adapting the work to the amateur as well as the botanist.

New England Wild Flowers and their Season. Cloth, 16 mo. 75 cents net.

The characteristics of the conspicuous and dominent flowers of the months are sketched in broad lines, rendering identification easy.

The flowers of the White and Green Mountains—our alpine flora—receive separate treatment, as do also the flowers of the seashore—our coast flora.

Botanizing. A guide to field collecting and herbarium work. Cloth, 12 mo., illustrated. Price, 75 cents.

"This is an honest and successful attempt to attract amateurs to the delightful study of plants in the forests, fields and waters. The endeavor is made to show the casual as well as the expert collector that, by the employment of a few simple appliances and by the exercise of a certain amount of patience, it is possible to accumulate at small cost, a wealth of material for fascinating investigation during the winter months."—The Nation.

FIELD, EDWARD

(Past President of the Rhode Island Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, and Member of the Providence Record Commission.

Revolutionary Defenses in Rhode Island. An historical account of the fortifications and beacons erected during the American Revolution, with muster rolls of companies stationed along the shores of Narragansett Bay, with maps, plans and illustrations. Cloth, octavo. Price, $2.25 net.

Muster rolls and company lists, containing the names of more than seven hundred officers and enlisted men, many of which have hitherto been inaccessible, are here printed. The work is profusely illustrated with plans and views of old earthworks, together with illustrations of the various styles of equipments used by the patriots of '76, and fac-similes of the enlistment papers of the Continental Army.

The Colonial Tavern. A glimpse of New England Town Life in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries. Cloth, octavo, 292 pages. Price, $2.00 net.

Tax List of the Town of Providence During the Administratinn of Sir Edward Andros and His Council, 1686-1689. 60 pp., cloth, octavo. Price, $1.00 net. The edition is limited to TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY numbered copies.

Among the rate bills in the list of polls for 1688, which contains the names of all males sixteen years of age and upwards living in Providence in August of that year; practically a census of the town. For the genealogist and historian this volume contains material of the greatest value on account of the great number of names which these lists contain, besides showing the amount of the tax assessment in each case.

The returns of ratable property form a study by themselves, for they tell in the quaint language of the colonist what they possess, and therefore shed much light on the conditions of the times. For a study of this episode in New England Colonial History this work is invaluable.

Esek Hopkins: Commander-in-Chief of the Continental Navy 1775 to 1778; Master Mariner; Politician; Brigadier General; Naval Officer and Philanthrophist. Cloth, 8vo., illustrated with fifteen plates and a map. Price, $3.00 net. Edition, three hundred copies.

The story of the life of Capt. Esek Hopkins, the first commander of the American Navy, has never before been told. Mr. Field has used Hopkins' own papers and records kept during his connection with the navy, extracts from ships' logs, and records in the Department of State at Washington. The work treats of the origin of the American navy and its first expeditions, discloses the reasons which operated against the success of Hopkins as a naval commander, and exposes the plot which resulted in his removal from the command of the navy.

"An interesting little study in archæology."—London Spectator.

ISHAM, NORMAN M. and BROWN, ALBERT F.

Early Connecticut Houses. A historical and architectural study. Cloth, square octavo, with map, 7 plates and 115 illustrations. Price, $5.00 net.

"There is a completeness of record, a successful attempt to tell the whole story as far as it is important it should be told, upon which it is hard to comment in terms too favorable. Each house is presented in a small, carefully made drawing, mainly in outline, without the slightest attempt at artistic effect; and the more artistic on that account, as revealing the work of architectural art without the interference of the draughtman's fancies. It is clear that these little drawings (stated to have been made with the aid of photographs) and the plans and explanatory sections are as trustworthy as it is possible to make drawings of the kind."—The Nation.

The Works of Henry George

New Library Edition of the Complete Works of Henry George, and Life of Henry George by Henry George, Jr.

Recently published in ten volumes, handsomely bound in buckram, gilt tops, trimmed or untrimmed edges, etc. It contains a full set of portraits, and is in all respects equal to the well-known Memorial Edition, issued in 1898, which sold for $25.00 per set, but is now out of print.

DESCRIPTION OF THE VOLUMES

Volume I Progress and Poverty

This "inquiry into the cause of industrial depressions and of increase of want with increase of wealth" with "the remedy," was Henry George's first book, appearing originally in 1879. It made its author world famous, and was translated into most of the important languages. It has had a greater effect upon the teaching of political economy than any other work since Adam Smith's "Wealth of Nations."

Volume II Social Problems

This book, first published in 1883, is a presentation of the "momentous social problems of our time," unencumbered with technicalities, and without that abstract reasoning which some of the principles of political economy require for thorough explanation. It covers ground not touched upon, or only lightly touched upon, in "Progress and Poverty." Its subjects include functions of government, railroads, unemployed labor, immigration, public debts, indirect taxation, and the American farmer. This is essentially a popular book.

Volume III The Land Question

This volume contains three short works: (1) A brochure of seventeen short chapters entitled "The Land Question"; (2) "Property in Land," a passage-at-arms with the Duke of Argyle; (3) "The Condition of Labor," an open letter to Pope Leo XIII in reply to the Pope's encyclical letter on "the condition of labor." This open letter is generally regarded as among the most beautiful and lofty of the author's writings, and is believed to be his best brief presentation of the ethical view of the single tax doctrine.

Volume IV Protection or Free Trade

"An examination of the tariff question, with especial regard to the interests of labor." It was first published in 1886, and within eight years almost two million copies had been printed—a total never equalled by any other economic work save the incomparable "Progress and Poverty."

Volume V A Perplexed Philosopher

First appeared in 1892. A searching analysis of Herbert Spencer's various utterances on the land question, it takes a high place in controversial literature.

Volumes VI and VII The Science of Political Economy

The great book on which the author was at work when he died. Published as he left it, with a few explanatory notes. It recasts the science of political economy in conformity with natural order, and although important parts remain unwritten, especially those relating to the distribution of wealth, the main essentials of this majestic work are presented with beauty, simplicity and power. As an addition to Vol. VII. appears the celebrated lecture entitled "Moses," which was written and delivered in San Francisco in 1878, while the author was writing "Progress and Poverty."

Volume VIII Our Land and Land Policy

This volume contains the pamphlet which, first published in 1871, was the precursor of "Progress and Poverty." It was to the latter book what the acorn is to the oak. The volume also contains selected miscellaneous writings, speeches and lectures. Among the latter are included: "Thy Kingdom Come," "The American Republic, Its Dangers and Possibilities," "The Crime of Poverty," etc.

Volumes IX and X The Life of Henry George

This book, written by his elder son, Henry George, Jr., and accompanied by sixteen illustrations and portraits and a reduced fac-simile of a page of the manuscript of "Progress and Poverty," is a frank, dignified, intimate view of Henry George—the view of his associates. It presents Henry George, the man, and traces with his life story the development of his thought, and his career as a writer and speaker.

TERMS OF PURCHASE

This handsome set of books, of uniform size, and boxed, will be delivered free of all further cost to any address in the United States, Canada or Mexico (and to foreign countries at the bare additional expense of foreign expressage), for $17.50 in installments, payments to be made $2.00 on delivery, and $2.00 thereafter monthly until the set is paid for. WHAT TOM L. JOHNSON SAYS OF THIS EDITION

Gentlemen:—I wish to congratulate you on bringing out a new library edition of the Works of Henry George. The day is not far distant when the professional or business man who does not understand the philosophy of Henry George will stand discredited in any intelligent community. A knowledge of this philosophy will broaden and strengthen any man, morally and intellectually; will make him a more public spirited citizen, and better equip him for the activities of business and professional life. It will give him a clearer comprehension of his duties to his fellow man, to the State and to the Great Ruler of the Universe; lifting him immeasurably above the plane of vanity, sordidness and selfishness which now seems to be the chief end of man. I hope and believe that your enterprise will be a success beyond your most sanguine expectations.

Very truly yours,

TOM L. JOHNSON.

Addresses at the Funeral of Henry George

With an introduction by Henry George, Jr. Edited by Edmund Yardley. The addresses at the funeral services of Henry George, in New York, October 31, 1897, delivered by Rev. Dr. R. Heber Newton, Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott, Rev. Dr. Gustav Gottheil, Rev. Dr. Edward McGlynn, and John Sherwin Crosby. These addresses are an impressive tribute to George and his work, and the volume is an interesting memorial of his famous funeral. 16mo, about 90 pages, cloth, 50 cents; by mail, 53 cents. Paper, 25 cents, postpaid.

The Books of Ernest Crosby

Plain Talk in Psalm and Parable

A collection of chants in the cause of justice and brotherhood. 12mo, cloth, 188 pages, $1.50; by mail, $1.62. Paper, 40 cents; by mail, 44 cents.

"Plain Talk in Psalm and Parable" is one of the significant books of the times—a suggestive and inspiring utterance. These prophetic chants are a noble protest against the wrongs and failures of civilization.—Edwin Markham.

Do not fail to get and read "Plain Talk in Psalm and Parable." It is a fine, true, high, noble, unselfish work. It will do you good, no matter what you believe. There is a profit in its reading you cannot afford to miss.—New York Journal.

Captain Jinks, Hero

A keen satire on our recent wars in which the parallel between savagery and soldiery is unerringly drawn. Profusely illustrated by Dan Beard. 12mo, cloth, 400 pages. $1.50, postpaid.

There is not a dull page in the book.—South African News, Capetown.

The author has added to our literature a notable work of satire, which, whether right or wrong, must appeal to all endowed with the national sense of humor.—New York Mail and Express.

The Books of Ernest Crosby—Continued

Swords and Plowshares

A collection of poems filled with the hatred of war and the love of nature. 12mo, cloth, 126 pages, $1.20; by mail, $1.29. Not sold by us in Great Britain.

By far the most striking apparition among the poetical productions of the American book market of recent months is Ernest Crosby's "Swords and Ploughshares." ... It is a noteworthy book.—New York Staats-Zeitung.

A stirring, remarkable book of verse.—St. Louis Mirror.

Tolstoy and His Message

16mo, cloth, 93 pages, 50 cents; by mail, 54 cents. Not sold by us in Great Britain.

A concise and sympathetic account of the life, character and philosophy of the Great Russian.—New York Press.

A genuinely illuminative interpretation of the great philosopher's being and purpose.—Philadelphia Item.

Tolstoy as a Schoolmaster

An essay on education and punishment, with Tolstoy's curious experiments in teaching as a text. 16mo, cloth, 94 pages, 50 cents; by mail, 53 cents.

This little book is written in Mr. Crosby's best vein. It is illuminated with his own fine comments on that about which he writes, and we laid it down wishing there had been as much again of it. ... We commend "Tolstoy as a Schoolmaster" to the young and progressive teachers of the nation.—Advocate of Peace, Boston.

Garrison the Non-Resistant

An account of the career of William Lloyd Garrison, with a lively discussion of the propriety of overcoming slavery by war, the promotion of reform by peaceful methods, and the results of the Civil War in the South and in the North. Mr. Crosby has written nothing more profound and spirited. 16mo, cloth, about 100 pages, with photogravure portrait, 50 cents; by mail, 54 cents.

Broad-Cast

New chants and songs of labor, life and freedom. This latest volume of poems by the author of "Plain Talk in Psalm and Parable" and "Swords and Ploughshares," conveys the same message delivered with equal power. 12mo, cloth, 128 pages, 50 cents; by mail, 54 cents.

There is a good deal of thought, force and descriptive power in the book.—London Times.

Edward Carpenter, Poet and Prophet

12mo, paper, 64 pages, with portrait of Carpenter on cover, 20 cents, postpaid.

A beautiful pamphlet telling in a beautiful way the story of the beautiful life of this poet sandal-maker of England. This man, standing somewhere between Walt Whitman and John Ruskin, partakes of the sweetness and strength of both, and is to be better known.—Unity, Chicago.

The Books of Bolton Hall

Free America

Short chapters showing how liberty brings prosperity. With illustrations by Dan Beard. Shows from familiar sources, in an interesting and amusing way, the evils from which we suffer as individuals and as a society, the causes for them, and their cure—which is liberty. It considers the proposed remedies, and without condemning any of them or inviting antagonism, shows how much may be expected from them, and how present conditions may be turned to our individual advantage. 16mo, cloth, 219 pages, 75 cents, postpaid. Paper, 25 cents, postpaid.

Mr. Hall has had his book printed in cheap form in the hope that thus he may reach the stupid millions who never profit by injustice. And surely these millions would find much to help them in what he has to say. In a simple and direct way, without passion, almost without argument, he tells the story of how the masses work without getting, while the few get without working. He dedicates his little book "To those who are poor and wish to become rich; or who are rich and wish to become richer." Some of the chapters deal with "The Promise of the Century," "Our Present Drift," "Our Production," "Who Gets the Wealth You Produce?" "Monopolized America," "Trusts, Good and Bad," "Railroads and Franchise Monopolies," "How It Hurts You," "Trades Unions and Their Remedies," "Political Corruption," "How the Farmers Can Become Prosperous," "Your Own Success," and "The Hope of Future Progress." In the collection of statistics alone and in their orderly and intelligent presentation the book is invaluable. In a brief compass and without a single suggestion of overloading, it gives hundreds of salient tables from the census and other treasuries of figures; and it presents them to the reader in a way that he can grasp and with a clearness that illuminates the lessons it seeks to convey. Mr. Hall has done a real service to the people in writing this little book. It ought to be in the hands of sincere people everywhere. He has not made a class appeal. He appeals merely to justice and against privilege. And he shows that at the root of the social evils that dominate free America to-day lies the strange growth which the founders of the republic thought they had extirpated when they abolished kings and nobles and established all men in equality before the law.—Johnstown Democrat.

"Free America" is not a treatise which only the learned can understand: it is designed for popular reading. First giving facts regarding the concentration of wealth and privilege in this country, he shows how the concentration was brought about and how it hurts all classes of the people. His style is simple, clear and convincing. He tries to avoid what is commonly called theorizing, and deals with figures from government reports. The so-called "practical" people are therefore met on their own ground, and the result is a book which it is impossible to set aside with a sneer as "impracticable." While he disclaims any intention of advocating remedies and panaceas, it is plain that Mr. Hall is not a state socialist, but is rather bent on restricting the government in many of its activities so that the people may be left in greater individual freedom. —The Detroit Tribune.

Even as You and I

This is a presentation, by means of popular and simple allegories, of the doctrine of Henry George and the principle which underlies it. A part of the volume is an account of Tolstoy's philosophy, drawn largely from the Russian's difficult work, "Of Life." This section is called "True Life," and follows a series of thirty-three clever parables. Count Tolstoy wrote to Mr. Hall: "I have received your book, and have read it. I think it is very good, and renders in a concise form quite truly the chief ideas of my book." 16mo, cloth, ornamental, gilt top, 50 cents; by mail, 54 cents.

A series of what might be called economic and sociologic parables. Some important facts are forced on the attention. One such fact confirmed by them is that, with the best intentions, many men and women who are trying to lighten the sum total of human miseries are not working in the right way, nor the way to bring solutions. The book is suggestive and will set many readers thinking.—The Outlook.

The earnest outpourings of a soul devoted to humanity, fiercely and uncompromisingly ready to place the blame for evil where it belongs, and as stoutly determined to stand up for an immediate and radical remedy.—Justice, Philadelphia.

If it is once read, it will be read all over the land. Out of some such book the beginnings of revolution may grow.—Book News (Wanamaker), Philadelphia.

Readers who fear the bare bones of the moralist will here find moralism habited in taste and grace. Touch even preaching with imagination and that which was lifeless is vital with suggestion. Bolton Hall has this faculty. The lesson of his long heroic absorption of the philosophy to be immortally associated with Henry George comes fitly from the life of a teacher who has realized the potentiality of art. No argumentative interpretation could do for "Progress and Poverty" what is done for it in this series of pictures.—The Conservator.

Things as They Are

The chapters which comprise the first part of this volume are designed to show, in a logical manner, the purpose and the order of the development of man. The parables were written to illustrate the principles shown in these chapters. There is an introduction by George D. Herron. "Even as You and I" and "Things as They Are" supplement each other, and each book has its special point and usefulness. Mr. Hall is a master of the fable, which in his hands is concise, witty, balanced, and always pointed and happy. 16mo, cloth, ornamental, gilt top, 75 cents; by mail, 80 cents.

A terse and effective little book, with some bit of hard truth cleverly aimed at almost every sort of man, woman and child. . . . Useful to keep on hand as ammunition for occasional use.—The Living Age.

We quite agree with Mr. Herron when he says in his introduction that the spiritual philosophy of the kingdom of heaven is profoundly and simply presented in "Things as They Are."—Christian Work.

A better book for the Sunday-school library and for the minister's study we do not know.—Johnstown Democrat.

A vigorous book inspired by a searching but far from bitter philosophy. . . . No more really gentle savage than he ever wielded a scalping-knife—Boston Transcript.

The Game of Life

A new volume of 111 fables. Most of them have been published from time to time in Life, Collier's, The Outlook, The Century, The Independent, The Ram's Horn, The Pilgrim, The Christian Endeavor World, The Rubric, The New Voice, The Philistine, and other papers and magazines. 16mo, cloth, ornamental, $1.00, postpaid.

It is a book to have and not to borrow, a book to pick up at odd times and not to read through at a sitting. The parables vary in length from three lines to three pages, and two or three at a time are about enough for a day's digestion—especially if they happen to hit one's self as well as one's neighbor. Each of them has a point, and often a sharp one. There is hardly a situation in the modern game of life which fails to get pricked more or less deeply. But while most of them are sharp and somewhat bitterish, now and then one appears which shows that the author can, when he wills to do so, deal tenderly with a subject. "Love is of God," for example, is a beautiful little piece, and "The Last Lesson" is a perfect gem of its kind.—J. H. Dillard, in The Public.

The subjects cover a wide range of thought, and the points are all well taken. Among the brightest of these are Labor and Capital, which is represented by a Picked Chicken and a Rat; Thinking Backwards; the Fruits of Unearned Wealth; How Great the Survival of the Fiercest; and the Advance of Slaveilization. The fables bear many readings. They are truly bright.—The Bookseller, Newsdealer and Stationer.

The parables, for the most part, are delicious morsels of satire exposing the absurdities of the arguments of the defenders of the divine right to live on the labor of others. . . . The book will well repay a careful reading—and then another.—What's the Use.

It is good satire. Written in the parable or fable form, the subject matter offers more enjoyment than it would in any other shape. The delicate wit with which the author touches every situation appeals first subtly, then powerfully to one; for Mr. Hall never falls far short of the truth, especially when he deals with political and economic matters.—Chicago Herald.

The satirical element in Mr. Hall's writing is not of the cruel or spiteful type, but of that more genial variety which, though cutting deeply, cuts with a good motive. This author is a justice-loving man to whom the sight of injustice in high places is intolerable, and as he believes that trenchant criticism of existing errors is a means of striking them a deathblow, he wields his facile pen as though it were a sword and he strikes to slay the adversary.—W. J. Colville, in The Banner of Light.

Monkey Shines

Stories for very little children, with an introduction by Bishop Huntington, and with thirty illustrations in color by Leon Foster Jones. These are parables, so simple that Mr. Hall says he has ceased caring to write any others because he sees that we are all only little children talking, with the divine wisdom of children, to one another. Since Miss Edgeworth's "Parents' Assistant" little has been done in trying to teach children common things by stories. These tales of the new school show the beauty of good manners and of gentleness, and the joy of confidence and of truth and of generosity. There are no "morals" except such as the children find. The children like to hear them and the grown-ups like to read them, so they must have some good in them. Square 8vo, paper boards, $1.00, postpaid.

The Books of Louis F. Post

Ethics of Democracy

A Series of Optimistic Essays on the Natural Laws of Human Society. This book is instructive without heaviness, and interesting without frivolity. It appeals with peculiar force to the devoted clergyman who shrinks from the growing pressure of commercialism and materialism. It brings relief to the business man who has a soul above dollars, yet feels the necessity for struggling and straining for dollars. It is a guide to the baffled citizen who recoils from socialism, yet sees no other escape from something worse. It invites and will hold the attention of any intelligent man or woman who is disposed to reflect upon social, industrial and political conditions. The author has applied fundamental democratic principles (generic, not partisan) to the greater problems that confront men as the false optimism of youth fades away before the disappointments of mature life. He holds aloft the standards and recalls the objectives of a rational democracy, a sane optimism, and individual responsibility. He leads his reader onward and upward, through appeals to reason and the moral sense, toward a realization of that great and beneficent order in the universe which neither individuals nor communities can ignore with impunity. The book subjects popular materialism to new tests, it gives to idealism a modern and popular setting. Second edition, with portrait of the author, 12mo, bound in rich blue cloth, printed on high-grade hand-made paper, gilt top, deckle edges, 398 pages, $2.00; by mail, $2.12.

"The Ethics of Democracy" is a book that will live. It is bound to have a commanding influence upon the economic thought of this and future times, and should be in the hands of every American willing to be convinced that there can be such a thing as an honest political system. —Buffalo Courier.

It may be said at the outset that Mr. Post is a democratic Democrat, one who really believes that the declaration of independence meant what it said in declaring that all men are born free and equal in respect to their natural political rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, and that Thomas Jefferson was equally sincere in holding that the ideals of the republic were summed up in the literal interpretation of the statement, "Equal rights to all, special privileges to none." More than this, it is a discussion of the civilization of today in the light of those historical declarations, written by a man who has not permitted any person or periodical to do his thinking for him, and is vastly more democratic than the Democratic party and more republican than the Republican party. In other words it is the sort of book that all Americans should be familiar with, if the republic is to go on with its triumphant progress as the only government ever founded by man with a deliberate declaration of ideals concerning mankind, which, if sedulously and jealously adhered to, will enable it to escape the fate of other nations lacking these aspirations and counsels of perfection, and will otherwise plunge down into the dark.—Chicago Daily News.

Mr. Post is a strong and fearless thinker, with a remarkable gift of exposition, and the radical system of democratic ethics which he outlines is fairly self-consistent.—The Dial, Chicago.

You have done a great work, one that will live a monument to a man with a great moral purpose and the ability to put it into plain, simple words within the comprehension of the everyday man. The greatest accomplishment in the work is that you have made complicated problems simple and easy to understand. Your book was a surprise to me in many ways. You have always referred to it so slightingly, depreciating your efforts. The first two chapters staggered me a little and I was afraid it was going to be metaphysical, but beginning with the chapter on "The College Graduate" to the end of the book every line seemed to make of me a better and wiser man. If I have a preference for any one of the chapters over all the others it is the one on "Justice and Sacrifice," although the chapters on "Trust Evolution" and "The Trust and Socialism" are the ones most needed to-day.

Villa Di Quarto, Firenze, Jan 7, '04.
Dear Mr. Post:

I thank you very much for the book, which I prize for its lucidity, its sanity and its moderation, and because I believe its gospel.

Very truly yours,
S. L. CLEMENS. (Mark Twain.)

New York City, 5th January, 1904.
Dear Mr. Post:

I have read your "Ethics of Democracy," and I write in the first place to thank you for the work, for its truth and for the elevation and nobility of its ideals. And I wish further to congratulate you upon the clearness and interest with which those ideals are presented. It will be a sad thing, indeed, if the public and organized life of our country shall not, on the whole, be inspired with efficient loyalty to the interests of the masses of men and the rigorous sense of justice which you have put before us so ably.

Faithfully yours,
EDWARD M. SHEPARD.

The Prophet of San Francisco

A Sketch of Henry George's Life. This interesting monograph was a labor of love by Mr. Post. In it he makes a lucid explanation of the Single Tax philosophy as expounded by Henry George. The sketch was especially prepared for, and originally read in, a members' program of the Chicago Literary Club, one of the oldest and most conservative social organizations of Chicago. Prepared for such a body, "The Prophet of San Francisco" is an excellent piece of propaganda literature. It is especially valuable for dispelling prejudice and stimulating inquiry among the thoughtful of conservative habits. Not only, therefore, is it effective in promoting interest in George's personal ty, but it is well calculated to impress upon the most cautious reader the essential soundness of George's doctrines. 16mo, bound in cartridge paper, 60 pages, 20 cents, postpaid. Ten copies, $1.00, postpaid.

The Single Tax

An Explanation, with Colored Charts and Illustrative Notes, of the Land, Labor, and Fiscal Reform advocated by Henry George. 12mo, paper cover, 102 pages, 25 cents, postpaid.

Ethical Principles of Marriage and Divorce

A rational discussion of marriage as a natural relationship, and of the uses of marriage ceremonials or contracts and the legitimacy and proper effect of their abrogation by divorce. The subjects considered include plural marriage, which is subjected to the test of natural ethics and condemned; and marriage after divorce, which is by the same test approved. The book concludes with an argument neither ecclesiastical nor conventional but upon rational principle, for the exalted character and natural sanctity of monogamous marriage. Contents: Introduction; Ch. I. Marriage; Ch. II. Eternality of Marriage; Ch. III. Polygamy, Polyandry and "free love"; Ch. IV. Successive Marriages; Ch. V. Marriage Ceremonials; Ch. VI. Divorce; Ch. VII. Marriage After Divorce, and Ch. VIII. The Sanctity of Marriage. These chapters, now revised for book publication, were originally published in THE PUBLIC as serial essays. 12mo, cloth, 100 pages, $1.00; by mail, $1.10.

Public Library, St. Louis, Dec. 13, 1904.
Dear Mr. Post:

Each week, upon reading the successive numbers of your discussion of marriage, I intended to write asking if it would be republished in any form, else it was my intention to save the numbers. However, I did not do so; and I trust that the series will appear in book form. It is, I think, the most sensible discussion of the subject that I have seen. It goes to the very foundations and presents the whole matter with irrefutable logic. I hope it will be put into such form that it can obtain a wide circulation.

Sincerely yours,
F. M. CRUNDEN,
Librarian.

Bound Volumes of THE PUBLIC

Louis F. Post, Editor. A Journal of Fundamental Democracy and a Weekly Narrative of History in the Making. Published in Chicago every Saturday.

These volumes furnish a complete, interesting and non-partisan history of the world, told in the making, from 1898 to 1905. Each subject is so treated as to make a continuous narrative, from its historical beginnings to the latest date, and every volume is well indexed. Some of the important subjects are noted in the list of volumes.

Volume I, from April, 1898, to April, 1899. (Out of print.)
The Spanish-American War, complete, including the beginning of the American War in the Philippines.

The issues forming Volume I are no longer in stock. Occasionally sets of them have been obtained by diligent advertising, and $10.00 each have been paid for sets so obtained.

Volume II, from April 1899, to April, 1900, $2.00.
The American War in the Philippines; the beginning of the British-Boer War in South Africa.

Volume III, from April, 1900, to April, 1901, $2.00.
The American War in the Philippines; the British War in South Africa; the "Boxer" War in China; the McKinley-Bryan presidential election.

Volume IV, from April, 1901, to April, 1902, $2.00.
The British War in South Africa; the assassination of President McKinley.

Volume V, from April, 1902, to April, 1903, $3.00.
The British War in South Africa; Tom L. Johnson's gubernatorial campaign in Ohio.

Volume VI, from April, 1903, to April, 1904, $3.00.
The Russian-Japanese War.

Volume VII, from April, 1904, to April, 1905, $3.00.
The Roosevelt-Parker presidential election; the Russian-Japanese War.

Each volume contains 832 pages, 8x11 inches, with index. Uniformly and excellently bound in half roan, with gold vein paper sides. Any volume delivered prepaid to any part of the United States, Canada, or Mexico, for 50 cents extra.

In addition to the more spectacular occurrences mentioned, these volumes contain similarly arranged historical narratives of all the important civic, religious and educational movements and events of the period; and of the progress of the municipal ownership idea, of the initiative and referendum, and of general improvements in municipal government, including the reforms represented by Mayor Johnson of Cleveland, Mayor Dunne of Chicago, and other municipal leaders.

The fact that all these narratives were written from week to week, as the events were reported in the daily newspapers, gives them peculiar value. They constitute a compendium of the daily newspapers on all important subjects for seven years, written in an excellent narrative style and vital with the interest of the time.

Accompanying the historical narratives are searching and fearless editorial discussions, inspired by the events as they occurred, and written in the spirit of that clause of the Declaration of Independence which declares that "all men are created equal."

Striking and instructive selections from contemporaneous publications,

Bound Volumes of THE PUBLIC—Con

candid reviews of really important books, and timely cartoons by J. W. Bengough, give added interest to these chronicles of a remarkable era. The volumes will interest any reader, will add to the value of any library, and will be found invaluable by any student of the history and politics of the past decade.

It is a fortunate thing that there are published some periodicals of which the standards are so high that it is a definite loss to a community when there are no sets available for consultation. Amongst others to which this high praise can be given is The Public, edited by Louis F. Post, on whom has fallen the mantle of Henry George, the champion of the single tax theory. . . . . The columns of The Public, however, are open for discussion, in a strong and interesting way, of important sociologic questions, some of which tend to be forgotten in the rush of crowding events of the day; a file of this paper has, therefore, particular value.—William Beer, Librarian of the New Orleans Public Library.

I am very anxious to secure a complete set of your publication for binding and preservation in this library. Professor Pope of our Department of Economics joins me in the opinion that your paper represents, perhaps better than any other in the country, the sort of radical criticism which is sane and therefore valuable. We wish to place your journal in the hands of our students, particularly those in the courses of Economics and Public Law, in order that they may get your point of view.—J. F. Gerould, Librarian of the University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo.

In all the field of American letters I find no place where the serious questions of the age are so ably or so intelligently discussed as they are between the covers of The Public.—E. G. Le Stourgeon, San Antonio, Tex.

It is with a sense of delight that I open my weekly copy of The Public. After days of hard and anxious work, it comes like a messenger of peace and comfort to my soul—an exponent of the noblest thoughts on the great questions which confront the nation; and I am thankful that at least one journal exists in the United States which is absolutely candid and sincere in defending and upholding the fundamental principles upon which our democracy rests.—Wm. P. Wesselhoeft, M. D., Boston, Mass.

The Public is interesting and instructive. One can but admire the originality and broad candor of its comments on all great subjects, and its high-minded disregard of anything trivial or ephemeral. I have been struck with its discrimination and its seeming infallibility in reaching right conclusions. In its analysis of any subject, intelligence and humanity are the only motives. It avoids irritation consequent upon open defiance, but appeals to its opponents through their sense of reason and of honor.—Hon. John Gilbert Shanklin, Evansville, Ind.

I expect to take The Public till I die. It represents to me the very highest reach I know of, in periodical literature, in all its discussions regarding social righteousness. It is one of the difficult problems with me, how any honest, earnest, religious minded man could fail to espouse its teaching, and live it among men.—Rev. J. K. Lewis, Santa Barbara, Cal.

Mr. Post is, without doubt, the most forceful political writer within the Democratic ranks to-day. He goes to the root of his subject with the rapidity of a surgeon performing an operation; he uses clear cut English, and in a few sentences he can say more than most editorial writers can say in columns. There is not a better posted man on political science in this country to-day, nor a man better able to champion the cause of true democracy. The Public is a weekly political paper that should be a visitor to the home of every democrat.—Will M. Maupin, Managing Editor of The Commoner.

Your publication is a weekly inspiration to anyone who wants the plain truth, without fear or favor, on every public question. No one who loves liberty and fair play should be without The Public.—Dr. Rufus H. Bartlett, Chicago.

The Public still holds its unique place as the political digest and critique, searching, fearless, honest—hence socially most helpful.—Dr. H. W. Thomas, Chicago.

Farmington

An Idyl of Boyhood. 12mo, cloth, 277 pages, $1.50, postpaid.

"Farmington" is not a book to be taken from the public library, or even to be borrowed from an obliging friend. It is a book to own—to read by the winter's fire and re-read under a summer tree; a book to be kept on the shelf where the oldest favorites live. It is a book for boys, for women—but above all, it is a book for men who have once been boys.—The Dial.

The book is very charming, and in much very true. Not a man who has been a real country boy, or who has been cheated by his elders (always with the best motives) of being all the boy he might have been, but, if he has grown up to be ripe enough, will seem to find himself again in many of Mr. Darrow's pages. Our impression is that Mr. Darrow has shown real art in the handling of one of the most difficult forms of literature.—The New York Times Saturday Review.

Newest England

Notes of a democratic traveller in New Zealand, with some Australian comparisons. Mr. Lloyd spent the greater part of a year in New Zealand and Australia, making a first-hand investigation into the new developments of democratic government in these British colonies; and he has prepared an elaborate and authoritative explanation of the workings of the extensions of democracy. New, revised, and cheaper edition. Large 12mo, cloth, illustrated, 387 pages, $1.00; by mail, $1.10.

By giving the reader the facts, very fully, without attempting to compare them critically or to connect them at all, he has made a more interesting book, and doubtless a more instructive one, than if he had indulged in economic philosophy. And in truth he has given the facts with much detail and evident fidelity.—The Public.

A Country Without Strikes: a Visit to the Compulsory Arbitration Court of New Zealand

New edition, 12mo, cloth, 180 pages, $1.00; by mail, $1.10.

It is an account of the origin and practical operation of the compulsory arbitration law of New Zealand. Enumerating the beneficial results of this law, Mr. Lloyd assures his readers that strikes and lockouts have been stopped, that labor and capital are being organized into trade unions and associations instead of mobs and trusts, that the weak and the strong in both classes are equalized, that concentration of wealth and power are checked and the distribution of wealth is determined along lines of reason and justice and greatest need instead of greatest greed, and that democracy is strengthened by these equalizations.—The Public.

The Man With the Hoe, and Other Poems

It can be said without fear of contradiction that no single poem of recent years has created so profound an impression in our country as Edwin Markham's "Man with the Hoe." Possibly this is because no single poem of the last quarter century has so forcefully presented the revolt in the great human heart against life's inequalities, and the deep sorrow that the soil-bondage of the submerged masses symbolizes. 12mo, cloth, with photogravure frontispiece—The Angelus, $1.00; by mail, $1.08. The Works of Count Lyof N. Tolstoy

A new edition. Printed from new plates, containing all of Tolstoy's writings, including the authorized edition of "Resurrection," and much m terial h.th rto untranslated, with introductions by Nathan Haskell Dole, and thirty-three illustrations, comprising portraits, original illustrations, etc. Practically the whole of Count Tolstoy's literary life-work is contained in these twelve handsome volumes. They begin with "War and Peace" and "Anna Karenina," and conclude with his latest, and, as many think, his greatest novel, "Resurrection," in the authorized version by Mrs. Aylmer Maude, who, having been in close communication with the author, was able to introduce many interesting passages not to be found in either the French or regular Russian editions. All of his marvellous short stories of life in Russia, in the Caucasus, and in the Crimea are included; nothing is missing. His interesting and unique experiences in education and his description of his marvellous school at Yasnaya Polyana present still another phase of his many-sided character. Still more valuable and practical are his essays in religion and his evolution of Christian socialism from original study of the New Testament. All this is fully related in "My Religion," "My Confession," "Life," and kindred works. His views of painting, music and literature are eloquently expounded in the treatise, "What is Art?" and his criticisms on the folly of war are convincingly given in many public and private letters. His greatness as a novelist, as a theologian and as a reformer may be fairly measured in this edition of his collected works. They represent him in many phases, and as they are without exception translated from the original without the aid of any deflecting intermediary, by such competent scholars as Mr. Aylmer Maude, Mr. Nathan Haskell Dole, Miss Isabel F. Hapgood, and Mrs. Maude, they may be safely taken as the definitive edition in English. The twelve volumes are adorned with thirty-three illustrations, including a number of portraits from daguerreotypes, photographs and paintings of the author at different stages of his career, pictures of his houses at Yasnaya Polyana and Moscow, and other interesting personal material. For public or private libraries this edition of Count Tolstoy's works, printed from new plates, is everything that could be desired, and the price brings it within the reach of most readers.

The Works of Walt Whitman

New and definitive editions issued under the superintendence of Whitman's literary executors, and prepared with careful attention to accuracy and to perfection of typography. The only complete and authorized trade editions which in contents and arrangement conform with Whitman's wishes and his final instructions to his executors.

Leaves of Grass

Including Sands at Seventy, Good Bye My Fancy, Old Age Echoes (posthumous additions), and A Backward Glance O'er Travelled Roads. Library edition, 8vo, gilt top, gold decorative, two portraits and index of first lines, $2.00; by mail, $2.13. The same, popular edition, 12mo, cloth binding, with portrait, $1.00; by mail, $1.12. The same, paper covers, 50 cents; by mail, 60 cents.

"Leaves of Grass" . . . . influenced me more perhaps than any other book has done, except the Bible—more than Plato, more than Goethe.—John Addington Symonds.

The Works of Walt Whitman—Continued

The most extraordinary piece of wit and wisdom that America has yet contributed. I am very happy in reading it, as great powers always make us happy.—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

I do not believe that all the sermons, so-called, that have been preached in this land, put together, are equal to it for preaching.—Henry D. Thoreau.

You argued rightly that my confidence would not be betrayed by any of the poems in this book. None of them troubled me for a moment, because I saw at a glance that it was not, as men had supposed, the heights brought down to the depths, but the depths lifted up level with the sunlit heights, that they might become clear and sunlit, too. . . . It was needed that one who could here indicate for us "the path between reality and the soul," should speak. That is what these beautiful, despised poems, The Children of Adam, do, read by the light that glows out of the rest of the volume.—Anne Gilchrist.

Call this work poetry, or prose, or what you will: that it is an inspired utterance of some sort any competent person ought to be able to see.—John Burroughs.

Complete Prose Works

Specimen Days and Collect, November Boughs, and Good Bye My Fancy. Library edition, 8vo, gilt top, gold decorative, with five full-page illustrations and a facsimile, $2.00; by mail, $2.14. Popular edition, 12mo, cloth, with portrait, $1.25; by mail, $1.37. Each of these volumes is uniform with the corresponding edition of "Leaves of Grass."

In some day, not so remote, humanity will wonder that men could dwell side by side with this Colossus, and not realize his proportions.—Robert Buchanan.

The Wound Dresser

A series of letters written by Walt Whitman to his mother from the hospital in Washington during the War of the Rebellion. Introduced by three letters on the Hospital Service contributed by Whitman to the press. Edited by Richard Maurice Bucke, one of Whitman's literary executors. With portraits of Whitman and his mother, and a facsimile of manuscript. 12mo, cloth, decorative, $1.50; by mail, $1.58.

Surely no more vivid picture has ever been painted of the army hospital than we see in these letters. . . . If you know a man who says that war is ever to be welcomed, ask him to read this book. War is hell, and here are the proofs.—Boston Journal.

Selections from the Prose and Poetry of Walt Whitman

Edited with an introduction and a brief bibliography by Oscar Lovell Triggs, Ph. D. 12mo, cloth, with portrait of Walt Whitman, $1.25; by mail, $1.35.

Dr. Triggs has successfully attempted to make a book which should be entirely representative of Whitman's many-sided genius and at the same time attractive to the general reader. In the choice of poems the effort has been made to preserve, in the character and arrangement of the pieces selected, the general scheme which governs Whitman's last revision of Leaves of Grass. It was a difficult and delicate task, but one which was essential to any really useful selection of Whitman's poetry, and it has been accomplished by Dr. Triggs in a way that will satisfy every student of Whitman.—Review.

The Books of Thomas E. Watson

The Life and Times of Thomas Jefferson

8vo, cloth, illustrated with portraits and views, $2.50; by mail, $2.67.

No one can read the book without getting new light on the framer of the Declaration of Independence, a clearer view of the conditions under which he labored, a wholesome fillip to his patriotism, and a fresh admiration for the founders of free government on the western continent. —Detroit Tribune.

A new view and a new hand have turned their attention to the old subject and given it a touch which is at once illuminating and original.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

A more spirited or more argumentative biography has hardly ever been written; and it has the quality of being constantly entertaining.—Philadelphia Press.

Like passing from the atmosphere of the hushed and stately library out into the sunshine and open air to feel a brisk October breeze come whistling over the hills to set your blood a-tingle. . . . . We have met nothing so refreshing for a long, long time.—Harry Thurston Peck, in the New York American.

The narrative is vivid, dramatic, coherent, interesting.—Chicago Evening Post.

Through the wonderful panorama . . . this clearly told, admirably balanced story of the growth and development of France runs on. . . Its style is lucid, vivid, and magnetic, and its appearance adds a most significant and desirable work to historic literature.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Napoleon

A Sketch of His Life, Character, Struggles and Achievements. Continues the history of the French nation, from the period with which "The Story of France" closes, through the Napoleonic era—and in the same vivid, magnetic manner. Mr. Watson approaches his subject from a popular and democratic point of view, using the word democratic in its broadest sense. Napoleon's personality is studied, rather than his campaigns. His political system, his laws, institutions and civic administration, are considered by Mr. Watson as his most important and enduring work, and his attempt to reconcile modern liberalism with the absolutism of a divine right is looked upon as his fatal mistake. Incidentally, the book sets forth Mr. Watson's own views in regard to democracy as a world force, as exemplified in Napoleon. 8vo, cloth, illustrated with portraits and facsimiles, $2.25; by mail, $2.45.

If you want the best obtainable, most intelligent, most genuinely American study of this great character, read Watson's history of Napoleon.—New York Journal.

The Cost

With sixteen illustrations by Harrison Fisher. 12mo, cloth, 402 pages, $1.50; by mail, $1.62.

In "The Cost" we see the unfolding from boyhood to middle manhood of two strong American types: the practical idealist, who makes the most of himself for the sake of mankind, and the self-centered man who sets out to "get there," no matter who or what "gets left." . . . Individual characters, social environment and business methods and operations are brought out with great skill in this book by an author who evidently knows the life about which he writes.—The Public.

A masterly book, interesting to the point of fascination, analytic to the point of keenness, thoroughly well written, with complete understanding, and entirely committed to advocacy of the best things in life.—Wallace Rice in Chicago Examiner.

The Plum Tree

Illustrated by E. M. Ashe. 12mo, cloth, 389 pages, $1.50; by mail, $1.62.

Here may be caught glimpses of Hanna, Foraker, Rockefeller, Bryan and McKinley; and the mysterious and delicate mechanism of the ponderous pluto-political machine may be here inspected. As the novel is not historical, the author makes no effort at biographical fidelity with reference to any of his dramatis personæ; but as character studies, they are often startling in their fidelity.—The Public.

It is, in our judgment, far and away the most important novel of recent years, because it unmasks present political conditions in a manner so graphic, so convincing and so compelling that it can not fail to arouse the thoughtful to the deadly peril which confronts our people . . . . the most faithful and vivid pen-picture of the overthrow of our republic and the establishment of a commercial despotism by the money-controlled machine that has been written.—The Arena.

The Jeffersonian Cyclopedia

A comprehensive collection of the views of Thomas Jefferson, classified and arranged in alphabetical order under nine thousand titles, relating to Government, Politics, Law, Education, Political Economy, Finance, Science, Art, Literature, Religious Freedom, Morals, etc. Edited by John P. Foley. Invaluable to all interested in the history and development of the United States, and especially adapted for the use of statesmen, lawyers, journalists, politicians, lecturers, and all classes of public speakers, teachers, students, etc. The entire contents, consisting of 9,228 extracts, are made readily accessible by a complete cross-reference index. One volume, 8vo, 1,031 pages, with ten full-page illustrations. Cloth, $7.50; sheep, $10.00; half Morocco, $12.50; full Morocco, $15.00; carriage charges prepaid.

The Life and Writings of Thomas Jefferson

By S. E. Forman, Ph. D. Second edition, revised and improved. It is the purpose of this volume to put the teachings of Jefferson within the reach of all. It contains the most significant passages in his voluminous correspondence and numerous state papers, and is thoroughly indexed. 8vo, cloth, 476 pages, with photogravure frontispiece, $2.50, postpaid.

This is a most welcome book and one which has long been needed. It collects in one volume all of the most significant passages from Jefferson's voluminous correspondence, together with whatever of importance is to be found in his official papers. The selections have been admirably chosen and the alphabetical arrangement by subjects makes the book an ideal one for reference. A very satisfactory biography of Jefferson forms the first part of the work, and furnishes an adequate introduction to his writings. The story of his life is told in a dignified, yet charming style, and the facts of his public career are given in a fair non-partisan manner. The public should be grateful for this book which brings within reach of all the wisdom and teachings of one of the greatest of our statesmen, one whose prophetic insight into the vital forces on which the success of democracy must depend has never been equaled.—The Interior.

A clear, concise and candid biography.—Toledo Blade.

Bisocialism: The Reign of the Man at the Margin

By Oliver R. Trowbridge. An entirely new and original, as well as thoughtful and scholarly work on Economics. It for the first time furnishes a scientific means for determining the proper scope of Economic Science, and discusses all its phases and phenomena in a complete and consistent manner. It treats of the positive theory of value, and points out clearly the distinctive economic principles which dominate the established order, and also those involved in anarchism and in the different forms of socialism. It discusses the economic principles involved in all the leading reform movements since the civil war. 12mo, cloth, 427 pages, $1.50; by mail, $1.60.

We have not space to follow Mr. Trowbridge through his careful analysis of social phenomena, but we observe that his work is characterized by striking keenness of observation, so that every page is suggestive and instructive reading. Through all the chapters the author, with the intelligent pertinacity of a sleuth-hound, returns to the land as the fundamental question. He states his case with entire frankness and with the most obvious desire to be entirely fair to theories he does not share. He has made a really helpful contribution to economic literature, and we cordially commend his work to all students of the social problem.—The New Age, London.

Mr. Trowbridge's terms are like numerals in mathematics. They are both exact and complete. While symbolizing one and only one concept, each fits so exactly to its neighbors that there is neither gap nor overlapping. The book is not academic merely, nor practical merely, but both academic and practical. Dealing with elementary principles with the simplicity of a primer, yet it deals with contemporaneous social and political questions on the plane of contemporary statesmanship. It is a book alike for professor, student, reformer, journalist and political leader, and will be read with interest by such men of every political school—socialist, anarchist, single taxer, Democrat or Republican.—Louis F. Post, in The Public.

Bisocialism is a masterpiece. It is a book to make the quibblers squirm. The professors are challenged on their own ground.—John Z. White.

In the flood of economic literature which has poured from the press since "Progress and Poverty" marked a new era in this field of inquiry, no saner contribution to the discussion of the great problem of the distribution of wealth has been made than this from the pen of Mr. Trowbridge. He has treated his subject as no one else has attempted to do. Undoubtedy he has written a clear and powerful exposition of the science of political economy. In certain aspects it is perhaps the best thing in its line that has been produced.—Warren Worth Bailey, in Johnstown Democrat.

The value of this book cannot always remain unknown. It will not be easy or even possible to set forth in any satisfactory way its various points of merit. Yet from the housetops it ought to be proclaimed, "Here is a book unusually worth everybody's attention."—City and State, Philadelphia.

This book on Bisocialism will never be answered by the professors, although it will, or should, compel attention and a revolution in economic thought. I doubt if any work on economic science was ever so condensed as this. Every sentence, every phrase seems to be essential to the completeness of the argument and thought. No word is wasted or misplaced. The author's method of treatment is scientific, dignified and independent.—William S. Rann, in What's the Use?

One of the best and soundest books on economics that I have come across is fresh from the press, to wit, "Bisocialism," by Oliver R. Trowbridge. It presents logically and convincingly the true philosophy of the economic situation, and shows that the solution lies in the abolition of monopoly and the establishment of equal freedom in the use of the earth. . . . As a matter of correct mental exercise I can conceive of nothing better for anyone interested in economics than to make a study of this book.—Ernest Crosby, in The Whim.

The science of political economy has long suffered from the charge that it is in a chaotic condition. But this stigma has been removed by a remarkable book entitled "Bisocialism: The Reign of the Man at the Margin." This book is scientific—it makes of economics a true and exact science. On finishing the reading of this book, there is the same mental satisfaction that one feels on mastering a demonstration of a difficult problem in geometry. The colleges cannot afford to ignore this powerful work, which appears to be the most important contribution to economic science during the past quarter of a century in this country.—Detroit Tribune.

I am delighted with "Bisocialism." I think nothing but Post's oral lectures can equal it as a plain and lucid explanation of the fundamental principles of political economy. There is, I think, no publication that so simplifies the whole science which has mystified so many people.—F. M. Crunden, Librarian of Public Library, St. Louis.

It has been accepted as the one great addition to Single Tax literature since the time of Henry George.—International Socialist Review.

A book of rare insight, moral uplift, and, best of all, considered from the standpoint of its chief aim, it points the way unerringly, we believe, to economic justice and social peace. John Mitchell, Samuel Gompers and the thinking labor leaders of the world could do nothing better than to take this book and ponder it until the truths so clearly set forth were comprehended in their fullness. If they did that and communicated them to their followers, not another strike would be ordered, justice would be the universal order, brotherhood would everywhere be realized and would transform industrial and commercial war into peace and universal thanksgiving.—Farmers' Voice, Chicago.

The Truth About the Trusts

A description and analysis of the American Trust Movement. By John Moody, Editor of "Moody's Manual of Corporation Securities." A comprehensive work, embracing descriptions, histories and analyses of all the Great Trusts, Industrial, Franchise and Transportation, giving the facts regarding their Formation, History, Financial Relations and General Characteristics. The entire Trust Movement analyzed, and its many remarkable features vividly illuminated, the text being supplemented by a number of striking maps and charts. A truly panoramic view of the entire Trust Movement. The volume is a perfect mine of information on the subject of Trusts, and should be in the hands of every student, lawyer, capitalist, man of affairs, investor and citizen—anyone to whom the "Trust" problem is of any interest whatever. Large 8vo, cloth, 540 pages, de luxe edition, $5.00; by mail, $5.28. Popular edition, $2.00; by mail, $2.28.

The author seeks neither to attack nor defend trusts, but he does set down all the obtainable information about these corporations and classifies this vast fund of information in a most convenient and intelligent manner. The result is startling in more ways than one, even to the man that fondly imagines he has kept track of this movement in a general way. The opening statement that the large trusts in the United States have over $20,000,000,000 of capital is a bit startling in itself, but much more startling than this is the fewness of the men in control of these great corporations.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

It is with vast corporate bodies that Mr. Moody's book deals, and the bare recital, through hundreds of pages, seems akin to ancient fabulous tales from the mystical Orient. The trusts have discovered King Midas' secret charm and found Aladdin's lamp. Everything that they touch turns to gold.—Boston Post.

At a time when the main political issue of the nation hinges on the life and activities of great combinations of capital, John Moody quite opportunely has published "The Truth about the Trusts." . . . The analysis which the author subjoins to the consideration of many of the individual trusts, brings the book to a level not attained by the many other publications.—Chicago Evening Post.

John Moody's new book, "The Truth about the Trusts," although intended especially for the information of investors, is invaluable to public men of every shade of opinion on the trust question; for it is precisely what it purports to be, a complete and trustworthy story, partly narrative and partly statistical, of the whole American trust movement, with all its ramifications, from its inception to the present time. . . . Mr. Moody has indicated his special fitness for the preparation of such a book, by classifying industrial trusts in one general category and franchise trusts in another. His explanation of the futility of mere repressive laws is significant of a point of view to which the people themselves must come if they would really kill off the trust evil. "The weakness of all this legislation," he writes, "lies in the fact that while it pretends to aim at the 'regulation' of monopoly, it really never touches the monopoly."—The Public.

Combinations, Trusts and Monopolies

By Edward J. Nolan, LL. B. A Discussion of the Origin, Development and Treatment of the Modern Industrial Combination. 12mo, cloth, 353 pages, $1.50; by mail, $1.58.

The work has on the whole been exceedingly well done. The presentation of the competitive system, of the coming and development of organization, of the powers and effects of monopolies, and of the intervention of legislation and the courts, are in the main excellent, whether considered by the economist, the historian or the lawyer . . . . Mr. Nolan's remedies for the evil of trusts are not radical, and are not intended to be. He avoids suggesting radical remedies, not as objectionable in themselves, but because the evil is pressing and remedies are immediately needed, wherefore the best remedies the people are yet willing to apply must be adopted. It is evident, however, that he sees the radical nature of the disease, and would not be averse to remedies that attack its underlying causes. His allusions to land monopoly are significant, and his discussion of the relation of the protective tariff to trusts is masterful.—The Public.

A radical contribution to the literature dealing with the questions involved in the trust problem. Mr. Nolan shows a clear comprehension of the evils arising out of this problem. Proceeding on the assumption that the large corporation is a modern industrial phenomenon that should be controlled, not legislated out of existence, he advocates remedies which would tend to bring about the latter rather than the former result. Briefly, he would abolish "all special protection, favors, or privileges which are now afforded by the government to trusts or combinations or to the industries in which they are engaged," would place the affairs and accounts of all corporations under State supervision and inspection (he insists that the power to curb the trusts lies not in Congress but in the several States), and would fix by law "a maximum rate of profit which corporations shall be allowed to earn in business." Incidentally he enters into an extended argument in favor of governmental and municipal ownership and control of public utilities. Apart from the question of "remedies," the book is of distinct usefulness as embodying a compact presentation of both the legal and economic problems born of trust evolution.—The Outlook.

The History of the Standard Oil Company

By Ida M. Tarbell, author of the "Life of Napoleon" and the "Life of Lincoln." With many illustrations and portraits and reproductions of important documents. A thorough and complete history of the Standard Oil Company, containing an immense amount of material which has never before been published; the first consideration of the largest and most powerful of all trusts by one of America's greatest historians. The book is not controversial. Furthermore, it is based on documents. Every important statement, every contention, is backed by documentary evidence. As a history, the book is a wonderful piece of work; but it has so much incident, so much interesting personal data, and is written with such life and spirit, that it is quite as entertaining as a novel. Two volumes, cloth, 8vo, $5.00; by mail, $5.45.

The qualities that have made Miss Tarbell's history of the Standard Oil Company famous may be enumerated thus: Firstly—an accumulation of facts absolutely surprising in their mere quantity, and (which is still more important) in its significance and finality. Secondly—an admirable objectiveness in the presentation of those facts. Miss Tarbell is ever silent and impassionate. She never rants. She probes, and then points it out to the reader calmly and silently. She never howls, or waves her arms, or grows indignant at what she has found. She brings it out into the full glare of her exposition, and then passes on, disdaining to trade upon the passion aroused in the reader. This is the method of the true historian. It is a magnificent story, full of action.—Springfield Republican.

It was an important public service to dig this story out of the records and print it in such a form and in such a periodical as has been done. It is a mighty interesting story.—New York Life.

There is something absolutely tragic in the story, something as powerful as the most stirring relation of battle on land or sea.—Salt Lake Tribune.

The Confessions of a Monopolist

Anonymous. A candid narrative of the life and work of a successful business man of the present era, from his smallest beginnings to a seat in the United States Senate. It reveals his boyhood, his first business aspirations and ventures, the chance which led him into a monopoly, his gradual mastery of the methods and possibilities of money-getting by monopoly, his acquisition and manipulation of coal and traction interests, how business led him into politics, his management of his party in a great city and State, and his progress to a seat in the Senate. This confession, a story of real life, is as fascinating as a novel. The names used are not the real ones. In preparation, 12mo, cloth, about 200 pages, $1.00; by mail, $1.10.

The Life of the Rev. Dr. Edward McGlynn, with Sermons and Addresses

By Matthew T. Gaffney, M. D. A concise, impressive story of the life of the beloved, heroic priest; with his most notable sermons, addresses and poems. In preparation. 12mo, cloth, about 300 pages, $1.00; by mail, $1.10.

Poverty

An attempt to define it and to estimate its extent in this country. By Robert Hunter, President of the Social Reform Club; Chairman of the New York Child Labor Committee; formerly Headworker of the University Settlement of New York. 12mo, cloth, 300 pages, $1.50; by mail, $1.62. Paper, 382 pages, 25 cents; by mail, 32 cents.

The most impressive book of the year; its story is heart-touching and terrible. It should have a million readers.—Edwin Markham.

One does not naturally associate the idea of misery with entertainment, but Robert Hunter's "Poverty" is so interesting that it holds the reader from beginning to end, like a novel.—The Daily Eagle, Brooklyn.

It is a great book, this "Poverty." It deals so reasonably and intelligently with all the phases of the great question—what our great and increasing poverty means for the country and the country's future, the phases of it that appear in the pauper, the vagrant, in children, in the sick. In every aspect of the treatment there is a calm judicial tone, the restraint of one speaking solemn and important truths. We have not in our time had another such work. Every thoughtful man should give it heed.—Charles E. Russell, in the Chicago Examiner.

Mr. Hunter's book, like many of the books that have been written on social conditions, is of no great value in a constructive way. Its value lies in the facts it tells. The author has lived with his facts, and knows whereof he speaks. It is hard to see how anyone can read these facts without becoming convinced, nay, without having his whole soul quickened to the thought, that such conditions must be changed. . . . His whole fifth chapter on the child ought to be read by every citizen in America who feels proud of our present advancement in civilization and humanity.—J. H. Dillard, in The Public.

Mr. Robert Hunter . . . . cautiously understates his case, and eschews rhetoric with something like fear. But, needless to say, his quiet, methodical presentation of frightful facts gains by its very reticence and dispassionateness a degree of power that no appeal to mere emotion could possibly have had. And if a messenger of this sort tells less than what we know to be the truth in the corner of the world that we happen to know about, we have a growing respect for what he says about unfamiliar places. The book leaves the wholesome impression that more ought to have been told and that stronger things ought to have been said.—The Providence Journal.

Smaller Profits, Reduced Salaries and Lower Wages

The Condition, The Cause, The Cure. By George L. Rusby. 16mo, paper, 60 pages; per copy, 5 cents, postpaid; 10 copies, 25 cents; 100 copies, $1.50; 1,000 copies, $15.00.

Natural Taxation

An Inquiry into the Practicability, Justice and Effects of a Scientific and Natural Method of Taxation. By Thomas G. Shearman. 12mo, 268 pages, cloth, $1.00; by mail, $1.08. Paper, 50 cents; by mail, 55 cents.

The idea that there is a system of taxation that may properly be termed natural rests upon the theory that government is a natural agent of society, and like all natural agents must have food. Consequently, says Mr. Shearman, "Just as certainly as the existence of the body implies a science of food, the existence of human society implies a science of taxation." In search of this science he first explores the subject of taxation as it has been generally understood and applied, rejecting in turn as unscientific and unjust, all indirect taxation—"crooked," as he calls it—personal property taxation, and the taxation of landed improvements. But coming to the taxation of land values, he approves that as just, automatic and natural. Mr. Shearman's book is invaluable not only as an adjunct of Henry George's works but also as an original contribution to economic literature, especially with reference to public finance.—The Public.

The Theory of Human Progression

By Patrick Edward Dove. Edited, with Biographical Sketch, by Alexander Harvey. This work, first published in 1850, is an inductive philosophy explanatory of social evolution. Unlike most inductive philosophies, it is essentially democratic. Dove discovered the moral law in the facts of human experience. In this he was unique, and consequently without renown among the inductive philosophers of the nineteenth century; but the present tendency of inductive philosophy toward the recognition of moral harmonies in the universe, and therefore in the direction of democracy, is forcing his book into recognition. It is indispensable to students of social science. 12mo, cloth, 412 pages, $1.00, postpaid. Paper, 50 cents, postpaid.

The American City

A Problem in Democracy. By Delos F. Wilcox, Ph. D. 12mo, half leather, 423 pages, $1.25; by mail, $1.36.

In "The American City," Dr. Wilcox has written a book which every thoughtful citizen should read. The problems of the street, the tenement, public utilities, civic education, the three deadly vices, municipal revenue and municipal debt, with all their related and subsidiary problems, are clearly and fully considered. If you would realize, for instance, how Pittsburg has been looted by franchise grabbers, read the chapter on "The Control of Public Utilities." If you would know how the city can improve the morals of its citizens, read the chapter on "The Control of Leisure." The chief lesson of the book is summed up in the words: "Popular government in cities is a complex problem. In order to succeed we must put responsibility where we can find it when we look for it, and then not forget to look for it."—Pittsburgh Gazette.

"The American City" is by far the best book that has yet appeared on American cities and their problems. It deals not only with the theoretical side of city life and municipal government, but also with the actual operations and practical affairs. It is both stimulating and informing, both accurate and entertaining, both suggestive and practical. It will undoubtedly be widely read and discussed. No one interested in municipal affairs and the social problems growing out of city life can afford to be without it.—Dr. Milo Roy Maltbie, in a letter to the author.

It is always refreshing to read an author who meets the common cry that "democracy is a failure," with the response that it is not democracy, but lack of democracy, that has caused the conditions that to superficial or hostile observers look like failures of democracy. . . . . Problems of municipal government are forging so fast to the front as the favorite problems of modern democracy, that books of this character are becoming indispensable to all public-spirited men, and this one is among the best that have as yet appeared.—The Public.

The reader of "The American City" can scarcely lay it down without feeling a renewed sense of his possible importance as a member of the community and an increased desire to be able to contribute his part to general civic betterment. Every good citizen, every citizen whose conscience is not so dulled that he is still willing to have it aroused, needs the sort of instruction conveyed by this book, and every hitherto indifferent person, who has not yet realized that citizenship is as much a matter of responsibilities as of privileges, requires the stimulus to be gained by acquaintance with its contents.—New York Times Saturday Review.

"The American City" is a remarkable study of city problems. We hasten to say that it ought to find its way into every library, into the house of the old, of the young, and more particularly into the hands of the student who shall soon begin to exercise his rights as an American citizen.—Minneapolis Tribune.

The Shame of the Cities

Examples in Municipal Corruption. By Lincoln Steffens. Nothing more remarkable has appeared in recent years than these studies of municipal corruption. As gathered in a book, with an introduction by the author, they will undoubtedly produce an even more profound impression than they did when published singly in McClure's Magazine. Mr. Steffens has a faculty for unearthing the vital fact and presenting it forcibly. The live events in the recent history of New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Pittsburg and Minneapolis have furnished him his material. No American can read his account of conditions as they exist, and not be overwhelmed by the unbridled disregard of the rights and welfare of the public shown by those controlling many of our city governments. His narrative of the extraordinary methods of corrupt politicians is dramatic and intensely interesting. He also records the hopeful facts of the rising movements against municipal misgovernment initiated by determined individuals and by groups of patriotic citizens struggling to get honest and efficient administration in city affairs. 12mo, cloth, 306 pages, $1.20; by mail, $1.32.

As pieces of story-writing these papers beat 99 per cent. of our fiction; but they are more than this; they are a public service.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The most helpful book of the day.—Cleveland Leader.

As a passionless, unprejudiced statement of facts set forth in clear, spirited English, the book deserves all praise; and the facts are of the utmost interest and importance, or should be, to every man in the United States who has at heart any wish to be a decent citizen.—The Bookman.

It is a good book for the average voter to think over, and think hard. It is the kind of straight-from-the-shoulder criticism that will do America good. The kind of journalistic surgery that ultimately effects a cure.—Denver Republican.

Mr. Steffens has done his work thoroughly, conscientiously, forcefully. He has told the humiliating truth without exaggeration or extenuation. . . . This is a book of bad history well told—an interesting, suggestive, useful study of the most damnable excrescence on the body politic. . . . Mr. Steffens is right; his book ought to "burn through our civic shamelessness and set fire to American pride."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Suffice it to say that these articles have done more toward the purification of municipal government in the United States than any other agency.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

Municipal Monopolies

By Edward W. Bemis, John R. Commons, Frank Parsons, M. N. Baker, F. A. C Perrine, Max West. Edited by Edward W. Bemis. The editor of this most valuable and instructive volume believes that soon one-half of the population of this country will be living in cities of more than 8,000 inhabitants, and that to all this enormous number of persons the supply of water, electric light, gas for fuel and lighting purposes, the telephone and street railways, will have become vital necessities. Three great questions, therefore, confront nearly forty millions of people in regard to these monopolies: Shall we have public regulation, or public ownership and operation? If the former, what shall be the nature of the regulation? If the latter, what are the dangers to be avoided? These subjects are here treated in a broad and generous spirit, and there is no attempt to slight the difficulties which undoubtedly beset the practical working of theories that are perfect in principle. 12mo, cloth, 691 pages, with appendices and index, $2.00, postpaid.

By all odds the most important book on municipal matters that has appeared since Dr. Albert Shaw's "Municipal Government in Great Britain." . . . . The whole field of municipal monopolies has been covered, and every paper has been written in a spirit of judicial fairness toward private corporations, as well as of warm devotion to the public interests. . . . To writers and thinkers on municipal problems the volume is almost indispensable.—The Outlook, New York.

The treatment of the subject is broad and generous, and a flood of light is thrown upon many subjects which, from the fact that sources of information have heretofore been widely separated, have not been understood.—Boston Transcript.

Probably no more timely work has appeared in this generation. The facts and statistics gathered in these seven hundred pages are those which thousands are inquiring for. They are exact, official and unimpeachable.—New York World.

The Common Sense of Municipal Trading

By Bernard Shaw. A concise and spirited discussion, without figures, of the correct principles and essential conditions of success of municipal operation of public utilities, or municipal trading; written in the author's lively and inimitable style. He says in his preface: "I hope nobody will be deterred from reading this book by the notion that the subject is a dry one. It is, on the contrary, one of the most succulent in the whole range of literature. If I, a playwright and philosopher by profession and predilection, have found it not only possible but interesting to spend my afternoons for six years in the committee rooms of a suburban Vestry and Borough Council to gain the practical knowledge which is at the back of this little book, the most romantic of my literary customers may very well endure to hear me draw the moral of my experience for four hours." Although written with especial reference to the municipalities of Great Britain, the principles treated apply, and the suggestions are of interest, to all localities. Contents: The Commercial Successes of Municipal Trading; Municipal Management; When Municipal Trading does not pay; The Anti-Social Reactions of Commercial Enterprise; The Beneficial Reactions of Commercial Enterprise; Commercial and Municipal Prices; Difficulties of Municipal Trading—Electrical Enterprise—Housing; The Municipal Audit; The Municipal Revenue; Our Municipal Councillors. 12mo, cloth, 120 pages, 75 cents; by mail, 80 cents.

Principles of City Land Values

By Richard M. Hurd, President The Lawyers' Mortgage Insurance Co. 8vo, cloth, illustrated, 160 pages, $1.50; by mail, $1.60.

When Richard M. Hurd, now the president of The Lawyers' Mortgage Insurance Co., of New York, took charge in 1895 of the mortgage department of the United States Mortgage and Trust Co., he found no books, either in England or the United States, to aid him in passing judgment scientifically on land values in cities. He was consequently forced to develop the science at first hand. One of the results of the work thus thrust upon him, out of the necessities of his business as the responsible agent of a real estate loan company, is a book of the highest importance, not only to investors in real estate, but also to economic students. Among these it is especially valuable to such as are active in propagating the land value doctrines of Henry George. Mr. Hurd did not write his book for the purpose of serving George's following. He probably had no thought of George, his followers or his doctrines; but was aiming only at evolving the science of land values for business purposes. But the very fact that the book was written with a view solely to enable investors in real estate to make or save money, adds to its value for the purposes of single tax agitation. It is not too much to say that it is among the best single tax books since those of George, which it most opportunely supplements. Heretofore single tax writers and speakers have been obliged to make their own observations of facts; but now, thanks to Mr. Hurd's excellent book, they may have the benefit of a mine of illustrative facts, vouched for by one of the most prominent real estate experts in the world, and gathered solely for the purpose of enlightening business men with reference to real estate investments. Mr. Hurd deserves to be especially congratulated upon his intelligent fidelity to economic principle. His book is no mere rule of thumb manual. It is in every sense a scientific production—deductive but not dogmatic, inductive but not heterogeneous. The thoughtful reader cannot but feel a peculiar sense of gratification as he notes the care with which the author has considered his subject in its apparent variations and shades of significance; and always, as far as we have observed, without a flaw. The book is a much needed model of the scientific method in economics. Besides its value as a business monograph and an economic thesis, this book is interesting and instructive also in its exposition of the natural laws of urban growth, a phase of the subject which the author illustrates with numerous maps of cities both in this country and abroad.—The Public.

Under Other Flags

Travels, lectures, speeches, by William Jennings Bryan. After Mr. Bryan's European tour he was besieged by requests for copies of letters describing his travels abroad. These letters, together with a number of his lectures and other public addresses, have here been gathered together in book form. The European letters contain Mr. Bryan's account of what he saw and learned while in Europe, and present interesting views of Ireland, England, Scotland, France, Switzerland, Germany, Russia, Holland, Belgium, and the Netherlands, together with a description of his visits with Count Tolstoy and Pope Leo. In this volume Mr. Bryan writes entertainingly of the "Birth of the Cuban Republic." He also includes his lectures on "A Conquering Nation," and "The Value of an Ideal." Other articles in the volume are: "The Attraction of Farming," written for the Saturday Evening Post; "Peace," the address delivered at the Holland Society dinner in 1904; "Naboth's Vineyard," the address at the grave of Philo Sherman Bennett; "Democracy's Appeal to Culture," address before the Alumni Association of Syracuse University; and an account of his recent trip to the Grand Canyon, entitled "Wonders of the West." One of the features of the book is the "Notes on Europe," written after his return from abroad, and giving in brief form a resume of the many interesting things he saw. 8vo, cloth, 400 pages, illustrated, $1.25, postpaid.

Democracy versus Socialism

A Critical Examination of Socialism as a Remedy for Social Injustice, and an Exposition of the Single Tax Doctrine, by Max Hirsch. 8vo, cloth, 478 pages, $3.25; by mail, $3.42.

Fairly considered as a whole, the book is one which socialists will find it difficult if not impossible to controvert with satisfaction to anybody—even to themselves. It is one, however, which they cannot afford to ignore. It meets them on their own ground. It exposes the unscientific character of their philosophy by their own inductive methods. Even with reference to natural rights as opposed to society-derived rights, it depends altogether upon the "scientific" method, never once falling back upon intuitional theories. And it drives them into corners, with reference both to their economic and their ethical conceptions, by exposing irreconcilable contradictions, not alone in the teachings of their writers, but also in the essentials of their philosophy itself. No one can rise from reading this book without realizing, or at least suspectng, that socialism and democracy are fundamentally hostile. . . . . Nor is "Democracy versus Socialism" of value only for its minute exposure of the undemocratic character of socialism. It has, also, and in much the same manner, put the conclusions of the university cult in "economics" on trial. While adopting the primary hypothesis and the strictly inductive method of that cult, it carries the argument on to the very conclusion which the cult evades. The system of economics that has been regarded by the schools as having displaced the principles upon which the teachings of Henry George rest, is shown in this book, by a student and believer in the system, to lead on, when logically and faithfully followed, to the identical results which George reached by a shorter, simpler, and as it seems to us a safer route. In other words, it demonstrates by the inductive or "scientific" method the soundness of the conclusions at which George arrived through the deductive or philosophical.—Louis F. Post, in The Public.

Democracy and Social Ethics

By Jane Addams, Head Resident of Hull-House, Chicago. 12mo, half leather, $1.25; by mail, $1.37.

Its keynote is the necessity for a new adjustment in the code of social ethics. The new principle is that a social test is to be applied to conduct. There is a new and more democratic conception of life, but as yet this has not expressed itself in statutes or in natural social relations, but rather in a mental attitude of maladjustment. . . . The value of these essays is that they set forth vividly and appreciatively this mental attitude in half a dozen of the most fundamental relations of life.—Charities.

A book of insight and illumination.—The Outlook.

Full of serious interest and mental stimulus . . . . a cheery, earnest, open-eyed field book, not a dogmatic treatment . . . . a striking contribution to the fund of original research on the social problems of the day.—Chicago Record-Herald.

The highest service which the book will do is to help some to understand that democracy has brought into the world a new thought of the relation between human beings; that the old conception of master and servant must go; that patronizing beneficence is obsolete; that the whole feudal idea of the "protective spirit" is utterly opposed to democracy. This new thought does not readily find entrance into the minds of many who are, by the old standard, genuinely benevolent. It is a hard saying. The great value of this book of Miss Addams is that it contains this hard saying.—J. H. Dillard, in The Public.

Government

An Inquiry into the Nature and Functions of the State, by John Sherwin Crosby. Disclosing general principles involved in questions of Taxation, Money, Labor and Capital, Land Tenure, Public Ownership, Corporate Privilege, the Trusts, the Tariff, etc.; also showing the relation of Civil Power to Morals and Social Progress. 12mo, cloth, 112 pages, 50 cents; by mail, 54 cents. Paper, 25 cents; by mail, 28 cents.

One of the most important contributions to the present wide discussion of the great social and economic questions . . . . compact and clear and as logical as a mathematical demonstration . . . . the whole discussion having the merit of perfect frankness and the courage of high conviction. . . . . No student of government should fail to add it to his library.—Johnstown Democrat.

An Examination of Society

By Louis Wallis. 8vo, cloth, 325 pages, $1.75; by mail, $1.90.

Mr. Wallis undertakes to rest what is commonly known as the "single tax" reform upon the materialistic hypothesis, and to harmonize it with the theory of "scientific socialism." He accordingly accounts for civilization by an upward process of evolution from animality through slavery and land monopoly by means of "cleavage." By "cleavage" Mr. Wallis refers to what he claims to be the governing principle of sociological development. Although the material universe was always abundantly supplied with all that man requires, this was only a potential condition. Man must have "capital" in order to produce what is needed for civilization. But he would never accumulate "capital" if his primitive freedom were perpetuated. Hence the necessity for and the beneficence of "cleavage"—the development of an exploiting or upper, and an exploited or lower, class. The first manifestation of the principle of "cleavage" is in slavery. The upper class enslaves the lower, and thereby forces it to produce "capital," which contributes to the advance of civilization. In course of time slavery loses its potency, and becomes obstructive to progress instead of accelerating it; and in harmony with the general principle of evolutionary science, it then goes the way of the unfit for survival. Meanwhile, however, "cleavage" manifests itself in more subtle fashion. Land monopoly differentiates the exploiting from the exploited class, and much more economically and effectively forces the latter to supply the "capital" which the former accumulates and utilizes. It is at this point that Mr. Wallis parts company with "scientific socialism." Socialism, insisting that land monopoly is losing its potency and that "capitalism" has taken its place, predicts an uprising of the lower class to appropriate the accumulated "capital." But Mr. Wallis finds in land monopoly, not in "capital," the "cleavage"-producing power; and, concluding that its evolutionary uses have come to an end with the sufficient accumulation of "capital," the need for which alone has vitalized it in the past, he would henceforth have society give conscious direction to the hitherto consciousless and conscienceless evolutionary process. This he would do by abolishing land monopoly. His method is the same as that of Henry George—the "single tax." . . . . This book by Mr. Wallis is evidently a product of wide reading, hard study, a conscientious purpose, and a spirit of devotion to truth which lifts him high above his scholastic idea of the origin of things. Its subject matter is interesting, and the style scholarly and attractive. Students of sociology and political economy will find it suggestive, and teachers of these subjects will need to familiarize themselves with its argument.—The Public.

The Art of Living Long

The Famous Work of Louis Cornaro, the Venetian Centenarian. Edited by William F. Butler. Louis Cornaro, who fathomed the secret of longevity more effectually probably than any other person, is a character unique in history. Though possessed of a delicate constitution from birth, his life despaired of by physicians at forty, he lived to fully set forth, at the ages of 83, 86, 91 and 95, the methods whereby he secured that complete mental and bodily power which was always at his command until his death at 103—the first to reduce the science of simple living to a system. 8vo, illustrated, full cloth, gilt top, 214 pages, $1.50; by mail, $1.62.

How many lives would be saved and prolonged by following Cornaro's advice! Joseph H. Choate, U. S. Ambassador to Great Britain.

There are very few books, the study of which would be of as great service to the American people as Cornaro's "Art of Living Long."—James J. Hill, President Great Northern Railway.

I have for forty years carried out the idea of Cornaro. My forefathers had the same characteristic, and lived beyond one hundred.—Thomas A. Edison.

The Up-to-Date Primer

By J. W. Bengough. With illustrations by the author. A first book of lessons for little political economists, giving a clear exposition of single tax principles. 12mo, limp cloth, 75 pages, 25 cents per copy, postpaid; one dozen, $2.50; fifty, $9.00; one hundred, $16.00.

It offers an easy and attractive way of mastering the ground principles of the single tax.—Review of Reviews.

Letters of Love and Labor

By Samuel M. Jones. With an introduction by Brand Whitlock. The letters were written by Mayor Jones, of Toledo, Ohio, to the men who worked in his machine shop, and are little masterpieces of helpful comment on the relation between employer and employed. They represent Mayor Jones's best thought and highest development. His words are simple and direct, and his views on our civilization intensely interesting. 12mo, cloth, 250 pages, $1.00; by mail, $1.10.

Aladdin & Co.

By Herbert Quick, author of "In the Fairyland of America." A romance of the building of the middle West, including a vivid picture of the rise and progress of a typical Western land boom. 12mo, cloth, 337 pages, $1.50; by mail, $1.60.

It is a story very much out of the ordinary in both matter, style and spirit. An unhackneyed subject, developed with skill and humor . . . delightfully realistic. . . . Mr. Quick is a wizard who realizes the dramatic possibilities. . . . For sheer excitement and breathless interest it would be hard to match in very recent literature the wild ride through flood and storm of the special train. . . . The minor characters have wonderfully distinct personalities.—New York Times Saturday Review.

The story of the town and its promoters is well worth reading. . . . Jim Elkins, with his rudimentary sense of honor, is the best drawn character in the book, a hearty, humorous Westerner, of attractive manners and contagious enthusiasm.—New York Evening Post.

It is surprisingly well done. . . . Nothing dry about Mr. Quick's telling of the story.—New York Tribune.

The best of this book is not its picture of a Western boom town, good as that is, nor its really interesting story, but the portrait it presents of the chief promoter, a rare whimsical genius.—The Outlook.

Gives a vivid picture of a phase of commercial development that is excuse enough for the book, if excuse were needed for so readable a tale.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

A lively, up-to-date novel of modern methods of business speculation. . . . A humorous turn to the narrative.—San Francisco Argonaut.

Moonblight and Six Feet of Romance

By Dan Beard. With fifty pictures by the author. With a thoughtful introductory study by Louis F. Post, Editor of THE PUBLIC, and an appendix by the author, giving a bold and fearless marshalling of facts and unescapable conclusions based on the most authoritative data. 12mo, cloth, $1.25; by mail, $1.35.

A romance that sets forth daringly the inequalities between the lot of a man of elegant leisure and the man of leisureless drudgery. . . . The book makes us rub our eyes at being made to see vividly some of the absurdity and asininity, not to say criminality, of existing conditions that we blindly accept as the divine order of things. All whose thought squares with justice will appreciate the ethics of this story. It is simply, yet dramatically written, and charmingly and forcefully illustrated by Mr. Beard's own graphic pencil.—Edwin Markham.

The Walking Delegate

By Leroy Scott. A novel. 12mo, 372 pages, $1.50; by mail, $1.60.

To recommend a novel for elementary study of the labor question might seem like strange advice; but, all the same, it would be good advice if the novel recommended were Leroy Scott's "The Walking Delegate," which has been severely criticised for almost every conceivable defect except dullness. That is a defect which cannot possibly be attributed to it. The story of a fight—and human nature dearly loves a fight—is alive with interest from cover to cover. . . . A story which faithfully exhibits the workings of human passions in one of the most interesting, and without exception the most important, epochs of American life.—The Public.

A significant contribution to the literature of the industrial conflict. Not only is it a human document that is significant, opportune and real, but it is the first fair-minded labor novel to make its appearance in the midst of a flood of labor novels which are anything and everything but fair-minded. The writer shows close familiarity with his subject—with the lives of the people with whom he deals—with their home life, and work life, and business life. There is more than surface in "The Walking Delegate;" it has its line of narrative, but it has also its line of depth. In fact, so graphic is the description of condition and action that it is to be feared that more than one reader, held by the vivid interest of the story, will race through its pages and miss the lesson—nay, not the lesson, but the underlying promise, the ethical and economical facts of American life to-day. The book is a transcription from life—from twentieth century life. The book is true—it's real life—it's an opportune book.—Jack London.

Historic Rivers

The St. Lawrence River

Historical Legendar
Picturesq

By GEORGE WALDO BROWNE

Author of "Japan—the Place and the People," "Paradise of the Pacific," etc.

8°. Fully Illustrated. Uniform with "The Hudson River." Net, $3.5

While the St. Lawrence River has been the scene of many important events connected with the discovery and development of a large portion of North America, no attempt has heretofore been made to collect and embody in one volume a complete and comprehensive narrative of this great waterway. This is not denying that considerable has been written relating to it, but the various offerings have been scattered through many volumes, and most of these have become inaccessible to the general reader.

This work presents in a single volume a succinct and unbroken account of the most important historic incidents connected with the river, combined with descriptions of some of its most picturesque scenery and frequent selections from its prolific sources of legends and traditions. In selecting the hundred illustrations care has been taken to give as wide a scope as possible to the views belonging to the river.

A new volume of verse by William Henry Drummond is more than a literary event,—it means a genuine delight to thousands of readers. Dr. Drummond's poems are popular in the United States and England, where people are attracted by the picturesque and unusual dialect, but nowhere else are they so loved as in Canada, where the habitants themselves know that they are true. The touches of roguish humor, the playful imagination, and quick appreciation of nature are the heritage of the French Canadian, and Dr. Drummond has made them his own. He has seen "de otter slidin' into de pool below," atched the "loon w'en de breeze is ketch heem." He knows the pathos ortitude of simple lives and the ideals which inspire his people. All things, and more, are shown in his new volume of poems, The Voyageur.

"There is far more fun, more drawing, more good sense, more b in John Leech's Punch pictures t all the art union illustrations, e ings, statues, etc., etc., put togeth Dr. JOHN BROWNE, in his Notes o

"The truth, the strength, th vigor, the kind humor, the John pluck and spirit of that hand a proached by no competitor. With dexterity he draws a horse, a woman, a child! . . . You see youth, str enjoyment, manliness in these drawings."—W. M. THACKERAY.

"His work contains the finest definition and natural history of the clas our society, the kindest and subtlest analysis of its foibles, the tenderest flatt its pretty and well-bred ways with which the modesty of subservient geniu immortalized or amused careless masters."—JOHN RUSKIN.

Addresses of Frederic Réné Coudert

8°. Net, $ (By mail, $.)

The name of Frederic Réné Coudert stands high in the honor-roll of New York. Born in New York City in 1832, he continued a resident of the city and was identified with its interests until his death. A man with exceptional gifts and exalted character, he rose to prominence not only as a lawyer, but also as a st of public affairs. He was an orator of national reputation and a power in po As President of the Catholic Historical Club, he was able, by his addresses, to co calumnies against the Church in which he lived and died. In his biogra sketch of Mr. Coudert, Mr. Paul Fuller sums up as follows: "Of him it indeed be said, not in the latitude of poetic phrase, but in all soberness of ment:

'None knew him but to love him;
None named him but to praise.'"

The quality, the discernment, and balance, the uitive grasp of essentials, the grace, force, and tice of St. Beuve's critical work have placed n in the front rank,—perhaps, it would be better say, have given him a place alone and unapoachable in the history of critical literature. In present volumes, Miss Wormeley and Mr. Ives ve selected a series of twenty-four studies of men and women, literary and hisical, of Eighteenth Century France.

Miss Wormeley is well-known as the translator of Balzac, and Mr. Ives as the nslator of the Series of Little French Masterpieces.

The Upton Letters

By T. B.

Crown 8°. Net, $

A series of apparently genuine letters written by a master in an English Public ool to an invalid friend in Madeira. They treat entertainingly of many phases of ɜlish life—religious, social, intellectual—and it must have been very good reading he person to whom they were addressed.

Their interest arises from the time, the circumstances, the occasion that gave n birth, from the books read and criticised, and educational problems discussed; thus they form a species of comment on a certain aspect of common life.

Bushido: The Soul of Japan

An Exposition of Japanese Thought

By INAZO NITOBE, A.M., Ph.D.,

Professor in the Imperial University of Kyoto

With an Introduction by WILLIAM ELLIOTT GRIFFIS, author of "The Religion Japan," etc.

Tenth Revised and Enlarged Edition. Crown 8°. $1.25 net. (By mail, $1.3

This is a revised and enlarged edition of a book whose subtle charm it is diffic to express in a paragraph. It is so packed with thought; so attractive in style; rich in comparative illustrations of Oriental and Occidental ways of looking at thin with here and there a touch of satire, but never bigoted or narrow.

"Bushido" is the Japanese feudal equivalent of chivalry. Literally it may translated, "Military Knights' Ways," or "Precepts of Knighthood." It embod the maxims of educational training brought to bear on the Samurai, or warr class of Japan, the class that throughout the nation's feudal age, which ended o fifty years ago, set the standard to the whole people in manners, ideals of charact and mental and moral codes of obligation.

"Bushido" was an organic growth of centuries of military careers. It unwritten, like the English Constitution, yet out of it has grown the Japan of to-d

The Development of the European Nations, 1870-190

By J. HOLLAND ROSE

8°. With Maps

As from the vantage of the twentieth century we look back upon the stor waters of the century that has passed away, there is room for congratulation in t the wars and revolutions have served to build up States that are far stronger t their predecessors, in proportion as they correspond more nearly with the desires the nations that compose them. We can see that the storm-centres of the p century have their origins in two great national impulses of the civilized races mankind; first, that great impulse towards individual liberty, which we name I mocracy, and, second, that impulse scarcely less mighty and elemental that prom men to effect a close union with their kith and kin, which we may term Nationali

In no age of the world's history have these two impulses worked with so umphant an activity. The causes of awakening have been infinitely varied, and h never wholly died away; but it is the special glory of the nineteenth century t races which have hitherto lain helpless and well-nigh dead rose to manhood as if magic, and shed their blood like water in the effort to secure a free and unfette existence both for the individual and the nation.

In his introductory chapter, Mr. Rose sketches briefly the main events leadi up to 1870, and then in his later chapters considers the causes which led to t wonderful development of the last thirty years of the century.

French Classics for English Readers

Edited by ADOLPHE COHN, LL.B., A.M.

Professor of Romance Languages and Literature, Columbia University and

Lecturer in the Romance Languages, Columbia University.

THE design of the series is to present the chief French authors, in the best possible translation to English readers, to meet the need of many who are interested in French literature and desire to know it directly, but who cannot easily read its authors in the original ; and to fill the lack of adequate and dignified representation of these authors in public and private libraries.

Six Volumes, the works of the following authors, are in immediate preparation :

Rabelais, Montaigne, Molière, Beaumarchais, George Sand.

The best and most representative works of each author will be given in full, the use of extracts being, so far as possible, avoided. When a standard classical translation in English exists, this will be used. When no good translations are available, new versions will be made by Dr. Page. Each author's work will be introduced by a biographical and critical essay, giving an adequate account of his life, writings, and place in literary history.

The Wild Huntsman

A Legend of the Hartz

By JULIUS WOLFF

Translated from the German by RALPH DAVIDS

With Illustrations after Dseigns by

WOLDEMAR FRIEDRICH

8°. Net, $. (By mail, $)

Wolff's powerful and delicate poems, counting in a new form the shadowy legens of old Germany, have made him the mo popular of living German poets. "The W Huntsman," more than any of his other worl has brought him fortune and fame. It h gone through twenty-seven editions in Ge many, and has been three times reprinted German here. Translations of his poems a novels have been made in many languages, but this is the first appearance English of his greatest work. Wolff has made "The Wild Huntsman" a viv reality in a historical setting of the waning Middle Ages. His dauntle hunter baron is mastered by a resistless passion for the chase and the wi freedom of his ancestors. His weird story, and the mystery and horrors Woden's spectral host are interwoven with a gentle idyll of woodland love, t gossip of peasants, dainty tales of the old mythology, and some of the fine nature passages in German poetry. Mr. Davidson's version gives the sto simply, rapidly, and musically. It reproduces the vigor and beauty of t original, and tells the tale as freshly as if it were written in English. The illu trations in photogravure, and pen and ink drawing are after designs by Wo demar Friedrich, one of the most famous of contemporary German historic painters and illustrators.

WHAT THE CRITICS SAY OF VOLUME I.

ondon Academy (Eng.):—This first volume of a comprehensive History of the United States rests attention by its thorough scholarship, its breadth of treatment, and its lucidity of style. s literary qualities are most evident. The authors recognize the solidarity of history. . . . ivid. . . . Clear. . . . Concise. The Republic of the West is . . . given its ghtful place in the procession of the world powers.

al of Education:—A wealth of information in a delightful literary setting.

egationalist:—A brilliant, easy-flowing narrative. Strong in the brief biographies. The ngle page on Magellan is a wonderful monograph. A sturdy common-sense which inspires nfidence.

ation:—This history will meet with the approval of thoughtful people and take a permanent ace among the popular histories of our country.

w of Reviews:—In this first volume the ground has been covered in an interesting way; the oportions of the narrative have been wisely adjusted; and discrimination has been used in the lection of materials.

ng Post:—The separate treatment of industrial subjects emphasizes a wofully neglected side of merican history, and makes the chapters easy and not unprofitable reading.

)r. Bielschowsky was acknowledged as the foremost authority on Goethe of ıt times. His biography embraces the results of all previous study of Goethe, n addition includes a great many distinct contributions to our knowledge of his ; and works, especially of how the writings are the faithful expression of the in the various phases of his development. The literary form is one of the est artistic finish, the book being intended not merely for specialists but more cularly for the general cultured public. Hence the overwhelming mass of ed detail so conspicuous in German works of a similar nature has been curtailed everything is presented in due proportion. The leading German papers are imous in declaring it to be the most important life of Goethe, from the stand- of scholarship, sympathetic interpretation, and literary art, in fact, the most rtant biography of any man written in German for many years. It is generally eded by scholars that we now have for the first time a thoroughly reliable and actory life of Goethe.

or one who does not read German with ease, there is no up-to-date work to h one can go for information on the greatest writer Germany ever produced, one of the greatest poets and thinkers in all the history of the world's literature.

he Spanish Settlements within the Present Limits of the United States. Florida. 1562=1574

By WOODBURY LOWERY
Author of "The Spanish Settlements in the Present Limits of the United States: 1513–1561"

8°, with maps. Net, $2.50. (By mail, $2.75)

Mr. Lowery takes up in this new work the history of the Spanish settlements within the present ts of the United States at the period with which his earlier volume (covering the years 1513–1561) ninates.

While the new book is a continuation of the previous volume, the subject has been treated as a dis- t episode in the history of the Spanish colonial enterprises, so that the story is complete in itself, spective of its relation to the preceding volume.

It embraces the period of the French settlement in Florida under Ribaut and Laudonniere, their ulsion of Pedro Menendez de Aviles, and the foundation of the first permanent Spanish colony. In ition to the relation of the events in Florida, the volume contains a review of the Spanish policy ı regard to French aggression in North America, and the diplomatic relations between Philip II. Catherine de Medici in respect to their conflicting claims to Florida, both previous and subsequent he massacre of the Huguenots by the Spaniards. It also gives the history of the various missions Florida, South Carolina, and Virginia undertaken at the instigation of Spain.

8°. Uniform with "Lavender and Old Lace"

Cloth, net, $1.50; Red Leather, net, $2.00; Antique Calf, net, $2.50; Lavender Silk, net, $3.50

A genial story of the adventures of a New York newspaper man and his youn wife, who, at the end of their honeymoon, go to an unexplored heirloom in the shap of a peculiar old house, where many strange and amusing things happen. There i a mystery in the house, as well as a significant portrait and an uncanny cat.

The book is remarkable in that the chief character is dead, and has been dea all along.

A vein of delicate humor, sentiment, and homely philosophy runs throug the story.

Our Best Society

Crown 8°. $1.50

A penetrating and brisk satire on our best society. It is believed, by thos who have seen the manuscript, that this work will provoke as much popula curiosity and applause as did its predecessor in the last generation, The Potipha Papers, to which the present satire is somewhat akin. On account of the fact tha many of the characters are drawn from life with very thin disguises, the publisher consider it desirable to conceal for the present the identity of the author.

A Digit of the Moon

And Other Love Stories from the Hindoo

Translated from the original manuscripts by F. W. BAIN

Crown 8°. Illustrated. $1.50

"'Here,' says Mr. Bain, 'is a fairy tale which I found in an old Hindoo manuscript'—for ourselves, we prefer to look upon Mr. Bain's story as a work of luxuriant fancy, the inspired recreation of a busy man. The stories are wholly charming, at once gorgeous in fancy, and yet delicate and tender."—The Spectator.

Lady Bobs, Her Brother, and I

A Romance of the Azores

By JEAN CHAMBLIN

Crown, 8°

It is hard to say whether the interest of this story lies chiefly in Miss Chamblin's nimated account of life in the Azores, or whether in her equally vivacious and umorous tale of a young actress who sought rest and found a lover. The writer is icky both in her eye for the charm and detail of scenery and in her fund of anecote. She wins the interest of the reader from the moment she describes the trip rom the steamer to the dock in a small row boat tossed by heavy seas.

Love Alone is Lord

By F. FRANKFORT MOORE

Author of "The Jessamy Bride," etc.

Crown 8°. $1.50

Of all the recent works of fiction founded on the romantic life of Lord Byron, Love Alone is Lord is the most attractive and the most true to history. Mr. Moore as chosen the only really ideal love affair in Lord Byron's career, and has told of he poet's earlier attachment for his cousin, Mary Chaworth. Readers who were harmed by this anthor's "Jessamy Bride" will find his latest novel equally aptivating.

Peter and Alexis

By DMITRI MEREJKOWSKI

uthor of "The Death of the Gods," "The Romance of Leonardo da Vinci," etc.

Crown 8°. $1.50

Merejkowski is one of the ablest of living novel writers. He has imagination nd great technical skill. In description and in plot-making he has few equals. ut that quality which promises more than brief life for his writing is its profound oral significance—the appeal to the deeper sentiments of the soul which differenates ephemeral works of art from those that are for all time.

This novel is the third in the triology, "The Christ and the Anti-Christ," the rst being "The Death of the Gods," and the second "The Romance of Leonardo a Vinci."

Under Guiding Stars

A Massachusetts Story of the Century End

By AGNES BLAKE POOR, Author of "Boston Neighbors," Etc.

Crown 8°. $1.50

Miss Poor's earlier book, Boston Neighbors, has been spoken of as "bright, witty and sensible, . . . written with sight and insight by a shrewd observer of men, women, and things." Her new book is a charming story of New England, marked by the same good qualities. Its characters are real types of life in a New England town.

Two Moods of a Man

By HORACE G. HUTCHINSON

Author of "Crowborough Beacon," "Glencairly Castle," Etc.

Crown 8°. $1.50

A story of a man and two women,—one a wife in fact, and the other a wife in name; a drama picturing the struggle between self-realization and the claims of conventional society. As a psychological study of a human soul the story possesses compelling interest.

A Bookful of Girls

By ANNA FULLER

Author of "A Literary Courtship," "A Venetian June," "Prat Portraits," "Katherine Day," "Peak and Prairie," Etc.

With 5 Full-page Illustrations by Sarah Noble Ives

Crown 8°. $1.50

One of the pleasantest things about these girl of Miss Fuller's—and very pleasant girls they are—is that each one is too intent upon what she is abou to give much thought to herself. Indeed, the single heartedness with which Madge, for instance, pursue her art, and Di her grandfather, is so refreshing tha the reader, young or old, feels a sense of personal ela tion in the happy outcome. In presenting this littl group of debutantes to the great world, we must ow to a comfortable assurance that however kindly the may be received their heads will not be turned.

In Fairyland: Tales Told Again

By LOUEY CHISHOLM

With 30 full-page Colored Illustrations by Katherine Cameron

8°. $3.00

Mrs. Chisholm has retold in a delightful way many of e old fairy tales. Perhaps the best explanation of her ethods may be given in the words of one little girl—"You ave out all the not interesting bits you know, and you ake me understand what the story is all about, and I just e pictures all the time, and when you come to the end I st feel that I want you to go on forever."

The Complete

Kano Jiu-Jitsu (Jiudo)

The Official Jiu-Jitsu of the Japanese Government, with the Additions by Hoshino and Tsutsu and Chapters on the Serious and Fatal Blows and on Kuatsu, the Japanese Science of the Restoration of Life

By H. IRVING HANCOCK

Author of "Japanese Physical Training," "Jiu-Jitsu Combat Tricks," etc.

AND

KATSUKUMA HIGASHI

One-Time Instructor in Kano Jiu-Jitsu at Doshisha College, Japan

With more than 500 Illustrations from life and 4 charts. Net, $4.50

Mr. Hancock's earlier books on Jiu-Jitsu were intended to pave the way for t the first complete and authentic work. The Kano Jiu-Jitsu System, or as it is kno in Japan, Jiudo, is the system officially adopted by the Japanese Government. T system consisted originally of 47 tricks of combat and 15 "serious" tricks, but w the additions and amplifications by Hoshino and Tsutsumi, the complete course co prises 160 tricks. They are divided into three sections: The first includes 60 tri of combat in a logical order of sequence, these being intended as a preparation the more advanced tricks in Section Two. In the second section, the pupil is a vanced to more scientific tricks and gradually led on to the "serious" work in S tion Three, by which an opponent may, when necessary, be maimed or killed.

A most interesting addition to the series combat tricks is presented in the wonder methods of Kuatsu, by means of which an o ponent who has become unconscious or ev "killed" is resuscitated.

Much has been said recently concerning t comparative merits of Jiu-Jitsu and the oc dental form of wrestling. In certain rece exhibitions the American wrestler has be awarded the verdict; but this was based upo misapprehension as to the rules governing J Jitsu. In the latter, the combat is continu until one of the opponents has been subdue and, as will be seen from the present book, ma tricks are worked out while the ultimate victor on his back. The question of the superior of the two systems cannot be settled mere by exhibitions and, indeed, they can hard rightly be compared.

While Jiu-Jitsu can be practised with advantage to general physical culture, ultimate purpose is frankly for attack and defence of a serious nature. It is n necessary that the whole system should be thoroughly mastered in order to be fou of inestimable value when necessary, and indeed there are some simple tricks whi women could learn and apply in times of danger, whereby an assailant could rendered unconscious at least until the arrival of help.

Elocution: Its First Principles

By W. H. BREARE

Editor of The Harrogate Herald. Author of "Vocalism; Its Structure and Culture from an English Standpoint"

8°. Net, $. (By mail, $)

Elocution as taught by Mr. Breare is the endeavor to speak naturally under natural conditions; to adapt our tender throat and ineffective articulation to a tural play under the forced draught made necessary by the stage, platform, and lpit. He shows us how the increased strain may be borne by the stronger parts, d the weaker, but not less essential parts, of the vocal organs relieved from erwork, and enabled to take their share in clearing and softening the voice. It is ly when we are relieved from mechanical obstruction that we can be ourselves, and it the powers of mind and soul can go out of us to influence others. Indeed, we hardly conscious ourselves of these priceless gifts until we have learned to use em. Mr. Breare teaches us this, and does not at the same time entangle us in the heavier bondage of a mechanical system which confuses effect with affectation.

Metapsychical Phenomena

By JOSEPH MAXWELL, M.D.

Deputy Attorney-General at the Court of Appeal, Bordeaux, France

With a Preface by CHARLES RICHET, Professor of Physiology in the Faculty of Medicine, Paris, and an Introduction by Sir OLIVER LODGE. Also with a new Chapter, "A Complex Case," by Professor Richet, and an account of "some recently observed phenomena" by the Translator, L. I. FINCH.

8°. Cloth, extra gilt top. Net, $3.50

A most important contribution to the study of phenomena known as "spiritic," "occult," or, to use the term now suggested, "metapsychical." It presents a id of interim report on a series of experiments extending over several years, dertaken in a spirit of pure investigation. The author states his conclusions in or of the existence of physical forces as yet unrecognized by official science.

Irenic Theology

A Study of Certain Theological Antitheses

By CHARLES MARSH MEAD

As its title indicates, Dr. Mead's volume is an attempt to harmonize cert theological antitheses. In the opening chapter, the author points out that respect many of the most fundamental themes of religious thought, there has been a tende to oscillate between two extremes. The resulting diversities in theological doctri come from various attempts to avoid extremes or to combine in different proporti the antithetic views.

In connection with the multitude of attempts to avoid the extremes, and fact that the oscillation tends continually to repeat itself, the charge has been m that scientific truth in religious matters is unattainable, and can be reached only the domain of physical science. Dr. Mead, however, gives a number of instances antitheses in physical science and shows that the wisest and most fruitful method discussion is inclusion rather than exclusion, or, in other words, to find the mid ground from whence the points can be discussed dispassionately.

The book discusses several of the more important theological questions i scholarly and judicious manner and by examining the contentions of both of extreme parties aims to discover the good there is in both, and thus to find ground for harmony.

Dr. Mead is well known as a student of theology. He was Professor of Hebr at Andover, and later Riley Professor of Christian Theology in Hartford Theologi Seminary. He was also a member of the American Bible Revision Committee, a is the author of several important works.

Sex and Character

Authorized Translation from the German of OTTO WEININGE

8°. Net,

The first portion of the book deals with duality of sex, chiefly on its physi side, and analyses bodily constitution and the laws of sexual attraction, normal abnormal, from a new point of view. The second and longer part is more psyc logical and introspective, and applies a new view to the woman question, to geni science, art, morality, and many of the most immediate problems of humanity.

It is a profound contribution to the study of humanity which all future writ and thinkers will have to reckon with.

The Principles of the dministrative Law of the United States

By FRANK J. GOODNOW

fessor of Administrative Law in Columbia University; Author of "Comparative Administrative r. An Analysis of the Administrative System of the United States, England, France, and Germany"

8°

Professor Goodnow sets forth the principles of law, as found in the Constitution, statutes of the legislature, and the decisions of the courts which govern the anization and actions of authorities having the duty of executing the law, and vide remedies for the individual when such officers have violated his rights.

The book is intended not for the practising lawyer, but for the student of erican Institutions. Therefore no attention has been given to technical legal stions except where such consideration has been deemed indispensable to a rect understanding of the American Institutions.

A Study in Social Pathology

By MURRAY SHIPLEY WILDMAN, Ph.D.

Professor of Central College, Fayette, Missouri

8°. Net, $. (By mail, $)

The demand for some radical change in our monetary system which periodically eps over the country is treated as a symptom of social disease. This diseased dition is shown to have been closely connected with each abnormal extension of tern development and with the economic depression which has always followed.

The author shows that the effort to improve the industrial situation by a nipulation of the standard of value involves fundamental errors, but this part of work is merely incidental. The primary purpose of the book is to present clearly, in their true relations, those psychological and economic forces which interact co-operate in such a manner as to produce the delusion which underlies the rring cry for more money.

The attitude of the author is not controversial, and this book will be read with rest by adherents of any political cult.

'Haydn's work, like the lucifer match and the glass window, gives us the impression of being so ether indispensable that it is difficult to imagine a period in the history of civilization when it was n existence. The 'Dictionary of Dates' has won a great reputation, and this new edition will in and extend it. The book is what it professes to be—'a dated cyclopædia, a digested summary man history, brought down to the eve of publication.' Considering the size of the work its up-to- ness is something astonishing."—London Spectator.

Diagnosis of Organic Nervous Diseas

By CHRISTIAN A. HERTER, M.D.

Professor of Pharmacology and Therapeutics at Columbia University
Visiting Physician to the City Hospital

Revised by L. PIERCE CLARK, M. D.

Visiting Neurologist to the Randall's Island Hospital and School Consulting Neurologist at the Manhattan State Hospital

Crown 8°. With about 100 Illustrations

The uninterrupted demand for the first edition of this little manual as a guid the teaching of the diagnosis of nervous diseases has led the publishers to beli that a revised and modernized edition would prove welcome. Dr. Clark, who undertaken the revision, has contributed much that is new without, however, alte or extending the scope of the earlier publication. He has re-written in greater the chapter on the anatomy and physiology of the nervous system, and has mode ized the section dealing with the symptomatology of nervous diseases. The cha on the examination of the patient has been wholly re-written. It has been thou desirable to alter the title of the volumes in order to express more plainly its ponderant relation to organic nervous diseases.

Concerning THE CRITIC

WHAT the professional journal is to the professional man, T CRITIC is to the increasing army of men and women that are terested in the books and art of to-day.

FIRST: In this country there is no other guide so complete a trustworthy as to the real value of books as the reviews in T CRITIC. No expense has been spared to secure the services of t most competent judges.

SECOND: There is no periodical which mirrors so truly the ch events and tendencies of the world's literary life. Its columns prese the views on current questions of the most distinguished living write Very few magazines can show a list of regular contributors so emine for authority of judgment and charm of style.

THIRD: The small news of bookdom (always brimful of intere has found never another chronicler that rivalled "The Lounger"
THE CRITIC. This department of paragraphs has begotten scores imitators during the past twenty-odd years; but none has equalled for resourcefulness and piquancy.

FOURTH: The illustrations of THE CRITIC are unusually w chosen and well printed; a wealth of portraits, literary scenes, artis reproductions, clever caricature, appears in each issue, and includ scores of pictures that you will want for framing.

FIFTH: THE CRITIC's treatment of fine arts, of music, and t drama gives just the information wanted by educated persons. It never over-technical, but always sane, stimulating, and true to t best traditions.

So far we have spoken of the services of THE CRITIC, of its val as an educator. After all, perhaps the best feature of THE CRITIC the enjoyment that it gives us as a broad, genial, sensible magazine close sympathy with the higher aims of life.

Of no other publication is it truer to say that every page is interestin

A Handbook for Prospectors, treating fully of exploratory and preparatory work, of the physical properties of ores, of field geology, the occurrence and associations of minerals, methods of chemical analysis and assay, blowpipe tests, promising indications, and simple methods of working valuable deposits, together with chapters on quartz and hydraulic mining, and especial detailed information on placer mining, with an addenda on camp life and medical hints. Fully illustrated.

Abbe Constantin, The

By Ludovic Halévy. With 32 engravings from the original illustrations by Mme. Madeleine Lemaire. Gift Edition, 12mo. Cloth, $1.25.

This beautiful story has won its way into the hearts of many people in many lands. So long as unselfish love, modest nobility, and humble devotion to duty are regarded as admirable; so long as manly men and womanly women are regarded as lovable, —so long will this story be admired and loved. To the perfect touch of the author, Mme. Lemaire has added the interpretation of a sympathetic artist of fine taste and skill; and the book, as it now appears, embellished with her beautiful designs, is one of the finest things in literature of this class.

American Book of the Dog, The

Edited by G. O. Shields ("Coquina"). Illustrated. Cloth, 8vo, plain edges, $1.50; half Morocco, gilt top, $3.00; full Morocco, gilt edges, $4.50.

This is a most scientific and exhaustive, as well as a most interesting, work on the dog. Its particular value to the American lies in the fact that it is the American dog as modified by American environment which is discussed in all its phases. The men who write on the subject are entitled to speak with authority, and the name of the editor is a guarantee of the highest excellence. Accurate and ample illustrations add to the scientific value of the book.

Achilles and Hector.

By Agnes Cook Gale, author of "The Story of Ulysses." Illustrated and decorated by Helen Maitland Armstrong. Cloth, 172 pages, 75 cents.

This is the classic story of Homer's "Iliad" retold in a delightfully dramatic spirit for boys and girls. The heroes of Achilles and Hector are great men: what they do they do with all their might; they are willing to work for others without reward; they are withal so clean, brave, healthy, and honest, that they are worthy of the admiration of boys and girls. This is one of the most attractive editions of this famous story.

American Game Fishes.

Edited by G. O. Shields. Profusely Illustrated. Cloth, 8vo, $1.50; half Morocco, $3.00; full Morocco, $4.50.

This is a sportsman's book, written and edited by sportsmen, and is a complete guide to the art of angling. The information contained in its pages is not confined to a limited species of fish, nor to those of any one locality, but embraces the entire United States and Canada. Not only is it an exhaustive treatise on the finny tribe, but it also gives full directions for making and using fishing tackle, how, when, and where to angle for all kinds of fish, their habits, habitat, and peculiarities, and a detailed description of the angler's camp outfit. The text is fully illustrated, including portraits of all the fishes described, and two special plates, giving the natural colors of flies commonly used in angling.

American Girl's Trip to the Orient and Around the World, An.

By Christine Collbran. Illustrated. Cloth, 12mo, $1.25.

Everyone is curious to know how the other half of the world lives. Miss Collbran places before the reader's mental vision pen pictures of the scenery, customs, dress, and many interesting incidents seen and noted during her trip around the world. Viewed with eyes that had not become satiated by previous tours, her impressions have all the freshness of youth, and her descriptions all the charm that characterizes a bright American girl. The work is profusely illustrated.

Animals From Life.

Two Hundred and Forty Half-Tone Illustrations. Cloth, 10x12 inches. Price, $2.50.

This is a natural history for the home and school, with pictures of living animals in action. These reproductions are 7x9 inches and are excellent examples of the engraver's art. They at once present a correct idea of how the animals look, and are, in fact, a comprehensive zoological garden, affording not only amusement, but a source of practical information. Each illustration is accompanied by descriptive matter, explaining the characteristics, habits, native country, and other facts relating to the subject.

Award of Justice, The.

By A. Maynard Barbour, Author of "That Mainwaring Affair," etc. Cloth, 12mo. Retail, 75 cents.

Mrs. Barbour has told in "The Award of Justice" a western story of romance, intrigue and adventure. A rascally mining company, intrusted with the management of the mines owned by an Eastern syndicate, is systematically plundering the owners. A young man named Houston is sent out to investigate. The thrilling story of his battle against unscrupulous villainy, and the delightful romance which is the result of his journey, go to make a novel of marvelous power.

It is an entertaining and pleasing story with plenty of go and dash, filled to the brim with the spirit of the West.—Chicago Record-Herald.

An Arkansas Planter.

By Opie Read, author of "In the Alamo," "Judge Elbridge," "Waters of Caney Fork," "Bolanyo," etc. 12mo, Cloth, 75 cents.

It is a very graphic picture of that life foreshadowed in the title and a romance fairly crowded with incidents of the most dramatic nature. It is full of beautiful word pictures; it is light, with flashes of wit and rich with the constant play of droll humor. * * * But, above all, it is a mirror of a phase of life little known at the North, a description of employments and conditions that are as novel as interesting. * * * In no former book has Mr. Read furnished more abundant proofs of his artist claim, and none is so consistent, so "convincing" as is this.—Chicago Evening Post.

Art of Wing Shooting, The.

By William Bruce Leffingwell. Price, Cloth, $1.00; Paper, 50 cents.

A practical treatise on the use of the shotgun, illustrating, by sketches, how to become an expert shot; also treating of the habits and resorts of game birds and water fowl. It tells also how to become a proficient inanimate target shot. Profusely illustrated.

Big Game of North America, The

Edited by G. O. Shields. Cloth, 8mo, $1.50; half Morocco, gilt top, $3.00; full Morocco, all gilt edges, $4.50.

Mr. Shields has gathered into this volume articles by twenty-seven writers well known as experts in their several lines. From tracking the caribou in Canada to alligator-shooting in Florida, the ways of the chase are laid bare by these keen-eyed and successful hunters. It is only by the hearty and sympathetic co-operation of such ardent sportsmen and trained naturalists that so comprehensive and valuable a work as this is possible. They have done a service for which all lovers of nature will feel grateful.

Bandit Mouse, The, and Other Tales

Verse by W. A. Frisbie. Pictures by Bart. Price, $1.00. Ninety-six pages, large quarto, printed in full colors, bound in cloth with design in colors.

This is probably the most amusing book for children published for several seasons. The verses are of the Mother Goose order, but will interest older readers, and the pictures are a constant source of delight.

Bondwoman, The.

By Marah Ellis Ryan, author of "Squaw Elouise," "A Pagan of the Alleghanies," etc. 12mo, Cloth 75 cents.

Marah Ellis Ryan.

In her latest novel Mrs. Ryan draws on the South and its old institution of slavery for the groundwork of her plot. By depicting the natural revulsion of the heroine, a slave who is nineteen-twentieths white, against her fate, she has made a striking picture. The story opens in Paris, and is later transferred to the southern part of the United States, where the dramatic culmination is attained.

It is a deeply interesting tale and the play of conflicting passions is strikingly shown.—Columbus Dispatch.

The plot is complicated and ingenious.—New York Mail and Express.

The story is in a new vein for Mrs. Ryan and is additional proof of her versatility.—Pittsburg Leader.

Banking System of the United States.

By Charles G. Dawes. Cloth, 12mo. Price, $1.00.

There can be no proper understanding of the monetary problems of the day unless the relation of the bank-credit money of the country to the money of the government is fully comprehended. This the author, a practical business man, has explained clearly and succinctly. The book will prove a valuable addition to the literature of economics.

Bolanyo.

By Opie Read. Cloth, 12mo. Price, $1.25.

The odd characters of a Mississippi town, a play founded on their eccentricities, a love episode and a tragedy, are the materials with which Mr. Read has constructed a most fascinating story. Cleverness in character studies, intensity in plot, and vividness of style contribute to make a book full of absorbing interest.

Captain Landon. A Story of Modern Rome.

By Col. Richard Henry Savage, author of "My Official Wife," "Checked Through," etc. Illustrated. 12mo, Cloth. $1.25. Paper, 50 cents.

A stirring novel by this well-known and fascinating writer. The scene is laid in Rome, the characters are American, and the plot is one of absorbing interest, bringing into play all those arts of which this author is past master.

The book is handsomely illustrated with half-tone pictures, which lend an additional charm to Colonel Savage's graphic descriptions.

Child Vivien and Other Stories.

By Carlotta Cipriani. Illustrated and decorated by Bror Nordfeldt. Cloth, 12mo, $1.00.

"Child Vivien" is based upon some of the most famous stories found in the early French epics, and is full of fighting, self-sacrifice, and heroism. The stories have been classic for hundreds of years, and should be a part of every one's literary possessions. It is a companion volume to Radford's "King Arthur and His Knights."

Cheiro's Language of the Hand.

By Cheiro. Large Quarto, 162 Pages. Price, $2.50.

A complete, practical and the only standard work on the science of cheirognomy and cheiromancy. With fifty-five full-page illustrations and over two hundred engravings of lines, mounts, marks, etc.

"Without knowing either the names or the positions in life of any of the people, and without asking a question, or any beating about the bush, Cheiro read from impressions of hands on paper the life and characteristics of each person with the most wonderful accuracy."—New York World.

"Cheiro can tell without error the field or fields in which a person can distinguish himself, if in any. He can reveal to him his whole inner nature; he can warn him of impending dangers; he can even foretell with considerable accuracy of time and circumstances, the chief events of life."—Boston Herald.

Cheiro's Guide to the Hand.

By Cheiro. Cloth, 12mo. 178 Pages. Price, $1.00.

The study of palmistry from a useful and scientific standpoint, based on the system and experience of Cheiro.

Child Stories From the Masters.

By Maud Menefee. Illustrated with reproductions in sepia of famous paintings. Cloth, 12mo, 75 cents.

"Child Stories from the Masters" is artistically and mechanically one of the most attractive books of the year for children. In an admirably simple and sympathetic manner Miss Menefee has told the stories of Browning's Pippa, and Saul and David, of Dante's Beatrice, and of Goethe's Wilhelm Meister and Mignon. Less unusual than these, perhaps, as subjects for stories for children, but not less attractive than they, are the tales from Wagner's operas, Siegfried and Parsifal, presented without any of the heaviness or obscurity of the master. It is an excellent thing to have provided children who have outgrown their gruel with reading matter full of pith and vigor and yet sufficiently easy for their comprehension.

Child's Garden of Verses, A.

By Robert Louis Stevenson. Illustrated by M. H. Squire and E. Mars with many drawings in pen and ink and half-tone, and ten full-page pictures in five colors. Cloth, 96 pages, 75 cents.

This is easily the most beautiful edition of Stevenson's classic volume of children's verse. It is probable that no children's book in the last decade has given as much pleasure as "A Child's Garden of Verses." It is a book for every home and for every children's library.

Confessions of Marguerite.

By Opie Read. Cloth, 12mo. Price $1.25.

This is a modern, realistic novel, full of human feeling, with the pathos that always accompanies the citing of the efforts of a pure soul to keep itself pure in spite of all temptations. Marguerite was a country girl of much talent and good looks. After having received a good education she is thrown upon her own resources. Having some talent and skill in painting, she decides to make this her profession. She leaves the country, and being of the west, naturally chooses Chicago as the arena of her future. The story which follows is a story of a girl battling against poverty, discouragement, temptation, and the snares and pitfalls which the unprotected encounter in the world.

The book may be unreservedly recommended to all novel readers, but especially to the class of girls who think that to become great they have only to live in a large city and study art in some form.

Classic Myths.

By Mary Catherine Judd. Illustrated by Agnes MacDonall. Cloth, 12mo, 75 cents.

"Classic Myths" is unquestionably the most satisfactory collection of mythological stories for children. It includes stories from Greek, Norse, Roman, Russian, and Finnish stories, told in a childlike and dramatic manner. By reading these myths the child will gain interest and sympathy for the life of beast, bird, and tree; he will learn to recognize those constellations which have been as friends to the wise men of many ages. Such an acquaintance will broaden the child's life and make him see more quickly the true, the good, and the beautiful in the world about him.

Constitutional History of France, A.

By Henry C. Lockwood. Illustrated. Cloth, 8vo. Price, $2.50.

An outline of the intellectual, social, and political causes which led to the changes in the form of government in France, together with the salient features of its organic law, is given in this essay. The need of such a guide, terse, scholarly, accurate, has long been felt by the intelligent student who yet has not the time to follow the governmental changes of France through the mazes of a general history.

Cruisings in the Cascades and Other Hunting Adventures.

By G. O. Shields ("Coquina"). Illustrated. Cloth, large 12mo, $1.50; half Morocco, $2.50.

A narrative of travel, exploration, amateur photography, hunting and fishing, with special chapters on hunting the grizzly bear, the buffalo, elk, antelope, Rocky Mountain goat, and deer. There are also chapters on trouting in the Rocky Mountains; a Montana roundup; life among the cowboys, etc.

No sportsman's library is complete without this, "Coquina's" best production. As a narrative of travel and adventure for the ordinary reader it is unsurpassed.

Duchess of Few Clothes.

A Comedy by Philip Payne, Author of "The Mills of Man." Cloth, 340 pages, $1.50.

"Duchess of Few Clothes" is Mr. Payne's second novel and is a clever satire upon American hotel life. There is an undercurrent of good-natured fun running throughout the book, which, with the strong character drawings and a happy romance, assures for the book a wide popularity.

The leading characters of the story are a Chicago heiress, a cigar girl in a great hotel, a violinist in an orchestra, a young trust promoter, and Alonzo Alexander Farson. Mr. Farson is an American Mr. Micawber, and with his man Casey, the barber, keeps up a running comedy throughout.

Eskimo Stories.

By Mary E. Smith. Profusely illustrated by Howard V. Brown. Cloth, large quarto, $1.00.

In "Eskimo Stories" Miss Smith has depicted the varying life of an Eskimo family during the long Winter night, the short Summer, and the approaching Winter. It tells of the happier side of the Eskimo life, the Winter sports of real boys and girls, Kyo, Magda, and Agoonack, with snow-shoes, sledges, and ivory hockey sticks. The stories are told in very simple language, and with a dramatic quality which holds the child's attention. The book is printed in large type, and is illustrated with more than 150 pictures in half-tone by Mr. Howard V. Brown.

Olof Krarer, a real Eskimo, tells the story of her life in a delightful chapter at the end of the book.

Every Day Essays.

By Marion Foster Washburne, Author of "A Little Fountain of Life." Illustrated by Ruth Mary Hallock. Cloth, 12mo, $1.25.

This is a volume of genial, buoyant, and sane observations upon everyday life. The headings of some of the chapters are: Every-Morning's Comedy, Mother and Child, An Irresponsible Ramble, The Day When Everything Is Wrong, Coming Down in the World, Aunt Catherine's Busy Day, and Types of Childhood. The book is elaborately illustrated by Miss Hallock, with pictures printed in sepia.

Evolution of Dodd, The.

By William Hawley Smith, author of "The Promoters," "The New Hamlet," etc. Cloth, 12mo. Price, 75 cents.

This is one of those rare stories, that as well as being delightfully witty and entertaining, conveys a deep moral lesson. "Dodd," the hero, whose evolution is traced from birth to manhood, is the creation of a master mind and touches a responsive chord in every heart.

This is a novel for teachers and a good one. It tells the story of a "bad boy," redeemed by the kindness, sympathy and firmness of the teacher. It is an interesting story, and an instructive treatise on moral training.

Eye of the Sun, The.

By Edward S. Ellis. Cloth, 12mo. Price, 75 cents.

Edward S. Ellis' story, "The Eye of the Sun," is a detective tale of more than ordinary merit. The "Eye of the Sun" is a magnificent diamond of the Himalayas, and the search for it is absorbingly interesting from first to last.

Father Tom of Connemara.

By Elizabeth O'Reilly Neville. Illustrated with photographs of the Connemara Country. Cloth, 12mo, $1.50.

"'Father Tom of Connemara' is a collection of rollicking Irish stories depicting various phases of life in the highlands of Galway. The character drawing throughout the book is as careful and truthful as it is kindly, and Connemara, as Mrs. Neville portrays it, ceases to be merely a name in our ears and becomes an actuality, a real district of Emerald Isle peopled by a race to the full as original and entertaining as those one reads of in 'The Bonnie Brier Bush.'"

"As a story it is full of humor and pathos and closely approaches 'Luke Delmege,' by Father Sheehan, in point of excellence."—The New World.

Folk Tales from the Russian.

By Verra Xenophontovna Kalamatiano de Blumenthal. Illustrated by Lucy Fitch Perkins after suggestive sketches by the Author. Cloth, 147 Pages, 75 cents.

"Folk Tales From the Russian," by Verra Xenophontovna Kalamatiano de Blumenthal, a Russian countess, presents a few of the many stories which indicate the beginning of Russian literature. This is probably the first collection of Russian folk tales in the English language.

American boys and girls know their Andersen and their Grimm, and now they may share with Russian children the imaginative tales of the Slavic people. This world acquaintance, this knowledge of the classic stories of the great countries is at the foundation of all culture.

Four Old Greeks.

By Jennie Hall. Illustrated by Raymond Perry. Cloth, 12mo, 75 cents.

Miss Hall has told in this volume the story of Herakles, Alkestis, Dionysius, and Achilles in a simple, graphic way, splendidly adapted to boys and girls. In their interpretation of Greek life, their dramatic quality, their crisp and picturesque style, the stories are noteworthy. The book has a Greek cover design, a Greek title page, with Greek head-and-tail pieces, and fifty pen-and-ink illustrations from Greek sources. This is a book that will command the interest of every child, and introduce him in a delightful way to the gods and heroes of Greek literature.

Freckles and Tan.

By Roland C. Bowman. An Illustrated Book of Humorous Verse. Cloth, 12mo, 50 cents.

To one who has not forgotten his childhood days this volume will come as a happy surprise. The spirit of the book is suggested by its title, and the humor and pathos of youth breathe from every page. The spontaneity of the verse with its touches of humor and real pathos constitute its charm. Not since the days of Eugene Field has one written in verse so charmingly or with such freshness as Mr. Bowman in "Freckles and Tan."

Guy of Warwick.

By Gordon Hall Gerould. Illustrated by Bror Nordfelt. Cloth, 12mo, $1.00.

To the lover of romance, possibly the most delightful period in the history of the world is to be discovered in the eleventh and twelfth centuries. That was a time when the feudal system was reaching the perfection of its development, when the highways of England, France and Italy swarmed with knights in search of adventure, when valor and true love were the social ideals. Mr. Gerould has rendered into pure and simple modern English one of the purest and sweetest romances of the best days of chivalry.

Happy Isles and Other Poems.

By S. H. M. Byers. Cloth. Price, $1.25.

These poems strike a responsive chord in the heart of all lovers of beautiful verse. Their tones vary from the epic to the ballad, but all are delightful, and breathe the true poetic soul.

Incendiary, The.

By W. A. Leahy. Cloth, 12mo. Price, 75 cents.

It is the tale of a mysterious fire, in which many buildings were burned, and several lives were lost, and which was obviously the work of an incendiary. Who this offender was it was hard to guess, and the author has interwoven the mystery with much skill, and then has unfolded it in a manner that cannot but win the approval of his readers.

In Hampton Roads.

By Charles Eugene Banks and George Cram Cook. Illustrated. 12mo, Cloth, $1.25.

The fascinating and dramatic romance is adroitly connected with the battle between the Monitor and the Merrimac in Hampton Roads.

It is not too much to say that no single event in American history was decisive of greater issues than was the struggle between these floating iron-clad engines of war. It changed the character of naval warfare for all nations and for all time. It virtually decided the issue of the American Civil War. And that war decided, forever, a question left unsettled through all the foregoing events in our national development, the question, whether a state or any number of states could collectively nullify the Federal Constitution and secede from the Union.

In the Alamo.

By Opie Read. Cloth, 12mo, 75 cents.

This novel resembles others from Mr. Read's prolific pen only in that the scene is laid in the South. Texas, where stands the old Alamo, dedicated to the memory of a handful of America's greatest heroes, is made the center of the plot, which incorporates a bit of history that is not as familiar to the American people as it should be. The author has never originated just such a character as Zaleme. She is unique in several ways. The romance of the story is in a new vein, strong in its conception, and carried on to a logical conclusion. In this book Mr. Read has eclipsed himself, and added fresh laurels to his reputation as a novelist.

In the Shadow of the Pyramids.

By Col. Richard Henry Savage. 12mo. Cloth, Price $1.25.

The story is full of incident, rapid action and wonderful perils and escapes, just as are all stories by this writer. The date of the narrative is 1879, during the last days of Ismail Khedive. It opens with a discouraged lover, penniless Kenneth Gryffyth, seeking his friend, Charley Grosvenor, and confiding to him his hopes that the clouds were about to lift, as he had been sent for by the millionaire father of his sweetheart to come to him at a certain hour to dinner for a preliminary conference upon an important business matter.

This is the key to the whole story. The conference results in his being asked to go to Egypt as the confidential envoy of the money lenders, who were appealed to, to save Ismail from destruction. It is a fascinating tale and contains a good deal of political history mingled with its love and tragedy. The one who begins its reading will be likely to continue through to the end.

In the Swim.

By Richard Henry Savage. Cloth. Price, $1.00.

"This is 'a story of currents and undercurrents in gayest New York,' told with spirit and dash, and with an art that bears the reader along easily and holds his interest. There is much plotting and counterplotting, and the story is well worked out."

Judge Elbridge.

By Opie Read. 12mo, Cloth, $1.25.

Opie Read.

Opie Read's public—a large and growing one—does not need to be told that anything from his pen is virile, alive with incident, luminous with reliable illustrations of human character, and loyal to the real interests of mankind. "Judge Elbridge" is, as a whole, a most terrific arraignment of the spirit and practice of gambling, and is a good book for young men to read. As in his other novels, so in this one, Mr. Read shows that, while he can construct a plot of surpassing interest and make natural place for exciting events, he is not at all dependent on these things for strength. "Judge Elbridge" is an entertaining, and, what is better, a wholesome book.

Japanese Fairy Tales.

By Teresa Peirce Williston. Illustrated in five colors by Sanchi Ogawa. Cloth, square, 12mo, 80 pages, 75 cents.

Among all the beautiful books that have been published since the outbreak of the struggle between Russia and Japan, none, we believe, is more beautiful or more strikingly unique than "Japanese Fairy Tales." Others have told of the past, the present, and the future of these most interesting little people, but Mrs. Williston went straight to their literature and found there some of the most charming little fairy tales ever told to boys and girls. For hundreds of years these exquisite little stories have delighted the hearts and quickened the intellects of the children of the East. Now for the first time they have been given to American children. Mrs. Williston has retold the stories with all the characteristic flavor and charm, all the quaintness and naiveté that pervades everything from Japan.

No effort has been spared in trying to give the book a Japanese touch. The stories themselves are the stories that Japanese mothers tell to Japanese children. The illustrations were drawn by Sanchi Ogawa, a native of Japan. Mr. Ogawa is a graduate of the Imperial Art School of Tokyo, and has a first-hand Japanese instinct as well as a knowledge of Japanese tradition. The illustrations are reproduced in five colors.

King Henry V.

By William Shakespeare. Cloth, 16mo, 50 cents. Paper, 25 cents.
A Special Acting Edition of Shakespeare's Play.

In no other play has Shakespeare attempted so bold an experiment in the dramatization of war. Nowhere else has he made so emphatic an apology for disregarding the unities of time and place, nor put forth so clear a vindication of the rights of the imagination in the romantic drama.

This edition contains a complete glossary of words and phrases, as well as comprehensive notes on each act.

King Arthur and His Knights.

By Maude L. Radford. Illustrated by Walter J. Enright. Cloth, 12mo, 75 cents.

The stories in "King Arthur and His Knights" have been collected from Sir Thomas Malory's "Morte d' Arthur" and Tennyson's "Idyls of the King."

The growing interest in Anglo-Saxon mythology and the belief that American boys and girls should become familiar with the classic stories of our early literature is largely responsible for the preparation of this volume.

The King Arthur stories embody a deep and poetic message. They are of moral value to the children of this day, for they teach the best virtues of the chivalric age; gentleness to the weak, loyalty to friends, mercy to foes. The tales help to inculcate a love of truth and courage, and show the value of discipline and unselfishness.

Little Fountain of Life, A.

By Marion Foster Washburne, Author of "Every Day Essays." Cloth, — pages, $1.00.

A refreshing love story full of humor and touched with pathos. The character drawing suggests "Mrs. Wiggs"; in fact, Miss 'Postrophe U might well have lived in the "cabbage patch." The scene of the story is laid in a Chicago "settlement," where the heroine discovers a little fountain of life, which wins back her health, her sanity, and, incidentally, her lost lover. It is a book that will give much pleasure, not only because of its delightful character drawing, but because of its wholesome romance.

Last Days of Pompeii.

By Bulwer Lytton. Fifty-eight full-page monogravure illustrations. Special Cloth, Library Edition, $3.00. Half Calf, $5.00. Edition de Luxe, $6.00. Two Volumes, boxed.

Cover design by Miss Mary E. Phillips. The design in gold over Pompeian red is from a frescoe which beautified the walls of the "House of Castor and Pollux." The obverse side has two horizontal panels, the upper one showing cupids racing in goat chariots, while the lower one is evolved from a Pompeian expression in black and white. The torch on the obverse side of the cover is symbolical of the destructive force of Vesuvius. The lettering used for the title of the work is an imitation of inscriptions found at Pompeii. On the title page is a reproduction of a mosaic border, in colors, said to have been discovered in the "House of the Faun."

The edition is printed from new plates in large type, on deckle edge paper, gilt tops.

Lost Countess Falka, The.

By Richard Henry Savage. Cloth. Price, $1.00.

"A story of the Orient, and, like all novels by this popular author, full of exciting incidents and clever character sketches."

Col. Savage has written no better story than this thrilling tale of the abduction of a Hungarian maiden by a Turkish renegade, who sells her to the harem of the shah of Persia, from which she is rescued after a series of exciting adventures. The movement of the story is exceedingly well managed, and, as a novel of action, "The Lost Countess Falka" possesses much more than the usual modicum of merit.

Little Rhymes for Little Readers.

By Wilhelmina Seegmiller. Profusely Illustrated by Ruth M. Hallock. Cloth, Large Quarto, $1.25.

In selecting a book of rhymes for children, one is invariably confronted by the problem of avoiding what is either trite or commonplace, or both. Many of the best of our children's books are marred by their poor English, by a tendency to vulgarity, or by carelessness in typography or design. Miss Seegmiller's "Little Rhymes for Little Readers" are delightfully simple, and have a touch of humor and childlikeness that will make them widely read by little children and by "children of a larger growth."

The book contains seventy-five drawings, many of them being full-page, done in Miss Hallock's most delightful manner. In point of literary value and artistic merit this is one of the most notable juveniles yet issued.

The type is large and well arranged and the book is printed in dark green ink on the best coated paper.

Lorna Doone.

By R. D. Blackmore. Cloth, $3.00. Half Calf, $5.00. Edition de Luxe, $6.00.

One of the accepted classics of the nineteenth century is Blackmore's delightful story of Lorna Doone. In this edition we have prepared a special two-volume set which is particularly attractive for gift purposes. It is printed in large type from new plates on deckle-edged paper, with a gilt top and attractive binding.

The illustrations in this edition make it absolutely unique and unusually attractive. They consist of more than forty full-page monogravure plates printed in sepia, and illustrate almost every section of the Land of the Doones. The originals of these illustrations were collected at great expense by Miss Mary E. Phillips, and reproduce with absolute fidelity the setting of this famous story.

The cover design is printed in four colors, and is symbolical of the spirit and the characters of the story. Surmounting the title of the book are the arms of the House of Lorne; on the left is Sir John Ridd's staff, on the right a distaff representing Lorna; below is the torch of Hymen, and about the whole is a border of ivy, signifying matrimony. The design is held together by clusters of English wild roses. On the back of the book is the coat of arms given to Sir John Ridd by the queen of James II.

Mill of Silence, The.

By B. E. J. Capes. Artistic Cloth Binding, Gilt Top. Price, 75 cents.

"Never was there a story evolved from a writer's imagination that was fuller of mystery than this from its opening to its close. * * * The plot of the story is intricate, but well drawn; and clearly unfolded at the end, * * * and the curtain falls upon a picture full of pathos, tragedy, loneliness and sorrow."—Los Angeles Times.

"The quality of mystery that pervades the book lends additional interest to the thrilling and tragic events with which it abounds."—Detroit Tribune.

Merchant Prince of Cornville.

By Samuel Eberly Gross. Cloth, 12mo. Price, 75 cents.

Samuel Eberly Gross.

A genuine comedy, rendered in poetry that is more than passable, and containing humor that is natural and irresistible.

"It will have an honored place in my library." — Hon. Lyman J. Gage, Secretary U. S. Treasury.

"I read the 'Merchant Prince of Cornville' with much interest and was charmed with its literary excellence and humor."—Judge A. T. Clearwater, Kingston, N. Y.

Mills of Man, The.

By Philip Payne, Author of "Duchess of Few Clothes." Cloth, 12mo, $1.50.

"The Mills of Man" by Philip Payne is a story of modern life as it is lived in Chicago, U. S. A., A. D. 1904. It is a novel of love and politics, so strong in character drawing and so true its realism that the book seems to throb in the breath of life.

Few novels of recent years have been reviewed so enthusiastically as has "The Mills of Man." "The Critic," in a two-page article, reviewed it under the heading: "Is This the Long-sought Great American Novel?" The reviewer said, "It may not be extravagant to say that this book is a fair advance in the process of the evolution of the American Novel," and added Mr. Payne's characters "stand out vividly from his pages. They become acquaintances. In addition to his unusual power of charterization, we note his dialogue. It is never dull, it is never insignificant. By it the story moves on." In conclusion he says that the story has "a quality which is the promise that so good and careful a piece of work shall not be of ephemeral popularity, since its literary form is marked by both clever analysis and incontestable dramatic spirit."

Mexican Vistas.

By Harriott Wight Sherratt. Profusely illustrated. 12mo, Cloth, $1.50. Paper, 50 cents.

Harriott Wight Sherratt.

This is a story of a journey through Mexico, wherein are given charming descriptions of out-of-the-way places, scenery, customs, people, and things unfamiliar to the general reader, set forth in an entertaining manner. Mrs. Sherratt's keen observations on everything she saw and experienced, and her bright and vivacious style of writing combine to make a delightful story of the land of mañana.

Miss Nume of Japan.

By Onoto Watanna, Author of "A Japanese Nightingale," "The Heart of Hyacinth," etc. Illustrated with a color frontispiece and Japanese photographs. Cloth, 12mo, $1.25.

Onoto Watanna.

With the present interest in Japan, its life and its literature, "Miss Numè of Japan" will be of a distinct interest. It is a Japanese-American story, with all the charm and delicacy that is characteristic of the Island Empire. The romance of the story is wrought out of the lives of a young American and a Japanese maiden.

With its picture of oriental life, its Japanese dialect, and its insight into Japanese character, the book is one that will interest many readers.

Mists of Fire.

By Coats Kinney, Author of "Lyrics of the Ideal and Real." Cloth, 12mo, $1.50.

This is a volume of poems of the heart which will appeal to many for their simplicity and their pathos. There is also a trilogy of more extended poems on the larger problems of religion and psychology.

Modern Art Creations.

English Linen Cloth Binding, Gilt Edges, in Box, $15.00. Full Leather Binding, Richly Ornamented, in Box, $20.00.
Edition De Luxe. Genuine Morocco, Exquisitely Embossed, Inside of Covers Silk-Lined, in Box, $30.00.
Imperial Quarto (13x15 inches). Weighs 13 pounds, 8 ounces.

A volume of 239 Artotype Engravings of the most noted modern paintings of every land, selected with the purpose of illustrating the work of all schools and every phase of the art of to-day. Interleaved with 239 pages of descriptive, critical, and biographical text, by Michael Straus, lately Royal Art Commissioner for the Kingdom of Belgium.

The broad scope and beauty of this sumptuous volume is quite unparalleled, and in its production expense has not been spared.

The selection of subjects for reproduction, the text, the engravings, and the binding, are all the work of men of the highest eminence in their respective spheres.

Mother Goose Village.

By Madge L. Bigham. Illustrated in colors by Ella S. Brison. Large quarto, 196 pages, $1.00.

It is quite possible that Mother Goose Village is not on any map, yet after reading Miss Bigham's charming account of the things that happened there, we are ready to believe in its existence. She tells us all about "Polly Flinder's Apron," "Tommy Grace's Party," "Simple Simon's Silken Coat," "Little Miss Muffet's Valentine," and, best of all, about the "Schoolmaster's Pie."

Children delight in discovering old friends in new situations, and this book will prove a perennial joy. The book is printed in four colors in the flat poster style, and will be a standard juvenile as long as Mother Goose is a part of our children's literature.

Modern Corsair, A.

By Col. Richard Henry Savage. Cloth, 12mo. Price, $1.25.

The mongrel population, the laxity of Turkish rule, and the greed and cupidity of wily Greek and sly Armenian, make the Levant the home of modern romance. Founded upon a literally true series of startling occurrences, the exciting narrative leads from the shadow of St. Paul's to bay of Smyrna, and the soft Aegean sea, wooed by the breezes blowing over ruined Troy.

The secret struggles of land rat, water rat, and marine outlaw; the local jealousies of warring Europeans seeking the favors of sleek Pashas; the fierce love of the eastern women, can be traced in these brilliant pages, through which runs a golden thread of man's devotion and woman's trusting love.

A varied experience amid Oriental, Turkish, Egyptian, and Levantine life enables the author to weave a wonderful story.

New Hamlet, The.

By William Hawley Smith, Author of "The Evolution of Dodd" and "The Promoters." Bound in Pine Boards. Retail, 50 cents.

The most original, unique, up-to-date, and altogether out-of-the-ordinary book of the season.

The plays of "Hamlet" and "Romeo and Juliet" have been cleverly interwoven, with all the tragic element in both left out. Hamlet marries Juliet and Romeo is wedded to Ophelia. The style of the work is genuinely Shakespearean, at once scholarly and racy. The dialogue is brimful of humor, satire, quips, and gibes of the most modern kind, yet there is not a line in it that would make the judicious grieve. It is a book that "all sorts and conditions of men" (and women, too) will read and laugh over.

The make-up of the book is in keeping with all the rest. It is printed on manila paper and is literally bound in boards, the covers being "No. 2 Fencing," and the whole tied together with binding twine.

"I will not pretend to tell how much I have enjoyed The New Hamlet—the new and old play. We have all laughed and laughed over it and have taken moral and practical lessons from it, which will bear fruit in our lives, I hope.

"It is at its best when read aloud, and we have had it that way several times."

—Edward E. Hale.

Nidding Nod of Once-Upon-a-Time, The.

By H. Escott-Inman. Cloth, 12mo. Price, 75 cents.

In it he says: Herein are related the adventures of "Patty" and "Pats;" likewise the "Sawdust Elephant," "Rover" and the "Muggie Wub," more especially in the land of "One Fine Day." Also there is recorded their determination to invade the realm of the "Nidding Nod" and drive him from his throne.

Still further there is chronicled the way in which the "Nidding Nod" showed them what was what; and they revealed to the "Nidding Nod" who was who. All of which must be read before it can possibly be known and known before it can be believed.

The author proceeds in a charming way to introduce his little readers to these and sundry other folk, a task in which he is ably assisted by the illustrations of Ernold A. Mason, who shows the fairies at their revels and their incantations in such a grotesque way as to enchant childish imagination.

Norton's Hand-Book of Havana and Cuba.

By Albert J. Norton. Illustrated. Cloth, 12mo. Price, $1.00.

An invaluable work for the tourist, settler and investor, and containing a vast fund of information for the general reader. A complete description of the resources of Cuba, its government under Spain, and under the United States; its judicial and school systems; the capacity of people for self government. The many attractions of beautiful Havana are set forth in an interesting manner. A specially engraved map of Havana accompanies the book.

Owl and the Woodchuck, The.

By William Harold Neidlinger. Illustrated by Walter Bobbett. Boards. Cloth Back. Price, 50 cents.

This is a nonsense story interspersed with bits of musical jingle, and pictures of a whimsical attractiveness. Mr. Owl's song of spring and the woodchuck's jolly ballad of the silly farmer and his horse are set to gay little tunes with a tripping rhythm and a fascinating accompaniment. The woodchuck is the same mysterious animal that crawls out of his hole on Candlemas day, February 2nd, and looks at his shadow to see if spring is on the way. For all that, he is a nonsensical woodchuck, for he goes on a journey to ask Mr. Owl who is this Mr. Spring that everybody is talking about, because the woodchuck could see his own shadow? The owl does not explain himself, and the two friends part company, each convinced of the wonderful wisdom of the other.

Overall Boys, The.

Text by Eulalie Osgood Grover, author of The Sunbonnet Babies' Book. Illustrations by Bertha L. Corbett, who originated the famous Sunbonnet Babies. Price, 75 cents.

"The Overall Boys" is in every way as attractive as the famous Sunbonnet Babies' Book and will be just as popular. The illustrations are beautifully printed in colors and the type is large and clear. It is the story of the rollicking adventures of four happy little boys, with Molly and May of sunbonnet fame joining in some of their games.

Orations, Addresses and Club Essays.

By Hon. George A. Sanders. Cloth. Price, $1.25.

This is a collection of selected orations, addresses and essays of this well-known scholar and orator.

Parliamentary Lessons.

By Urquhart Lee. With an Indorsement by Hon. Thomas B. Reed. Cloth, Price, $1.00.

A hand-book of common parliamentary law arranged in eight lessons, making a complete course of instruction. Only the most simple forms are used but every question pertaining to the conducting of a meeting is fully explained. An invaluable work for the student or the novice called upon to preside over deliberative bodies.

Pirate Frog, The.

By W. A. Frisbie and "Bart." Bound in Cloth with appropriate side stamps in colors. Price, $1.00.

The authors of "The Bandit Mouse," that delightful little book of jingling verse which has been a source of such joy and amusement to the young folks, have made an equal hit with "The Pirate Frog." The color plates are gorgeous enough to win the heart of the most captious youngster, and the verses have a liveliness and entrain which reminds one of the melodious gurglings of a mountain stream. The story of "The Pirate Frog" is rapid, thrilling and tragic. The other tales in the book are very pleasing.

Prince of the House of David, The.

By J. H. Ingraham. Over thirty full-page illustrations in half-tone, and cover design, in four colors. Two volumes, Cloth, boxed, $2.00. Two volumes, half Calf, $5.00. Two volumes, Edition de Luxe, $6.00.

Among the many books treating of the life and actions of our Saviour, there is none that equals Mr. Ingraham's "Prince of the House of David." Told in a language that is beautiful in its simplicity, the story covers a period of three years and six months, embracing all the events of the life of John the Baptist, and of Jesus of Nazareth to the day of His ascension into heaven. Printed on deckle-edge paper, gilt tops, and containing over thirty half-tone pictures, illustrative of the people and scenes of biblical times, this book is a triumph of the printers' and binders' art, and is well worthy a place on the shelves of every library.

Promoters, The.

A Novel Without a Woman, by William Hawley Smith, Author of "The Evolution of Dodd," etc. With eight full-page illustrations by J. C. Gilbert. Cloth, 367 pages, $1.50.

Mr. William Hawley Smith will be remembered as the author of the famous pedagogical story, "The Evolution of Dodd," which has sold to the extent of several hundred thousand copies. This is Mr. Smith's second novel, and is as original and clever a piece of writing as "The Evolution of Dodd." "The Promoters" is a humorous and dramatic satire of modern business life. It tells of an all but successful attempt to organize the "world trust." With the present interest in great corporations and political movements, this book ought to find a ready welcome.

Puggery Wee.

The Story of Three Elephants. Verse by W. A. Frisbie. Pictures by Bart. Price, $1.00, eighty pages. Large quarto, size 9x11¼ inches. Printed in colors throughout. Bound in cloth with cover design in colors.

This is a very humorous book for little children and tells, in a way, how the animals come to be on exhibition in the menagerie. The pictures are full of action and cleverly portray the different scenes described in the verse. The type is large and clear and easily read by the little ones.

Rand-McNally Bible Atlas, The. Historical and Descriptive.

By J. L. Hurlbut, D. D., with an introduction by J. H. Vincent, D. D. Illustrated. Size, 10x12 1/2 inches. 158 pages. Cloth, $2.75.

Especially prepared for the use of students and teachers of the Bible, and for Sunday-School instruction, containing maps, plans, review charts, colored diagrams, and illustrated with accurate views of the principal cities and localities known to Bible history. By Rev. J. L. Hurlbut, D. D., Associate Editor International Sunday-school Lesson Commentary, Superintendent of Normal Department Chautauqua Assembly, etc., with an introduction by Rev. J. H. Vincent, D. D., Director of the Chautauqua Literary and Scientific Circle, etc.

A valuable feature of the work is its maps illustrating the great empires of the ancient world: The world and the Bible lands, the Old Testament world, the empire of Chedorlaomer, the empire of Rameses II, the oriental world of the age of David, the Assyrian Empire, the empire of Nebuchadnezzar and its surroundings, the Persian Empire, B. C. 536-330; the division of Alexander's Empire, the New Testament world.

New half-tone illustrations, together with many valuable revisions in the text, are embodied in the new edition, thus enhancing the value of the work.

A complete index at the end of the book contains a list of all places named in the Bible.

Rand-McNally Imperial Atlas of the World, The.

Size, 12x14 inches. Retail Price, Cloth, Colored Edges, $2.50.

The Rand-Mcnally atlases and maps are unrivalled in workmanship and subject matter by any similar publications in the United States. In consideration of this fact, the purchaser will be interested to know that the maps used in the Imperial Atlas are in every way the most satisfactory of their size and scale that we have thus far produced. The Imperial Atlas contains one hundred and fifty-eight pages of large scale colored maps, of each state and territory and of the principal cities of the United States; of the continents and their subdivisions, and of the provinces of Canada. It also contains new and accurate maps of Porto Rico, the Philippines, the Hawaiian Islands, etc. In addition to these maps the atlas contains colored plates showing the comparative distance of the planets from the sun, and the comparative size of the sun as seen from the planets, and vice versa; colored plates representing the phases of the moon, the theory of the tides, of the seasons and eclipses. The population of states, territories and counties, and of the cities, towns, boroughs and villages that appear in the latest official census of the United States are also given, together with the statistics indicating the value of foreign commerce, the imports and exports of the United States from 1852 to 1899, in millions of dollars. The atlas is equipped with a ready reference marginal index upon all the maps. As a reference book for the desk and the library the Imperial Atlas is unique.

The Official Manual of Parliamentary Law.

Thomas B. Reed.

A manual of parliamentary Law and Rules for the conduct of meetings, which will be found to be invaluable to all those connected in any way with public life or corporate bodies, being no less necessary to the director of a village school or club than to the legislator or president of some great corporation.

"I commend the book most highly."—Wm. McKinley, President United States.

"Reasonable, right, and rigid."—J. Sterling Morton, Ex-Sec'y of Agriculture.

"The necessity for such a code is apparent."—John J. Ingalls, Ex-Senator.

Reminiscences of William Wetmore Story.

By Mary E. Phillips. Illustrated. Cloth, 12mo, Gilt Top. Price, $1.75.

Perhaps we cannot better describe the scope and purpose of this charming book than by giving the title in full as it appears on the title page. Miss Phillips describes her book in this way: "Reminiscences of William Wetmore Story, the American sculptor and author, being incidents and anecdotes chronologically arranged, together with an account of his associations with famous people and his principal works in literature and sculpture."

Romola.

By George Eliot. Two volumes, boxed, 8vo, Cloth, $3.00. Half Calf, $5.00. Edition de Luxe, $5.00.

This is a special gift edition which has been prepared at great expense. The book is printed from new plates, and is elaborately illustrated with over fifty full-page monogravure plates printed in sepia. These include reproductions of famous paintings, photographs of historic scenes and portraits of persons related to the time and place of the story. These were collected largely from European sources and arranged for this edition by Miss Mary E. Phillips. The cover design, which is also by Miss Phillips, is Florentine in character and suggestive of the splendor of Florence at the time of the story. Altogether, this is one of the most attractive editions of George Eliot's famous sory.

Sense and Satire.

By William L. Breyfogle. Illustrated. Cloth, 12mo. Price, $1.50.

This is a book of short verses, by Doctor Breyfogle, wherein is represented the nineteenth century philosophy of life as it is understood by the different types of mind with which the author has become acquainted. The volume is handsomely illustrated by John W. Breyfogle.

Shooting on Upland, Marsh and Stream.

Edited by W. B. Leffingwell. Profusely Illustrated. Cloth 8vo, $1.50; Half Morocco, $3.00; Full Morocco, $4.50.

The different articles are written by seventeen well-known American sportsmen, among whom are such pleasant writers on shooting topics as T. S. Van Dyke, Amory B. Starr, George W. Baines, and C. R. Tinan. Each writer has selected the certain game bird or field topic with which he was most familiar, and the detail of each article shows intimate knowledge of the subject treated. The articles are in narrative style and the reader accompanies the writer on an imaginary shooting trip especially planned in quest of the bird selected. The description includes the birds' flights, habits, resorts, and treats of the scientific method of shooting ducks, prairie chickens, grouse, quail, snipe, wild turkeys, wild geese, plover, etc. It is a book in which old sportsmen will find many realistic scenes, and from which young ones will be able to gain a fair knowledge of the habits and methods of successful pursuit of the game birds.

Shay's Telegraphic Cipher Code.

By Frank Shay. Full Flexible Morocco Binding. Price, $5.00.

A telegraphic code for the use of shippers, merchants, stock operators, stock brokers, miners, real estate dealers and business men generally.

The design of the present work is to supply a cipher book suitable for the use of business men and women. It is frequently of importance to transmit messages with absolute secrecy. This the simple arrangement of the present code will enable the inexperienced individual to do. Moreover, the use of the cipher in the transmission of long messages results in great economy. For instance, instead of telegraphing, "If we do not hear from you at once, we shall consider the business refused," the word "fallowist" will suffice between owners of Shay's Telegraphic Cipher Code. The book is adequately supplied with index, key, etc., and will be found of value by everyone in business.

Sons and Fathers.

By Harry Stillwell Edwards. Cloth Binding, Gilt Top. Price 75 cents.

A vivid description, by a talented man, of a remarkable transition period in this country's evolution—the passage of the old South into the new. A story filled with animated, impassioned figures, a mystery and plot admirably managed, full of startling surprise and dramatic climax, amazingly interesting, described with delightful eloquence. Mr. Edwards has the rare gift of keeping the secret of his tangled, many-threaded plots, so that their disentanglement comes as a true surprise.

Squirrel and the Crow, The.

By William Harold Neidlinger. Illustrated by Walter Bobbett. Boards. Cloth Back. Price, 50 Cents.

Beautiful melodies are chosen to assist in telling the interesting story of "The Squirrel and the Crow," and clever sketches, large and small, are profusely scattered throughout the volume.

Animal stories enchant all children and the picturesque situations, comic and serious, in which Mr. Owl, Mr. Dicky Duck, Mr. Bullfrog, Mr. Rabbit and the Monkey are entangled, are delightfully real. Color adds greater charm to Mr. Bobbett's excellent illustrations. A good story is told in beautiful, clear type from the entrance of Mr. Crow to his mad effort to escape from the infuriated Miss Squirrel, and her friends, which holds the child's breathless attention.

Songs of the Open.

Words by Mary Grant O'Sheridan. Music by W. C. E. Seeboeck. Border decorations by E. B. Comstock and G. M. Hurst. Size, 9x11¾ inches, 108 pages, 31 songs. Price $1.25.

A book of Children's Nature Songs. Both words and music are original compositions. The composer's and author's names are sufficient guarantee of the high character of the work.

The book is printed in two colors on heavy paper and is substantially bound in cloth with artistic cover stamp. Illustrated with attractive pictorial border on each page.

Stony Lonesome.

By Arthur J. Russell. With two hundred marginal drawings by Ruth M. Hallock. Cloth, 12mo, $1.00.

This is a downeast story of a boy's town. The doings of "Pewee" Jackson, "Shorty" Hitchcock, "Mealey" Johnson, and the other members of the "gang" are told with fresh and delightful humor. Every one who has been a boy (and would like to be one) will laugh and grow young over this book.

"Stony Lonesome" is a sleepy New England village, inhabited by a "gang" of boys, with here and there a parent or an "Uncle Ellery" to give a background to their pranks and plottings. The picture which Mr. Russell draws of this town, with its quaint characters, is unique in literature. Nothing as graphic in its character drawing, as spontaneous in its humor, as vivid in its dialogue, has been written of a New England town. The story is unstudied and absolutely devoid of pedantry. It is bubbling over with good nature, with the laughter of real boys, and the irresponsible spirit of youth.

One of the "grown ups" of the book is old "Uncle Ellery," the town oracle and coffin-maker. Uncle Ellery is a philosopher and a stanch friend of the boys. In fact, we suspect he is only a gray-haired boy himself, for he says that "a boy is never grown up until it hurts him to fall out of a tree."

The marginal drawings by Miss Hallock, which enliven every page of the book, are as full of fun as the book itself.

Sunbonnet Babies' Book.

By Eulalie Osgood Grover. Illustrated with nearly 100 drawings in four colors by Bertha L. Corbett. Cloth, large quarto, $1.00.

The Sunbonnet Babies promise to take a place beside Kate Greenaway's children and Palmer Cox's brownies. They have traveled from one end of the country to the other on cards or valentines, but this is the only book written about them or illustrated by Miss Corbett. The fact that it is already in its seventy-fifth thousand suggests something of its popularity with little children. It is a book about Molly and May, two Sunbonnet Babies, who do all the things, and see all the sights, that real girls and boys do and see at the happy age of five or six.

The book is printed in large type and is illustrated throughout in four colors. The pictures lead irresistibly to the text, and the book has become one of the first to be placed in children's hands when they begin to read. Altogether, it is one of the daintiest picture books for children that has appeared in recent years.

Sword and Cross.

By Charles Eugene Banks, author of "Quiet Music," "Where Brooks Go Softly," etc. 12mo, Cloth. $1.25.

Charles Eugene Banks.

This is a volume of poems interpreting the silent strength, the quiet beauty, and the deep significance of nature in her gentler moods. They also touch the heart of humanity with a master hand, whether to expound its mysteries or to minister sympathy, and comfort.

That Girl Montana.

By Marah Ellis Ryan, Author of "The Bondwoman," "Told in the Hills," etc. Cloth, 12mo. Retail, 75 cents.

Mrs. Ryan has written in "That Girl Montana" a story full of that subtle charm which compels a sympathetic interest from its opening chapter. The author takes her characters to the wilds of Idaho, in the land of the Kootenais, where the reader is made acquainted with people who win admiration for their honesty, sincerity, and the whole-souled generosity of their natures. Montana is a typical wild-flower of the West, nurtured among the confines of her beloved hills.

A novel best described by the adjective good. The greatest compliment that can be paid the book is that it can stand repeated perusals.

True Bear Stories.

By Joaquin Miller, author of "Songs of the Sierras," etc. Illustrations in black and white, and in colors, 12mo, Cloth. $1.25.

Mr. Miller has tried to show the bear as he is, not the traditional bear of the storybooks. Bears have one thing in common—they are never cruel. They are generally full of homely, careless kindness, and are fond of music, as well as of honey, blackberries, nuts, fish, and other delicacies of the savage feast. The author of this book has brought the distinctive features of the different bears before the reader so as to instruct as well as to interest children and children's parents in the simple realities of bear life.

Twentieth Century Manual of Railway and Commercial Telegraphy, The.—4th Edition. Revised and Enlarged.

By Fred L. Meyer. Illustrated with numerous cuts and engravings. Cloth, 12mo, $1.00.

A thoroughly practical and instructive work on telegraphy. The most complete, comprehensive and thoroughly up-to-date book of its kind on the market. It embraces all kinds of practical train orders, railway and commercial messages, phrases, universal abbreviations, punctuations and other compilations of vital importance to both student and operator, covering, as it does, a great many branches of railway and commercial business unknown to the average operator, who has not had an opportunity to work on more than one or two roads.

"The Twentieth Century Manual of Railway and Commercial Telegraphy contains many practical points, and I am glad to see its publication as an aid to both railway and commercial telegraphers.

"I consider this work a distinct advantage to students of telegraphy, and I am glad to recommend it."—F. H. Tubbs, Superintendent of Western Union Telegraph Company, Chicago, Ill.

Uncle Sam Abroad.

By J. E. Conner. Cloth, 12mo, $1.25.

Lawyers, professors, teachers, and students will find in this book, in interesting and convenient form a complete treatment of a subject everybody wants to know about. It presents something after the manner of a series of University Extension lectures, information in regard to the diplomatic and consular service of the United States.

The book is cleverly written, is an entertaining and informing volume, and one which may be read by old and young with both pleasure and profit.—Toledo Blade.

Under Three Flags.

By B. L. Taylor and A. T. Thoits. Cloth, Gilt Top. Price, 75 cents.

Beginning with a supposed murder committed in a small town in Vermont by an unknown person, the scene of action is soon transferred to Cuba, that land of adventure, where, indeed, thrilling moments are encountered a-plenty by the actors in the drama. In turn, each of four men are suspected of the murder, and interest is kept at fever heat, until the last chapter, when it is disclosed that suicide and not murder, was committed in the Vermont bank. Two charming women are won by two gallant men during the Cuban excitements, so that love shares in the scheme of the story. The title is derived from the fact that the flags of Cuba, the United States and Spain all protect the characters at various times.

Uncle Tom's Cabin.

By Harriet Beecher Stowe. Illustrated. Cloth, 12mo. Price, $1.25.

An entirely new edition of this great classic, printed in pleasing type upon deckle-edged paper, with gilt top. The binding is unique and striking, and the full-page illustrations, of which there are thirty, add fresh charm to the story. An engaging and little-known portrait of Mrs. Stowe serves as frontispiece. This elegant edition is sure to be a favorite.

Unknown Life of Jesus Christ, The.

By Nicholas Notovitch, the Discoverer of the Manuscript. Cloth, 12mo, Price, $1.00.

This history of Christ was written immediately after the Crucifixion, that event being reported by eye-witnesses. The original manuscript antedates the four Gospels, and has been jealously guarded in the Buddhist Monastery at Lassa in Thibet, unknown and unsuspected by Christians.

This volume written by the discoverer of the manuscript, contains a thrilling account of the privations and perils encountered in his search for it, a literal translation of the original manuscript, and lastly a critical analysis of what it contains.

Viking Tales.

By Jennie Hall. Illustrated by Victor R. Lambdin. Cloth, 12mo, 75 cents.

"Viking Tales" is another volume of classic stories retold for young people. It is more, however, than a book of legends, for it contains many of the most attractive accounts of the early explorations and adventures of the Norsemen, ending with the discovery of America by Lief Ericsen. The Norsemen were the most romantic people of the Northern seas, and the stories of their adventures, expeditions, and courageous fighting, are among the most fascinating classic literature.

Water Babies.

By Charles Kingsley. Illustrated. Cloth, 12mo. $1.25.

A special holiday edition has been prepared on an elaborate scale of this one of the most charming stories for children ever written. The text has been liberally illustrated with nearly a hundred cuts, besides which there are eight full-page half-tone pictures printed in colors. The ornate and artistic cover design was originated by Miss Mary E. Phillips, who also executed the text drawings.

Wings and Stings.

By Agnes McClelland Daulton. Cloth, 12mo, 208 pages, 75 cents.

This little book has been written with but one object in view the bringing of the child near to Nature's heart. Every effort has been made to give to dry scientific facts the breath of out-of-doors. Believing that this can be done only through the story form, the bees, ants, birds, and blossoms have been made to tell their own life histories.

The book will bring to the boys and girls a vision of green fields, leafy forests, sunny meadows, and running brooks. It will make one hear the buzzing of bees, the song of birds, and breathe the fragrance of the clover.

The book is profusely illustrated with more than two-hundred pen and ink marginal drawings by the author. Altogether, this is one of the most attractive books on nature study for children. It is not a volume of scientific essays, but a series of dramatic stories giving the life history of the different insects.

Whom to Trust.

By P. R. Earling. Cloth, 12mo. Price, 75 cents.

This treatise on mercantile credits is the outgrowth of a long and successful experience in business life. No effort has been made to deal with the subject from the standpoint of theory or political economy. Intended for business men and for practical use, the material has been prepared concisely and to the point—that point being how to make credits.

Wild Fowl Shooting.

By William Bruce Leffingwell. Handsomely illustrated. Cloth, 8vo, $1.50. Half Morocco, $3.00.. Full Morocco, gilt edges, $4.50.

With one exception, no American has ever attempted to write a book exclusively on the subject of wild fowl shooting, so that this book, dealing particularly with the game of our inland waters, supplies a long felt want. Mr. Leffingwell is an acknowledged authority in woodland craft. His practical suggestions are invaluable to the hunter, while his anecdotes and genuine nature studies make a book very interesting to the general reader.

Yankee From the West, A.

By Opie Read. Cloth, 12mo. Price, $1.00.

In "A Yankee From the West" the author offers his readers fresh riches gathered, first-hand, from universal nature and human life—riches of truth, beauty, sentiment, humor and pathos.

The more rugged elements of heroism live, act and triumph in William Milford, once on the ragged edge of ruin. The Norwegian heroine, Gunhild, is altogether charming. Professor Dolihide yields irresistible fun, at first, but goes out of life with all the fun obscured in a pathetic tragedy which reveals in him unsuspected elements of strength and dignity. The whole cast is good.

It is long since any American novel has been enriched by such a character study as that of Professor Dolihide. He is sentimental, cultured, visionary, always enthusiastic and always unpractical; and grieves because no one will take him seriously, while all the time he is in deadly earnest about the most ridiculous things.

Libraries of Standard and Popular Works.

The Rand-McNally Libraries have long enjoyed the reputation of being the most satisfactory books at their prices published in America.

The Advance Library.

Cloth, 12mo. Price, 50 cents per Volume.

The best titles from the most popular writers have been selected for this series. The mechanical part of the work is as nearly perfect as possible. The books are printed on fine laid paper, free from ground wood and guaranteed not to become yellow with age. The text is in perfectly clear, readable type. The binding is linen book cloth, beautifully and artistically embossed in colors.

The Atlantic Library.

Cloth, 12mo. Price, $1.00 per Volume.

Already to the front among the Rand-McNally libraries, The Atlantic Library is creating for itself a steadily increasing demand. It is another witness to the fact that there is always room in the market for good books when they can be supplied at a reasonable cost. The volumes included in the Atlantic Library hold a permanent and high place among the English Classics and they are, accordingly, issued in a form appropriate to the library. The books are printed on extra laid paper, with trimmed edges and gold tops and are bound in maroon silk-ribbed cloth.

The Independent Library.

Cloth, 12mo. Illustrated. Price, $1.00 per Volume.

The special features of the Independent Library are the varied stampings and the assorted colors of the cloth. Six artistic designs used in embossing the covers, and six shades of cloth—gray, red, olive, green, blue and brown—make it the most attractive and desirable library published. An elegant window or counter display can be made with this series alone. All of the decorations are in the latest and most approved style, and the books are printed on extra laid paper, with trimmed edges and gold tops. This series will unquestionably meet with the approval of those who appreciate good literature and good bookmaking.

The Oriental Library.

Price, 25 cents per Volume.

The names of the authors represented in this libary are a guarantee of the highest grade of literature. Each story is distinctive in character and replete in humor, pathos, romance, thrilling episodes, fascinating plots, and human interest. The high standing of the writers, the perfect mechanical construction, the large, clear, readable type, the fine paper and the handsome, specially designed covers, in colors, combine to make them the peers of paper novels. A careful selection of titles has been made with the view of maintaining the high standard of this library, and as a consequence it comprises the most popular and rapid-selling copyright books ever placed on the market.

Rand, McNally & Co.'s Celebrated Indexed Pocket Maps.

Latest Official Census.

The Indexed Pocket Maps.

Paper, folded, 6¾x4 inches. Price, 25 cents.

These comprise maps of each state and territory of the United States and nine provinces of Canada. The maps are large and clear, printed on the finest map paper, folded to convenient pocket size, and are accompanied by a new and original ready reference index, showing at a glance the entire railroad system, the express company doing business over each road, and accurately locating all cities, towns, post offices, railroad stations, villages, counties, islands, lakes, and rivers.

The special features of these pocket maps are: Location of the branch or particular division of railroad upon which each station is situated; the nearest mailing point of all localities; the money order offices, telegraph stations, express companies, and the post office address nearest to any point not yet supplied with mail service. They are bound in substantial manila covers.

The Vest Pocket Maps.

Paper, folded, 5¼x2½. Price, 15 cents.

The maps are the same as those used in the Indexed Editions. Towns and population figures are printed on the backs, and the maps are folded to vest pocket size and inserted in strong manila covers. Numerals printed in red on the face of the maps refer to an index at the bottom, by which may be seen at a glance what railroads and express companies operate at the point so numbered.

ALCOCK, Deborah.

Under Calvin's Spell. A Tale of Heroic Times in Old Geneva. Illustrated, cloth..... †1.50
A historical novel of the time of Calvin and the Huguenots.

ALLEN, ROBERT, of Tippecanoe, Ind.

Letters of an Old Methodist to His Son in the Ministry. 12mo, cloth..... ... . 1.25
"Letters in which any young clergyman of whatever faith will not fail to find advice, instruction and inspiration. It is not such advice as the 'goody-goody' papa would give to a 'willy-boy,' but is such hard-headed sense as one would expect to emanate from a mature man of the world, well seasoned by experience, and savored by grace."—Boston Transcript.

ANDERSON, Sir Robert, K.C.B., LL.D.

Pseudo Criticism: The higher criticism and its counterfeit. 16mo, cloth..... ... . .75
An exposure by which a false system of Destructive Criticism has been discredited and almost supplanted.

The Bible and Modern Criticism. Large 8vo, cloth 1.50
"This doughty defense of the traditional theories of the Scriptures is written with the earnestness of deep conviction, in a straight-forward, dogmatic, eloquent style. The author, it is to be inferred from his titles, is an English lawyer and has been a judge. He corrals the whole multitude of higher critics, arraigns them, summons the witnesses, reports their testimony, declares the culprits guilty, describes their guilt, lectures them and pronounces sentence."—Congregationalist.

Daniel in the Critics' Den. A reply to Prof. Driver. 12mo, cloth..... 1.25

ANGUS-GREEN.

¶The Cyclopedic Handbook to the Bible. An Introduction to the study of the Scriptures by the late Joseph Angus, M. A., M. D. Thoroughly revised and in part rewritten by Samuel G. Green, D. D.. 8vo, cloth..... ..... 2.00
"In its present revised form much has been added from the gains acquired by a half-century of increasing knowledge, while the original plan, with some rearrangement, remains the same. Its two divisions go into manifold details, historical, apologetic, hermeneutic, and others. With some concessions to modern criticism, the general view maintained is strongly conservative."—The Outlook.

BALLARD, Susan.

Fairy Tales From Far Japan. Translated by Miss Ballard of St. Hilda's Mission, Tokio. With Prefactory note by Mrs. Isabella L. Bishop. Illustrated by 47 Engravings from Japanese originals. 4to, cloth .75

"Miss Ballard has done English readers a service in placing within their reach a few of the most popular specimens of Japanese fairy lore, showing the sort of pabulum on which Japanese children are reared. I have much pleasure in commending these charming tales to all who desire a glimpse into Japanese fairy lore."—Mrs. Isabella L. Bishop, in the Introduction.

BALLENGER, A. F., Evangelist.

Power for Witnessing. On the Reception and Work of the Holy Spirit. 12mo, cloth.. 1.00

"The author has consecration, conviction, intellectual and spiritual dynamics. He is human like the rest of us."—The Standard.

BANKS, Rev. Louis Albert, D. D.

Thirty-one Revival Sermons. On themes drawn from the lives of Elijah and Elisha. 12mo, cloth..... ..... 1.25

A distinctive characteristic of Dr. Banks' sermons is his effective use of original illustrations. This added to their pointed appeals have caused his sermons to be widely read and studied by preachers and teachers.

Unused Rainbows. Prayer Meeting Talks. 12mo, cloth, gilt top..... 1.00

BARLOW, Rev. J. L.

Endless Being; or, Man Made for Eternity. Introduction by P. S. Henson, D.D. 12mo, cloth .75

"Admirable in tone, free from any littleness, calm and earnest in spirit."—The National Baptist.

BARNARD, Charles.

The Door in the Book. Illustrated by Mary A. Lathbury. 12mo, cloth 1.00

"A novelty in Bible stories that is sure to please youthful readers and grown folks as well. In it Biblical narrative is woven into a sort of Lewis Carroll story with an Edith for an Alice and a child of Bible times for her escort. With the door unlocked and open the child steps through and the author proceeds with his charming conception where a small twentieth century girl walks and talks with Bible children."—Brooklyn Eagle.

BARRETT, Rev. Prof. R. N.

BAYNE, PETER.

The Testimony of Christ to Christianity. With an introduction by G. Campbell Morgan. 12mo, cloth .... .75

"The chief value of the work for the present period, however, will lie in its excellent analysis of the moral and intellectual perfection of Christ; and in its insistence upon the unique fact of Christianity, at once the secret of its power and its greatest miracle, namely, Christ Himself. The fascinating style and splendid diction make the book good reading."—Christian Intelligencer.

BEACH, Rev. Harlan P.

BEECHER, Thomas K., D. D.

In Time with the Stars. Stories for children. Illustrated, 12mo, cloth ..... .75

"Mr. Beecher's name is sufficient commendation of this charming collection, on which we have heretofore commented. Of course there is not a dull paragraph in the volume, while each story carries a sound lesson. It is a good addition to the library of children's classics."—The Outlook.

BELL, John.

A Miracle of African Missions. The Story of Matula, a Congo Convert. 16mo, cloth ...60

"Exactly what its title implies, 'A Miracle.' The change wrought in the Apostle Paul was not greater, that in Jerry Macauley not more profound. Outside the Christian religion no such story ever was told. It ought to be digested and preached in every pulpit in the land."—Interior.

BENGEL, John Albert.

Gnomon of the New Testament. Edited by Blackley and Hawes, and with an Introduction by Prof. R. F. Weidner, D.D. 3 vols., boxed, 12mo, cloth 6.00

Adaora. The Romance of a West African Girl. Illustrated, 12mo, cloth..... .50

"In a mission station in West Africa, the scene of this little story is laid. The little love story of the two native young people, Adaora and Nwaosu, is a charming bit of romance. Should be added to our young people's missionary library."—Christian Observer.

BISHOP, Isabella L., F.R.G.S.

Korea and Her Neighbors. Illustrated from Original Photographs. 8vo, cloth..... 2.00

Mrs. Bishop is a model traveler, intelligent, observing, unprejudiced, patient and untiring. Add to this the experience which comes from years of travel in the East, her eminent fitness to travel through such a country as Korea and write a book about it is apparent. To the general reader the book can be commended as a timely and interesting book of travel, and to the Christian student the observations and conclusions respecting missionary work will have more than a passing interest.—New York Observer.

Latin America. The Pagans, the Patriots, the Protestants, and the Present Problem. 12mo, cloth, illustrated..... 1.20

"Supplies a positive want, inasmuch as nothing has yet appeared covering the field with such intimate knowledge. He views Latin America from four points. First, as a pagan region; second, becoming a great Roman Catholic region; third, and more interestingly, Mr. Brown describes the South American patriots--such men as Bolivar and Juarez, for instance--their fight for independence, and especially their struggle for religious liberty; lastly he describes Latin America as viewed by a Protestant, contrasting papal and Protestant conditions, and indicating the prospect for Protestant work. The author's words have considerable weight, as they are the result of his sixteen years of service as a missionary in Mexico."—The Outlook.

BURRELL, Rev. David James.

¶Christ and Other Men. 12mo, cloth... 1.20
Dr. Burrell's sermons have a standard quality that marks all of his writing. This series of sermons is intended to set out the human side of Jesus' character as shown in his interviews with men, his tact, his discernment, his delicate handling of people. As Heine says: "Jesus was no dreamer among the shadows, but a man among men."

Christ and Progress. A Discussion of the Problems of our Times. 12mo, cloth.. ... 1.20
Like all Dr. Burrell's sermons these are rational, practical, affirmative, forceful. They give us a rare combination of old theology with new life, humor with seriousness, sturdy defense with gentle consideration.

CURTIS, William Eleroy.

¶Egypt, Burma and British Malaysia. Illustrated. 8vo, cloth..... 2.00

Mr. Curtis is the most skillful observer in the ranks of American travelers and correspondents. His pages are fascinating pictures of life, men and affairs in out-of-the-way places, and moreover he tells one just the things most worth knowing about everywhere he goes, whether it is scenery, politics, business or religion.

"Breezy letters of information too valuable to be forgotten."—Register and Leader.

"Long experience has given Mr. Curtis the ability (amounting almost to an acquired intuition) to penetrate beneath appearances and to avoid the pitfalls and snares into which many an unsophisticated traveler from the West so easily falls a victim."—The Interior.

¶Modern India. Illustrated. 8vo, cloth..... 2.00

With so many books on India one might ask, why any more? The answer is that Mr. Curtis has a way of finding out what others miss, and of telling his story so that it cannot be forgotten.

"Mr. Curtis has a marvelous power of taking in many things at a glance. As you follow him you see one after another the sights that would meet your eye if you were present in the flesh."—Record-Herald, Chicago.

"Of very timely interest. The book gives the information that the average person needs about the near Eastern question."—New York Evening Post.

"The pre-eminent merit of Mr. Curtis' book is that he sees clearly and writes tellingly. No newspaper writer except perhaps George Kennan surpasses him in this respect. He is well known as a writer on Europe, Asia, Africa and South America and few men have ever had so extensive an acquaintance with notable characters of the different nations; few have enjoyed so many novel experiences, or have witnessed so many important events."—The Pittsburg Gazette.

"Mr. Du Bois has earned the right to be heard attentively on the treatment of children. The latest volume from him is not less valuable than his 'Point of Contact in Teaching.' He teaches adults about children in much the same way as he would have them teach children. We do not know any book in which the average reader can find a clearer setting forth of the new psychology."—Congregationalist.

DUNCAN, Norman.

"The Mother" is a short novel that shows what a master can do at depicting a single great human emotion. It is the story of a self-supporting young widow, naturally rather vulgar, who is beatified with the possession of a love for her little boy, a love so large that no man could have greater, for she is willing to give her life for him. Although the theme of the story is simplicity itself, there is variety in every line of the telling, and one is held under the peculiar spell of a man who knows how to depict the honest truth of a human heart, the tears next the smiles, purity and cunning close together, animal and angel united as they are. To some it will be a good story and to some a masterpiece.

GUINNESS, H. Grattan, D. D.

¶History Unveiling Prophecy; or, Time as an Inter-

A graphic story of the gradual unveiling of the meaning of the Apocalypse in the light of the events of history. It traces this development through eighteen centuries, from the days of the apostolic and martyr Church to those of the mediæval Church, the Reformed Church, and the Church of modern times. It is a history of the gradual evolution during eighteen centuries, under the influence of historical facts, of that system of interpretation which has commended itself to the most temperate and enlightened minds, as in harmony with the Word and Providence of God.

¶The Universal Elements in the Christian Religion. Cloth, 12mo..... 1.25

The six chapters of this volume are lectures delivered before Vanderbilt University. With the great breadth of view, and fraternal and evangelical spirit which Dr. Hall is admitted to possess, he presents the position in which the Christian Church finds herself with reference to the world she is to influence. The chapters are:

1. The Church and the Christianization of the World.
2. The Bearing of Sectarian Movements upon the Christianization of the World.
3. The Recovery of Apostolic Theology.
4. The Constructive Office of Biblical Criticism.
5. The Saviour of the World.
6. The Larger Church of Christ.

HARBAND, Beatrice M.

¶The Pen of Brahma. Peeps into Hindu Hearts and Homes. 12 full-page illustrations. Cloth, 12mo..... 1.25

Miss Harband has a gift for making the life of far-away people seem intensely real. "The Pen of Brahma" is the natural irregular fissures in the skull, which to the Hindu mind is the unalterable fate written at birth on each mortal by the hand of the God. A novel is not more fascinating than this picture of life told with spirited touch and sympathetic insight.

Daughters of Darkness in Sunny India. 12mo, cloth..... 1.00

Miss Harband gives us a charming variation among stories from the mission fields. She shows us the Missionary and the Gospel as they are seen through the eyes of a little Hindu maiden. The story has marked literary merit, and the writer has shown great skill in weaving the facts of her observation into a harmonious narrative.

HESS, Isabella R.

¶Saint Cecilia of the Court. Illustrated. 12mo, cloth..... †1.25

A strikingly beautiful story that unites rapid action and dramatic situation with great tenderness, an unusual combination. St. Cecilia is the nickname of a little red-haired girl, whose temper is hardly in accord with it, but who eventually rises superior to the discouragement of "The Court" in downtown New York where she lives. The pathos and humor are natural, the story showing many sides of life in the great city, the tenements, the hospitals, the saloons and the good that lives there and will not die. Readers will enjoy exceedingly the good character drawing.

HUME, Robert A., D. D.

¶Missions from the Modern View. Introduction by Charles Cuthbert Hall, D. D. 12mo, cloth, ... 1.25

A statesmanlike view of the conditions confronting the advance of Christianity in the East. The author sees both sides of his subject from East and West view points, with great clearness. Sensible, clear, business-like, he points out the changing and recrystallizing conditions that Christian missions must meet and the necessary readjustment of missionary methods.

"More sensible and convenient, and every way more satisfactory than any book of the kind we have ever known. For some years we have had it in constant service in our Bible study; and our sense of its value has grown with the passing years. We know of no other work comparable with it in this department of study."—Extracts from editorial in The Sunday School Times.

THE INTERNATIONAL PULPIT.

A new series of sermons and essays representing mines of thought and illustration from some of the keenest thinkers of the day. Issued at a uniform popular price..... *1.00

The Loom of Providence. By Robert McKenzie, D.D., Rutgers Presbyterian Church, New York.

"Characterized by clearness, simplicity and vigor. It aims at 'the cultivation of faith and hope under the discipline of God' in such a way as 'to enlist the attention and memory of active business men.'"—The Outlook.

The Modern Crisis in Religion. By George C. Lorimer, D.D.

"A theme of transcendent interest....Dr. Lorimer is very much up-to-date in his knowledge of men and things and conditions. He sees clearly the trend of modern thought, and he does not fear to face the situation, with all its perplexities and its baffling problems....It ought to have a wide reading. Ministers and laymen alike will find in it food for thought and stimulus to higher thinking and nobler living."—The Examiner.

City Temple Sermons. By R. J. Campbell. (Joseph Parker's successor.)

"The keynote is that of personal devotion to Christ and it opens doors of suggestion wherever it is applied along the line of human experience and need."—The Congregationalist

JOHNSON, Franklin, D.D., LL.D.

The Christian's Relation to Evolution. A question of gain or loss. 12mo, cloth..... 1.00

"In this book I neither oppose nor advocate the doctrine of evolution. I am concerned only to estimate its value to the Christian who holds it. When cast into the scales of our accustomed Christian beliefs, how much does it disturb them? If it imperils his cherished convictions or his activity in the service of God and man, how shall he escape this danger?"—Preface.

JOHNSTON, Howard Agnew, D. D.

Bible Criticism and the Average Man. 12mo. Cloth..... 1.00

"Discusses the nature, history, services and errors of Bible Criticism and its practical bearing on each book or group of books in the bible, and tries to show the average man about where he may reasonably stand on those vexed questions. For thousands in our churches it will resolve doubts, banish fears, promote courage, and draw separate brethren together in happy and fruitful love."—Herald and Presbyter.

JONES, J. D.

¶Elims of Life and other sermons. 12mo, cloth..... 1.00

"Mr. Jones is of the general type of thought with which Mr. Dawson of London has made so many American audiences familiar. In these discourses the spiritual and ethical element predominates, the form is plain and lucid, the aim is practical."—The Outlook.

JONES, John P., D. D., A. B. C. F. M.

India's Problem, Krishna or Christ. 8vo, illustrated, cloth.....1.50

"Twenty-five years on the firing line in India has given Dr. Jones an insight into the educational and evangelistic conditions of India that few men have. He presents with wondrous clearness the complex problem of a multitude of races, castes, dialects and religions. One needs to read the book before he comprehends the masterful battle that missionary forces are waging for India. Dr. Jones' historical statements are carefully authenticated. His descriptions are of unrivaled interest. It is an all-round, up-to-date, vigorous, sane treatment of one of the greatest questions of the day."—Christian Endeavor World.

JORDAN, Prof. W. G.

The Philippian Gospel; or, Pauline Ideals. 12mo, cloth 1.25

¶Self Control: Its Kingship and Majesty. Decorated. 12mo, cloth..... 1.00

The need of a permanent form for these robust essays on a right attitude toward life, heretofore published in separate booklets, has resulted in their consolidation in one handsome volume.

"Should sell by tens of millions. It's just the counsel universally needed. It shows a man not what he might become, but what he may become, and is tendered as from man to man."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

The Kingship of Self-Control. The Kingship Series. 12mo, decorated boards..... .30

A new edition. Old English boards, 12mo.. *.35

"Attracts attention for its striking individuality, humor, keen analysis and practical knowledge and insight into the weakness of human nature....Helpful and hopeful and has a bracing atmosphere and a tonic effect on all readers."—Boston Gazette.

The Majesty of Calmness. The Kingship Series. 12mo, decorated boards..... .30

A new edition. Old English boards, 12mo.. *.35

"When a man fails in life, he usually says: 'I am as God made me.' When he succeeds, he proudly proclaims himself a 'self-made man.' The charm of the volume is in its wholesome, sturdy outlook on fine truths. Mr. Jordan is epigrammatic to bluntness, sententious to hardness; and herein lies the great force of these compact bits of wisdom. A shrewd, keen mind has cut out every sentence with kindliness and a wide optimism."—The Criterion.

JOWETT, Rev. J. H.

¶The Passion for Souls. 16mo, cloth..... .50

Seven sermons on the themes tenderness, watchfulness, companionship, rest and vision of the apostle Paul's passion for human souls. So well known has Mr. Jowett become on both sides of the Atlantic that the quality of his writing is anticipated. This little volume shows his keen, reverent insight at its best and is made rich with abundant and well chosen illustrations.

KNOWLES, Robert E.

¶St. Cuthbert's. 12mo, cloth .. .. †1.50

A novel that does for life in a Canadian parish what Ian Maclaren did for his Scotch church folk. Humor is so mingled with pathos that one feels it is all true, while hard common sense and the spirit of the poet and seer combine on the same page with indescribable effectiveness. It has all the ear marks of a book that will become a classic.

KNOX, John.

¶The History of the Reformation of Religion in Scotland, with which are included Knox's confession and the book of discipline. A Twentieth Century Edition. Revised and edited by Cuthbert Lennox, with frontispiece portrait. Illustrated. 8vo, cloth 2.00

This is a classic prepared for modern readers. Thomas Carlyle said of Knox's history: "The story of this great epoch is nowhere to be found as impressively narrated as in this book of Knox's." Mr. Lennox has prepared a book for the heart—a human book written by one who neither flattered nor feared any flesh.

KUYPER, Prof. A., D.D., LL.D.

Calvinism. Second Edition. Being the L. P. Stone Lectures for 1898. Delivered in Princeton Theological Seminary. 8vo, cloth..... *1.25

LEE, Mrs. Ada.

An Indian Priestess. Being the life story of Chundra Lela. 12mo, cloth, very fully illustrated..... .50

A most impressive and absorbing story. Chundra Lela was the daughter of a Brahmin, married at seven, a widow at nine. After her father's death she sought peace in a sad and gloomy pilgrimage crowded with the most awful austerities. The story of her conversion is remarkable.

LE FEUVRE, Amy.

Jill's Red Bag. Illustrated, 12mo,cloth... .75

"From playing at religion first, as children play Indian; then as others play at acting, Jack and Jill make their way to real piety and well doing. The narration is very well managed and will seem credible to children."—Boston Transcript.

"Probable Sons." 75th thousand. Small 4to, decorated cloth, with new illustrations .60
12mo, cloth.... .35
Paper..... .15

"We do not know the author of this very touching tale. It is equal to 'Fishin' Jimmy' in its way, while as an illustration of the text, 'A little child shall lead them,' it is the most irresistibly pathetic tale we remember to have seen. Among the brightest, most charming and irresistible of child-creations in our recent literature."—The Independent.

Two Tramps. Illustrated, 12mo, cloth.... .75

The Odd One. Profusely Illustrated. Small 4to, decorated cloth..... 1.00

"One of those delightful, innocent, entrancing little pieces of individualism that creep into the hearts of the world's older children ere they are aware of it, and steal their secrets by the very comfortableness of the clear-sighted sympathy which exhales from these whose nature is pure truth."—Minneapolis Times.

"Cherry," the Cumberer that bore Fruit. 12mo, decorated cloth..... 1.00

"'Cherry' bids fair to rival 'Probable Sons' both in attractiveness and fruitful instruction. The story is so told that the children and the elders are equally captivated. Above all, the truth brought out touches, inspires and provokes thought and action."—Augsburg Teacher.

On the Edge of the Moor. Illustrated. 12mo, cloth..... 1.00

An interesting narrative of the means by which a city girl, thrown among a number of rough, untutored country people, became an influence for good to her entire neighborhood.

Dwell Deep. Illustrated. 16mo, cloth .... .75

"A story of a girl who, being left without a home, went to live with her guardian, who had a number of children. Hilda Thorn was trying to be a Christian, and her associates were very worldly, which made it hard for her. It is an interesting story, with the reality of experience."—The Religious Herald.

His Big Opportunity. Illustrated. 12mo,cloth, .75

"Aside from its lively interest, this story will be good for boys to read. It does not preach, but its influence is strong for the right, and it leaves a smack of hearty encouragement in the youthful mind."—The Independent.

Teddy's Button. Illustrated. Small 4to, decorated, cloth..... .50

"'Teddy's Button' was taken from the coat of his dying soldier father, and in the hands of the boy became a sort of talisman and an incentive to valiant service as a soldier of Jesus Christ. The story is one of fascinating interest, and the moral of it is not far to seek. The little folks will need no urging to read it."—The Evangelist.

A Thoughtless Seven. Profusely Illustrated. Small 4to, decorated cloth ..... .50

A record of the doings of seven brothers and sisters who spend their summer vacation at the sea-shore. One of them becomes impressed with the fact that they should not waste their time so entirely, and endeavors to bring the others to her way of thinking.

Bulbs and Blossoms. With illustrations. 12mo, cloth..... .50

"Many sweet lessons of faith and love drop from the lips of these little ones, and how they brought forth fruit in the heart of one of the aunts is impressively brought out. The book is daintily bound, and pretty illustrations brighten the pages."—Louisville Observer.

Eric's Good News. Illustrated. 12mo, decorated boards. The Kingship Series..... .30

A story of the influence which Eric, a little invalid boy, had upon the life of a world-worn young man with whom he became acquainted at a seaside resort.

Bunny's Friends. The Kingship Series. 12mo, decorated boards..... .30

The latest from the pen of this very popular writer for children is a pretty story of a little girl, Bunny, and the friends she forms among the animals, who, being endowed (by the author) with the power of speech, are enabled to tell many tales of adventure from the animal world. The idea is unique, and the execution quite equal to the author's best.

What the Wind Did. The Kingship Series. 12mo, decorated boards..... .30

An inimitable sketch, which appeals equally to old and young.

LINCOLN, W.

Lectures on the Book of Revelation. 12mo, paper..... .50
Cloth..... 1.00

LINDSAY, Harry.

The Cark of Coin. 12mo, cloth.... †1.50

A story instinct with the ambition, passions and problems of a young man in the thick of the commercial whirl. The author seems equally at home in the quiet of the Methodist parsonage and the office of a great mercantile establishment. He has caught and inspires the reader with the excitement of the chase for wealth, the tense spirit of the market and the money-hunger of the man in the street. He also shows the weakness of it all in the face of heart-hunger, the imperative demands of the higher man.

The Modern Crisis in Religion. International Pulpit Series. 12mo, cloth..... .. 1.00

Dr. Lorimer is thoroughly familiar with religious conditions both here and abroad and, moreover, has the happy faculty of seeing just the point in the problems of the day that the average man is interested in.

The Master of Millions. A novel. 12mo, cloth..... †1.50

"Baring modern and social civilization to the knife of satire and the lash of scorn, describing its follies and its rotten places with a candor nothing short of merciless, Dr. Lorimer, whose life work in the pulpit has lifted him to international pre-eminence, has written a novel that is bound to prove stirringly sensational reading to thousands in America and Great Britain. In this, his first novel, Dr. Lorimer reveals no lack of the art of writing. Action teems in the pages. The plot as well as the character have the art of fascination."—New York Journal and American.

¶The Story of James Chalmers ("Tamate.") His Life and Adventures Told for Boys. Illustrated, 12mo, cloth..... 1.25

"This stirring book is exactly the kind of a work to put into the hands of a stirring and lively boy. James Chalmers was a true hero, a brave man; but he was especially worthy of imitation because his aim in life was to do good to others. He became a great missionary, and his life tells the tale of many another laborer in foreign fields—a tale which can be told hardly too often."—The Outlook.

LUDLOW, Rev. James M., D.D.

¶Sir Raoul: A Story of the Theft of an Empire. Illustrated. 12mo, cloth..... †1.50

Dr. Ludlow's novel is a drama of inner conscience, as well as a thrilling story of outward adventure, and is a worthy companion to his early success, "The Captain of the Janizaries," and his later achievement, "Deborah."

The great plot of Sir Raoul and the romance of the Lady Renée, are based upon the historical facts concerning the miscarriage of that crusade of the XIIIth century which was diverted from conquering the Moslems to the capture of the Christian city of Constantinople. The story rushes along like a tale of the wildest imagination; and one can scarcely believe there could ever have been such a gigantic trickster as the hero whose real name was Henrico Dandalo, and to whose scheming is due the presence of the famous bronze horses over the portal of St. Mark's in Venice. It was an age, as the author says, "when the angels seemed to have forgotten the orderly control of events, and to have gone skittle playing with men and things." The love story that runs through the whole gives a picture of a woman whom one can never forget from her coal-black hair to the purity, vivacity and fascination of her character.

Incentives for Life. Personal and public. 12mo, cloth, gilt top..... 1.25

"Dr. Ludlow shows versatility and rare culture in this book of essays. From the first page one is impressed with the beautifully clear style, the brilliant thought which flashes through every sentence, and the marvelous storehouse of illustration from which the author draws. The vital importance of will power in the formation of character, and the incentives which lie back of it as motives to action, are set forth with vigor and power."—Christian Observer.

The Souter's Lamp. 12mo, cloth..... †1.25

Correlated sketches of Scottish village life. The author has the story teller's gift and carries us with him into the homely lives of the villagers. We listen to the canny gossip in the cobbler's shop and with the men who illicitly distill whiskey we dodge the English Excise officer. We see the deep hearts of Scotch mothers and the loyalty of sisters and sweethearts. The story thrills with the strong currents of humanity which find so complete expression in the Scotch character.

Samuel the Prophet.

Zechariah: The Prophet of Hope.

"Mr. Meyer makes the whole book intensely practical while wonderfully soothing and comforting. After one reading you will want to read it again."—Presbyterian.

David: Shepherd, Psalmist, King.

"As in all his works, he has developed the spiritual and practical lines, so that his book is not merely a record of events, but the story of a great life, the reading of which will be stimulating and profitable."—The S. S. Times.

Jeremiah: Priest and Prophet.

"It is at once a biography, an interpretation, and a terse and practical application of divine truth to human life. It is scholarly, but not pitched on too high a key of learning for the common reader."—The Congregationalist.

Joshua, and the Land of Promise.

"The twenty chapters here given on the Book of Joshua are so many lines of light on the whole period and its main characters. The great leader stands out in relief, and his relations to the age are traced with care and intelligence."—Zion's Herald.

Moses, the Servant of God.

"The author's analysis of the character and history of Moses is, in some respects, the best which we remember to have seen. The book is at once learned and popular."—The Congregationalist.

Abraham; or, The Obedience of Faith.

"He is throughout reverent and thoughtful, and will point out to many a reader unsuspected truth and beauty in the Holy Scriptures."—The Watchman.

Elijah, and the Secret of His Power.

"Good, exceedingly good. Mr. Meyer is a great gain to the armies of evangelical truth, for his tone, spirit and aspirations are all of a fine Gospel sort."—C. H. Spurgeon, in Sword and Trowel.

Israel, a Prince with God.

"No Christian is likely to read the volume....without being wiser, purer, happier and more devoted to his Master. It surpasses any book we have ever seen on Jacob and his eventful career."—The Baptist Magazine.

Joseph: Beloved, Hated, Exalted.

"We trust this welcome volume will find readers in all ranks and classes, among old as well as young, and will perform a blessed ministry of help and guidance in the life which is life indeed."—The Christian.

NEW TESTAMENT HEROES.

12mo, cloth, each 1.00

John the Baptist.

"A fascinating study of one of the New Testament heroes."—New York Observer.

Paul: A Servant of Jesus Christ.

"Orderly in plan, cumulative in force and powerful in the spiritual persuasiveness which it illustrates. It exhibits well the best qualities of the author and will increase the already large number of his habitual readers and of those who render him gratitude for the help which he has afforded them."—The Congregationalist.

THE EXPOSITORY SERIES.

12mo, cloth, each..... 1.00

Christ in Isaiah. Expositions of Isaiah XL.–LV.

"Nothing thus far issued by him can, in our judgment, deserve wider or longer favor than this apt, keeneyed, eloquent expansion of the prophet's inspired words."—The Watchman.

The Way into the Holiest. Expositions of the Epistle to the Hebrews.

"The aim of the author in this work is to deduce the great spiritual lessons which are enshrined in the sublime words of the epistle. It is needless to say that Mr. Meyer has admirably succeeded in accomplishing his purpose."—The N. Y. Observer.

The Life and Light of Men. Expositions of John I.–XII.

"These expositions have the character of all Mr. Meyer's writings. They combine devout insight into the rich resources of the Word of God, with skill in adapting it to the spiritual needs of his readers."—The S. S. Times.

Love to the Uttermost. Exposition of John XIII.–XXI. Continuing "The Life and Light of Men."

"Rich in spirituality and in practical pertinence to daily life. The book illustrates the author at his best."—The Congregationalist.

Tried by Fire. Expositions in the First Epistle of Peter.

"The popularity of Mr. Meyer's expositions is a good sign of the times. This latest is one of the best, and is full of tender Christian wisdom. The chief charm of the book is its earnest simplicity."—The British Weekly.

The Psalms. Notes and Readings. 18mo, cloth..... .60

"An admirable little volume, which should prove helpful to any preacher, while as the companion of the private student it should be invaluable."—The Quiver.

MOLLER, WILHELM.

Are the Critics Right? Translated from the German by C. H. Irwin, M. A. Cloth.1.00

An attempt to meet the Higher Critics on their own ground. It is chiefly directed against the theories of Graf and Wellhausen.

"Moller writes not in the interest of any dogmatic theory or conclusion, but in a strictly scientific spirit, and this gives strength to his reasoning. It is a small book, but it is packed with facts and logic, and it is a hard nut for extreme critics to crack."—Presbyterian Banner.

MONCRIEF, Prof. J. W.

A Short History of the Christian Church. By the Associate Professor of Church History in the University of Chicago. 12mo, cloth, 375 pages..... 1.50

"This book is primarily intended for beginners in this branch of knowledge who want a general and connected view of the whole subject preparatory to taking up more detailed lines of study. The general reader may find here a brief resume which will give the essential points for which many large volumes would otherwise be searched. In the briefest way a rapid enumeration of the great points in history are gone over, leaving much for the student to fill out by future study or to recall from former reading. Mere outlines are sketched, but full bibliographical references put further investigations within reach of everyone."—Christian Advocate.
